This was apparently because certain hospitals, by reason of their location, the capabilities of their staffs, and their serving universities, have "become in effect medical centres," he said.

"It would seem logical, therefore, that their ward costs would be in excess of those in other institutions," he continued. "It is basically unfair that such hospitals should suffer deficits by reason of an excellent service not readily procurable somewhere else. We must give financial recognition to such institutions, but in fact we must also give full recognition to th services which are rendered by all hospitals, of whatever type."

"Equitable Basis" Planned.

Dr. Vivian said that as a result Ontario hospitals should be "classified upon an equitable basis," and that the association should play a part in this task. If this could be done, then it would be "possible for Government to give full recognition financially to your problem of the cost of ward care, and to fulfill the commitment to underwrite that cost."

"To do so, I am prepared at the coming session, to introduce legislation based upon the findings of our joint study committee for the classification of hospitals," he said. "This will necessitate the fixing of adequate remuneration for several types of institutions. The passing of legislation will then make it mandatory upon both Provincial and Municipal Governments to share such cost."

The duties of the Provinces in financially assisting in matters of health, welfare and education should be determined at a Dominion-Provincial conference, he maintained. A re-allocation of financial responsibilities between the Province and the municipalities would also be necessary.

Philippines the greatest mass of men, planes, warships and tanks ever assembled in the Pacific.

Tops D-Day

Murlin Spencer, Associated Press war correspondent, said the 600-ship convoy carried at least as many as, and perhaps more than, the number of men landed on D-Day in Normandy.

(Inasmuch as Prime Minister Churchill has disclosed that nearly 250,000 men landed in France the first day, such a sizeable force for the Philippines operation might well suggest that even greater operations, with more landings on other islands, are in the offing against the estimated 250,000 Japanese defending the Philippines).

Every report from the invasion scene, while varying in the degree of opposition detailed, placed the Americans on the advance.

On the south end of Cancabato Bay, Asahel Bush, Associated Press war correspondent, said the town of San Jose was in ruins as a result of the devastating bombardment from warships which included the battleship California.

Tokyo radio, after considerable silence, made claims the Japanese on Leyte were "cutting deep into enemy landing points" but in the same breath admitted the invaders were "heading toward Tacloban."

Both MacArthur and Admiral Nimitz reported widespread destruction of enemy planes — pushing beyond 1,400 the total wiped out since Oct. 9 in the air offensive building up to the invasion — and more blows at enemy shipping.

Shirley Temple Opens 7th Loan

OTTAWA, Oct. 21.—(CP).—The great green plaza before the House of Parliament is to-day focal point of inauguration ceremonies of Canada's $1,300,000,000 Seventh Victory Loan.

Young veterans, back from the battlefronts and using telephones, will assign relatives or sweethearts to launch nine war and supply ships on ways across Canada—ships possibly destined for service in the Pacific.

This conclusion might be drawn from Finance Minister Ilsley's recent speech at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., when he said:

"We shall require large sums of money for the Japanese stage of the war. The end of German hostilities will not reduce our war expenditures very much until after several months. We cannot stop the huge war machine and turn it in a new direction overnight." He spoke also of the money needed for veterans' re-establishment.

The veterans, representing all three services and the nine provinces, will be welcomed back to Canada by the pretty, young movie Miss, Shirley Temple, speaking on behalf of the Dominion's boys and girls.

The main address will be given by Prime Minister Mackenzie King who will be introduced by Ottawa's Mayor Stanley Lewis. Mr. Ilsley and Navy Minister Macdonald will also speak briefly.

Farmer Shoots Bear Weighing 200 Pounds

MARMORA, Oct. 21 — (ENS).— Councillor Arthur Tompkins of Marmora and Lake Township, whose farm is about seven miles north of the village, shot a good-sized bear on his property this week.

The bear was about two hundred yards away when he got a shot at it, but the one shot was enough, killing the animal almost instantly. It was estimated that its weight was over 200 pounds.

One day recently four bears crossed Mr. Tompkins' farm not far from where the men were at work. Two were full grown, one appeared to be about a year old, and the other was a cub.

LSM. James Primeau Home From Invasion

Leading Stoker Mechanic Jim Primeau, who went to France on the opening day of the invasion, arrived home recently and has been spending leave at the home of his parents. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Primeau, Elcome Crescent. He is serving with the Canadian Navy and the ship on which he was serving on "D-Day" carried many Peterborough boys to France.

Leading Stoker Mechanic Primeau is 27 years of age. He was born and educated in Peterborough. His brother, Warrant Officer Jack Primeau, 25, is overseas with the RCAF.

Welsh Miners Agree To Wait

LONDON, Oct. 21 — (CP. Cable). — Yorkshire miners' leaders, after a meeting with Maj. Gwilim Lloyd George, Fuel Minister, yesterday, agreed to recommend a withdrawal of strike notice which was due to go into effect Nov. 4 and threatened the loss of an estimated 800,000 tons weekly in Britain's largest field.

The dispute hinged on the demand by 150,000 miners for extra pay for working Saturday afternoons.

The miners' spokesmen, led by Joe Hall, president of the Yorkshire Mineworkers' Association, agreed to accept the suggestion that the owners admit the principle involved and that disputes by individual pits be submitted for arbitration by a joint sub-committee of owners and miners.

Dean Mackenzie Given Degree

KINGSTON, Oct. 21 (CP)—Dr. R. C. Wallace, Principal of Queen's University, said today 2,526 ben and women graduates and former members of the University have joined the armed forces in this war. Ninety-one of these have lost their lives and 32 are missing or prisoners of war.

Addressing the University's Fall Convocation, Dr. Wallace said also that Queen's is playing an important national role through its Department of Industrial Relations, its recently established Institute of local government and its summer school of English for French-Canadian teachers. The University still needed more $3,000,000 for buildings, equipment and staff.

Hon. degrees of Doctors of Laws were conferred on Hon. C. A. Dunning, University Chancellor, Dean C. J. Mackenzie, president of the National Research Council, and Dr. Robert Chambers of Washington Square College, New York City.

post-war world and they are looking to the schools and universities in Canada to give them what they need," said Gen. McNaughton.

He paid tribute to Dean C. H. Mackenzie, honored by a Queen's degree, and his successor as president of the National Research Council.

He concluded: "Life is a succession of tasks to do to which you make what contribution you can and then move on in the process it is inevitable that you will acquire a deep affection for the men and women with whom you work in common purpose day by day; that you will have an anxious concern for their continued welfare and opportunities and for the institution through which you serve.

"And when the time comes to go elsewhere, he who can hand over to a friend whom he can trust is very fortunate indeed. I count myself doubly fortunate, for twice in recent years this condition has been fulfilled for me, as I have handed over our army to Crerar (Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar) and our research council to Mackenzie (Dean Mackenzie); in both I have complete confidence; both I trust implicitly."

Anglicans May Set Up Camp

SMITHS FALLS, Oct. 21 — (CP). — Decision to revive the provincial camp and appointment of a committee to investigate possibility of purchasing a camp site yesterday featured the first day's session of the 13th annual provincial conference of the Anglican Young People's Association of Ontario here.

Committee members include Rev. L. Jenkins of Princeton, Ont., and Gordon Elliott of St. Catharines. Even if a camp site is not purchased, the committee was instructed to take action to provide a camp in operation next summer.

Among those speaking briefly were Rt. Rev. Robert Jefferson, Bishop of Ottawa conference; acting chaplain Rev. R. E. Osborne, also of Ottawa; Very Rev. R. S. K. Seeley of Kingston, Dean of Ontario, and president Miss Dorothy Manley of London, Ont.

garrison to earth on the fringes. Some 2,000 prisoners had been taken, but 500 to 1,000 Germans were believed still resisting in isolated pockets.

German communications farther south were crippled when fighter-bombers operating with the U.S. 3rd Army bombed and breached the Dieuze Dam 25 miles northeast of Nancy, flooding the town of Dieuze and the surrounding countryside with a spreading shallow lake which covered the railroads and highways with two feet of water.

The Canadian forces were about seven miles southeast of the Netherlands town of Bergen Op Zoom and its excellent harbor midway between Antwerp and Rotterdam.

The mopping up of Aachen was carried out by American 1st Army troops preparing for a further drive toward the Rhine.

American and French troops pushing into the Vosges foothills protecting southwestern Germany hammered out gains east and north of captured Bruyeres, and repulsed enemy counter-attacks there and in the Moselotte River bend area.

American casualties in the capture of Aachen were described officially at Supreme Headquarters as relatively light. Unofficial estimates of the bag of Nazi prisoners ranged up to 10,000.

The Germans threw in two counter-attacks Friday against the American wall east of Aachen, and apparently were working desperately to tighten their defences before Cologne.

A Berlin broadcast said American troops had been beaten back in an attempt to cross the Moselle River at Remich, 12 miles southeast of Luxembourg city. All the troops who crossed the river were killed or captured, said this unconfirmed account.

When I last visited Cologne, Coblenz, Mainz, Auisburg and Dusseldorf, the only visible defences were the garrisons and numerous anti-aircraft positions. There were none of those pill-boxes, dug-outs, "panzerwerke," or major fortresses such as we saw on the Rhine from Karlsruhe to Switzerland.

Along the Upper Rhine, the Maginot and Siegfried Lines were opposite each other. From Lauterburg on, the Rhine becomes a purely German river.

There have been stories about a tertiary line of defence along the Rhine. Going by what I saw in 1941 I doubt whether a formidable system has been constructed on the right bank in the region beginning, roughly, at Mainz and extending to Wesel or Cleve. Besides, that would not help Mainz, Coblenz, Bonn, or Cologne, all of which are on the left bank.

Russians Laud Progress Made By Two Leaders

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press War Correspondent

MOSCOW, Oct. 21—(AP).—Moscow's press gave the Churchill-Stalin negotiations profuse praise today, vividly mirroring the good which official Russia believes resulted from the long, numerous and friendly discussions of the two leaders.

Editorials said differences still existed between Great Britain and the Soviet Union on certain European questions, but asserted the road appeared clear towards framing firm peace.

A joint communique summing up the 10-day meeting was issued this morning. It said the two leaders made "important progress" toward settling the Polish dispute, reached an agreement on remaining points in the Bulgarian armistice terms and that their governments have decided to pursue a joint policy in Yugoslavia. Military plans for the war also were reviewed.

Agreements at the conference were said to have the full approval of the United States Government, represented by Ambassador W. Averell Harriman.

Referring to the delicate Polish question which had shaken the United Nations structure, the communique said:

"Important progress was made toward solution of the Polish question which was closely discussed between the Soviet and British governments.

"These discussions have notably narrowed differences and dispelled misconceptions. Conversations are continuing on outstanding points."

There was a heartening indication of an early fusion of the London and Lublin Polish factions, with the dispute over the ill-fated Warsaw revolt apparently pigeonholed.

Polish Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, who left for London Friday morning, is expected to return to Moscow soon. He was reported confident the London Poles would give him a mandate for constructing a unified government.

One Sour Note

A few hours after the leaders of the Polish government in London and the leaders of the Lublin regime had optimistically forecast early agreement, however, a Tass dispatch to Pravda reported that a mass meeting of Lublin Poles had charged Mr. Mikolajczyk's government with responsibility for "criminal acts of terror."

The dispatch said a resolution demanded that the Committee of National Liberation get a public declaration from Mr. Mikolajczyk concerning "criminal reaction" before undertaking negotiations with his government.

The Churchill-Stalin meetings produced an agreement between the British and Russian governments to pursue a joint policy in Yugoslavia centered around a union between King Peter's government and Marshal Tito's liberation movement until after the war when, the communique said, the Yugoslav people will have the right "to settle their future constitution for themselves."

In effect, Mr. Stalin has underwritten Mr. Churchill's previous Yugoslav policy which led to last summer's pact between Tito and Premier Ivan Subasic.

Denies Statement

TORONTO, Oct. 21.—(CP).—Fred W. Dowling, Canadian director of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, (C.I.O.) said in a statement here last night that reports that the union had given assurance there would be no strike until the recently-appointed commissioner has had ample time to investigate the current dispute in the packing industry, were not true.

Religion In Education

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Oct. 22 is Deut. 6:4-9; Proverbs 9:10; Matt. 7:7-12; Luke 6:39-45; II Tim. 2:15, the Golden Text being John 8:32, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.")

"HEAR, O ISRAEL: The Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might.

"And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart:

"And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thy house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up.

"And thou shalt write them upon a sign upon thine hand, and they shall be as frontlets between thy eyes.

"And thou shal write them upon the posts of thy house, and on thy gates."

These were the words of Moses to the children of Israel as they wandered in the desert seeking the land the Lord had promised them. At first they were used figuratively, but later assumed a literal translation, and we quote:

Contain Scrollsof Parchment

"The sign on the hand being made to denote a phylactery on the biceps of the left arm, and the frontlets between the eyes a phylactery on the forehead. Each of these phylacteries contains four sections from the Pentateuch inscribed on scrolls of parchment. . . . The expression to write them upon the posts of the house was later construed literally and gave rise to the custom of the mezuzah, which consists of affixing a small cylinder enclosing an inscribed parchment to the upper part of the right hand door-post of every Jewish home."

You remember how the Jews, in their wanderings, forgot these teachings again and again and were punished time after time for their unfaithfulness.

In every home the teaching of religion should be a part. The child that learns religion and good morals at his mother's or father's knee, seldom goes far wrong in after life.

Jesus tells us to pray to the Father: "Ask and it shall be given you; seek, and we shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you." An earthly father would not dream, if his child asked for bread, of giving him a stone that looked like a loaf; of if he asked for fish of giving him a serpent. If an earthy father would then give good gifts to his children, how much more would God, Father of us all, give good gifts to us? asks Jesus.

Worship and faith that God will give us those things that are good for us come first. Then our moral education—the manner in which we shall live. Jesus said, if we see a speck in our brother's eye—or if our brother or sister have a fault, to put it another way—should we criticize him, ignoring the fact that we have many more grievous faults? First we should correct our own faults, then, if ever, should we accuse our neighbor.

Good Tree Brings Good Fruit

"For a good tree bringeth not forth corrupt fruit; neither doth a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.

"For every tree is known by his own fruit. . . . A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is good: and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is evil."

"Study to shew thyself approved until God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth," Paul wrote to Timothy.

If we are true and faithful to the very best way of life; if we do those things that we know are right, and leave undone the things that we are sure are evil, we will be "approved until God." We will show ourselves good workmen, who can be proud of our work.

The final test of our lives will be if we can truly keep the Golden Rule, which is also part of today's lesson:

"Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets."

Who Is Jesus Christ?

Jesus said unto them: I am come down from heaven to do the will of Him that sent Me.—St. John 6:38.

In the days of our Lord's earthly ministry He was followed and carefully listened to by the religious intellectuals of His Church—keen brilliant minds. It should cause you no astonishment that these thinkers "murmured" at Him when He said: "I am come down from Heaven to do the will of Him that sent Me."

Even today there are men who found their teaching on "Jesus only" and refuse to ponder upon His tremendous claims which is a sort of refrain in this chapter. "I am come down from Heaven." Yet it is a truth which the Church has taught from the beginning and multitudes have died fearful deaths rather than deny that Jesus Christ came down from Heaven. Some of you are familiar with these famous words, which have been repeated by multitudes for more than seventeen centuries: "I believe in Jesus Christ, Who, for us men and our salvation, came down from Heaven, and was incarnate by the Holy Ghost of the Virgin Mary and was made Man."

In these days of so-called toleration Jewish Rabbis speak patronizingly of Jesus of Nazareth as their great Hebrew Teacher. There are so many who are willing to agree and stop at this statement. He is indeed a Teacher—THE TEACHER—and more. The Jewish authorities, who stood before Pontius Pilate, brought out their ecclesiastical charge: "By our law He ought to die because He called Himself the Son of God."

Our Lord utters similar startling claim in St. Matthew 11:25. "At that time Jesus answered and said: I thank Thee, O Father, Lord of Heaven and earth, because Thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and has revealed them unto babes. Even so, Father, for it seemed good in Thy sight. All things are delivered unto Me of the Father; and no man knoweth the Son have the Father; neither knoweth any man the Father save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal Him." You will find this statement repeated word for word in St. Luke 10:21. They speak of the unusual relationship between the Father and the Son, which is the key thought in St. John's Gospel. Modern scholars are of the opinion that these words were copied from the original diary kept by some Apostle. This has been lost, but some day it may be found.

Dr. Sandy, a famous teacher, is of the opinion that "they reveal a self consciousness surpassing human measure." Dr. Montefiore, a living Jewish scholar of Oxford, expresses the wish that Our Lord had never uttered these words.

At Our Lord's trial before the Sannedrin the Hight Priest formally asks Him: "I adjure Thee, before the living God, that Thou tell us whether Thou be the Christ, the Son of God. Jesus said unto him: "Thou hast said." The Lord Jesus makes this official claim before the highest represenattives of His nation. You know the result.

Dr. Liddon, in his famous defence of the Christian religion, says: "Eternal Jesus, it is Thyself who has thus bidden us either despise or worship Thee. Thou wouldst have us despise Thee as our fellow man, if we will not worship Thee as our God. Of a truth Thou are the King of glory, O Christ, Thou art the everlasting Son of the Father."

WE BELIEVE AND ARE SURE THAT THOU ART THAT CHRIST, THE SON OF THE LIVING GOD.

Aquarium Society Meeting

A study and demonstration of the care and problems of keeping goldfish and tropical fish in the home, was given at an interesting and profitable meeting of the Peterborough Aquarium Society by C. H. Bacon, president, Friday evening at the Department of Agriculture office. The care of pools and water-lillies during the winter season was also discussed.

Mr. Bacon emphasized to the members, that it is not a lot of hard work to have a hobby wiht fish, but that it only takes a little common-sense care to make a success of it. He gave a detailed account of how to keep the fish, how to keep the tank looking most attractive, and of the probable diseases fish may contact, and how to prevent them.

The club, which has been in operation for a year and six months, with a growing list of members, meets monthly, for the promotion and advancement of all subjects pertaining to the fish hobby. Peterborough has a good number of people interested in fish as a hobby, and the club has been doing excellent work in helping these people to better know the subject.

Along with tropical fish, goldfish, by far the most popular with many people at the present, are studied. Attractive garden pools and water-lillies which help so much to brighten a garden, are also studied so that those interested may make their pools more attractive.

A. Millard, who posssesses a beautiful aquarium with plants, rocks and a colorful assembly of tropical fish, was called upon by Mr. Bacon to tell the club something of what he did to achieve such success with the tank.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Deut. 6:4-9; Proverbs 9:10; Matt. 7:7-12; Luke 6:39-45; II Tim. 2:15.

Hear, O Israel: the Lord our God is one Lord; these words shall be in thine heart and thou shalt teach them diligently to thy children.

If ye, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more shall your Father give good things to them that ask Him?

A good tree bringeth not forth corrupt fruit, neither doth a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit. For every tree is known by his own fruit.

Study to shew thyself approved of God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth.

Victory Loan—Latest And Largest

The people of Peterborough do not, at this stage of the war, need to be urged to support the Victory Loans; they have always done so in the past and there is no doubt in anyone's mind that they will do so with the Seventh Loan, which opens on Monday. To the majority of us the Victory Loans have become simple and straightforward matters of business; we subscribe what we can, without persuasion. Indeed, so much a matter of course has supporting these Loans become that already ten local industries have completed their canvassing, and every one of them has subscribed more than was asked.

• • •

That is the way to do it. There is no point in wasting the time of speakers and salesmen to tell us that the Loans are the best value for our money; we know that already. The sensible thing to do is to subscribe at once, and let the salesmen use their time to convince the few people who, for one reason or another, are doubtful about supporting the Loan. There are no new arguments to be put forward in favour of these Loans; most of us have heard all the old ones before. Let us spare the needless talk, therefore, and sign on the dotted line with the minimum of fuss.

• • •

The sum to be raised in the Peterborough district this time is $4,600,000; that is a hundred thousand dollars more than we have ever been asked to raise before. The objective of this district has been raised several times since these Loans began, and Peterborough appreciates the compliment. The sum expected from the payroll section of the canvass has been lowered, because there are fewer people at work in the city than there were during the Sixth Loan. The county has been asked to take on some of the extra burden, and the city has assumed the greater share of it. The objective for the district has been raised, of course, because we no longer pay Compulsory Savings; it was explained when that system was abandoned that the money which was left with the wage-earners by that action would be expected to swell the Victory Loan campaigns. We know how much we must raise in this district to make up our share of the $1,300,000,000 which is being asked of all Canada; our job now is to raise it as cheerfully and with as little wasted effort as we can.

• • •

We have good reason to be cheerful. The slogan of this campaign is Invest in Victory, and we know that while this will certainly not be the last Victory Loan it is a deeply significant one. The money which we lend to Canada is paying for the materials which our men abroad are using to smash what is left of Germany's power; we are not paying for preparations—we are paying for results.

• • •

It is not necessary to comment at length on the speech which the Hon. J. L. Ilsley, the Minister of Finance, made in this city on Thursday night; the speech left nothing more to be said. Canada has distinguished herself on the fighting fronts and on the production front in this war, as everyone knows. But too few of us realize the greatness of the job that Canada has done on the financial front. We have kept prices down to reasonable levels; we have prevented wages from getting out of line with prices; and we have raised sums of money to finance our war effort which are nothing less than miraculous when compared with our very small population. We must keep up that high standard. The Loan opens on Monday, and we all know what we should do. Need anything more be said?

A rumour is going around that if Dewey is elected to the presidency of the U.S. he will ask Cordell Hull to continue as secretary of state. Obviously he feels that the ship of state needs a good hull.

Should Women Sit Down?

The editor of the Windsor Star is a brave man; he has declared that he sees no reason why men should give up their seats in buses to women, always excepting women who are old, or women who are carrying children. The chivalry of strap-hanging, he says, is outmoded.

Having set his foot on dangerous ground he proceeds to stamp, so that there can be no mistake about what he means:

"Women have clamoured for 'equality'. They have fought for it. If they mean what they say, then they certainly should not expect preferential treatment in respect to loads on the feet. Anyway, the average male bus rider probably works just as hard as does the average female, and he is just as much entitled to his rest".

Many men have thought this in secret; few have dared to shout it aloud. But we think that the Windsor editor has over-simplified the matter. There are three types of women abroad now: there are those who want to be the equals of men, and do not care whether they are given seats in buses or not; there are those who do not want to be the equals of men, and who are hurt when they are not treated chivalrously; and there are those—this is the largest group, we think—who want all the privileges of equality with men, and who want all the chivalry which they can extort as women, too. The last group is the one which really causes trouble, and carries on the Sex War with such ferocity that the war in Europe pales in comparison.

Hitler Is Not Even a Corporal

We have always accepted the statement that Adolf Hitler was a corporal in the German Imperial Army during the First Great War; the military distinction was not high, and we did not dispute his right to it. But now we are informed by Mr. Robert Brunner of New York that Hitler was not even a corporal!

The lowest rank in the German Imperial Army was that of a 'Mann' or private, and the next rank was that of 'Gefreiter', which is the equivalent of the American rank 'private first class'; above the Gefreiter is the 'Unteroffizier' which presumably corresponds to the rank of corporal. But a Gefreiter is not a non-commissioned officer; he is simply a private who has had some experience and has kept out of trouble.

This information will be a blow to those who like to compare Corporal Hitler with Corporal Napoleon, a comparison of which we have never approved, because Napoleon learned to be a commander by taking troops into action, which Hitler never did. Hitler promoted himself from Gefreiter to Commander in Chief of all German forces, and cannot be said to have learned his soldiering from the bottom up.

Sniping In The Word War

A news story comes to hand containing these words—"a love triangle motivated the crime". But why 'motivated'; why not say "a love triangle caused the crime" and avoid that dubious, pompous and shoddy word 'motivate'?

Words, like people, are usually better when they come of good family; a word needs ancestors. The word 'motivate' is connected, in an underhand way, with the Latin verb movere meaning to move, but no philologist will admit that there is a valid relationship between the Latin verb and the upstart English one; 'motivate' was born on the wrong side of the blanket, and the Oxford English Dictionary, which is the most careful authority in these matters, does not even include it.

It is never necessary to say 'motivate'; the words 'cause' or 'move' will always take its place, and look and sound better than it does. The only people who use it are those who want to make what they are saying sound more important than it really is.

Diary Of A Suspected Spy

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Cleaned a pair of wild duck, in preparation for Thanksgiving. In my opinion those ducks had not lived good lives. Their breaths were terrible....Cleaning ducks naturally turned my mind to thoughts of mortality, and the reflection that all flesh is grass, or in the case of the ducks, wild rice. The tendency of modern thinking is to look upon man as a citizen, a spirit, a servant of the state, and a statistical unit, but rarely as a body, a piece of animated flesh. Yogis, I believe, sit for hours listening to the beating of their hearts and the throbbing of their blood, and in this way they grow to know themselves. But we never give our bodies a thought, unless they pain us, and only doctors and post-mortem investigators really know what goes on inside us....Tore out the heart of the second duck and popped it in the garbage; who can say what stirring of love and anger it once felt? Shall eat the carcasses tomorrow.

◆ ◆ ◆

MONDAY: After a day of varied activity ate a wild duck dinner in admirable company, and settled myself for conversation which turned to the building of houses. Anyone who builds a house at present throws himself violently upon the mercy of the gods, for materials and workmen are so scarce that there is no chance that he will get what he wants. And what could be more miserable that to build a house, and then be dissatisfied with it? Building a house is probably more trouble and anxiety than having a baby, and the chances of a favourable result are smaller. And is there any case on record of a house which was built for the price which was first estimated? There may be such a marvel, but I have never heard of it.... Yet, if I had the money, I should like to build a house which contained all the things that I have always wanted. Then, I suppose, I should have to find money to keep it up. Snails and Arabs are the only creatures who really understand the housing problem.

◆ ◆ ◆

TUESDAY: Listened to some very fine Irish country songs which had been recorded for the gramophone by Lanny Ross, who has a splendid voice; but the combination of good songs and good voice was not, oddly enough, satisfactory. Irish songs can only be sung well by somebody who can think and feel like an Irishman, and Lanny Ross can only think and feel like an American. Consequently he sings his Irish songs too sentimentally; the Irish are only sentimental in spots, and can be as hard as nails when they see fit. That quality is reflected in their songs, and anyone who misses it cannot sing the songs well. The lack of a hard side is what is wrong, too with Irish songs which are not folk-songs, like 'Kathleen Mavourneen' and 'Mother Machree'; these are simply sentimental slop, and not at all Irish in character.... As a matter of fact all the Celts,—Irish, Welsh and Highland Scots—are hard-headed people, and only become whimsical when it suits them; it is a great mistake to think of them as devil-may-care folk with no thought for the morrow.

◆ ◆ ◆

WEDNESDAY: While I was waiting for a bus today some small boys were apparently struck with what they considered the oddity of my appearance, and I heard one of them say "Jeez, He's a German spy I Betcha; jus' look at 'um an' yuh kun tell." His friends agreed. This child, I foresee, will never grow up to be the pride of the R.C.M.P.; the very essence and credential of a spy is that he does not look like a spy; he looks so much like anyone else that you would never notice him. Nevertheless people expect spies to walk the streets wrapped in mysterious cloaks, wearing black spectacles and false whiskers which fit over their ears with wire hooks. Spies are expected to speak with strongly foreign accents, and to carry large cases filled with cameras and bombs. All the spies in the comic strips live up to this demanding tradition, but the spies who are pulled in by the police and the military are always pictures of dull respectability; there are plenty of them still at large, I am told by a man who knows. See if you can spot any of them, but don't point at me, if you please.

THURSDAY: Was talking today with a Navy man who has been doing a good deal of travelling on convoy duty. His impressions of the British Isles were anything but conventional. The city which he liked best was Belfast, because it was more like Toronto than the others; this is true enough, God knows, but it seems an odd basis for preference. He was greatly impressed by the British passion for ice-skating, and was bowled over by the extent and warmth of British hospitality. He found St. Paul's impressive, but 'kind of old-fashioned,' and thought the finest building he had seen abroad was an apartment-house in Leeds—the largest in the world; he had his picture taken in front of it as a tribute. He had a strong affection for the people of Glasgow, who are wonderful to Canadians, and he thought the prettiest girls were the ones in Ireland at Portross, though London girls ran them a close second. He wants to go back after the war, on a real visit. That is the feeling which holds the Empire together.

◆ ◆ ◆

FRIDAY: Tonight to the movies to see Charles Laughton in "The Canterville Ghost," which was alleged to have been founded on a story by Oscar Wilde; I doubt if O.W. would have recognized it. Whether by design or not, Laughton looked very much like Wilde in one or two shots. ....I love movies and plays and novels about ghosts! Give me a good screaming ghost, rattling its chains and gibbering hideously, and I am as happy as a lark. Laughton did not disappoint me: he hanged himself, he shrieked, he gnashed his teeth, he carried his head under his arm—he left no gravestone unturned, so to speak. The result was sheer delight. True, the film was somewhat cloyed by the presence of Robert Young who is really getting a bit too old to be so cute and boyish, but that was a small price to pay for a first-class ghost....Little Margaret O'Brien was in the film, too. I fear that the movie-going public is about to suffer from her as it did from Shirley Temple. Precocious children make my flesh creep; give me ghosts any day.

SATURDAY: Having felt under the weather all week, I took my chance to go to bed this afternoon, having providently laid in a couple of mystery stories to beguile the time. Read "Mother Finds a Body" by Gypsy Rose Lee, and it cannot be compared with "The G-String Murders" by the same writer; it has a scrambled plot, and is not funny; to the garbage-can with it!....Then read "Death and The Dancing Footman" by Ngaio Marsh; now there is a mystery that is a mystery! Miss Marsh has made her own the mantle so recently relinquished by Dorothy Sayers. Is it mere prejudice on my part, or do the British really write far better mystery stories than Americans?....Thus I passed a day with hot-water bottles and tales of crime, eating bread-and-milk and wondering whether I had cancer or merely violent ulcers....In these days of hideous war and upheaval a murder story is wonderfully soothing to the nerves—a curious comment on the advance of civilization.

THE FOREIGN DEVILS ARE BACK! —By Thomas

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

DICTATORS IN PETERBOROUGH?

Sir,—I wish to thank you sincerely for the space given in your paper, and the interest you haven taken in my case; and I trust that you will grant me further space wherein to reply to the council, whose proceedings were reported in your paper on the seventeenth inst.

There are several points that duty requires that I, although not willingly, should bring to the notice of the citizens of Peterborough.

The printed report to the people states: "I spoke to City Engineer Parsons and John W. Pierce (Ontario Land Surveyor) and they agreed that it is not practical to have a sewer laid to William Harvey's house," Mayor Hamilton told the council on Monday night.

This being contrary to what I had been given to understand by Mr. Pierce, and not doubting his integrity, I re-interviewed Mr. Pierce in the presence of a witness. Mr. Pierce stated emphatically that he had not spoken to Mayor Hamilton for a week, nor at any time had he discussed this project with him. I trust Mr. Hamilton has been misquoted.

Furthermore, the Ontario Land Surveyor states that the levels he took, and those which Mr. Parsons took, are almost identical, but as to the feasibility of this sewer, he refused to commit himself, then or now, as he is a land surveyor, and as he can cite instances where some sewers in Peterborough are nearer the surface than Mr. Parsons claims this one will be. Out of many instances brought to my attention, I hereby state one, revealed to me by a retired citizen in this district, re sewer on Crescent, the depth of which at two separate points are 37 inches and 30¼ inches respectively to the base of the sewer. This is the most exposed sewer in the city, in my opinion. The above citizen states it has never suffered from frost penetration. I beg to submit that Mr. Parsons is again in error in respect to frost penetration.

I also object to the statement "complaint of alleged neglect". This is not alleged—it is, neglect indescribable.

Further, would Mr. Parsons clarify the part that, "got under my skin". He does not tell us what part. And, I say, that when a public servant complains like this, when he is checked by those, whose health he is concerned with, he is not fulfilling his office. All men of engineering and scientific abilities are liable to error, and only by long hours of study, aided by the criticism of bystanders, are they often able to succeed.

The report states that, quote "At Whittington's service station the depth from the street level would be only 3½ feet," unquote. Farther on it reads, quote, "The sewer would be practically at the surface of the road," unquote. How can a point 3½ feet below the road be near the surface?

If Alderman Bradburn's suggestion concerning a septic tank had been followed in 1932, when we applied for one, all this unpleasantness would never have taken place.

Alderman Sands remarked, "What's the use of a septic tank if he hasn't city water?" This is a good question. Why hasn't he city water? Is it because the cost rose from $1,600 in 1937 to $3,300 in 1944? Mr. Pierce definitely states that water can be laid!

Mayor Hamilton, the head of this fair city, built by courageous men, has brushed aside the principles which those men struggled to maintain. Before the representatives of the people, he dared to wipe away a man's right—the right to buy his home. How would the Mayor like to sell all his worldly investments at the order of an outsider at the price he gave for them? Every man in this Empire may follow his will if it is not detrimental to his neighbours. Today, thousands of young men, two of my sons included, are giving their blood, youth, happiness—and all to exterminate dictatorship. Let this man, who withholds the life-giving water, apologize to this returned man, whom the council regards as more or less a pain in the municipal neck, but who, nevertheless, served his country to his utmost. But it strikes me that if the council continues to ignore the other residents of this district, their pain in the neck will become greatly aggravated!

Further, when a public servant criticizes the right of any citizen to keep track of said servant's actions, is he not dictating to the people? Let him know he is not a dictator but a paid servant of the people.

In this my hour of need, I am deeply grateful to the citizens and my comrades of the Legion who have given me great encouragement.

Trusting I have made it clear that there are really no obstacles in the way of the sewer being installed, since Mr. Parsons has not refuted any of my statements.

Thanking you in anticipation, I am, yours truly,

WM. O. HARVEY.

Mental Disease In Ontario

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

IN an address at Hamilton Monday, Dr. R. P. Vivian, Ontario Minister of Health, said that: "A post-war building program to provide an addition 6,000 beds for mental patients in Ontario was being studied. As soon as materials become available a start would be made to increase present accommodation."

It is high time that some vigorous attention was being paid to the question of mental disease in Ontario. Fourteen years ago an Ontario Royal Commission on Social Welfare urged prompt and radical action about mental disease in the province. This, by the way, was merely part of the Commission task, which included also the general hospitals, sanatoria, reformatories and prisons of the province. Extensive recommendations were made—but there was little action. The Ferguson Government appointed a Minister of Public Welfare whose charge it would have been to promote intelligent action in regard to many social problems—but the Hepburn Government which followed abolished the portfolio.

The report in 1930 of the Ontario Royal Commission, composed of P. D. Ross, chairman, D. M. Wright, M.P., and J. M. McCutcheon, of the Ontario Board of Health went into considerable detail as regards both insanity and mental defectiveness. When Dr. Vivian speaks of "mental disease," we presume the words mean chiefly insanity; but insanity is not the worst thing.

The Royal Commission made specific recommendations about both. Practically nothing that was suggested was carried out, except an addition to the Orillia hospital for mental defectives.

As regards insanity, the Commission said that the then existing ten asylums had 10,000 inmates, were all crowded and with waiting lists, that there had been no new institution for ten years, during which the population of Ontario had largely increased. The Commission recommended a new hospital at once to serve Northern Ontario, reconstruction of London hospital, additions to some other hospitals, and establishment of a psychiatric hospital for training in mental hygiene and research.

Very little has been done. Fourteen years more have elapsed, with proportionate increase in population.

In regard to mental defectiveness, as distinct from insanity, the Government indifference and neglect have been worse. In 1930 the Ontario Hospital for Mental Defectives at Orillia was overcrowded with 1,400 patients, and there was a waiting list of 2,500. H. E. Amoss, then Inspector of Auxiliary Classes, estimated that there were more than 10,000 very backward children in the province, "of whom the majority are of an irresponsible grade of mentality," though not all needing hospitalization. The Royal Commission recommended an addition to the Orillia hospital (which was done), but also provision of two more hospitals, or rather Vocational Training Schools, in Eastern and Western Ontario respectively, each to accommodate at least 1,200 children deficient but capable of being trained to live a fair life. Nothing was done. The Commission also made a number of recommendations as to the registration in the schools of backward children, and special treatment and classes for them. We do not think anything has been done about it anywhere.

It should be understood that deficient children are of three main classes, namely, those who are of the idiot class, those somewhat imbec[ile] and (chiefly) the only partially feeble-mind[ed]. Dr. A. E. Tredgold, an outstanding author[ity] claimed that on the average out of every [...] defective children in Ontario six will be id[iots] and hopeless, 18 more or less imbecile, but [...] merely feeble-minded and capable of being he[lp]ed by intelligent training to a good life. [The] Commission recommended that the Governm[ent] should in connection with the hospitals for [de]fectives establish clinics and trained wor[kers] to assist in the identification and training of [de]fectives reported by the schools of the provin[ce].

A terrible social penalty arises from mental [de]fectiveness. The Royal Commission report [...] that all evidence showed that "from mental [de]fectiveness comes a large proportion of the [im]morality and crime in the community."

We hope that Dr. Vivian is not thinking m[ain]ly of insanity in his wish to combat mental [dis]ease. The mental defective is far more num[er]ous than the insane person, is largely at l[arge] in the community; and there is no bar to [pro]creation which endlessly produces additi[onal] mentally defective children.

A Bible Message

Now when Jesus was risen early the first da[y] of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils.... After that he appeared in another form unto tw[o] of them, as they walked, and went into the country.... But their eyes were holden that the[y] should not know him....

And it came to pass, as he sat at meat wit[h] him, he took bread, and blessed it, and brake and gave to them. And their eyes were opened and they knew him! and he vanished out of the[ir] sight....

And they rose up the same hour, and returned to Jerusalem, and found the women gathered together, and them that were with them, saying The Lord is risen indeed, and hath appeared t[o] Simon. And they told what things were done i[n] the way, and how he was known of them i[n] breaking of bread.

And as they thus spake, Jesus himself stoo[d] in the midst of them, and saith unto them Peace be unto you. But they were terrified and affrighted, and supposed that they had seen [a] spirit. And he said unto them, Why are y[e] troubled? and why do thoughts arise in yo[ur] hearts?

Behold my hands and my feet, that it is I my[]self: handle me, and see; for a spirit hath n[ot] flesh and bones, as ye see me have. (Mark 1[6]: 9, 12; Luke 24: 16, 30, 31, 39-39.)

Unconsidered Trifles

A woman in the midst of divorce proceedin[gs] was complaining to a friend about the bori[ng] conferences she had to endure with lawyers.

"Oh," said her friend, "don't talk to me abo[ut] them! I've had so much trouble over my pr[o]perty that sometimes I wish my husband hadn't died."

The following is adapted from Hugh Youn[g's] A Surgeon's Autobiography:

Dr. Hugh Hampton Young, eminent surge[on] attended the unveiling of a bust of himself [at] the University of Virginia. After the ceremo[ny] a young woman came up to him.

"I hope you appreciate," she said, "that I ha[ve] come fifty miles to see your bust unveiled."

Whereupon, with a bow, Dr. Young repli[ed] "I would go a thousand miles to see yours."

A mother lost her young daughter in the wee[k-]end confusion at a railway terminus. After [a] frantic search she finally located the child in [the] midst of a group of nuns. Both the little [girl] and the nuns seemed to be having a very go[od] time.

"I hope my daughter hasn't been giving [you] too much trouble," exclaimed the relieved par[ent].

"On the contrary," chuckled the Mother S[u]perior. "Your little girl seems to have the no[tion] that we are penguins!"

A sailor called unexpectedly on his fiancee. [He] found her all dressed up and ready to go t[o a] dance.

"That's the spirit," he told her. "No need [to] sit about and be gloomy."

Just then the telephone bell rang; and the s[ail]or answered it.

"What?" he said. "Oh, yes—judging from [the] number of U-boats we've sunk, I should c[er]tainly think so." And he hung up the receiv[er].

"Who was that?" asked the girl, somew[hat] apprehensively.

"Oh," said the sailor, "just a fellow who wa[nt]ed to know if the coast is clear!"

THE NAVY - GOD BLESS THEM!

To-day, October 21, we pause to pay tribute to the officers and men of the British and Canadian Navies who are daily fulfilling the glorious tradition handed down by Nelson on—

TRAFALGAR DAY, OCTOBER 21st, 1805

"England expects every man will do his duty"—at home, abroad, on land and sea, the call of duty is just as imperative on this same day in 1944.

The spirit of Nelson must live today if we are to survive and live for a glad tomorrow.

Born on September 29, 1758, at the Vicarage of Burnham-Thorpe near NORWICH in the County of Norfolk, son of the Rev. Edmund and Catherine Nelson, HORATIO was left motherless at the age of eight year. He never was of a strong body, which had been further weakened by the ague, a common disease in England in those days, but this did not deter him from seeking to enter the NAVY at the age of twelve, through the influence of his uncle, Captain Maurice Suckling.

BY DEVOTION TO HIS DUTY AND COUNTRY, HORATIO NELSON BECAME ONE OF THE EMPIRE'S GREATEST NATIONAL HEROES, and saved his country's shores from the threat of invasion for many a long year. Nelson's famous signal, which has been the watchword of the Navy ever since Trafalgar:

"ENGLAND EXPECTS EVERY MAN WILL DO HIS DUTY"

NELSON LOST an eye at Calvi.
His right arm in the attack on Santa Cruz.
His greatest Victories—Capt St. Vincent
Aboukir Bay (Battle of the Nile)
Battle of Copenhagen
Trafalgar

Nelson's last words on board the "Victory," his flagship, after being mortally wounded—

"THANK GOD I HAVE DONE MY DUTY"

To all those at home whose safety has been so dearly bought, that duty loudly speaks,

INVEST IN VICTORY!

Port Hope Jrs. Blank Peterboro

P.C.V.S. juniors ran into tough opposition when they invaded Port Hope Friday afternoon and met Port Hope High School team in a junior interscholastic game, played at Trinity College School field. Port Hope won the argument 22 to 0 in a battle featured by the successful line-plunging of the winners, who had possession of the ball a greater part of the time and hit the P.C.V.S. line for repeated gains.

Later in the game the Peterborough youngsters had more success in handling the Port Hope ground attacks and the only scoring of the last half came on the last play of the game.

P.C.V.S. kicked off in the first quarter but Port Hope marched down the field with three successive first downs on line plunges to the Peterborough 30 yard line and there Watson ran around the end for a Port Hope touch down which was not converted.

Port Hope continued to hold the ball in the second quarter and their bucking tactics still earned dividends. Their strong line play enabled them to plunge over for two more touchdowns, one of which was converted to leave the half time score Port Hope 16, Peterborough 0.

At the beginning of the third period P.C.V.S. lost the ball for illegal blocking and Port Hope tried a forward pass, Blair Thompson intercepted and got away for a 40 yard run. P.C.V.S. had a big share of the play in this period and there was no score.

The last quarter was also scoreless until the final play on which Port Hope were successful in scoring a touchdown which was converted.

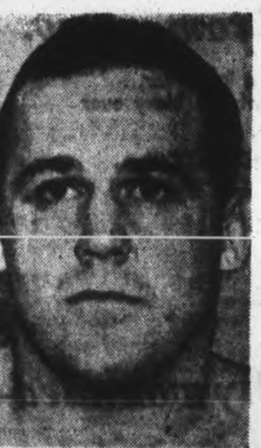
New Referee For Big Mat Brawl



DR. LEN HALL

Promoter Frank Tunney intimated today that a new referee will handle the big show here Tuesday night. "Maxwell was so much involved in Tuesday's battle," said the impressario, "that I don't think he is the man to handle this grudge fight." So another official will try to keep law and order when Irish Jack Kennedy and Dr. Len Hall meet. Verne Baxter will battle Tom Collins in the semi-final and the opening bout will mark the return of Joe Maich against Jack Wentworth.

Lester Patrick, Rangers' manager, said that, unless unexpected complications arise, the right eye of the left winger would not be affected and that "the boy took the news of the operation like a thoroughbred."

Coach Frank Boucher put the team through a stiff practice in preparation for Saturday night's game against Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers. Young Ken McCauley, slated for regular duty with the Rangers this year, will be in the nets, spelled for at least one period by Laurel Harney of Victoria, who is playing coach of New York Rovers, Ranger farm club.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

A strong boost for Peterborough's Memorial Health Centre comes to this column from Sergt. W. H. Joiner, Peterborough boy who is camp sports sergeant at Petawawa Military Camp. He writes thusly: "I have been reading about the Memorial Centre you are organizing in Peterborough and I am certainly very glad to hear that such an organization is being formed in my home town. I believe, as does every other man in the service to whom I have spoken about your organization, that it is the thing which is needed in every city across Canada. I don't mean only for the soldier's benefit but for the boys and girls of tomorrow. Since joining the Army in June 1940 I have been a physical instructor and sports organizer in Petawawa Military Camp. During that time I have noticed the physical condition of men coming into the army and also the great improvement which they have made by taking part in sports and physical training. The reason for this is they have never had the opportunity to develop themselves in organized sports and physical training. There are some who are in good condition but the percentage is very small compared with the population of Canada."

* * * * * *

"I cannot understand why you are having any difficulty in putting the Memorial Centre over as it is easy to realize the value of it," continues Sergt. Joiner's letter. "If you look at the number of rejections from the Army through minor ailments it will certainly answer your question of why such an organization is needed. If these men and women who have been rejected had been given the opportunity to take part in sports and physical training there would be only 10 per cent of the rejections there are today." Sergt. Joiner is so much interested in the promotion of Peterborough's Health Centre that he winds up his letter with the intimation that he will be glad to bring some of the Petawawa camp sports programs home with him the next time he is home on leave and adds that he might also be able to bring with him a film on sports at Petawawa which was taken during the past summer during the camp unit and camp track and field meets.

The Team To Beat

From the 22-0 defeat handed out to the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School juniors in an interscholastic group game at Port Hope Friday the Port Hope youngsters are most certainly the team to beat for championship honors in the junior division. The Port Hope school hesitated for some time as to whether to enter in the senior group or go in the junior bracket. Finally the decision was made in favor of the junior division and the Port Hope students have been moving right along since the season opened, winning three games in a row by the shutout route. The P.C.V.S. juniors report the winners as a hard-hitting outfit who depend largely on line-plunging and are making it pay dividends. During the first half of Friday's game they tore big holes in the Peterborough line and ran up a score of 16 to 0. However the visitors' defence tightened appreciably in the second half. They held Port Hope scoreless in the third period and nearly escaped without a score in the final fifteen minutes, Port Hope finally registering another touchdown on the last play of the game.

* * * * * *

Peterborough fans will have an opportunity next Saturday of seeing the group-leading Port Hope twelve in action here for they will meet P.C.V.S. seconds in a junior game that will form the first half of an interscholastic double-header. P.C.V.S. first team and Lindsay will supply the contention in the senior end of the bill and it should be a good afternoon's sport entertainment. The Peterborough Collegiate seniors are playing a very important game in Oshawa this afternoon and they will either come home with a firmer grip on first place or find themselves in a three-cornered tie with Oshawa Collegiate and Bowmanville High. Sports Scribe George Campbell reports that Coach Waugh has been putting the Oshawa team through a tough gruelling all week and that they were confident they could take a fall out of the Peterborough students in this afternoon's fixture. The Confederation Square twelve were just as confident they were going to reel off their third straight win so the chances were that the Oshawa fans would see a lively battle there today. Bowmanville plays Lindsay in the other senior game of the afternoon and were expected to win handily.

Down The Mississippi

Peterborough Y.M.C.A. members, under the direction of Swim Coach Doug Minty are competing in the Down the Mississippi international correspondence swimming contest in which 51 American Y.M.C. Associations and five Canadian entries, St. John, N.B., Moncton, N.B., Toronto West End, Peterborough and St. Catharines are taking part. The contest started October 16 and will finish on October 28. The course of the swim is represented by the distance from St. Paul, Minn. to New Orleans, 1,600 miles and contestants can swim any distance from 20 yards, one length of a standard pool to 2 miles, 176 lengths a day. The team which piles up the greatest mileage wins, of course and there are certificates for every swimmer who covers five miles during the contest, a special prize for the local swimmer going the greatest distance and international ten mile club certificates to every contestant covering 10 miles during the 12 days of the contest. As a sample of how the thing works out 49 local swimmers on Monday piled up a total of 527 lengths of the pool, a total distance of six miles. Clare Connel negotiated 100 lengths, Don Payne reeled off 90 and Dave Cottingham contributed 30 lengths. The first two swimmers are trying for the 10 miles club certificates.

The annual meeting of the City Carpet Ball League, an organization that has been functioning successfully for years and providing a lot of entertainment will be held in the Sons of England Hall at 8 o'clock Monday night. All members are requested to attend this gathering which has been called to clean up any unfinished business, and for the election of officers for the coming year. Any organization interested in entering a team in the league for this season's play should be represented at the meeting. Awards for last season's competition will be presented to the winning teams. Every team in the league is requested to have a representative present to vote on the program of activities that is being planned for the 1944-45 season. The Carpet Ball League expects another successful year but a lot will depend upon the attendance and enthusiasm shown at the annual meeting.

Minor Hockey Chiefs To Meet November 25

TORONTO, Oct. 21 (CP) — The Ontario Minor Hockey Association today announced its 10th annual meeting will be held in Toronto Saturday, November 25, one week after the annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association.

Jack L. Christie, secretary, reported that interest in the O.M.H.A. now is higher than at this time in any previous years with notice of entry of teams already having been received from such widely-separated points as Sault Ste. Marie, Kingston, Sarnia, Stratford and Exeter as well as Toronto. He predicted last season's record entry of 122 teams may be exceeded this year.

Detroit To Be Strong Contender For N.H.L. Honors

(Written for The Canadian Press by JOE BURNS)

DETROIT, Oct. 21 — (CP). — Led by some of the National Hockey League's most gifted goal-getters, Detroit Red Wing give promise of being strong contenders for championship honors in the 1944-45 N.H.L. campaign which opens locally Sunday, Oct. 29, with Boston Bruins as the opponest of the Wings.

Eleven members of last year's team, which finished in second place in the league standing, are included among the 15 players Manager-Coach Jack Adams has named as the squad which will start the season.

Standbys Back

The veterans include such talented performers as Forwards Syd Howe, Carl Liscombe, Modere (Mud) Bruneteau, Joe Carveth and Murray Armstrong and Defenseman Bill (Flash) Hollett.

Others from last year's team are Bill Quackenbush, Harold Jackson, Cully Simon and Goalie Conny Dion and then there is Don (The Count) Grosso, who seems to be headed for a big season after having been handicapped last year by a fractured wrist. The newcomers are Larry Thibeault, Jud McAtee, Ted Lindsay and Steve Wochy.

Although the Wings did not look too hot in their first public appearance of the season on home ice — an exhibition game with Indianapolis Capitals of the American Hockey League — they should be more impressive once their play is smoothed out. At least the hockey-wise Adams has professed himself as satisfied with the work of Dion in goal, the defense should be strong, and there is no question about scoring power.

Scoring Punch

Liscombe, chunky left-winger from Galt, led the club in scoring last season with 36 goals and 37 assists for 73 points and a club record. But he by no means towered over his teammates. The ever-green Howe, who has tallied 206 goals in his N.H.L. career, was right up with the league leaders with 32 goals and 28 assists for 60 points. Carveth had 56 points, Bruneteau 53, Grosso 57, Hollet 34 and Armstrong 34. The latter joined the club after the season was well under way.

McAtee is regarded as one of the most promising newcomers. He played in the Ontario Hockey Association with St. Catharines where he had a war plant job last season although he made one appearance with Wings in a game at Montreal, getting two assists. Previously he spent two years with the Capitals.

Lindsay is making his first professional start. He played last season with St. Michael's College. Wing supporters are counting heavily on Thibeault on the strength of his 80 points in league and play-off games with Buffalo last season in the American Hockey League. Wochy, formerly of Fort William, is another first-year performer.

ON FURLOUGH — Flt.-Lieut. Arthur H. Ross, Jr., R.C.A.F., son of Art Ross, manager of the Boston Bruins, now in training in Quebec, who is home in Brookline, Mass., on a 30-day furlough after being reported killed on D-Day. He expects to visit his father in Quebec before going back on duty.

Ezinicki Will Add Punch To Leaf Line

By FRASER MacDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Oct. 21 — (CP). — A 20-year-old native of Winnipeg whose greatest ambition is to be able to play golf 365 days of the year, is expected to add scoring punch and fighting spirit to the current edition of the Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League.

The player is Bill Ezinicki, who began playing hockey and golf when he had remarkable talent for both games. He has starred at junior hockey for three seasons and turned in a creditable performance in his one major golf tournament — the Canadian open in which he played two years ago.

The quiet-spoken, 170-pound Ezinicki is best known for his hockey play with Oshawa Generals in the last two seasons, appearing in two Memorial Cup finals series, the club winning the Dominion Junior title last spring. Previously he played with Winnipeg Rangers when that club was eliminated by Portage La Prairie, the year the Prairies went on to win the Memorial Cup.

A Bad Man.

During his career with the Generals he acquired somewhat of a "bad man" reputation because of the number of penalties he drew. But he doesn't know how it came about.

"I don't know what I got them for," the dark-haired youngster said. "I just got them, that's all."

In his two years at Oshawa, he was apprenticed as a toolmaker and he intends to put in the two more years necessary to qualify in the trade. This year he spent four months in the R.C.A.F. and when he was discharged for medical reasons, he tried to join the Army, but was rejected.

Leafs obtained him from Buffalo Bisons in a deal which sent George Boothman and Don Webster to the American Hockey League club. He was Buffalo property because the astute Eddie Shore of Bisons had him placed on that club's list when he was a juvenile playing in Winnipeg.

He finds the N.H.L. brand of hockey as demonstrated in Leafs' training sessions "much tougher than the amateur brand."

"You've got to be quicker and you've got to pass that puck faster or the other team will take it away from you."

TORONTO, Oct. 21 — (CP). — That Westward trip of Toronto St. Michael's College apparently had excellent results in Winnipeg from a diplomatic point of view, although football followers outside the two cities still snort whenever the "East-West High School football play-off" is mentioned.

We see by the public prints that the Toronto "Irish" created a very good impression in the 'Peg, and performed some good spadework for eventual co-ordination of the rules in Eastern and Western Canada. The Westerners saw much good in many points of the Eastern game, Father Flanagan and his Toronto students were favorably impressed with the 10-yard blocking rule of the Western game.

Let the youngsters get together more often, and they probably will effect the understanding their elders have been striving to reach for years.

Leaf Prep School:

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association is practically a training school for Toronto Maple Leafs, with no less than 11 former minor players trying out at the Owen Sound camp. Besides the three Chin boys, there are Teeter Kennedy of Port Colborne, Eric Prentice of the Ontario Juvenile champions in Timmins two years ago, Ken Schultz of Preston, Pat Boehmer and Don Bauer of Kitchener via Toronto St. Mikes, Dean McBride and Eric Unger from St. Catharines Lions, last year's Southern Ontario Juvenile A winners, and Ted Sloane of Copper Cliff, the Northern Ontario Midget titlists.

Casual clips:

Here's a new name for N.H.L. hockey, at any rate. Al (Montreal Herald) Parsley, praising Bill Durnan's network for Montreal Canadiens, said Bill would rank with the best goalies of modern times because he was a standout "in the year of the red line; when they first got that new hockey game set to swing time. It was boogie-woogie shinny last year." Well, that explains some things....In Vancouver they're talking about gathering together any stray civilian pucksters who have been refused permits to play hockey in the U.S. Names mentioned prominently are Doug Bentley of Chicago Black Hawks, Brian Hextall of New York Rangers. They would be given gen-oo-wine war jobs in Vancouver and given a split of the gate receipts, it's said.

Training Camp Gossip

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Maple Leafs return to their former training grounds of the last four seasons at St. Catharines next Tuesday for an exhibition game. The following night Coach Hap Day takes his squad to Maple Leaf Gardens for their annual Kiwanis game.

Nick Metz, the hard wheat farmer from Wilcox, Sask., has arrived at Maple Leafs training camp at Owen Sound after an absence of the seasons from the N.H.L. Only Bob Davidson, Sweeney Schriner, Reg. Hamilton and Lorne Carr were qualified to shake hands as old teammates.

Montreal Canadiens will file their list of players with the N.H.L. today (Saturday) and it is expected the names will be available to the public Monday.

Canadiens will carry two goalkeepers this season, five defencemen and 11 forwards. Coach Dick Irvin predicts his squad will be able to hold its own against any of the others, all of whom have said they are stronger this year than last.

Bill Durnan, Canadiens' sterling netminder, has been reported sufficiently improved from a shoulder injury to permit him to play in an exhibition game at Ottawa tonight.

Manager Lester Patrick is keeping mum about "doings" in the New York Ranger training camp at Winnipeg, and Art Ross, coach of Boston Bruins, hasn't divulged his 1944-45 team yet.

Detroit Red Wings are all set for the coming season with 11 members of last year's team on the roster. Wings' have some of the league's most gifted goalgetters on their lineup.

WILL MEET WILDCATS IN FINAL—When Balmy Beach meets Hamilton Wildcat at 'Varsity stadium, Toronto, today, it will be a battle to the death for the O.R.F.U. championship. Both teams are unbeaten. Pictured here is Ross McKelvey of the Balmy Beaches team fresh from a month at Auburn College, where he is said to have learned a lot about blocking and ball-carrying from U.S. coaches.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 — (AP). — When Penn State's Marine trainees were given their choice of pre-transfer furloughs and playing football against Colgate to-day, most of them took the furloughs.... The admiral, now 73 years of age, cherishes a yellowed clipping telling how his great-grandfather ran up Nelson's signal on Trafalgar Day.

Name Jack Lewis President of Kiwanis Club

Jack Lewis was elected president of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club Friday afternoon, at the election meeting luncheon at the Empress Hotel. Mr. Lewis was first vice-president of the club during the past year and he succeeds Charlie Saunders.

Other officers elected were Milf Hardill, first vice-president; Dinny Fitzgerald, second vice-president; Tom Mark, treasurer; and John Comstock, Vince McCabe, Dr. Cliff McKee, Laurie Mitchell, Harold Rehill, Tom Rodger and John Sinclair, were elected board of directors. Mr. Mark held the position of treasurer last year also, and several members of the 1943 board of directors were returned to office.

Along with the election of officers, the meeting was highlighted by a Seventh Victory Loan atmosphere. Major William Dalton, recently discharged from the army, and now a Victory Loan worker, was the guest speaker, and as the financial picture was thoroughly covered Thursday evening by Finance Minister Ilsley, and the patriotic question discussed by sound films shown the club by Jim Collins, Major Dalton spoke on a different aspect of the newest, and most important War Bond Loan.

The reality of winning the war and and losing the peace, he summarised, is much closer to the Allies, than most people realize. He said one of the quickest means of having this come about, is to be snarled up in domestic problems, which will be greatly heightened if the Seventh War Loan is not the success it must be. It must go over the top, he said, in order to be a success.

More Interest

Then, Maj. Dalton briefly reviewed the events, particularly those in the Far East, which he described as the "stepping stones" leading up to World War II. He told the members that Canadians and every other people must be interested in what is going on in the world, after this war to insure the fact there will not be another war in another 25 years. How then, he asked, can we be interested in world affairs if we are troubled with problems here in Canada. "If we have a stable and clear-cut post-war era, then we can concentrate on world events, and so prevent any other "stepping stones" to another world war. These, he said, are reasons to buy war bonds now. "If the soldiers are willing to give their all," he said, "then we can surely be willing to give enough to make this the most successful loan in our history.

Sound films were shown by Jim Collins. The film was entitled "If We March By," and pictured the civilians of Canada standing before all the servicemen who have fought in the war, and being examined by these soldiers about what the home front has done.

Cigarettes Sent To Soldiers

YOUNG'S POINT, Oct. 21—(ENS) —The Young's Point Red Cross Society met on Thursday afternoon for their opening Fall business meeting in St. Aidan's Parish Hall with Mrs. Douglas in charge.

A vote of thanks was given Mrs. William Scollard for her splendid work as quilt convener and Mrs. Malcolm Harvey was appointed to take Mrs. Scollard's place. This year in place of the usual Red Cross Christmas boxes for boys overseas, it was decided to send cigarettes to all the boys of this district from the Red Cross here.

Final plans were made for the annual meeting Thursday, October 26 at 2 o'clock in St. Aidan's Parish Hall and all women of this district are urged to attend as the Society needs extra workers. The workers convener reported the following shipped for the months of June and September.

8 large quilts; 2 crib quilts; 12 pair pyjamas; 11 long sleeved sweaters; 2 grey helmets; 4 pair gloves and 2 pair mitts.

WE DARE NOT REST UPON OUR OARS!

FIVE YEARS is a lot of war. It's been a long pull . . . but as we approach the shores of ultimate Victory, our fighting men have still to face the fury of the final storm.

Tired? Maybe. But Ontario workers will not lie down on the job. Now, if ever, as our fighting forces gather for the knock-out blow, we of the home front must give them every last ounce of our support.

To rest is risky. We dare not let the boys down. Decide now to keep on pulling . . . seal that decision with the biggest Bond you've ever bought.

PERCY R. BENGOUGH, President — J. A. SULLIVAN, Secretary-Treasurer

On behalf of the Executive Council of

The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada

THE organized workers of Ontario have stood solidly back of our armed forces through five long years of mighty tough going. But it is not yet time for the fighting men to rest upon their laurels . . . and we must not "take it easy", either.

The Home Front cannot rest or relax one moment's vigilance before the Fighting Front's hour of final triumph. Even while the enemy runs in flight before our arms, his punishment is incomplete, our job unfinished.

This is no time to ease off. Let the boys know we're still with them. Buy as many Victory Bonds as you bought last time—and then buy still more.

A. R. MOSHER, President — PAT CONROY, Secretary-Treasurer

PEDESTRIAN INJURED

Fred Gandy, 657 Armour Road, suffered a bruised side when he was in collision with a bicycle while walking across George street at Simcoe street. Robert Meiklejohn McDonnel street, the cyclist, was riding north on George street when the accident happened.

PRISONER OF WAR DIES.

Sqdn. Ldr. Julian Sale, past president of the Toronto Ski Club, and who used to visit Peterborough frequently, died in a German prisoner-of-war camp in March, his family has been notified. He was reported missing once, and then returned to England. The second time he was missing, and later a prisoner of war. He competed in the ski-jumping at Nassau twice before the war.

AT KEMPTVILLE

Don Milburn and Burritt Mann, Smith township boys, were expected back this afternoon from the Junior Farmer interclub competitions at Kemptville Friday. They were accompanied by F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative.

WILL LUNCH AT CAMP

The Peterborough Rotary Club will be the guests of the Military Training Centre at luncheon on Monday and will eat their noonday meal with the men of the camp. The speaker will be a lieutenant of the Norwegian Air Force who will tell the story of how his Spitfire was brought down over France and how he was rescued and looked after by the French underground until he finally made his escape to England.

Navy Auxiliary Honors Hero With Gift On Trafalgar Day

Great events that have gone before should ever prove an inspiration to deeds of the present and future and particularly from a national standpoint if they meant much for the freedom of its people, otherwise the value of history from a constructive sense would hardly be worth recalling.

October 21 in the history of the British Commonwealth of Nations stands out prominently by reason of the triumph of Trafalgar, when in 1805 the British Navy under Admiral Lord Horatio Nelson defeated the combined fleets of France and Spain, and thus saved his country from the threat of invasion by sea for a great many years to come.

To gain some idea of just how great a victory this really was, it should be recalled that the British fleet comprised 33 ships, the largest of which was the Victory, of almost immortal renown, which manned 100 guns under the command of Lord Nelson himself, as against a combined total of 40 ships of the French and Spanish navies, the largest of which, the Spanish Santissima Trinidad, carried some 136 guns commanded by Rear Admiral Don Baltaser Cisneros, although the combined enemy fleets were under the command of the French Vice Admiral Villeneuve.

At this great battle which superceded Nelson's triumphs and victories in the battles of Copenhagen, Aboukir Bay and Cape St. Vincent, the famous signal "England Expects that every man will do his duty" was given, and has remained the watchword of the Navy ever since that day, and it is recalled that Nelson's last words on board the Victory after being mortally wounded were "Thank God, I have done my duty."

The British Commonwealth Navies have upheld this tradition handed down by the hero of Trafalgar. It is also reflected to a similar degree to those who work on land to assist them through the various Auxiliary services, of which the Peterborough Naval Auxiliary is one, their work of an entirely voluntary nature meaning many hours of labor of love, that the boys from this city and district may have those comforts that go such a long way towards stimulating their morale, and making them comfortable under the hazardous tasks that their duty enforces.

This same group of women of whom Mrs. F. Merrett is the president, could hardly have chosen a more suitable time in the whole of the calendar year, to step out of their own circle, to do some good for the sufferers in the front line of Battle in Britain, than the day on which this hero gave his life in defence of their forefathers some 139 years ago.

A gift of $25 is recorded today in the records of the Peterdborough and District British War Victims' Fund, which could really be called their own personal gift, for it represents money that they gave themselves at collections taken at the meetings which are held in the interests of the local and district boys now serving in the Navy.

Nelson's final prayer recorded in his diary on the eve of battle is so applicable in this time of stress through which the Empire is now passing, that it is well worth recording here for the inspiration it can give to others in the present struggle. It reads as follows: "May the Great God, whom I worship, grant to my country, and for the benefit of Europe in general, a great and glorious victory: and may no misconduct in anyone tarnish it: and may humanity after victory be the predominant feature in the British Fleet. For myself individually, I commit my life to Him that made me: and may His blessings alight on my endeavors for serving my country faithfully. To Him I resign myself, and the just cause which is entrusted to me to defend."

There are three men here, all hailing from the same district where Lord Nelson was born and received his early education, by chance all with surnames commencing with "M" to whom the tradition of Nelson means much in matters pertaining to duty and Empire. On this day they combine to pay tribute to his memory by doing some good for others in making a combined gift of $10 to the fund.

Honor Mother's Memory

By coincidence, a third gift acknowledged in this column also is given in a somewhat kindred spirit, this appearing "In loving memory of Mother's birthday, Mrs. Adam Humphries, ever remembered by her family." This is another instance of where loving memories of parental care given in bygone years, finds inspiration in doing some good for those in need, from those still living, for all that this has meant in their own lives.

Teacher Gives Club Talk On History

An interesting and informative discussion of Modern History by Eldon Ray, Collegiate teacher, was the highlight of the weekly meeting of the Friday Night Club in the Y.M.C.A. Building.

New committee chairmen were announced: Rod Blackwell, speakers committee; Art Northcott, membership; Norm Courtney, publicity; Jim Shields, music, and Don Forde, sports.

Newly-elected president Jack Sackville thanked the club for the honor of being president, and asked the club for its whole-hearted support for the coming year, a bigger and better club year.

An appeal to those now in the armed forces to visit the club when home on leave, was made and a cordial invitation was extended.

A special door prize of a necktie was won by John Sloggett. G. Johnston introduced Mr. Ray, and Norm Allen expressed the club's thanks to the speaker.

SERIOUSLY ILL—Pte. Vernon Henry Tarkington, son of Mrs. Jessie Tarkington, 222 Wolfe street, who was reported wounded, has been seriously ill since October 14. He is suffering from a bullet wound in the right hip, and injuries to the face and arms. Enlisting in January, he has been fighting in Northern Europe with the Black Watch Regiment for two months.

ONLY CANUCK SURVIVORS OF ARNHEM—Two Canadians who fought with the heroic air borne troops in the Arnhem operations, among the few to return safely to England, are shown as they looked over a French map and discussed the situation as they saw it. Left to Right: Lieut. W. A. Harvey, Regina, Sask., and Lieut. Phillip Turner, Peterborough. Now with the South Staffordshire Regiment, they were attached to the British air borne troops as glidermen. Among the first to land at Arnhem, they are the only two Canadians to survive uncaptured the heroic action which will pass down in history.

12,000 Germans Trapped At Dunkerque

By SEAGHAN MAYNES
Reuter War Correspondent

WITH THE 1st CANADIAN ARMY OUTSIDE DUNKERQUE, Oct. 21—(CP-Reuter)—A strange cat-and-mouse war is being fought far behind the Allied lines at the French port of Dunkerque, where 12,000 German expendables are trapped with their back to England and the sea.

With them are 500 collaborators who preferred to stay with the doomed garrison rather than risk the vengeance of liberated France.

These suicide troops, remnants of the shattered German 7th Army routed in France, today are holding defence positions almost similar to those British troops held in 1940 before the evacuation.

Night Thrusts

As they nervously await the final assault to smash them into the sea, they are showing a spirit of aggressiveness, especially at night, when they lunge fighting patrols into the Allied lines to raise as much hell as possible.

All along the 29-mile perimeter the Allies are watching every German move and attacking whenever German thrusts are made to test the Allied strength.

Whether the garrison will fight as did the British on the beaches to the last minute or surrender en masse like other German port garrisons in Calais and Bologne under an all-out assault is problematical. But there is no doubt that their fighting spirit now is not greatly impaired.

It has been bolstered by promises of relief and broadcast exhortations to hold out as their resistance is vital to the battle for the Fatherland.

Earlier the Nazi-minded garrison was told that on Oct. 15 a great secret weapon would be unleashed, which would drive the Allies from France, Belgium and Holland. At the same time Field Marshal Von Rundstedt would smash through Holland with a massive tank force and relieve the garrison. But it didn't happen.

Although outside supplies for the garrison are restricted to nightly flights by one or two Luftwaffe planes, the food situation is good. When civilians were evacuated from the port Oct. 4, the Germans allowed them to take cattle, sheep and poultry with them but everything else in the town—bakeries, meat stores and all that was left in the shops, was seized.

They have plenty of mortars and guns including two 280-mm. railway guns, but there are indications that their supply of shells is none too plentiful after the intense barrages they have been laying down on the Allied positions since the Allies encircled them during the first week of September.

With complete control of the floodgates, the Germans have flooded large areas around Dunkerque as the British did during their fighting retreat and each road above water is covered by 88-and 75-mm. batteries.

The commander of the garrison is a 50-year-old admiral whose specialty is port destruction.

Rev. S. Johnston Born In Ireland

Rev. Samuel Johnston, who was called to St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Peterborough, this week, has been minister of Queen Street Presbyterian church, Toronto, since 1937. However, prior to that time he served two years while he was attending Knox College.

Born in Belfast, Northern Ireland, Mr. Johnston came to Canada in 1926 and took up residence in Hamilton, where he entered McMaster University to study for the ministry. Later he attended Knox College, graduating in 1937. During his student days Mr. Johnston had charge of the Presbyterian churches in Rockwood, Eden Mills and Guelph. Following his graduation he was called to Queen Street East Toronto, where he has had a most successful ministry. It is expected Mr. Johnston will accept the call.

CGE-Genelco Workers Subscribe $222,750

The Victory Loan "score board" on the Machine Shop wall of C.G.-E.-Genelco showed this morning subscriptions amounting to $222,750, the result of one day's campaigning throughout the shops.

From the springboard of their Thursday afternoon, the big shop's campaigners went into action on Friday morning and their opening day's advance had hit close to the half-way mark.

Obituary

MRS. NELLIE OKE

After an illness of three weeks, Mrs. Nellie Oke, formerly Nellie Alberta Philp, passed away today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Birdie DeNure, 427 Mark street, in her 75th year. She has lived in Peterborough over a year, formerly residing in Port Hope.

Mrs. Oke was born in Cramahe Township, daughter of the late Robert Philp and Martha Honey. While in Peterborough, she was a member of Mark street United Church, and she was treasurer of the Women's Missionary Society of Port Hope United Church for more than 25 years. She also belonged to the Women's Association of that church. Mrs. Oke's husband, Frederick Oke, predeceased her six years ago.

She leaves to mourn her loss three daughters, Mrs. Birdie DeNure, of Peterborough, Helen, and Muriel, both of Oshawa.

The funeral will be Monday at two o'clock, from the residence of Mrs. DeNure, 427 Mark street, to interment in Port Hope Union Cemetery. Rev. E. W. Rowland, of Mark street United Church, and Rev. J. W. Gordon, of Port Hope United Church, will officiate.

A. E. Borland Named To Hospital Body

In an inaugural business meeting Friday evening, the Allied Labour Council named A. E. Borland as a representative of the Council to the City Council's Hospital Committee. The appointment was made following the reading of an invitation extended by the City Council.

The Labor Council advancing its aims of participation and expression in all matters of community welfare endorsed several resolutions and have presented them to City Council. Among these resolutions were:

"That in order to assure the fullest participation of the citizens of Peterborough in preparation for 'jobs for every citizen' in the post-war period, this Allied Labor Council endorses the appeal of the U.E. Local 524 to City Council for the convening of a representative meeting of the citizen and organizations of the City of Peterborough for the discussion of post-war problems, realizing the definite advantages to our citizens of mutual planning with other organizations and urge the City Council to convene such a meeting at the earliest possible time."

The Labor Council also expressed its desire of participating in all committees dealing with the welfare of the citizens and urged the City Council to make provision for the inclusion of representatives of organized labor on all committees and commissions that have been or may be appointed by the City Council.

The City Council was also asked to furnish information relative to the duties and aims of committees on Rehabiliation, Housing, Victory Celebration Committee and the Park's Commission who are to be in charge of the Memorial Health Centre project.

The Council attended by some twenty delegates, representative of twelve unions, welcomed the newly organized Milk Drivers and endorsed their appeal for improvement in milk delivery hours.

All members of the Labor Council were invited to participate in the project of the Workers Educational Association for discussions on post-war problems which is to be initiated shortly with a showing of the film by the National Film Board on UNRRA (United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration). It was pointed out that UNRRA opened immense possibilities for employment and work in Peterborough and that it was of distinct advantage for all to learn of its operation.

Typhoons Whittle Nazis In Holland

LONDON, Oct. 21 (CP-Cable) — German troops in slit trenches were blown to pieces yesterday when darting Typhoons firing rockets and dropping 500-pound bombs gave the closest aerial support of the Netherlands campaign to Canadian infantry north of Antwerp, the Air Ministry revealed today.

At one time the Typhoons were dive-bombing roads and buildings only 100 yards ahead of the waiting Canadians. A short time later the 1st Canadian Army signalled the Tactical Air Force that tanks and infantry were advancing.

In the Schelde pocket New Zealand Spitfire pilots aided the Canadians by smashing an enemy fort southwest of Breskens.

Building Group To Be Named For Memorial

Proceeding with the preliminaries of the Peterborough Memorial Centre, members of its general committee last night took the first step toward the appointment of a building committee.

The building committee is to be composed of four members of the general committee and three members of the city council. The general committee's four members are to be selected from nominations by a sub-committee named last night: J. E. Keyes, Vern Selkirk, J. A. LaBranche, C. S. Cummer and J. A. Jebson.

The assignment of the building committee of seven will terminate on the completion of the arena unit of the Memorial Centre. In the meantime, preparations for this work, backed by legislative authority, cannot be laid out until the middle of next year at the earliest. According to the remark of Ian McRae, ground will not be broken until the war with Germany ends. The project will subsequently be undertaken as a means of employment in that period of readjustment.

The committee spent more than two hours last night in discussion of planning for the Memorial. Most of that time was devoted to consideration of a draft agreement between the city council and the proposed Memorial Centre Commission, the administrative trustess of the Memorial Centre in its full scope, their duties, method and periods of appointment, and generally the details of future and contniuous management.

The committee's approval of this agreement was recorded last night in a motion by Mr. Keyes, seconded by Mr. McRae.

The members present were: J. A. Jebson, chairman, Alderman Bradburn, J. E. Keyes, Vern Selkirk, S. J. Whitehouse, Clarence Neal, W. S. Cowell, Paige Rowell, J. E. Weir, W. S. Johnson, Walter R. L. Blackwell, Alderman Glover, Roy D. Tayor, W. P. Eastwood, Ed Riley, Ian McRae, C. E. LaBranche, C. S. Cummer, with J. J. Dorris, secretary.

DOURO BOY GETS D.F.C. — Flying Officer Anthony Delaney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Delaney of Douro, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the fourth Peterborough man to win this honor. He is a bombardier and has completed 34 flights, and he expects to be an instructor overseas. FO. Delaney is the youngest of 11 children, and two brothers, Flt.-Lieut. Gerard Delaney and LAC. Bernard Delaney, are also overseas.

ON MANY RAIDS — PO. Max Graham, R.C.A.F., who has been serving overseas for three years, and made nearly 50 operational trips, has arrived home on furlough. He is the son of Mrs. Luezetta Graham, 229 Edinburgh street.

PO. Max Graham Home After 50 Raids

Hamburg was the toughest spot of all as far as P.O. Max Graham, R.C.A.F., veteran of between 40 and 50 operational bombing trips, is concerned. He is now spending a furlough with his mother, 229 Edinburgh street.

While this raid happened about two years ago, it still remains vividly in his mind, recalling the vicious flak which put 34 holes in his big Halifax before it limped back to its base. One of the crew members was killed in this raid when "our luck wasn't with us," but the rest made it.

"Searchlights are far more terrifying than flak to fliers. You get in them and you can't see where you're going or approaching danger. In spite of being blinded the pilot turns and twists frantically, hoping to break out of their unwelcome embraces."

Crew Broken Up

Most of P.O. Graham's flying has been night bombing and he was on operational duty until September 12. His crew, which has been together almost since he landed in England, are now pretty well broken up, even if he returns overseas. The last day they were flying, his pilot was killed in an accident near his base, and four others of the crew have finished their tours.

In three years overseas, this air gunner has visited most of the big German industrial and war centres, but to him, they are just a place on the map. He said that on the night bombing runs, he never had an opportunity to see anything of a city, there were just searchlights and flames snooting up, so that actually a mission to any particular place was considered in the light of what appeared on the chart.

Hit Plane

All the young flier would say about Cologne, was that he had been there, but reports which were written by war correspondents at the time, told of how he was credited with scoring hits on a Messerschmitt-110 when he was serving as rear gunner in a raid in February, 1943. He also raided Nuremburg and Berlin. Crews have different luck at a target, he said, and his raids on Berlin were comparatively easy, because when he was sent there, the weather was always on their side, the flak and fighter danger was lessened by the clouds.

"Our last trips over France were much easier, and shorter than our previous raids. Just before I finished up, we made two or three daytime raids over the continent and I tell you I don't envy those Americans. At night you are protected to some extent by the darkness, as long as you miss the searchlights, but in the daytime, you're far too exposed to suit me.

Waiting Strain

"The tensest part of a bombing run to me is after briefing. We check our equipment and then eat and sleep until it is time to shove off. Thinking about your objective is a strain, but once you move off and get ready for action, that feel-

Waiting Strain

"I'm awfully glad to be home, but my three years overseas is an experience I wouldn't have missed for anything. There was lots of tragedy, but there was lots of fun, too, and the boys were swell to work with. Although now the lights are on in England, and they are so dim that you can still barely see, it was a real celebration there. In our town everybody gathered down street to see them go on."

P.O. Graham said that the things most needed by the men overseas are cigarettes, razor blades, shirts, sox, and underwear. He found that he could buy soap, cookies and tooth paste. Since clothing is rationed, only the officers get coupons and the men get only issue clothes, which are often far from satisfactory.

Whether he will return overseas is something that P.O. Graham does not know yet. He is married to an English girl, and if he remains in Canada she will be joining him here. Prior to enlisting, he worked at Ed Riley's Men's store.

Pte. F. W. Heslip Royal Regiment Is Killed In Action

Mrs. Kathleen Heslip, formerly Kathleen Jones, 155 River Road, has received word that her husband, Pte. Fred W Heslip was killed in action, October 13.

The young soldier who enlisted in May 1942 with the Prince of Wales Rangers (CA) went overseas in June with the Fusiliers, and at the time of his death was fighting with the Royal Regiment of Canada. Prior to enlisting, he worked in the C.G.E.

Surviving besides his wife, are his daughter Linda Ann, age 2; his mother, Mrs. W. A. Heslip; three brothers and three sisters.

Truck Driver Charged With Reckless Driving

As the result of an accident on the Lakefield Road on Wednesday night, Carman Coons, 26-year-old Smith township truck driver, faced charges of reckless driving and drunken driving before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. in police court this morning.

Coons told the court that he was not ready to plead this morning and asked for an adjournment. The cases were accordingly enlarged until Wednesday.

The charges were laid by Provincial Constable Price Morris who had investigated the accident. Coons was injured in the crash and appeared in court today with his right eye hidden by bandages.

Karl Wrightly, 16, Aylmer street, pleaded guilty to a charge of having liquor in a place other than a residence and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs after Inspector J. F. Reid stated that the boy had been picked up by the police early this morning with three pint bottles of beer in his pocket. The beer was ordered confiscated by the court.

Pte. H. Chamberlain Killed In Belgium

NORWOOD, Oct. 21.— Mr. and Mrs. William Chamberlain of Norwood, have received word that their only son, Pte. Howard Chamberlain, has been killed in Belgium. Prior to enlisting, the 25-year-old soldier worked at the Raybestos Company and he went overseas in September 1943. He has been serving with the Essex Scottish Regiment, and his wife lives in Lanark.

BUILD REUNION CENTRE

LONDON — (CP). — An appeal for £1,000,000 ($4,500,000) to build a reunion centre in London for ex-service men and women has been launched by Field Marshal Sir Philip Chetwode, president of the Victory (ex-services) Association.

WOUNDED SECOND TIME—Serving with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in Italy, Cpl. Charles F. Fisher, son of Lawrence Fisher, 224 Lake street, has been reported wounded in action October 14. This is the second time the young soldier has been wounded in that theatre, as he was a casualty on May 23, during the heavy Liri Valley fighting.

Khaki College May Be Set Up

OTTAWA, Oct. 21 —(CP)— Defence Minister Ralston, back from overseas with demobilization draft plans, will consider at an early date the possibility of establishing a second "Khaki College" overseas similar to the one which operated immediately after armistice in 1918, it was reliably learned Friday.

Announcement of the plan will probably be held up until the return from Britain early in November of Col. G. G. D. Kilpatrick, director of army education.

The plan is aimed, like its predecessor in the First Great War, at usefully occupying the men as they wait repatriation after the end of the war. As one officer said today "it will keep the men out of trouble, like it did me, and also give them a useful background for fitting them into civilian life."

As the plan is only in the suggestion stage officials do not yet know what form it will eventually take.

Assessors Meeting Doubles Attendance

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 21 — (ENS) — The meeting of the district assessors which was held in the council chambers of the Town Hall, Belleville, this week proved to be of great interest, and the attendance more than doubled any previous meeting. The main topics discussed were County Assessors and their duties.

The Hon. Eric Dunbar, Minister of Municipal Affairs, proposed that schools, teaching the proper methods of assessing, be opened for three or four days.

Those attending from this district were: Reeve Scriver, Councillor George Charlton, Clerk Treasurer E. H. Northey and Chief Samis.

Egypt Looks For Peace Table Seat

CAIRO, Oct. 21 — (CP-Reuter) — Ahmed Maher Pasha, the new Egyptian Prime Minister, today claimed Egypt has the right to a seat at the peace conference table.

He was commenting on cabled reports that Clement Attlee, Deputy Prime Minister, said in the House of Commons that only those countries which participated in the war as belligerents would be entitled to join the peace talks.

"Mr. Attlee's statement does not affect Egypt," he said.

"By her aid freely given to Britain and the countries fighting with her, the collaboration she has given and the sacrifices she has suffered in the democratic cause, Egypt cannot be considered a neutral country."

Germans Evacuate Greek Island

CAIRO, Oct. 21 — AP) — The Germans are evacuating the island of Lemnos in the northern Aegean only 50 miles from the mouth of the Dardanelles, it was reported reliably today, and complete liberation of the island was believed only a matter of hours.

As far as known this would leave Germans, totalling the equivalent of about two divisions, only on western Crete, Rhodes, Coo and Lero in the Dodecanese and Melos in the Cyclades southeast of Greece.

20 Grandsons In Services

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21—(AP)— No matter where fighting is going on, Mrs. Margaret K. Morales is pretty likely to have a grandson in the middle of it. She has 20 grandsons in the service which she thinks may be a record. Mrs. Morales, 78, and a widow, knows where every one of them is, and tries to keep up a correspondence with all.

REUNION BETWEEN FATHER AND SON — A happy meeting between father and son, the latter a casualty of fighting in France and the father about to proceed overseas, took place aboard the hospital ship, Lady Nelson, when it docked in Halifax, N.S. Capt. J. C. Chabot (Right), of Kingston, fighting with a paratroop unit suffered serious arm injuries near Caen. His father (Left) is Major C. A. Chabot of Kingston.

Three-way Co-operation Sought In Solving Post-War Problems

TORONTO, Oct. 21 — (CP) — The annual conference of Ontario mayors and reeves ended a two-day session here last night on a note of three-way co-operation in post-war planning by Federal, Provincial and municipal governments.

At the closing banquet of a meeting marked throughout by an emphasis on peacetime community improvements and plans for provincial - municipal co-operation, Premier George Drew of Ontario told more than 80 delegates of the necessity for the three levels of government in Canada to "get together" on post-war planning.

The need for a three-way conference was "never so urgent and necessary as it is to-day," the Premier said.

"We want that conference. It is the only way we can plan for full employment after the war. There are great opportunities which will be held back unless the administrative functions of government are defined."

He urged a thorough study of the British North America Act in connection with an improved constitution in post-war days, for "despite what has been done under the War Measures Act, we will return to that form of constitution the moment peace comes."

Last day of the conference saw election of George Inglis of Niagara Falls as president of the association.

Other executive officers were: Past president, Mayor W. Garfield Case of Owen Sound; 1st vice-president, Mayor J. E. Brunette of Timmins; 2nd vice-president, Mayor Meinsinger of Kitchener; 3rd vice-president, Revee J. Warren of East York; treasurer, Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa.

Guest speakers at the final session were Dr. J. T. Phair, chief medical officer for the province, and Hon. George H. Dunbar, Minister of Municipal Affairs.

Abolition of Jails

Mr. Dunbar said he had recommended to the province the abolition of "half-full" county jails and the substitution of efficiently-operated institutions of a "jail-farm" basis, upkeep of which would be entirely at the expense of the Provincial Government.

"The horse and buggy days of the county jail are over," he said.

Dr. Phair said municipalities were unwilling to bear their share in maintenance of efficient, public health agencies in the community and deplored the lack of municipal facilities for prevention of tuberculosis and veneral disease. He said 50 per cent. of the 910 municipal health agencies in Ontario spend less than $200 a year on public health.

Members of a special committee on housing were appointed at the closing session.

The members are: Mayors Hamilton, Peterborough; A. G. Davis, Oshawa; T. W. Schrannge, Collingwood; F. J. Conboy, Toronto; J. P. Ryan, Brantford; J. Meinzinger, Kitchener; and Reeve F. J. Macrae, York Township.

Old Age Creeping On

When people's cars get old and worn
And then begin to toddle
They go somewhere to trade them in
And get the latest model.

Now, I have very often thought
That when my joints get achey
And when my hair has all turned gray
And knees are rather shaky.

And when the outward march of time
Had left me rather feeble
How nice 'twould be to find a firm
That deals in worn-out people.

How nice 'twould be when feet give out
Or we have damaged livers
If we could go and buy new parts
Just like they do for flivers.

And when my form is bent with age
And gets to looking shoddy,
How nice 'twould be to trade it in
And get a brand new body.

Seamen Balk At New Order

MONTREAL, Oct. 21—(CP)—Capt. H. N. McMaster, president of the National Maritime Federation, today said in a statement to Federal Government officials that the recent order "freezing" merchant seamen to their ships had not only kept many men from joining ship but had left many ships shorthanded.

"In some cases," the statement said, "up to 30 per cent of the Great Lakes Fleet have been sailing shorthanded because of the order and it has hampered the handling and abtaining of seamen at a time when they were sorely needed to man the ships."

Capt. McMaster asked that the order be rescinded immediately, since "the regimentation of seamen could never be a success and that only the complete repeal of the order would make it possible to man the ships with sufficient men."

Two Officers Named Acting Brigadiers

OTTAWA, Oct. 21—(CP)—Lt.-Col. F. N. Cabeldu of Victoria, B.C., former officer commanding the Canadian Scottish Regiment overseas, and Lt. Col. Guy Gauvreau of Montreal, officer commanding Les Fusiliers Mont Royal, now fighting in France, have been promoted to the rank of Acting Brigadier Defence Headquarters announced today.

Brig. Cabeldu, 49, went overseas as a Major with the Canadian Scottish. In 1942 he was appointed second in command of the regiment and a year later he was given command and promote to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel.

Brig. Gauvreau, 29, proceeed overseas as a Captain with the Fusiliers, serving in Iceland and landing in the United Kingdom in 1941. In 1942, he filled the post of Aide de Camp to Field Marshal Montgomery, returning later to Canada as a Major to take a staff course. When Lt. Col Dollard Menard, officer commanding the Fusiliers was severely wounded at Dieppe in August, 1942, Brig. Gauvreau was despatched from Canada by air to take command. He has been leading the regiment in France.

Top Jap Officer In Charge On Philippines

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 — (AP). — Field Marshal Count Juichi Terauchi, identified by Gen. MacArthur as his adversary in the fight for the Philippines, is Japan's highest ranking active commander and one of her outstanding soldiers of modern times.

Shortly after the attack on Pearl Harbor in December, 1941, Emperor Hirohito designated him Commander-in-Chief of all Japanese land forces in the Southwestern Pacific area, from Formosa to Burma and presumably it is in that capacity that he has taken over in person direction of the defence of the Philippines.

Terauchi is 65, the son of another Field Marshal, Count Masakata Terauchi, a dominating figure in the early days of Japan's Imperial expansion, as a ruthless Governor-General of Korea in the early days of Japanese possession and as premier in 1916-19.

The present Terauchi, marked by a high-domed bald head, has been Minister of War and often has been mentioned for the Premiership. He was Commander-in-Chief of Japanese Armies in North China in the early stages of Japan's campaign of conquest there.

After the fall of Corregidor, May 7, 1942, Emperor Hirohito issued one of his comparatively rare Imperial rescripts commending Terauchi and his naval colleague, Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, for the victory. Less than a year later Yamamoto died when his plane was downed somewhere in the Southwest Pacific area. Now Terauchi is called on to defend the prize they won together.

Only one other active Japanese soldier is believed to hold the rank of Field Marshal, War Minister General Sugiyama.

Children To Aid Milk For Britain Fund On Hallowe'en

Without losing any of its traditional festivity, Hallowe'en in Canada is going to be different this year, in a way that will provide fun and entertainment for the children while they help countless little girls and boys in bomb-ravaged Britain by sending them healthful milk, through the Kinsmen's Club national "Shell-Out For Milk for Britain" plan.

The Peterborough Kinsmen's club, along with more than 100 Kinsmen's groups throughout the country, are sponsoring the event. Here is how it will work.

Special tickets have already been printed, and distributed to local school children. These are Hallowe'en Shell-Out for Milk for Britain tickets, and are being sold to housewives and other people. The children sell the tickets, at one cent each, in strips of 100 for $1.

Hallowe'en night, when the children dress up as usual, and come around to the houses calling the familiar "shell-out" cry, instead of shelling out candies, nuts and other good things now restricted because of the war, tickets will be given, and each ten tickets collected, will send one quart of valuable milk to children in the United Kingdom.

It's fun, but with a vital war purpose! Colorful Hallowe'en, a typical Canadian festival, has been dressed up in a new costume this year, designed to help others who need help most!

$2,000,000 Contributed

Nearly $2,000,000 has already been contributed to provide milk for the children of Britain. This work is continuing, but the need is growing. This year has seen the introduction to the people of the United Kingdom, of the flying bomb, newest, and most dangerous terror weapon yet devised by the Nazis against the civilian population. For many months after victory, the need will still be great. It is important that the work speed ahead. This is the motive behind the big effort that will be made Hallowe'en night, to "Shell-Out for Britain."

The objective of this night, will be three million quarts. Tickets are selling now, in preparation for Hallowe'en, and children are themselves looking forward to be able to help others as much as possible, instead of the usual peace-time "treats or tricks" viewpoint.

In other years, world peace assured everyone of a full bag of candies, nuts and fruits on the brisk October night when children dress up to frighten evil spirits, according to an age-old custom. Today, thousands of children in Britain have never known these treats; through dark days in the past, and through the brighter days to come, milk still stands as it always has, as one of the major food commodities needed by children.

The Hallowe'en witch has become a milkmaid, so that children of Britain may build themselves into healthy citizens. Every Peterborough citizen can send milk on its way across an ocean, by buying as many of the "Shell-Out" tickets as possible, and giving them to the children who visit Hallowe'en night.

Credit Typhoons With Death Of Gen. Rommel

BRUSSELS, Oct. 21 — (Reuter). Weeks of research by military authorities and the intelligence service has established that the men who fatally wounded Field-Marshal Rommel were Canadian and British Typhoon fighter-bomber pilots of the R.A.F. Tactical Air Force.

None of them knew at the time that anything unusual would result from their routine bombing and strafing mission near the Village of Dozule, east of Caen, July 17.

The squadron's logbook for that day merely records:

"Dive-bombed enemy strongpoints south of Caen. Wing Cmdr. Baldwin, leading eight aircraft, attacked enemy strongpoints with good results. A staff car and an armoured car also were strafed and left burning."

Easy to Find.

Flying with Wing Cmdr. Baldwin D.S.O., D.F.C. and Bar, of the R.A.F., were FO. Pete Langille of Saint John, N.B., Flt. Lt. R. W. Davidge and Flt. Lt. W. A. Switzer, both of Edson, Alta., WO. A. E. Sugden of Outremont, Montreal, and three Englishmen.

"There was no difficulty in finding the target, although the operation was over country criss-crossed by many minor roads and very much divided by thick hedgerows and copses,' Wing Cmdr. Baldwin said yesterday.

"The pinpoint on our map looked like a farmhouse. We scored 10 hits on it with 500-pounders, then, as we seemed to have a lot of petrol left, I decided we would carry out an armed reconnaissance of the area with cannon.

"East of Caen and south of Coburg, near a village called Dozule, I spotted two dispatch riders, one biggish armored car, another motor transport, a staff car, and a smaller armored car.

"This indicated somebody of importance, and I gave the usual order for the section to peel off, one by one, and strafe the vehicles."

At Treetop Level.

Trying jointly yesterday to recall the details of the attack, Langille and Sugden said:

"The staff car and its escort were moving toward the west when the wing commander spotted them. There were a few German fighters around, and we did not see the vehicles until we got the order to peel off.

"It was a very clear day except for heat haze and we went down one by one from 6,000 feet to nought feet (just above ground level). We skimmed along the road at treetop height and let the vehicles have about 800 cannon shells.

"One of the dispatch riders got away, as there was plenty of cover beneath the hedges and trees. The other was killed on the spot and as we cut off back home we saw the cars either smoking or in flames."

The wing to which the pilots belong has worked in close support of the 1st Canadian Army, making a specialty of low-level dive-bombing attacks on German headquarters.

Sgt. A. E. Church Killed In Crash

BANCROFT, Oct. 21.—(ENS). — Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Churcher have received word that their 20-year-old son, Sgt. Almer Ebart Churcher, was instantly killed in a plane crash at the R.C.A.F. training centre, McLeod, Alta., Thursday.

Sgt. Churcher and another pilot were manoeuvring over the field when their plane failed to straighten out from a dive, and crashed into a knoll, killing both men. His father was officiating at D.D.G.M. for Prince Edward district at Stirling Masonic Temple, Thursday evening, when the message of his son's death reached him immediately after the meeting.

Sgt. Churcher enlisted in January, 1943 and after taking an instructor's course in Quebec, was posted to McLeod. Prior to enlisting, he had lived on a farm with his parents, and he and his four brothers worked in their parents' dairy farm.

Surviving besides his parents, are four brothers, Sgt. Lee Churcher, stationed with the R.C.A.F. at Rockcliffe since his return form overseas; Melvin, Gerald and Reginald at home.

The remains are being shipped with escort from Alberta to-day and funeral announcements will be made later.

PEACE IN THE TURMOIL OF WAR—The sleep of the innocent. During the truce between Germans and Canadians at Dunkerque this little chap slept in his daddy's arms, unmindful of the moving finger of history — the second evacuation of Dunkerque. In the dark days of 1940, a British Army was driven into the sea at Dunkerque by the then victorious armies of Hitler. Now British arms are again in front of the city—but as victors.

Western Units Smash Italian Line

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, Oct. 21—(CP Cable)—Canadian formations astride route 9—the Via Aemilia leading from Rimini through Cesena to Bologna—moved forward yesterday on the north side of the highway, apparently intending to by-pass Cesena in the British 8th Army drive northwest towards the plains of the Po Valley. They advanced between 3,000 and 4,000 yards.

(A Rome dispatch said Cesena, 17½ miles west and slightly north of the Port of Rimini, has been entered by 8th Army troops.)

Other Dominion units exploiting the bridgehead over the Pisciatello established last Tuesday pushed forward to cut the lateral highway running north from Cesena to Cervia on the Adriatic, 9½ miles distant, while New Zealand formations to their right also moved forward in a powerful armored push.

Other Canadian and British troops on the coastal sector to the northeast moved sluggishly in the face of resistance by German paratroopers.

The cracking of the Pisciatello Line, begun by a prairie regiment on the night of Oct. 17, clinched the Canadians' positions and the New Zealanders' on their right. Attacking simultaneously after a tremendous barrage which lit the sky and reverberated through the air for miles, they forced the enemy back.

HORTHY ASKS TRUCE — The Hungarian government of Adm. Nicholas Horthy has asked the Allies for a truce. It is reported that while the Russian armies drove across Hungary's central plains toward Budapest, the Germans and pro-German elements seized the capital. Horthy was seized by the Gestapo and taken to Germany.

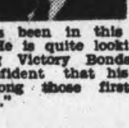
Introducing

The Victory Loan Salesmen

This is the sixth in a series of six advertisements to introduce to you the Victory Loan salesmen for the City and County of Peterborough, and to give a brief biography of each.

MR. CECIL PELTON of Young's Point will again be a canvasser on behalf of the Seventh Victory Loan. He is in the General Store line of business along with Mr. Nicholson, also a Victory Loan salesman, and he has made many friends during the comparatively short period of time he has been in this district.



He is quite looking forward to selling Victory Bonds again, and feels confident that his district will be among those first going "over the top."

W. R. (RAN) NICHOLSON, Young's Point, will be starting on October 23rd on his fourth campaign in the interests of the Seventh Victory Loan drive. Along with Mr. Cecil Pelton, this genial gentleman is in the General Store line of business in Young's Point, and is another who has made many friends during the short time he has been in this district.

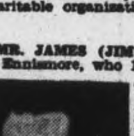
Mr. Nicholson joins with his partner in saying that he feels confident the Victory Loan drive will go over "big" this time, because he feels the rural people are very patriotically inclined, and all are more than willing to do their bit to bring about a victorious conclusion of this present war.

MR. CHARLES H. HUNTER, a native of Lakefield, Ontario, will be canvassing again on behalf of the Seventh Victory Loan.

Mr. Hunter was an Honor Graduate of the Peterborough Business College in 1918, after which he became a partner in the furniture and funeral service business of Hendren & Hunter in Lakefield. For seventeen years he was also connected with the Lakefield Creamery.

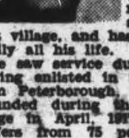
Although this will only be the second canvass for this salesman, he has gained experience in the art of selling, having been a voluntary worker on the Red Cross campaigns and for other charitable organizations.

MR. JAMES (JIM) GIFFORD, R. R. 2, Ennismore, who has been the Reeve of Ennismore since 1934, and in 1936 was the Warden of Peterborough County, will again be canvassing on behalf of the Seventh Victory Loan. This will be the fifth Loan on which Mr. Gifford has been a salesman.



When Mr. Gifford was questioned concerning the reaction of his customers to the Fifth and Sixth Victory Loans, he replied: "They were the best ever." He is very proud of his district, and said the people in his territory actually realize the value of their bonds and how much their money will mean to assist in bringing the boys back after V-Day.

MR. HAROLD T. MATHISON, of Havelock, is almost a veteran when it comes to Victory Loan campaigns. He will be starting on his sixth Loan drive on Monday, October 23rd, when the Seventh Victory Loan drive gets under way. Mr. Mathison is the Postmaster at Havelock and was born in that village, and has lived there practically all his life.



He saw service during the last war, having enlisted in the 93rd Battalion from Peterborough. He was seriously wounded during the Battle of Vimy Ridge in April, 1917, and at present suffers from 75 per cent disability. However, this does not hinder him from enjoying his favorite sport of lawn bowling, as he belongs to the C.P.R. Recreation Club in Havelock.

Mr. Mathison's war record is carried on in this war through his daughter, Betty Mathison, who is a Lieutenant Nursing Sister at the Basingstoke Neurological and Plastic Surgery Hospital, and she has been overseas since July.

MR. WILLIAM DARLING, R. R. 1, Warsaw, Ontario, having been initiated in salesmanship on behalf of the Victory Loan during the sixth drive, will again be doing his best to sell everyone in his district on this, the Seventh Victory Loan campaign.

Mr. Darling is very well known in his district, having been born in Dummer, and has lived there all his life.

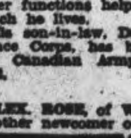
His son, LAC. John Darling, is now overseas with the R.C.A.F.

MR. ERNEST J. LEESON, of Havelock, is another salesman starting out on the Seventh Victory Loan for his second term. When not working on Victory Loans, Mr. Leeson carries on his general store business operating under the name of A. Leeson & Son, Havelock. Before going into this business with his father, he was a farmer.

This canvasser also is very liberal with his experience and time in assisting on the Red Cross drives and other functions helping the village in which he lives.

His son-in-law, Donald Miller, Ordnance Corps, has been overseas with the Canadian Army since December, 1942.

ALEX. ROSE, of Warsaw, Ontario, is another newcomer on the Victory Loan drive. He will be canvassing in the Dummer Township, and should "really know all his clients having been the clerk of the Municipality of Dummer for twenty-two years.



Mr. Rose is a farmer, but also finds time to be an active worker on the Red Cross and other charitable drives in his district.

MR. M. J. HEALEY, who is very well known in the Douro Township, having been born in that district and farmed in Dummer Township for some 28 years, will again be a canvasser in the Seventh Victory Loan. This almost makes Mr. Healey a charter member, as this will be his sixth campaign.

Not only does Mr. Healey realize that he is actually helping the local Victory Loan Committee, but he knows, too, that in his way he is helping to bring back to Canada his two sons who are in the Services. Sgt. James G. Healey is overseas with the R.C.A.F. and Stewart Vincent Healey, another son, is with the Norwegian Navy.

This canvasser is another who cannot seem to say too many of the nice things about his customers. He said he always meets with the very best of response and feels quite sure they will put forth every effort again to put their district at the top of the list.

REV. C. A. G. SPENCE—To many, being 74 years of age would seem old, but to the Rev. C. A. G. Spence of Apsley, Ontario, it is just the prime of life. Just to read of the many activities and duties accomplished by this gentleman would make the ordinary individual weary, but to Mr. Spence, "being busy" is the staff of life.

Rev. C. A. G. Spence, who was appointed to the Apsley Anglican Church November 1st, 1918, and stayed there until he was superannuated in June, 1937, has consented to assist in the Victory Loan drive by canvassing the Harvey and Burleigh Townships. He will definitely be an asset on the Seventh Loan as is evidenced by his popularity in his home district.

In 1938 Mr. Spence was appointed Municipal Clerk of the Burleigh-Anstruther Township and in addition, in 1939 became Treasurer, and still holds both positions. In 1942 he was assigned to the Stoney Lake Missions, which covers Young's Point, Buckhorn and Haultain, and still carries on, travelling seventy-five miles and taking three different services every Sunday. He is Secretary-Treasurer of the Townships (Burleigh-Anstruther) schools covering six schools, and since March, 1922, has been the official weather observer for the Meteorological Services for the Dominion. He was appointed a Commissioner of Oaths for the Supreme Court of Ontario in 1925 and a Justice of the Peace in 1927. He was also instrumental in getting the Red Cross Hospital started at Apsley in 1927.

Lance-Corporal Rex Spence, who enlisted September 18, 1939, now in Italy, is a son.

UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER!

OUR BOYS OVERSEAS WON'T STOP SLUGGING UNTIL OUR ENEMIES HOIST THE WHITE FLAG

AND WE TOO, MUST SEE IT THROUGH UNTIL THE FINISH

● Into the last few weeks—or months—of the crusade against the Nazis, our Canadian boys overseas are pouring every ounce of their strength. We, at home, in our daily tasks, can do no less.

Gallant fighting men of every historic Canadian regiment are slugging it out to Victory—slugging, slugging, ever deeper into German strongholds. But—until the white flag droops over blasted Berlin itself—not for one moment will they relax or slacken their efforts.

We, too, at home must see it through—to the finish.

And so, proudly and thankfully, Canadians everywhere welcome the opportunity presented by the new Victory Loan. For this, more than ever, is indeed a VICTORY Loan. More than ever—every last one of us will want to play our part in the triumph—will want, in our humble way, to keep slugging it out to the end.

Victory, indeed, is "everywhere"—and today's call to us is clear and strong. "One more bond than before" is a fighting challenge which none of us can ignore.

Mary Gilman October Bride

Rev. J. Lynch officiated at the pretty wedding in Immaculate Conception Church, when Mary Kathleen Gilman, daughter of Mrs. C. Gilman and the late Robert J. Gilman, Rogers street, became the bride of John Charles Wood, son of Mrs. J. Wood and the late C. Wood of Woodstock. For the ceremony, the church was decorated with baby 'mums. Mrs. C. O'Donnell, A.T.C.M., was at the organ, and Mrs. D. Campanero sang "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her brother, Earl Gilman, the bride was charming in a floor-length gown of white marquisette over satin, made with a fitted bodice, and full skirt falling into a slight train. Her veil of fine net fell from a matching Mary Queen of Scots headdress caught with seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Dorothy McAuliffe was her only attendant, in floor-length pink sheer over taffeta, with matching halo and shoulder-length veil, and carrying a bouquet of Talisman roses. Jerry O'Donoghue was best man, and the ushers were William Dundas and James O'Brien.

At the reception, held following the ceremony, at Hooper's Palm Rooms, the bride's mother received the guests, wearing a two-piece Wallace blue ensemble, with black felt hat and matching accessories, and a corsage of pink roses.

For a trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls, the bride donned a two-piece brown wool suit, with mink neckpiece, and brown accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Wood will make their home in Woodstock.

Chief Gimblett Married At Trinity Church

A wedding of interest to his wide circle of friends and associates took place Friday afternoon in Trinity United Church, when Fire Chief George Gimblett took as his bride Josephine Forbes of Peterborough. Rev. H. L. Hodgson officiated. The couple were attended by Chief Harry Guerin and Mrs. Guerin of Kitchener.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Chief Gimblett's home, King street, where the bride's sister, Mrs. E. Everitt, of Peterborough, received the guests with the bridal couple.

Among the guests present at the reception were: Fire Marshall W. F. Scott and Mrs. Scott, Deputy Fire Marshall C. Caskey and Mrs. Caskey, and Robert Murray, of Toronto; Chief E. Woods and Mrs. Woods of York Township; Chief A. Clark and Mrs. Clark, Lakefield; and Judge S. L. Smoke and Mrs. Smoke, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kelsey, Mr. and Mrs. H. Yelland, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hotrum, Mr. and Mrs. W. Downer, Mr. and Mrs. G. Torrance, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. D. Tully, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Penrose, Mr. and Mrs. W. Jeffries, Mr. and Mrs. J. Steinkraus, Mr. and Mrs. H. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. A. Rutter, Mrs. E. Everitt, Mrs T. Doughty, Mrs. C. Winthorne, Miss Else Everitt and M. Chambers, C. W. Heath, P. Burke, Ernie Dummitt, Allan Wade, Jack Kemp, A. Hutchison, Dr. H. J. Long, J. Fitzpatrick.

Chief Gimblett, who is serving his seventh term as president of the Canadian Legion, was presented with a dining room suite, by the executive of the Legion, on behalf of all the members.

Chief Gimblett and Mrs. Gimblett left this morning for Toronto and will continue through on a wedding trip to the west.

Quaker Workers Have Party For Going Over Top In Loan

In celebration of their mammoth effort in over-subscribing their objective in the 7th Victory Loan by 35 p.c. and raising over $65,000 even before the regular campaign opened, employees of the Quaker Oats Sompany and their friends held a most successful "over the top" Victory Loan party in the Y.M.C.A. last evening.

The Victory Loan committee of the Quaker Oats Company of Canada Limited sponsored the party and over 800 people were in attendance enjoying the many activities planned for the entertainment.

In previous campaigns the company held numerous meetings with employee groups in support of the Victory Loan. This resulted in the loss of many hundreds of working hours and of much needed and essential war supplies. However, in this the 7th campaign, subscriptions were taken before the opening of the city canvass and without the loss of valuable production hours, with the above mentioned over-the-top achievement.

Last evening's "over-the-top" celebration was a decided success, with dancing in the gymnasium to the music of Jack Marshall and his orchestra, a floor show from Toronto featuring Lucille, and an acrobatic dancer who gained repeated applause wtih her acrobatic and baton numbers, and her fine tapping. On the same floor show were the Troubadours, Joe and Hi, a musical duet comedy act with violin and accordion.

Draw Prize, Coal.

A feature of the evening was the special door prize of the purchase price of a ton of coal, donated by Reginald R. Faryon, president of the Quaker Oats Company of Canada Limited. Mr. Faryon made the draw, assisted by L. H. Ingram, and the winner was Judson Melvin. Other draws for varying cash prizes went to the following: Joe Rutherford, Marg Dummitt, Lou Hall, M. Lucano, Elsie McDonald, Fred Paul, Ruth Simpson, E. Wilkinson, Wilmar Scott, Jack McMann, Wm. Clancy, Teresa Sullivan, Harry James, Jack Burnside.

Swimming fans were treated to a fine display of group swimming and diving by the Silver Finnettes from the Y.W.C.A. under the direction of Miss Caroline Littlefield.

Bowling prizes were won in the men's and women's singles by Clayton Buckley and Mrs. W. Tice. Mixed doubles by Corp. E. R. Leader and Miss Helen Mathias, and blind score winners were Ted Evans and Mrs. Virginia Ross. In the old-time fiddlers' contest the Kelly brothers came first and second to win the two prizes in this event. Andy Rutter acted as master of ceremonies, introducing the floor show numbers and the fidlers' events.

Refreshments were served in the dining room, where four suppers were served to handle the large crowd.

The Victory Loan committee in charge of the campaign drive and the party was:

Quaker Victory Loan Committee: Fred G. Ash, chairman; Rose White, Agnes Barrett, Bill Cross, Len Hadwin, Mrs. E. White, T. Bradshaw, A. Rosborough, E. Bacon, F. Honour, J. Ferguson, C. Jensen, H. Davis, L. Ash, C. Young, B. Pitchford, G. Logan, Ester Thornton, Alex Butcher, L. H. Ingram, Lillian Elliott, Virginia Ross.

Chairmen in Charge of Quaker Party: F. G. Ash chairman; Walker Jones, dancing and floor show; George Logan, bowling; Tex Bradshaw, swimming; Jack Ferguson, door prize and draws; Dorothy Clysdale, refreshments; Howard Macdonald, publicity.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, October 22

SUNDAY'S horoscope indicates a very active and lively day, especially in public, fraternal or community affairs as well as in all manner of cultural and professional matters. Withal there may be an undercurrent of subtlety, duplicity and craft that must be regarded as subversive to health, progress and spiritual integrity, unless all contracts are handled cautiously.

Those whose birthday it is may experience particularly lively and swift moving events, which should be most circumspectly handled if there are to be lucrative and happy culminations. An undertone of the subtle, treacherous and intriguing may demand extraordinary precautions and vigilance. This applies to business, financial and private associations. Literary, social and affectional affiliations should thrive with such alertness.

A child born on this day should have much versatility and talent, shrewd and calculating, and probably easily victimized or duped, although at times lucky.

For Monday, October 23

Monday's astrological forecast is for some real constructive work, despite delays, stubborn obstacles, impediments and disappointments, to be successfully attacked by decisive, aggressive and determined effort. This should not be carried to excess or immoderation lest it react on health and progress. There are indications of pleasant social activities.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of enterprise and final success, if they will attack obstructions, delays and limitations with strenuous and practical initiative, although not excessive stress or strain. Pleasant social, domestic and affectional pleasures provide relaxation.

A child born on this day should be active and energetic, although it may encounter many kinds of frustrating and delaying situations. Perseverance and fortitude may bring ultimate success to its undertakings.

Bride-To-Be Given Shower

Prior to her marriage to M. Joseph Duffus, Miss Rita Emon, a bride-elect of early November, was entertained by joint hostesses, Mrs. Laura Cooke, Mrs. M. D. Donoghue and a number of her friends at the home of Mrs. Cooke, 269 Romaine street.

The rooms were gaily decorated with white bells from which cascades of pink and white streamers fell. A prettily decorated doll carriage filled with gifts was presented to the guest of honor by Miss Sonde Donoghue and Miss Anne Rundle. The evening was spent in playing a few games of bingo after which refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Among those present were: Misses—Sonde Donoghue, Anne Rundle, Agnes Murphy, Betty Prineau, Jackie Brown, Gloria Robbins, Vera Lynch, Leona Lynch, Phil. Feeley, Belle Feeley, Joane Sheehan. The Mesdames—Mona Lynch, Helen Nesbitt, Marg. Thompson, Mrs. Bert Duffus, Mrs. M. Rundle, Mrs. Pat. Meraw, Mrs. S. Primeau, Mrs. Lush, Mrs. Sheehan, Mrs. J. Madden, Mrs. Vic. Mattucci, Mrs. Laura Cooke and Mrs. M. D. Donoghue.

Invited guests who were unable to attend but sent gifts, were—Mrs. M. E. Endicott, Mrs. M. J. Duffus, Miss Rita Duffus, Mrs. C. Theabauld, Miss T. Doran, Mrs. A. Foley, Mrs. J. Michells, and Mrs. J. Shaughnessy.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

As was promised in last evening's issue of this paper, we will continue our recipes for overseas cakes. Try each one. You will like them and so will your boys and girls overseas.

Overseas Shortbread

Shortbread always was, always will be, a good mixture for long keeping. Perhaps, instead of making individual cookies, you would prefer to press your shortbread dough into a layer cake pan or preferably a square pan (because a square is easier to pack). The dough may be up to an inch in thickness. Prick the surface all over with a fork. Decorate it with candied cherries, arrange them as flowers with stems of candied citron.

½ cup shortening, ½ cup butter, ½ cup brown sugar, lightly packed, 3 cups once-sifted pastry flour or 3 5-8 cups bread flour. Cream the shortening and butter thoroughly, blend in the sugar and cream well together. Add sifted flour, a quarter at a time, working it well into creamed mixture. If this is baked in large tins, allow it to bake about 1¼ hours.

Fruited Slices

These square or oblong cookies are again the chilled and sliced type that packs and carries so well. The cookie itself is a nice creamy color and the cherries spot it well with gay red.

3 cups once-sifted pastry flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons shortening, 6 tablespoons butter, 1¼ cups brown sugar, 1 egg well beaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspoon almond flavoring, 1-3 cup drained and quartered

ESSENTIAL TO BABY'S HEALTH

Every new day for Baby is important. Make them spell vigorous health for him and freedom from anxiety for you, by giving him easily digested food.

Fruits and vegetables are necessary to Baby's health. But a baby's delicate digestive system cannot break up the coarse, indigestible portions of these adult foods. Perfected after years of meticulous research, Libby's exclusive Homogenizing process breaks up the tough fibres and food cell walls, bringing strained foods to a smooth, fine, readily assimilated form that can be digested in thirty minutes. How soon . . .

AFTER five years of war, with final Victory assured, there is the possibility that we become complacent to the danger and hardships others are enduring for our sakes.

Our leaders have told us Victory can be hastened—if EVERYONE on the home front does his or her full duty. Every bond we buy is an aid to Victory that will help hurry home our loved ones. Our duty is to invest in Victory Bonds.

TO OUR DEPOSITORS—To conserve paper, we are taking this means of communicating with you rather than writing to you personally as in the past. We recommend—indeed we urge you to invest in Victory Bonds to the limit of your ability. They are readily convertible into cash in case of need, and are acceptable as security for bank loans without delay. In the event you desire to purchase more than you can pay for immediately, we will gladly lend you the money needed for six months at the same rate of interest as is earned by the bonds. Victory Bonds pay a good rate of interest and are Canada's highest grade investment.

Name Officers Leading Canadian Forces

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, Oct. 21.— (CP Cable.) — Maj.-Gen. Charles Foulkes of London, Ont., and Maj.-Gen. Harry Foster of Montreal are commanding formations in the 1st Canadian Army, it was permitted to disclose to-day.

Permission also was given to state that Brig. Basil Wedd of Toronto, is the senior Canadian civil affairs officer with the Canadian army.

(It was announced in Ottawa last January that Gen. Foulkes, 41, has been appointed to command a Canadian division overseas.)

Gen. Foulkes has taken an active part in this campaign since the fighting at Caen during the summer, leading a formation across Northern France and Belgium into Holland. He is a permanent force officer who went to England in 1939 with the 1st Canadian division as a brigade major.

He has had several other staff appointments, commanded a brigade and from April, 1943, until the end of the year was brigadier on the General Staff of Army Headquarters in England, under Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, then commander of the 1st Canadian Army. Gen. McNaughton since has been succeeded by Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar.

Gen. Foulkes is English by birth. His family resides in Victoria.

Gen. Foster also is a permanent force officer and in England commanded the 8th Reconnaissance Regiment, later taking over an infantry brigade. He returned to Canada to lead the Canadian force which went to Kiska with the Americans and occupied that Aleutian island in the summer of 1943 after the Japanese had evacuated it. Then he returned to England to take command of a western brigade of the 3rd Canadian Division.

He led it during the assault at Courseulles-Sur-Mer on the Normandy beaches and was the brigadier Field Marshal Montgomery, 21st Army group commander, singled out for special praise for the stand Gen. Foster's brigade made at Bretteville and Putot on the Caen-Bayeux highway during the first week of the Normany campaign.

Brig. Wedd is a veteran of the First Great War who won the D.S.O. and M.C. and during period between the two was in Europe as chief representative of a Canadian farm implement company. He took over his duties as chief civil affairs officer of the Canadian Army last spring and throughout the campaign has directed the work of this branch of the army.

10,000 Prisoners Of War Used To Cut Pulpwood And Timber

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—(AP)—Ten thousand prisoners of war working in forests of the United States have given a "substantial lift" to pulpwood and timber production despite low output per worker, government officials reported today.

The number is being increased, but no great expansion is likely, it was stated, despite the continuing shortage of newsprint, lumber, shipping containers and other forest products.

In recent months the army has not supplied all the prisoners desired by the logging industry. Now, because they are uncertain how long the war in Europe will last, many companies are reluctant to invest the sums required for the use of war captives. Prisoners must be quartered as well as American soldiers, which means an outlay of $5,000 to $10,000 for each logging camp.

Several new camps are being set up, however, in the Great Lakes and northeastern states.

Slowdown tactics and early refusals to work held output per prisoner to about one-third of a cord of pulpwood daily. This has been raised to between three-quarters and nine-tenths cord, the forest service estimates, but it is still only half what an American woods worker can do.

Imposing of production standards in the camps helped increase output but caused some strikes. Bread and water diets were sufficient in most cases to convince the German prisoners of the error of being balky.

"In general, the use of prisoners has been a satisfactory operation and a considerable help," said Howard Hopkins, chief of the Timber Production War Project, a joint war production board-forest service program under which about half the prisoners were trained in the use of forest tools and methods.

GOOD WOMEN AND JEALOUS WOMEN

War Seems to Bring Out Best, Worst in Human Nature; Influence Sons in Service.

WAR seems to bring out the best that is in human nature and the worst. It gives us our patriots and our heroes and our saints and our martyrs, and it also gives us our Quislings and our Judases who sell their country for money with which to line their pockets.

With women it is as it is with men. We have all seen war turn timid little women, who shrieked at the sight of a mouse, into fearless women who looked death in the face and smiled. We have seen it lift lazy, self-indulgent women out of their soft chairs and make them stand, hour after hour and day after day, behind food counters at canteens, dishing out endless cups of coffee and words of cheer and comfort to passing soldiers.

And we have seen women who sang "My Country 'tis of Thee" the loudest and who were the presidents of every altruistic society turn into grabbers and hoarders who didn't care who went hungry just so their pantries bulged with food. We have had the war give us our Mrs. Sullivans who could lose five sons in one terrible battle and still carry on, and quitter women who wailed to high Heaven over ration stamps.

No one will deny that, taking them by and large, our women have risen superbly to the emergency and have manned the home front as bravely as their men have the fighting line. And it takes a lot more courage to sit at home and wait for news of a battle than it does to fight in it.

But beneath this fluttering flag of glory under which most of the women are marching there are some who are making the war a blind behind which they carry on their private feuds and wreak their personal vengeance. And, strangely enough, these sabateurs are mostly jealous mothers.

Mothers' Letters Lower Sons' Morale

There are the possessive women who can never bear to loosen their hold on their children and who, when war came, wanted their sons to stay at home in plushy jobs, while other women's sons fought to save their country for them. And since that could not be, they solace themselves with writing their sons tear-sodden letters telling them how they grieve for them, and that they are about to pine away and die, and everything else that takes the last bit of hope and pep and fighting spirit out of a homesick boy.

Worse still are the mothers who are devoured by an incurable jealousy of their sons' wives and who keep an FBI espionage over the poor girls. Sally can't speak to a man without Mother relaying it to her son by air mail. Sally can't go to the most innocuous party without Mother picturing it to John as an orgy. Sally can't even look cheerful without Mother reading into it that she is faithless to John, and Mother feels it her duty to tell him so.

By the time Mother has fed up John on her suspicions of Sally his heart is broken, his faith in women wrecked, and everything is over except getting a divorce. But Mother has gotten back her boy. And whether Mother has done this dastardly deed on purpose and with malice aforethought, or merely through stupidity and because she couldn't bear for her son to love any woman better than he did her, only God knows. But c'est la guerre!

3,600 Homeless As Fire Hits Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Oct. 21—(AP)—Wreaking the greatest devastation in Cleveland's history, a multi-million dollar fire burned into its second day today in a 50-block east side area, its death toll undetermined.

Resulting from a series of thunderous explosions yesterday afternoon in the East Ohio Gas Co.'s $6,000,000 liquid gas storage plant, the holocaust's toll in 12 hours soared to at least 36 dead and 30 missing.

An estimated 3,600 persons were made homeless by flames cascading on the heels of blasts which sent tongues of fire towering to a height of 2,800 feet. Possibly 10,000 others were evacuated from yet-undamaged homes because of utilities disruption and the danger of further blasts.

The identified dead were all of Cleveland or nearby towns.

Fire Chief James E. Granger estimated damage at "between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000," but added the estimate probably would be revised upwards. He said the blaze might continue most of the day.

Guards Mobilized

Families from the stricken section choked nearby streets, most of them carrying children or what few possessions they could grab.

Adj.-General Donald F. Pancoast of Ohio ordered 500 Cleveland State Guards and Naval militiamen mobilized to patrol the burned area and protect property from looters.

The first blast at 2:50 p.m. C.D.T. (3:50 p.m., E.D.T.) yesterday was believed to have occurred in one of three sperhical liquid gas storage tanks, part of East Ohio Gas Co.'s property at E. 61st St. and the New York Central railroad tracks. The plant was built to store gas for peak period use and was the first of its kind in the United States.

The three gas tanks were the centre of a Roman candle display as balls of fire shot into the air. Manhole covers and debris hurtled to the height of four-storey buildings when nearby gas mains added their explosions to the inferno.

More than 50 private and service ambulances sped between the disaster scene and Cleveland hospitals which had been placed on an emergency basis. Red Cross refugee centres were set up in nearby schools, the army supplied coats and thousands of homeless slept in gymnasiums and recreation halls or wandered from one centre to another, seeking missing relatives and friends.

Women Must Study Farm Markets

OTTAWA, Oct. 21—(CP)—Mrs. Walter Galbraith of South Renfrew, Ont., was re-elected yesterday as area chairman of the Eastern Ontario Women's Institutes at the 30th annual convention here.

Mrs. H. Warner of Mille Roches reported that nearly $11,000 was spent on war work by the Institutes during the last year, an increase of $4,000 over expenditures during the previous year.

Mrs. C. Holmes of Belleville, provincial president, said women must study the marketing of farm products, for in the post-war period competition would be keen.

"Good products for good prices" should be their aim, to provide money for conveniences in rural homes, she added.

Discusing immigration, Mrs. Holmes said: "While we welcome people of other lands, we Canadians must always stand on guard to preserve our fine Canadian ideals and prevent European dissention from creeping in."

maraschino cherries, 1-3 cup mixed peel, (packed measure). Measure the once sifted flour and reserve ¼ cup of it for dredging the cherries and peel later. To the larger amount of flour, add baking powder and salt and sift together. Cream shortening and butter together and gradually work in brown sugar. Add the beaten egg, a little at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla and almond flavoring. Add dry ingredients a third at a time to the creamed mixture. Prepare the cherries and peel and dredge them with the ¼ cup of flour. Stir into cookie dough and mix thoroughly. Pack to the depth of 1½ inches in a loaf pan which has been lined with waxed paper, let chill over night. Cut in slices and bake on greased cookie tin, in slow oven 325 degrees about 15 minutes.

Airmen Slow To Join Army

TORONTO, Oct. 21—Forty of the group of approximately 1,200 airmen at No. 1 Manning Depot, Toronto, who are being demobilized by an order from Air Minister Power yesterday boarded army transports and headed for Newmarket, where they will take up basic training duties. These, and an additional 90 who will transfer Tuesday morning, are the only ones to voluntarily agree to transfer from blue to khaki active service.

With only an approximate one in nine volunteering for immediate transfer, the majority group will be sent back to civilian life to await army callup. Many of these boys, who already had expressed their willingness to fight for the country in the Air Force, made it clear that they refused to voluntarily switch to the army "as long as Zombies remain in uniform."

Others said: "We enlisted in the RCAF, and if we can't go active with it we won't go active with any other branch of the service."

Participating in yesterday's transfer were Lt.-Col. Stuart Bates, representing the DOC; Lt.-Col. R. P. Thompson, district recruiting officer; and Wing Cmdr. D. A. Macintosh, MC and Bar, representing Manning Depot CO.

"We're sorry to see you go," Wing Cmdr. Macintosh told the departing airmen. "Our loss is the army's gain. Good-bye and good luck."

None of the airmen refusing voluntary transfer, it was agreed by their departing comrades, expects air force discharge and army call-up. "Maybe three weeks or a month."

Weary Soldiers Giving Blood Because Plasma Supply Small

"Because of the scarcity of blood plasma, tired men, only a short time out of the front lines, are going up to donate blood," writes Capt. V. E. R. Zufelt, chaplain, serving in the front lines in Italy. He was formerly minister at Knox United church.

"You may not have been told, but there has been a call here for blood donors. Don't let anyone get the idea that there is no longer any need for plasma. We have just heard a radio broadcast that Canadians are not going to the clinics because they feel the war is nearly over. If they had had a taste of what I see the boys going through over here, they would feel differently, I'm sure."

Men from the services who are home on leave, are remembering the call for blood donors. Melvin McCartney, 223 George street, who is serving in the United States Merchant Marine, attended the Thursday night clinic. This is his third donation here, for he gave one in January and May.

The 79 donors Monday were:

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

SINGLETON LEADS BAD

LACKING ANY information about what is the declarer's side suit, or that of the dummy, a blind singleton opening lead is an extremely hazardous proposition. That suit is more likely to be the dangerous side suit than one in which you hold several cards, and opening it may start the declarer on the very plan he would attempt if he could call a lead from you. It may help him early to set up his suit, and put him in position to drop your side's trumps promptly unless you can halt that by means of the ace and one or two other trumps, or the king and two.

North: ♠ 5; ♥ A 8; ♦ A K 10 9 5 3; ♣ A Q 8 4

West: ♠ A K Q 10 6 3; ♥ Q J; ♦ J 8; ♣ K J 2

East: ♠ J 8 7 4; ♥ K 10 9 5 3 2; ♦ Q 7; ♣ 9

South: ♠ 9 2; ♥ 7 6 4; ♦ 6 4 2; ♣ 10 7 6 5 3

♣ 9

(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Dbl	2 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	5 ♦	Dbl

East could not very well be blamed for his double after that kind of bidding, but severe censure was due him for following his habit of leading a singleton almost every possible time against a suit contract. It made North's task a cinch.

The club 9 was covered by the 10, K and A, the diamond A and K dropped the outstanding trumps, the diamond 3 was led to the 6, and the club 5 was led from the dummy. When West played low, his 2, North, certain that East, a veteran singleton addict, had no more, finessed the 8, and it held. The club Q then dropped the J, the 4 was led to the 7, and the 6 furnished a discard of the heart 8. Consequently North took all the tricks but one, losing a spade at the end and making his contract plus an extra trick.

If East had made his proper lead of a spade, West would have won and should have returned his heart Q. Had that occurred, North would have had to lose a spade, a heart and a club, no matter what he did.

Leaders Watch Price Rise; Fear Inflation

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 21.—(CP).—Government spokesmen are talking more about price and salary controls than they have for a year. They say the successes of Allied arms has caused considerable pressure for the easing of regulations which hold prices and wages down to the level of 1941, but that if they are relaxed inflation is sure.

Authorities said that early this year there had been something of a lull in protests against price and wage control, with general public acceptance of the regulations. Since 1941 and early 1942 the public had become accustomed to them.

But soon after D-Day public restlessness became evident, with suggestions that controls might be relaxed, even before final victory.

"A government booklet issued the other day said that pressures tending to force up the cost of living continue to threaten the soundness of the Dominion's wartime effort.

"It is perhaps not unnatural, however, in the sixth year of war, that a sense of the individual responsibility for maintaining a stable economy should need restressing," the booklet said.

If concessions were granted manufacturers and distributors, farmers, wage earners and salaried people the whole stabilization structure would collapse.

"We must shoulder our burden and fight on until complete victory is safely within our grasp."

Thorough: In the army they tell the story of a group of research workers who spent 154 days testing five varieties of shoelace in every type of footgear before making a final choice, having in mind such essential problems as the efficient tying of shoelaces in sub-zero weather.

Cool: Accustomed as they are to airplanes, Ottawa officials tell with relish the story of the Arctic ice collected at Aklavik, near the shores of the Arctic Sea, one morning and used for cocktails in Edmonton that night. An 1,100-mile ice delivery.

Drumhead: The R.C.A.F. Lachine, Que., band often plays for returning airmen arriving at the Ottawa station from overseas. LAC. Bill Sharpe of Toronto beats the big drum and as he thumps steady time keeps an eye open for celebrities. On the white hide surface of the drum he has nearly 100 signatures of famous people like Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, Sir Thomas Beecham and many a famous airman besides.

Leyte Island Has No Jungle

By Y. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press War Correspondent

LEYTE ISLAND, Philippines, Oct. 21—(AP)—Thrusting into the heart of the Philippines, Gen. MacArthur's invaders today were making their first attack of the South Pacific come-back campaign in which they would not be engaged in jungle fighting.

Orderly rows of coconut palms fringe the sandy beaches of the eastern coastline of Leyte for 40 miles south of Tacloban, the provincial capital.

Skirting this coast is an all-weather highway, joined at several points by lateral roads leading through the broad Leyte Valley northward to Carigara Bay, and the inland sea of the Philippines.

For the first time since Bataan, MacArthur's army and artillery will have room to manoeuvre.

Leyte is the eighth largest of the Philippine islands and has nearly 1,000,000 citizens.

MacArthur's artillery will have wide fields of fire in the battle for valley roads and the island's half dozen airfields of which Tacloban, three miles from the town, is the most important.

Nature may take a hand in the battle. This is the beginning of the rainy season and near the end of the typhoons. Some score of rivers and streams course down from flanking mountains to crisscross Leyte Valley.

Bethany Institute Sends 21 Yule Boxes

BETHANY, Oct. 21 — (ENS) — The October meeting of the Bethany Women's Institute was held at the home of Mesdames H. H. Ryley and A. B. Ryley, joint hostesses.

Mrs. A. H. Monk, secretary, called the roll, fifteen members responding by a favorite prescription for cold prevention. The treasurer reported 21 boxes were sent overseas to local boys for Christmas at a cost of $58.71 and Mrs. W. A. Thorndyke reported more quilts ready to be completed on the regular work day for the Red Cross.

Mrs. Thorndyke, convener of Group 2, had charge of the remainder of meeting and the following program was presented: An interesting reading on Thanksgiving Day was given by Mrs. Carlton Patton and Mrs. Thorndyke read a paper on Home Economics. The paper was in three parts: The home, what it is; household hints on economy, and proper diet. A nutrition quis was held, when twenty-four questions were asked on the paper given.

Two interesting letters were read from boys overseas, one from Dr Jack Clarke, with the Royal Navy, and one from Pte. Jack Palmer, serving in Italy, but since receipt of letter now missing in action.

A social half hour followed the program and a lunch was served by the hostesses and members of Group 2.

Wheat Pools Fight Taxation

OTTAWA, Oct. 21 — (CP) — A dispute between the revenue department and the western wheat pools on the liability of patronage dividends for income tax has aroused concern among Canadian co-operatives generally and they are seeking rulings from the department on their position, it was learned to-day.

The income tax branch held the patronage dividends paid by the pools liable to tax, but the pools objected and a hearing will be held shortly before the Exchequer Court of Canada to decide whether the pools can continue to claim exemption as co-operatives.

No ruling has been handed down by income tax authorities affecting the position of other co-operatives which have enjoyed freedom from tax but it was felt by other organizations that the departmental decision in respect to the pools might eventually be applied to them. Their inquires now are being examined by the government.

A general ruling may be difficult because of the variety of co-operative enterprises represented among the some 2,000 organizations of this type now operating in Canada and doing business approaching $300,000,000 annually.

For Back Country Take Goat Along

OTTAWA, Oct. 21 — (CP) — The Agriculture Department, in a booklet on the milk goat in Canada, said today that the remote communities of Canada are finding the milk goat "an economical source of wholesome, nutritious milk."

The department suggested that those who proposed going to the backwoods should consider taking a goat along.

The booklet itemized the following favorable points re goats:

They were cheap to keep as they could get along on slim rations; a doe supplied fresh milk at least twice daily; surplus milk could be used for making butter and cheese and goats' milk was particularly suitable for infant and invalid feeding—and for below-zero weather—since the minute fat globules contribute to greater ease in digestion.

However, the booklet added, there were only 12,000 goats in Canada, their benefits to mankind were not appreciated and people in the north got their milk (cow milk) from cans.

Ladies' Aid Ships Twelve Boxes

FRASERVILLE, Oct. 21—(ENS)—Mrs. Willard Waterman of Fraserville was hostess for the October meeting of the Ladies' Aid which was held Wednesday afternoon, with nine members present and 7 visitors.

The afternoon was spent in finishing up a quilt which is now for sale. The Scripture lesson taken from Psalm 138 was read by Mrs. S. Hogg. Mrs. Lackey then led in prayer. It was decided to hold the November meeting at the home of Mrs. Stewart Hogg. It was reported that 12 boxes had been sent from the community to the boys serving overseas, this being made possible by donations from the Ladies' Aid, the Red Cross and the special collection taken up by the Sunday School.

The program committee for this meeting was Mrs. A. Moore and Mrs. Ray Finlay. Mrs. Moore gave a reading, "Who's That"; Mary and Kathryn Waterman sang a duet, their mother, Mrs. Waterman, accompanying them. Mrs. Finlay gave an interesting talk on "Our Protestant Heritage of Song."

Community Duties Outlined To Omemee Y.P.U.

OMEMEE, Oct. 21 — (ENS) — An important feature of the Citizenship program of the Young People's Union of Trinity United Church, which was held in the church basement, conducted by Miss Glowena McInnis, and assisted by Miss Katherine Evans, was an address by A. D. Campbell, principal of Omemee High School, on the subject "The Responsibility of the Christian to the Community in Which He Lives." Miss McInnis asked "What Responsibility Should I Have to My Community?" and answers were given by Misses Irene Mortson, Marie Perritt, and Gwen Graham. Miss Evans led in prayer and the leader read a poem entitled "Serve God and Be Cheerful." Mr. Campbell exhorted the young people to remember "We should not be injuring others—we should always be improving ourselves," and suggesting ways in which they might make their influence in the community something worthwhile, two of which were "Love thy neighbor" and "Seek the best things in life."

Miss Christina Connell took the chair for the business discussion. It was decided to pack boxes for the boys serving overseas at Miss Connell's home on Monday evening, October 23, and to solicit donations toward the expenses of these boxes. Miss Cora Jones and Harold Brooks are responsible for a culture program for next week, and for the following week Miss Irene Mortson and Donald Grandy were appointed to prepare a fellowship program. Following the business, W. D. Weir led in a sing-song and a singing game.

M. J. Coldwell Shares De Gaulle's Views

REGINA, Oct. 21—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, National C.C.F. leader, told a crowded Regina City Hall meeting last night that the day has come when the resources of nations must be used to bring security to the masses instead of supplying profit to a few corporations and individuals.

The C.C.F. leader, who recently visited Canadian forces overseas, said Gen. De Gaulle had reiterated that the great resources of France must be taken from the hands of 200 families. "That is why some capitalists are unwilling to recognize the representatives of liberated France, he said.

Mr. Coldwell advocated utilization of resources by co-operative development.

Prussian Highway Centre Is Captured By Russians

LONDON, Oct. 23—(CP).—Russian troops have captured the east Prussian highway centre of Goldap, 18 miles inside Germany, and have broadened their offensive along the entire eastern boundary of the province, the German communique said today. "Deep penetrations" in German lines between Goldap and Suwalki were acknowledged.

The Germans said the front now was 180 airline miles long from besieged Memel, northernmost German claimed city, and Augustow in the Suwalki sector at the southeast corner of East Prussia.

At the extreme tip of the eastern front, the Russians on the Arctic Sea pushed up to the border of Norway on a wide front within striking distance of the Norwegian iron export harbor of Kirkenes, a German submarine and air base posing a constant threat to the Murmansk and Archangel convoy routes to Russia.

Russian Victories

Far to the south, where the Russians were less than 130 miles from Austria to 180 from Vienna, Moscow announced victories both in Hungary and Yugoslavia. Sombor in Yugoslavia, a place of 32,000 and a communications centre 86 miles northwest of liberated Belgrade, was toppled. So was Nyiregyhaza, Hungarian city of 56,000, close to the Czechoslovak border. At captured Baja on the Danube, the Russians were nearest to Austria and Vienna.

Wide penetrations of East Prussia were acknowledged by Berlin, but Moscow remained silent on the campaign which the enemy has reported for a week. German broadcasts said the Russians had pulled up on both sides of the rail centre of Tilsit, a city of 50,000 on the Niemen River where Napoleon and Czar Alexander humbled Prussian pride in 1807 by signing a treaty taking away Prussia's provinces west of the Elbe.

German broadcasts said Russian attacks were general along the entire eastern boundary of East Prussia, extending "beyond Suwalki southward as far as Augustow."

Cleveland Toll Stands At 98

CLEVELAND, Oct. 23 —(AP) — Coroner Samuel R. Gerber estimated to-day that "possibly 200" persons met death as liquid gas explosions and flames laid waste an east side area and-half mile square.

The number of known dead in last Friday's disaster reached 98 to-day, with more than 100 persons listed a missing, 49 of them East Ohio Gas Co. employees.

"On present evidence, the death list will total possibly 200," said Dr. Breber, who is directing recovery operations at the scene. This estimate previously was mentioned by chairman Stanley Orr of the Cleveland Red Cross chapter.

"The ruins are still too hot and dangerous to work properly," Dr. Gerber declared.

Another 49 men, women and children still were under treatment in hospitals. Seven remained in critical condition.

Mayor Lausche set up the board of inquiry, half of the members of which are chemists and engineers

British Advance In Burma Hills

KANDY, Oct. 23 (CP) — British 14th Army forces have advanced along the Tiddim-Fort White Road in the Chin Hills area of Burma and Japanese rear-guards are falling back on their main defences around Kennedy Peak, Allied southeast Asia Command Headquarters announced today in a communique.

To the northeast of this mountainous sector, patrols of the British 36th Division thrust six miles along the Mandalay-Myitkyina railway from Mohnyin to Kasu Station and advanced south of Mohnyin to the village of Nsaunggyi.

On the Arakan front of Western Burma, West African forces crossed the upper reaches of the Kaladan river north of Akyab.

May Use Robot Bombs Against Jap Cities

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—The Herald Tribune says in a Washington dispatch that the war department has contracted for the production of from 1,000 to 2,000 copies of the German V-1 robot bombs with the indication the U.S. is preparing to use the "buzz bombs" against the Japanese homeland.

War department sources emphasized that the V-1 robots are being produced solely for "defence study and experimentation," the paper added.

Leyte Push Gains More Ground

Jap Supply Problem Becomes Acute Tacloban Taken

By MURLIN SPENCER
Associated Press War Correspondent

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Leyte, Philippines, Oct. 23 (Via Army Radio) — (AP).—American soldiers, pushing westward on Leyte Island's southern front, today overran strong Japanese defence positions and were trying to trap enemy troops retreating up the wide Leyte valley.

A.P. War Correspondent Al Dopking, on the southern front, reported that United States 7th Infantry Division troops, led by tanks, were moving up the valley inland from Dulg where one of the first American beachheads was established.

Meanwhile Tacloban, the provincial capital, occupied by the Americans after they took the airfield in that sector, became the temporary capital of the first free government of the Philippines in more than two years.

As his troops pressed forward, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced preparations already are under way for construction of a great base for future operations around the captured airdromes of Tacloban and Dulag.

The supply problem for Japan's 16th Division already is becoming difficult after their "preliminary defeat" and should they be forced into the hills might become acute, Gen. MacArthur said in his communique today.

The role of this strategic island, in the heart of the Philippines, was underlined by the announcement that work has commenced on the two captured airfields and other installations to prepare "a great base for all arms for future operations."

Gen. MacArthur and President Sergio Osmena inaugurated the Philippine Commonwealth Government's authority in liberated territory during a dramatic ceremony at Tacloban, designated as the temporary capital. They addressed the rest of the subjugated Philippines, as well as the United States, while gunfire echoed in the background.

He declared "null and void" the laws of the Japanese-sponsored "republic" in liberated areas. He promised extension of commonwealth authority, under the United States government, to other Philippine regions as quickly as they are freed and military considerations permit.

The announcement concerning the enemy's supply problems apparently referred to the effect of paralyzing aerial blows against communication lines and flank Japanese bases. These attacks continued, with bombers hitting other Visayan Islands, surrounding Leyte, and Mindanao as well as more distant bases.

The communique did not specify the preparations which have begun to groom Leyte as a great striking base within enemy-controlled territory. Its phraseology, however, indicated that its harbor facilities, as well as the airfields, would be utilized, possibly to base naval forces.

Gets Dime Back

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 23 — (AP).—Dr. Thurman B. Rice, state health director of Indiana, complained bitterly to city authorities last week that a taxicab driver had overcharged him by 10 cents. Dr. Rice disclosed last night that "some cab drivers" had sent him a dime refund.

British 8th Army Occupies Cervia Along Adriatic

ROME, Oct. 23—(AP)—Cervia, on the coastal road six miles north of Cesenatico, has fallen to British 8th Army troops inching their way up the Adriatic coast, and Canadian forces have established another bridgehead across the Savio river two miles north of captured Cesena, Allied headquarters said today.

The bridgehead, a mile wide and two miles deep, was established across the swift-flowing stream in the face of heavy German resistance and counter-attacks by tanks and infantry.

Cervia is 12 miles south and slightly east of Ravenna, and 10 miles northeast of Cesena.

Bad weather again hampered operations on the Allied 5th Army front but heavy fighting was reported in the southern outskirts of Prassineto, about four miles southwest of Castel San Pietro on the the Bologna-Rimini highway.

Cervia, 19 miles north of Rimini, is on the main highway from Rimini to Northeastern Italy.

The communique said the Allied bridgehead over the Savio river has been enlarged.

To the west, other 8th Army units crossed the Rabbi river in the vicinity of Strada, 19 miles south of Faenza, and drove forward into high ground on the opposite bank.

Poor weather limited the M.A.F. to 240 sorties, but enemy gun positions in northern Italy and roads in Yugoslavia were hit, as well as enemy shipping in the Adriatic.

Russian Spearhead 17 Miles From Kirkenes Port

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press War Correspondent

MOSCOW, Oct. 23 (AP)—Russian forces introduced a great new threat to the entire German position in southeastern Europe today by swiftly developing an attack through northeastern Hungary which, unless checked shortly, can cut the enemy lifeline between Budapest and Vienna. An army of Cossacks and tanks drove northwest of the fallen Magyar keypoint of Debrecen in the direction of Kaas, which controls the pass into Slovakia and a way through Moravia and Bohemia to Prague, Czechoslovakian capital.

To the north of this attacking group Gen. Ivan Petrov's 4th Ukrainian Army appeared ready to join in the assault, exploiting his newly-won positions south of the Carpathian Mountain passes.

Czechs Wait

Strong Partisan forces in Czechoslovakia awaited the onrushing Soviet armies which today were reported already attacking German communications leading back onto the Bohemian plateau. A junction of the Czechoslovak and Russian fighting groups appeared imminent.

Capture of positions in central Slovakia by the Russians would represent a probable disaster for Hitler's high command, which is seeking desperately to hold on to Budapest and Vienna. It would endanger not only Vienna and Budapest but Bratislava and all the German-held territory to the south.

Ottawa, London, Americans Recognize DeGaulle Gov't

OTTAWA, Oct. 23. — (CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced to-day that the Canadian government has recognized the French administration of Gen. Charles de Gaulle as the "Provisional Government of the French Republic."

The brief announcement gave no further details.

Earlier to-day it was announced in Canberra that the Australian government was according similar recognition.

Similar recognition came from Washington and other Allied capitals.

The announcement here said:

"The Prime Minister, Mr. Mackenzie King, announced this morning that the Canadian government had recognized the French administration as the provisional government of the French Republic."

Maj. Gabriel Bonneau, delegate of the French provisional government in Canada, already has moved into French Legation building which has been vacant since the departure of Rene Ristelhueber, former French minister to Canada.

Mr. Ristelhueber left the capital when the Canadian government suspended its relations with Vichy France in November, 1942, and he since has given a series of lectures at the University of Montreal.

Canada's representative to the French provisional government, Maj.-Gen. G. P. Vanier, has the personal rank of ambassador.

Britain Also

LONDON, Oct. 23 (CP-Reuters)—It was officially announced tonight that Britain has recognized the De Gaulle administration as the provisional government of France.

The Moscow radio said tonight that the Russian government also has recognized the De Gaulle administration as the provisional government.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 — (AP). — The United States today recognized the de Gaulle administration as the "provisional government of the French Republic."

The action was announced by Edward R. Stettinius, acting secretary of state, who also disclosed that most of France, including Paris, had been designated by Allied military authorities as an "interior zone" in which the French authorties have complete responsibility.

This interior zone covers everything except the combat areas and points essential to combat supply.

Mr. Stettinius' statement recalled that the French leaders, including General de Gaulle, have declared on several occasions their intentions to hold elections as soon as possible.

"Pending the expression of the will of the French people through the action of their duly elected representatives," Mr. Stettinius said, "the Provisional Government of the French Republic in its efforts to prosecute the war until final victory and to lay the foundations for the rehabilitation of France, can count on the continued, full, and friendly co-operation of the Government of the United States."

General Crerar Ill In Britain

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 — (CP). — Defence headquarters revealed today that Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, commander of the 1st Canadian Army, has been ill in Britain for the last three weeks and has been succeeded temporarily as army commander in France by Lt.-Gen. Guy Simmonds, commander of the second Canadian Corps.

The announcement said Gen. Crerar, who has been suffering from an intestinal infection and a blood condition, has been discharged from hospital and will return to his post as army commander "in the next few days."

"A thorough examination by British and Canadian medical specialists established that Gen. Crerar's condition was due to secondary causes of a temporary nature," the announcement said.

"He responded to treatment, has been discharged from hospital and will resume his full duties and responsibilities as army commander in the next few days."

Attack, Poles' Only Thought

Take 11,000 Prisoners In Two Months

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN ARMY IN HOLLAND, Oct. 23.—(CP). — "Digging," said the General, "we do not like it—we do not like defence."

With that Maj.-Gen. Stanislaw Maczek gives as brief and as to-the-point description of the Polish armored division in the 1st Canadian army as he could do in a full chapter.

They do not like defence, these Poles. For them this war is only attack, attack. They are the men who closed the Falaise pocket and went on to clear much of Belgium and then much of Holland and are stabbing now through northern Holland towards Germany.

In two months they have taken 11,000 prisoners, yet as a fast-moving armored formation they are hardly prisoner-taking troops.

Further more, the Germans, knowing what they have done in Poland, are not prone to surrender to the Poles and in many case it is a fight to the death. When captured the Germans have been astounded that the Poles have given them the stipulated prisoner-of-war treatment. They expected to be shot.

Infantry Penetrates Ancient Fort At Mouth Of Estuary

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, Oct. 23 — (CP. Cable). — Canadian troops fought today in the streets of Schoondijke, German strongpoint in the fast-diminishing Schelde pocket, and there was an unconfirmed report that this town three miles south of captured Breskens has been captured.

(A London dispatch said Schoondijke has been captured.)

Fort Frederik Hendrik, a mile nortwest of Breskens, has been isolated by other Canadian infantry and fighting was going on today inside the ancient fort which was modernized by the Germans as one of the defences guarding the mouth of the Schelde Estuary which is the key to the port of Antwerp.

These developments followed a double triumph racked up Sunday by powerful forces of the 1st Canadian Army, during which eastern Ontario troops carried Breskens by storm and other Ontario troops on the front north of Antwerp seized Esschen on the Belgian-Netherlands border, 19 miles north of Antwerp.

In the western side of the pocket there were numerous fires and explosions, indicating the Germans are blowing up stores and installations before withdrawing nearer to the North Sea coast.

Across the Schelde Estuary from Breskens, one enemy gun battery still was active at Vlissingen (Flushing) on Walcheren Island. The other two batteries in the area were silent and may have been knocked out by attacks by R.A.F. bomber command aircraft.

On the sector north of Antwerp, the Canadian forces have strengthened their positions around Esschen. The Germans have launched no strong counter-attacks, although one force did hit out against British formations on the right flank. In this action, the British forces knocked out three tanks and believed they got two more.

The tactical air force did not fly a single sortie Sunday in support of the Canadian Army because of a heavy fog that clung to the ground in that area near the Holland-Belgium border.

With the elimination of Breskens as a strongpoint, Cadzand, seven miles to the west and about two miles inland, now is the principal enemy holding in the pocket. The pocket has been reduced still more by Canadian forces which crossed the Leopold Canal at Oostkerke, six miles north and slightly east of Brugge (Bruges).

Labor Advised Avoid Politics

TORONTO, Oct. 23—(CP).—Hon. Charles Daley, Ontario Labor Minister, today advised labor to stay out of politics. Rather than making an alliance with one party the Labor movement should leave itself free to support any government which was making an honest effort.

Mr. Daley spoke at the opening of the 60th annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. The 750 delegates also heard Labor Minister Mitchell sound a warning that limited unemployment was to be expected in the transition from a war to a peacetime economy, but eventually full employment could be expected.

Mayor Fred J. Conboy and R. H. Brown, president of the Toronto District Labor Council, also welcomed the delegates.

"You must guide your people wisely and sanely so that those things for which you have fought will not be destroyed by the introduction of fanatical ideas that have failed wherever they have been tried," Mr. Daley said.

"In my opinion union organizations should be free of politics, free to choose for themselves, free to support politically the government they think is trying."

The Ontario Government had shown its position on Labor by a number of pieces of legislation including the Hours and Vacations Act, Collective Bargaining Act and extension of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Victory Loan Skyrockets On Opening Day

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 — (CP). — First reports on Canada's big $1,300,000,000 Seventh Victory Loan drive started coming in early on this first day of the three weeks campaign and showed an insurance company had subscribed $15,000,000 and the Army overseas was already nearing its minimum objective.

With an objective of $100,000,000 greater than any previous loan, the National War Finance Committee said they were looking "for the individual Canadian to guarantee the success of the loan."

The 150,0000 workers canvassing individuals are aiming at a total greater than the 3,077,000 applications which brought $1,497,000,000 in the Sixth Victory Loan.

The Seventh Loan seeks $600,000,000 from individuals and $700,000,000 from special names, the latter category including business and industrial organizations, insurance companies, pension funds, unions, railway and other brotherhoods, provincial and municipal governments and wealthy individuals.

The biggest single subscription to-day came from the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada. W. H. Somerville, vice-president and general manager of the company, announced the purchase and declared:

"While the subscription is a larger one, it is no greater than might reasonably be expected, since the Dominion has such urgent need for all the money every company and every individual can spare in order to meet war expenditures. The purchase will bring the company's holdings in war loan and

Moscow Takes Rap At Pope And Franco

MOSCOW, Oct. 23—(AP)—Pope Pius XII and the Franco regime in Spain were the twin targets of an article yesterday in the Soviet publication, War and the Working Class, which said the Pope might be called the "godfather" of the Spanish dictatorship.

The article, written by F. Golubev, demanded "the liquidation of the centre of the Fascist infection in Spain for the future security of Europe." Gen. Franco was described as "Hitler's faithful servant."

". . . Today the Vatican accords all possible support to Franco's regime. As he loses his main support—Hitlerite Germany—Franco looks to other forces for aid. One of his best allies is the Vatican. Pope Pius XII could be called Franco's 'godfather.'"

Americans, British Register Gains At Several Points

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 23 (AP) — Six Allied armies pounded the tight-drawn German defence band from Holland to Switzerland's border today with unceasing pressure aimed at opening the eventual cracks that will permit a smash to Berlin.

The rain of blows was not yet a grand co-ordinated offensive, but it was intended to hammer the enemy line ever thinner and to mask the timing and place of the main attack.

The assault was on against the shrinking South Schelde pocket 40 miles west of Antwerp, the hard-held doorway from Aachen, the upper entrance of the Saar Valley, and the sharp-cloven Vosges Passes.

The British 2nd Army, striking in three columns on a 12-mile front from the western side of its Holland salient, drove to within three to five miles of 'S-Hertogen-Bosch.

The Canadian Army swept on from Esschen on the Netherlands-Belgian border, 19 miles north of Antwerp, after an 11-mile advance in two days, and hammered methodically toward Roosendaal, four miles ahead.

The U.S. 1st Army pushed a mile east toward Duren after its capture of its first major German city, Aachen, and was clearing the enemy from the area around the village of Wursulen, three miles northeast of Aachen.

A Berlin broadcast said the 1st Army seemed to have completed its regrouping, brought up "vast" tank reinforcements and could be expected to attack at any moment somewhere along a 16-mile front between Geilenkirchen and Stolberg.

Plenty of Mud

The front from Aachen to the Vosges was a rain-soaked mire, and clouds at tree-top height also made an immediate offensive seem unlikely.

The American 3rd Army restlessly poked an attack at the Germans toward the Upper Saar Valley, capturing Bezange la Petite, 16 miles from the Saar.

2,500 Planes Out Not One Lost

LONDON, Oct. 23. — (CP).—Achieving complete mastery of the skyways over Europe, 2,500 Allied planes from Britain roamed hundreds of miles into Germany yesterday attacking six separate targets without a single loss, it was disclosed to-day.

It was the first time an armada of this size had escaped at least some casualties.

Only one enemy aircraft was seen and it was destroyed. Anti-aircraft fire was described as generally moderate and inaccurate.

More than 1,100 United States heavies attacked Hamm, Munster, Hannover and Brunswick early in the afternoon. On their way back they passed a formation of R.A.F. four-engined Giants, with a strong fighter escort, going out to attack inland ports and railway centres of Neuss, near Dusseldorf.

Last night a small force of R.A.F. Mosquitos attacked Hamburg and other objectives in Western Germany.

Two fighters which failed to return were later reported to have landed safely in France.

French Start Purge Trials

Veteran Journalist, First On The List

PARIS, Oct. 23 — (AP). — The veteran Paris journalist, George Suares, went on trial today on a charge of collaborating with the Germans. As director of the Nazi-sponsored newspaper Aujourd'hui, he was alleged to have received $15,000 a month during Nazi occupation.

Only a moderate crowd filed into the gloomy halls of the old Palais de Justice for the first of a series of trials, in which the government intends in six months to deal with more than 100,000 accused of conniving with the Germans.

Suares was calm as the trial started.

His fate — which may be the firing squad — will furnish some precedents for the trials of hundreds of other prominent pre-war writers accused of working for Nazi-dominated periodicals now suppressed.

Vast special judicial machinery has been set up on a nation-wide basis to handle the purge. Altogether some 284 courts with one or more judges presiding over each are being established by the ministry of justice and they are expected to begin operation all over France within two weeks.

Peterboro Unit In Fight For Breskens

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press War Correspondent

BRESKENS, Oct. 23—(CP Cable) —I entered this shattered town with its smell of death about an hour after its capture on Snuday, and everywhere was the mute evidence of the awful fighting that Eastern Ontario infantrymen had gone through to win it.

There could be nothing more eloquent than the body of a German who died on the barbed wire in front of a defensive pill-box that we saw at the gates to Breskens. The heavy mud had held up our vehicle for a few moments at the outskirts to the port when we saw him, and a lieutenant-colonel from Saskatoon and Toronto said: "You should look in the ditches—we had to kill as many as we have captured to make ground here."

In all this wrecked conglomeration of brick and rubble there were only two civilians who stayed during the grim fighting that saw its collapse — fighting that embraced bombing by heavy bombers, the constant fire of Canadian artillery and the final assault by infantry.

In all this town the only buildings that stood up to the Allied hammering were the Germans' concrete forts which extended from the outskirts right through the town.

They were built in their usual fashion; square, with rounded corners, painted-on windows and camouflaged roofs and gun ports. The doors were of inches-thick steel and guns bristled on all sides of them.

Just why the Germans gave up this defence bastion and key hinge of their line is not clear. The fight was grim and bloody enough, but Breskens should have held out longer with all this untouched defence which apparently was secure from attack.

Commander Dies.

Prisoners reported that the German commander of Breskens died on Saturday in the hail of our artillery. He was said to have come out of his pill-box to see his men and was hit by a shell fragment.

The battle of the Schelde pocket is, of course, not over. Even as I was in Breskens Ontario infantry were launching their attack on another key point, Schoondike, where the enemy was opposing the Canadians strongly and with everything at his command.

But in Breskens, which must remain for the time being at least a city of the dead, I can only quote Sgt. Bruce Lyle of Haliburton, Ont., and Cpl. George Annable of Prescott, Ont. They looked around and answered the question: Was Caen worse?

Occasional shells were falling in Breskens in the late afternoon. They came from Flushing on Walcheren Island, just across the estuary, but they interfered not a bit with the men who had taken this town.

Some of these men now were smoking German cigars, men led by Majs. Wally Braden of Bowmanville, Ont., Jake Forman of Kingston, Ont., Jack Stothard of Ottawa, Gordie Clark of Peterborough; men fho had fought for days and nights through the mud and rain to get here and still had some yards to go before the Schelde pocket could be cleared.

Police Raid Home Seize Wine Supply

A police squad raided the home of John Loucks, 301 Townsend street early this morning and seized a quantity of what they said was home-made wine. Several kegs and three or four jars full of the liquid, were brought to the police station along with what police said was a quantity of grape wine in the process of manufacture.

"I want to see my lawyer first," said the accused in asking for a remand. He was remanded for a week on bail of $500.

William Drain, Toronto, and his son, Garnet, also arrested early this morning, both pleaded guilty to charges of illegal possession of liquor.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., said that the men had had two bottles of native wine and another bottle purporting to contain Australian brandy.

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., imposed a fine of $20 and $2.50 costs in each case.

Schelde Estuary Sunday by capturing Breskens and then swept on half a mile into the ancient fort of Frederik-Hendrik from which enemy guns had been blasting the Canadians by day and night.

Forty miles to the east, other Canadian armor and infantry capped a brilliant 11-mile advance which began when the offensive opened Friday morning, by surprise night drive of four miles which took them clear into the bomb-shattered town of Esschen, four miles south of Roosendall, on the Antwerp road.

The superb night attack in inky darkness at Esschen caught the Germans unawares and brought a bag of several hundred more prisoners. Five hundred enemy troops were taken in the first 24 hours of the offensive.

The Canadian General commanding the force which drove on Esschen up the main Antwerp-Roosendaal highway praised the infantry for a "really magnificent job."

"It was the good old reliable infantry that did the trick again," he said. "Our sappers worked with them in the pitch darkness clearing mines and booby traps on the roads ...The enemy mined and booby-trapped trees and the sappers did a wonderful job in cleaning them."

The Engineers eventually built a bridge over a waterway during the night, completing it half an hour before the scheduled time. Ten minutes later Canadian tanks were rolling over it to bolster the offensive.

One infantry regiment, led by an Edmonton lieutenant-colonel, veteran of Italy and Sicily, advanced in Indian file right through enemy positions by night and at daybreak stormed ahead the last few hundred yards into Esschen. Another column passed through a German-held woods without arousing the enemy from his trenches under the trees.

Behind the Enemy.

By daybreak the Canadians were right behind the Germans and the battle was virtually won.

At Breskens, bloody street fighting raged from daybreak until noon as Eastern Ontario infantrymen, with some Maritimers, slashed through the German strongpoint against fanatically resisting enemy troops.

Breskens itself was in ruins from the relentless hammering of hundreds of Allied heavy and medium bombers and the thousands of artillery shells which had been poured on to German defences there.

But in the sea of rubble there were formidable concrete fortresses unharmed by the Allied air and ground attacks and bristling with guns.

After a night of patrol clashes in the streets of this old ferry port, hard-bitten veteran Canadians who for two weeks had been fighting in the rain and mud, slashed their way into the centre of the town under a rain of steel from the guns still firing from the German-held section.

Bitter close-range fighting went on all morning as the Germans fought and died in houses, pill-boxes, forts and in the streets until the relentless pressure of the Canadians forced the survivors to flee.

The Canadians had, in effect, fought the battle of the Atlantic wall again—but this time attacking in the rear the great rows of apparently bomb-proof fortresses studded through the town.

Easier Than Expected.

The General in charge of the Breskens assault said he was at a loss to understand why the Germans had let this vital hinge of the "short" defense line go as they did. "The only thing I can think of is that we gave the enemy such a pounding yesterday that he decided to pull in his horns," he said.

Fierce as the battle for Breskens was, it had been easier than anticipated and the German line had been turned.

War Said To Be Results Of Sin

The Peterborough Christian Business Mens Committee on Sunday evening had as their guest speaker James H. Hunter of Toronto, editor of the Evangelical Christian and author of several books. In the place of Harold Wardell who was unable to come, special music was rendered by the Bronson Sisters of Peterborough, a trio of consecrated young ladies whose singing over radio and at special services, has won them an enviable reputation. Mr. Hunter took as his text from the 35th chapter of Isaiah, verse 7: "And the parched ground shall become a pool," referring to the fact that the revised version gave the rendering, "The mirage shall become a pool." He gave a description of different mirages that he had seen during his travels in Arabia. A mirage is an illusion, and what the Prophet Isaiah was saying was that the illusion would become a reality. The speaker referred to many realities. Sin is a reality, Heaven is a reality, hell is a reality, and Christ as the Saviour is a reality to all who will believe in His redemptive mission as Saviour of the world. Sin is a tremendous reality. All through the ages it has left its slimy trail in every land and on every nation. "We read that Jesus wept at the tomb of his friend Lazarus," but the speaker suggested it was not only sorrow for the death of his friend that brought the tears, but the thought of the havoc that sin had wrought in the world that His Father and He had created. Heaven and hell are no mere illusions; they are realities and have been well described in "The Pilgrim's Progress," written by John Bunyan. Mr. Hunter, whose knowledge of this book is profound, referred to many of the characters, particularly Mr. Ignorance, ho got as far as the gate of the Celestial City, but because he had not his "certificate" was turned away and cast into outer darkness. This is an illustration of how a person can be lost even at the gate of heaven, just as a person can be saved when at the gate of hell. The speaker also referred to the connection between both the First World War and the war in which we are now engaged and sin. Both were the results of sin in the lives of men, disobedience of the laws of God and a refusal to accept the teachings of His Son Jesus Christ. In conclusion, the speaker made an urgent appeal to all to accept the reality of the power of Christ to strike off the shackles of sin and to enable one to live a life freed from the power of sin.

Next Sunday the radio evangelist C. Ernest Tatham will be the speaker, and Stan Hunt of Toronto will be the guest soloist.

Busher Jackson Retires From Hockey

TORONTO, Oct 23 (CP)—Harvey (Busher) Jackson of Boston Bruins has announced his retirement from the National Hockey League after 15 seasons, first with Toronto Maple Leafs and later with Bruins.

"I've been playing at hockey for a long time," said the 33-year-old left winger. "I haven't much longer to go. I have to look for some kind of a business career sooner or later and as I have been made a fine offer by a big firm here I've decided to start on it right now."

The Canadian triumph at the other end of the Scheide pocket front also spelt disaster for the Germans. The capture of Esschen greatly strengthened the Canucks' grip on the neck of the causeway leading from the mainland to the German-held "Watch-Dog" Islands of South Beveland and Walcheren.

Both these estuary islands must be cleared before the port of Antwerp can be opened, but the position has been greatly improved.

Between 100,000 and 150,000 German troops—remnants of the 15th Army which was driven from the channel coast into Holland—are believed to be scattered between the front north of Antwerp and the Zuider Zee.

Though most of these divisions have been badly battered, their fighting force have been collected into battle groups which can make effective local action sufficient to slow the Canadians from now on.

Other large purchasers announced to-day were the Cockshutt Plow Company, Limited and Subsidiaries, Brantford, Ont., $1,000,000 and the Robin Hood Flour Mills Ltd., of Montreal, and Moose Jaw, Sask., $1,100,000.

Foresters Take $800,000.

First subscription from a fraternal organization was that of the Canadian Order of Foresters at Brantford, which signed an application for $800,000.

First official and comprehensive report from the Canadian army overseas showed a nine-day total of $6,726,350 posted against a total objective of $8,000.000. This included 14,269 applications from troops in the United Kingdom for $1,346,400 against an objective of $1,500,000; 25,383 applications from Canadians with the Allied army in Italy for $2,379,950, of an objective of $3,000,000; and approximately $3.000,000 from the 1st Canadian army in France, whose objective is $3,500,000.

The R.C.A.F. overseas which opened its campaign Oct. 16 and which had already announced its bomber group was over the top, reported to-day that as of Oct. 20 a total of 14,159 applications had been received. The bond purchases covered by these applications amounted to $2,169,700. This figure is well beyond the quota assigned to the entire R.C.A.F. overseas in the Sixth Victory Loan.

An indication of the spirit in which the armed forces are backing the loan is the fact that they have raised their combined objectives by 47 per cent over the last loan.

No Soft Job

Reports of advance success by service canvassers came in quick reply to messages from ministers and senior officers in personnel in Canada and overseas. Navy Minister Macdonald signalled his belief that "naval and civilian personnel in all commands can be depended upon to repeat their magnificent response in previous loans." Vice-Admiral George Jones, chief of naval staff, said that many purchases would "speed successful conclusion of hostilities and provide you with valuable assets for postwar needs."

Just back from a visit to Canadians in the battle areas of Italy and western Europe, Defence Minister Ralston, in a message to all ranks of the army at home, said in part:

"I wish it were possible for many more to have that experience. It would blast that comfortable idea that it's all over but the shouting. If you thing Germany is letting up, just visit our men who are battle casualties in the field ambulances, casualty clearing stations and hospitals. They fight the Germans in actual combat and make it possible for us in Canada to move the pins on the map and show advances. They know that those advances represent hard, bitter fighting with a desperate and resourceful enemy."

Greek Island Cleared Of Huns

ROME, Oct. 23 — (AP). — The large Aegean island of Evvoia (Euboea), adjacent to the Greek mainland north of Athens, has been cleared completely of Germans, Allied headquarters announced today.

The island, a mountainous stretch of 115 miles and 33 miles at its greatest breadth, is the largest island of Greece. It is separated from the mainland by a narrow channel, the northern part of which is known as the channel of Atalanti.

Dispatches from Athens said the island's chief city, Khalkis, surrendered to a combined force of British and Greek patriots and that a small number of troops left behind in a German evacuation were taken prisoner.

The strategic north Aegean Island of Lemnos has been occupied by the British and all of the Cyclades group was reported freed today as German forces on the mainland continued their flight through northern Greece.

Seizure of the Port of Mundros on the south coast of Lemnos, which guards the entrance to the Dardenelles, was announced yesterday in a Royal Navy communique.

Allied headquarters announced that six months emergency civilian supplies for Greece, amounting to about 780,000 tons valued at $120,000,000 had been provided for partly by the United States and the remainder by Britain.

bombing which broke an old 800-foot earthen dam two miles southeast of Dieuze and flooded the Seille Valley for 10 miles.

The American 7th Army also wedged deeper into the approaches to the Vosges northeast of Epinal beyond captured Brouvelieures and Bruyeres.

The British drive was reinforced by the jump-off of a third column at midnight from the south side of the Zuid Willemsvaart Canal, southeast of 'S-Hertogen-Bosch.

This attack gained 4,000 yards by daylight, reached the outskirts of Schijndel and cut the Schijndel-Boxtel road about five miles south of 'S-Hertogen-Bosch.

The other two columns, striking out yesterday east and northeast of 'S-Hertogen-Bosch, were about three miles from that hub at the nearest points.

The chief German stronghold in the Schelde pocket was now at Cadzand on the coast. Demolitions in the Oostkerke area farther south indicated the Germans were about to withdraw from that area.

In the centre of the long west front, troops of the U.S. 3rd Army were in action in the Metz sector, with fighters and fighter-bombers supporting the ground operations by attacking enemy transportation. A bitter struggle still was raging for the town Maizieres LesMets.

TORONTO, Oct. 23 —(CP) — Wholesale poultry prices were unchanged here to-day.

TORONTO HOGS.

TORONTO, Oct. 23. — (CP) — Prices were unchanged at bacon-hog markets reporting early today. Dressedweight, grade A delivered, Hamilton and London $17.50, Hull and Barrie $17.40.

MONTREAL LIVESTOCK.

MONTREAL, Oct. 23 — (CP) — Receipts: cattle 2,100; calves, 2,090; sheep 5,400; hogs 2.650.

There was a hold-over of 200 cattle from last week. Fresh receipts were a few loads of medium steers. Early indications were that prices would be steady but sales were not sufficient to establish quotations.

Good veal calves were 13.50-14. Common lights were 7. Grass calves were a shade lower, going over the sale at 5.50 and down according to quality.

Lambs 11.50-12 for good ewes and wethers. Bucks discounted at 1 cwt. Hogs remained unchanged at 17.65 for grade "A". Sows 12.50-12.75.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, Oct. 23 — (CP). — Cattle trade was very slow on the livestock market here today with sales on butcher steers and heifers too few to establish prices. Veal calves and hogs were steady. Buyers were not bidding on sheep or lambs.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle, 3,800; calves, 1,000; hogs, 1,000; sheep and lambs, 3,500. Unsold from last week were 2,300 head of cattle and 1,200 sheep and lambs.

Cows sold at $6-$9, bulls $6.50-$7.50, a few fed yearlings $11-$13.25, stockers $7.50-$8.75 and a few stock calves $10.

Veal calves were $14-$15 for choice with a few heavy westerns $8-$11.

Hogs were steady at grade A dressedweight $17.65-$17.75.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 23 — (CP). — Rye futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on Saturday displayed a stronger tone in sympathy with the advances at Chicago and supported by light offerings here. Futures advanced 1⅛ to 1¼ cents a bushel.

Early commission house selling was absorbed by locals in comparatively light trade. No export business was reported.

The Red Cross said 680 homeless persons who have been sleeping and eating in school buildings for three days, would be in semi-permanent dwellings by tonight.

Loss 15 Millions

Utility services were being restored to every habitable house and industrial plant as persons were permitted to return to residences damaged by concussion.

In the area of greatest havoc bulldozers were used to raze fire-blacked walls of gutted buildings and to level chimneys. City clean-up crews also hauled debris.

Estimates of property damage ranged from $7,000,000 to $15,000,000.

City and government investigators predicted the cause of the holocaust would remain buried in the ruins. Unofficial sources advanced the theory that either an explosion freed liquid gas from the storage tanks or that liquified gas flowed from a fissure and formed a combustible mixture which exploded.

MARRIED UNDER FIRE

LONDON — (CP). — An R.A.F. pilot and a British nursing sister were married at Nijmegen, Holland, at the height of the Arnhem battle. Their wedding, accompanied by the whine of shells and the scream of bombs, was solemnized at a time when the Germans had cut the life-line road behind them, leaving them temporarily encircled by the enemy.

Peterboro Boy Given 12 Months

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 23 (CP) — John Bernard Crowley, 17, of Peterborough today was sentenced to 12 months definite and six months indeterminate in the Ontario Reformatory in city court. He appeared on a charge of breaking, entering and theft of a truck.

On a further charge of stealing a bicycle in Hamilton, he was sentenced three months to run concurrently with the other term. Both sentences were dated back to Oct. 13 when Crowley was remanded after pleading guilty.

Fine Reckless Driver $7.50 On Guilty Plea

William A. Hines, who entered a written plea of guilty to a charge of careless driving, was fined $7.50 and $2.50 costs in police court this morning.

Inspector James F. Reid said that the accused's car had taken too wide a turn at McDonnel and Stewart streets and as a result there had been a collision with another automobile. A woman passenger in one of the vehicles had her shoulder injured.

P. Mahoney also was fined $7.50 and costs on a traffic charge after he had entered a written plea of guilty.

It was explained that Mahoney's car had collided with a parked car but the accused had claimed that he did not know that he had struck the other machine and he did not stop.

Pres. Roosevelt Starts Campaign Trail

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(AP). —President Roosevelt, as candidate Roosevelt, will hit the vote-strewn campaign trails of the east again this week with what has been advertised as a speech on business Friday night in Philadelphia.

He also may speak in Chicago Saturday night, but this awaits official announcement. Another address is set for Boston, probably Nov. 4. Cleveland, last stop on his 1940 schedule, may see him before election day Nov. 7.

In deciding on an aggressive finish of a campaign that started late, the President is following much the same groove — geographically and otherwise—of his third-term spin around the industrial east and mid-west in an effort to nail what he then called "falsification" and what he termed this time "fraud" and "falsehood."

Refutes Charges.

This year he said he would not campaign in the usual political sense unless forced to discuss what he termed misrepresentations. Except for fewer "inspection trips" this time, the fourth term speaking effort is fitting into the footsteps of the third. He has made three addresses to date—two in Washington and his foreign policy speech Saturday night in New York city.

Election experts generally say they see a close race in the Nov. 7 voting, with most looking on New York and Pennsylvania to decide the issue with their big bloc of 82 electoral votes. A few figure "as the border States go, so will the election." These States are Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Oklahoma and Missouri. Still others foresee such a close finish that the people may have to wait for late-counting of soldier votes for a decision.

The size of the vote — it was close to 50,000,000 in 1940—enters into speculation over who's going to win. Heavy registrations in recent weeks in pivotal States have prompted the experts to raise their earlier sights on the prospective total vote. Democrats say this is a good sign for them. Republicans retort it could mean a big vote for the Opposition.

Gov. Dewey frequently has expressed confidence of victory in speeches. Mr. Roosevelt has not made an open prediction, but he is described by aides as expecting to win.

Turner Family Releases Link Held 102 Years

ROSENEATH, Oct. 23.—(ENS).—Thomas Mercer Jones and Frederick Undder, attorneys of the Canada Company in 1847 in Toronto issued seals on November 29, granting to John Turner of the township of Alnwick, county of Northumberland, Newcastle district, yeoman, in consideration of £43.15s, one hundred acres of land, composing the south half of Lot 21 in the Third Concession of the township of Alnwick. Thus in 1842 came the Turners to pioneer their land in Alnwick.

On Saturday, October 21, 1944, Sgt. Maj. George Turner, Mrs. Turner and daughters Wendy and Willow moved from Roseneath to Cobourg, having sold all the Turner lands and properties, severing the link that for 102 years bound the Turner family to the township of Alnwick.

In due time John Turner willed the land to his son George Turner and a document dated January 26, 1869, reveals that George Turner for the sum of £66 and 15s. purchased a further parcel of one hundred acres of land composing the north half of Lot 21 on the Third Concession in Alnwick.

John Turner was one of the first two white settlers in this district, the other being Rev. Mr. Solomon, and while looking for a homestead they were once treed by wolves. John Turner was a local preacher and assisted Mr. Solmon in carrying on church services in a little log schoolhouse.

George, a son of John Turner, married a Miss Solomon and of a family of six sons and four daughters, three are living, Marshall of California, Leslie and Miss Hattie Turner, of Monaghan Road, Peterborough. The Turner lands were inherited by Frank, fifth son of George Turner. He married Miss Lily Elliott and again a large family, four sons and four daughters, played and wandered about the Turner acres. Following her husband's death about 27 years ago, Mrs. Frank Turner moved to Roseneath and for a time kept her children about her. But time has a way of severing families and the children went out to seek their fortunes and now are scattered throughout Canada and the United States. Finally one son, George, remained in Roseneath with his mother. A few years ago Mrs. Turner went to Peterborough, where she resided for some time, but is now living in Toronto. George, previous to the war, taught school, but his country called and he joined the army signalling corps.

The Turner lands, with the exception of 25 acres of woodland, were sold some years ago. Recently George and his mother sold their houses and properties in Roseneath village, also the wood lot to O'Connel and Covert of Roseneath.

The Turner family has down through the years contributed much to the cultural life of the community, especially in music.

1,000TH CANADIAN SHIP LAUNCHED—Marking the opening of Canada's Seventh Victory Loan, the 1,000th vessel (and 500th warship) launched in Canada since the start of the war, was sent down the ways at a huge victory loan rally in Toronto, one of ten ships launched in similar ceremonies from coast to coast. The ship, the H.M.S. Myrmidon, is a fast Algerian class minesweeper. Picture shows Mrs. C. D. Howe, wife of Munitions Minister C. D. Howe, about to break the bottle on the prow of the combat vessel prior to her spectacular side launching.

Anglican Congregation In Cobourg Observes Its 125th Anniversary

COBOURG, Oct. 23 — (ENS). — St. Peter's Anglican Church observed its 125th anniversary on Sunday with special services at which Archbishop Derwyn T. Owen of Toronto spoke in the morning and Major Canon P. F. Dykes, former rector, spoke in the evening.

The first services in this parish were held in the year 1818 by the Rev. William Macaulay. They were held in a small wooden building where the present Home for the Aged now stands. The first parish register was begun in January of 1819 and records services being held as far east as Belleville, west to Port Hope and in the Rice Lake district. Mr. Macaulay was responsible for the name of "Cobourg" being given to the town in honour of the marriage of Princess Charlotte of Wales to Prince Leopold of Saxe-Coburg.

First Building

In 1819 four acres of ground, the present site of the church, were given by John Spencer to Robert Henry and Walter Boswell, church wardens, and their successors in office, for ten pounds. The building of the first church was begun and completed in 1820 and opened on Christmas Day. It was made of wood and was 56 by 42 feet in size. The glebe lands were given by the Crown in 1836. The present church was built outside and over the old church, while the latter was still used and was opened for divine services, Oct. 15th, 1854.

Rev. Macaulay was rector till 1827, when he was succeeded by the Rev. A. N. Bethune, who served as rector for forty years. During that time he was appointed Archdeacon of York and Professor of Theology in the Diocese of Toronto and conducted the Theological College at Cobourg. In 1866 he was appointed co-adjutor bishop of the diocese and the second Bishop of Toronto in 1867. Bishop Bethune was succeeded here by Canon Stenett, whose tenure of office lasted for 23 years. During Canon Stenett's time, the present chancel was added to the church as a memorial to Bishop Bethune; the present organ put in and the Rectory built.

After Canon Stenett's death the Rev. A. W. Spragge was appointed rector in 1889. During his incumbency the interior of the church was remodelled, many new memorial windows were put in and the present Sunday School, and the chapel at the cemetery, were built. To mark the jubilee of the present church in 1906, a memorial chime of ten bells were placed in the tower. Canon Soragge served until 1914. In 1915, the fifth rector in 100 years was appointed, the Rev. F. J. Sawers, later canon, and just recently-appointed Archdeacon of York. Many beautiful memorials were added to the church during his incumbency and during his stay of ten years he accomplished important work for the church and was particularly beloved by the young people of the parish.

Sixth Rector

On March 17, 1926, Rev. Dr. T. Stannage Boyle, formerly president of King's College, Nova Scotia, was inducted as the sixth rector. Under his leadership the parish house was remodelled and joined to the church and a gymnasium built, the corner stone being laid in 1927. In 1936 he resigned in order that he would have more time for theological work at Trinity College.

The Rev. P. J. Dykes was inducted as the seventh rector in 1936. In 1940 he joined the army chaplaincy service and resigned in 1941. The Rev. R. L. Seaborn, who succeeded Canon Dykes, was inducted as the eighth rector on Sept. 29, 1941, and joined the chaplaincy service in August 1942. He is now serving in France. In Jan. of last year, Rev. H. R. Deering commenced his work here as priest-in-charge for the duration.

Large Wolf Shot In Madoc Township

MADOC, Oct. 23.—(ENS).— Arthur Fleming shot a large timber wolf last Thursday about a mile south of No. 7 highway and a few miles from Madoc village.

Some time ago, due to heavy losses among sheep raaisers, and after considerable money had been paid for sheep killed by dogs which led to a dispute among the members of the township council, a bounty of $25.00 was offered for wolves. This was supplementary to the existing government bounty. One wolf was sht in the northern section of the township but the one Mr. Fleming got was the first in the south quarter.

At the present time they are full furred and the specimen shot was one of the best. Mr. Fleming says there are more where it came from for he and his family can hear them almost any night.

Cobourg Opens Loan

COBOURG, Oct. 23 — (ENS). — Cobourg's Victory Loan opening ceremony took place Saturday afternoon at the town hall. The ceremony was broadcast over loudspeakers outside from the stage of the opera house. Maurice Daignault, president of the local Kiwanis Club, was master of ceremonies and the pledge flag for the town of Cobourg was dedicated by Mayor Jack Burnet who urged the townspeople to back this Seventh Victory Loan to the very limit. As the pledge flag was raised on the town hall flagstaff, the Ontario Girls' Training School choir sang the "Soldiers' Prayer". The choir, which was under the direction of Mrs. Lettice Bingham.

Car Injures Girl, 8

COBOURG, Oct. 23.—(ENS). — Arlene Bovay, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bovay, of Cobourg, was painfully injured on Saturday afternoon when struck by a car on King street driven by Thomas Phillips. The youngster was crossing the street and stepped into the side of a car and was knocked down. She was given a medical examination which revealed that she had a tooth knocked out as well as sustaining several contusions. Chief W. J. Carey investigated.

Peterboro Man Robbed Of $60

COBOURG, Oct. 23.—(ENS). — Jack Primeau, local merchant, was the victim of two strangers on Saturday, who removed about $60 from his safe during the busy afternoon trade. One of the two men informed Mr. Primeau that he was discharged from the army and was going to buy some new clothing. While the two were looking over some suits, Mr. Primeau made out his deposit slip and went to the bank, leaving around $60 in the safe. During the period in which the clerk was waiting on some customers at the front of the store, the men helped themselves to the contents of the open safe, under the screen of looking over the merchandise. They left without making any purchases and when Mr. Primeau returned he discovered the robbery. Chief W. J. Carey was called and after a prelminary investigation he notified other police stations of the robbery.

Defeat Of Germany To Ease Tires

TORONTO, Oct. 23—The defeat of Germany will be reflected in a marked improvement in the tire situation for civilian use, with the present synthetic rubber program matching the pre-war production from raw rubber, P. W. Litchfield, chairman for the board for Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., said here in an interview Saturday night.

Because the campaign against Japan will be based largely on the use of air and naval power, Mr. Litchfield said that rubber requirements for the war against Japan will be greatly reduced.

Addressing a gathering of Goodyear employees honoring 83 of their fellow members who this year mark 25 years' service with the company, Mr. Litchfield noted that plans are now being laid to harmonise conflicting interests among the United Nations on the problems of rubber supply.

Though manufacturers of tires and other rubber products will return to raw rubber as soon as possible after the release of rubber plantations now under Japanese control, Mr. Litchfield said that the synthetic product will also have a important place in the rubber plan, particularly in stabilizing the price of rubber.

CGE Add $100,000 To Loan Total

C.G.E.-Geneloo employees hit their Victory Loan score board for another $100,000 over the week-end, booming the total to $322,650.

The objective of the folks at the big plant is $450,000. They may not be able to finish it off with just a third bite, but they seem to be within reaching distance right now, although the last league is usually the tough one.

The campaigners at C.G.E.-Geneloo went into action Friday morning, and their first reports, totalled on the board amounted to nearly $223,000. Somebody has been moving fast down there. They had more than 70 per cent of their objective on the dotted line when the national campaign opened this morning. Everybody knew they were going to beat the barrier by several days, following their precedent of the Sixth Victory Loan, and the canvassers must have been all set for action.

Germany Digs In Her Toes

There is no doubt that we are on the road to victory, but it seems that we have gone too far in assuming that victory was at hand. For four long years victory seemed very far off; we could not guess how it would come about, but we worked desperately hard, and we hoped. Now we see how it will come about, and some foolish people have stopped working their hardest, and have behaved as though victory were already ours.

• • •

These foolish folk would do well to consider Hitler's latest proclamation to the German people. "We must succeed", he said, "in driving back the hostile forces and keeping them clear of the German Reich until a peace is guaranteed which safeguards the future of Germany, her allies and thereby Europe". There are two important points to be noticed here: the first is that Hitler talks of peace for Germany, and not of victory, thereby admitting to his people that he cannot win; the second is that he has called upon them to resist to the uttermost, in order to make possible a negotiated peace, with less severe terms for Germany. Germany is digging in her toes for a titanic effort of resistance.

Every German man between 16 and 60 who is able to carry weapons (which in modern Germany means a man who is not actually bedridden) has been called to a new German force called the Volksturm—a people's army like the French Forces of the Interior or the British Home Guard. Hitler has announced th he will call girls and women, too, i .. should be necessary. The Germans are ready for a suicidal resistance to the Allied advance, hoping for a stalemate and a negotiated peace. Let us not underestimate the power of such resistance; it is liable to prove embarrassing to our forces, for although they will be able to cope with the Volksturm in the end, they may have to fight for months on guerilla lines in order to do so.

There is only one way to baffle this German resistance, and that is to inflict a defeat, or a series of defeats on the regular German forces which will be so great that all German resistance will be disorganized, and the stubborn Nazi leaders will be forced to admit themselves beaten. If that is our intention, we must put aside any dreams we may have had that the war is almost over, and that a German collapse is inevitable. We must work now as we have never worked before, in a final spurt of energy which will nullify the German effort to drag out the fight. We must leave nothing undone which we can do to advance our war effort. As the Seventh Victory Loans begins today one course is open which we can all take. Hitler has asked his people for a superlative effort of resistance. The Seventh Loan offers all of us a chance for a superlative effort of aggression.

Mr. Mosher States His Case

At the fifth annual convention of the Canadian Congress of Labour in Montreal Mr. A. R. Mosher made a presidential address which has caused a good deal of alarmed buzzing in capitalist circles. The nub of his speech was his statement that "this war has shown clearly that only through an extension of the principle of public ownership, operation and control over all aspects of industry will it be possible to bring into being the new social order promised to us after the war is won"; he also said "the organized workers of Canada endorse these views".

These are bald and dubious statements. The war has not shown socialism to be inevitable or especially desirable to several millions of Canada's population, including large groups of organized workers. We wish that Mr. Mosher would answer this question: how will the trade unions fare under socialism? They have never yet had a fair deal in any state which even approached complete socialization. Why does he assume that they will do better in Canada? A few days ago we published the conviction of Mr. David Dubinsky, the leader of the Garment Workers' Union, that socialism and union organization would not mix, and his reasons for thinking so. What are Mr. Mosher's reasons for holding a contrary view? Surely the events of the last forty years have shown us that the sort of socialism which Mr. Mosher advocates does not work, and creates quite as much discontent and misery as the most arbitrary and bowelless forms of capitalism?

The capitalists are to blame for the popularity of socialism as a political and economic cure-all today. One of the great faults of capitalism is that capitalists are incurably lazy; they don't mind working, but they hate to think. When times are good for them they are at ease in Zion, and they do not trouble themselves enough to see that times are good for everyone else, as well. And when times are bad for them they whine and lie about socialism, instead of pointing out its obvious faults and proposing more satisfactory alternatives. Socialists all think, even if they think muddleheadedly: capitalists appear never to think at all.

That is why Mr. Mosher imagines he can get the support of Canadian organized labour for the C.C.F. If the older parties want to prevent that, they will have to do some serious work, some serious arguing, and some serious thinking.

Good Manners In Toronto

The city council of Toronto is considering a new traffic by-law which will control the conduct of pedestrians. They will be compelled to pass on the right side, and "no person shall run or race on any highway, or crowd or jostle other pedestrians". It would also be unlawful to run for a street-car or cross the street on roller-skates.

This is all very well, but does it require a law to teach manners to the downtown crowds of Toronto? Surely it is a little hard to forbid a man to run for a street-car if he wants to do so. We lived in Toronto once, and we cannot remember catching a street-car in any other way. As for crowding and jostling, those offences happen only when five or more people are gathered together, and who is going to place the blame? Is a policeman expected to arrest fifteen or twenty people because they are all crowding and elbowing?

It looks as though Toronto were trying to procure by law something which must rise from the soul of the individual citizen—the quality which the Chinese call Proper Feeling. There is not much of it in Toronto crowds, admittedly. Anyone who has tried to board a street-car there during a rush hour has seen the old and the timid thrust aside, children cruelly shoved and squeezed, and the selfish and the boorish showing their nastiest qualities. There is no real reason why this should be so, except that Canada has very little sense of communal decency in these matters. In Britain the habit of forming queues has become fixed, and disorderly and jostling crowds are unknown. What Toronto needs is not a by-law, but a new conception of proper behaviour.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Germans are reported to be camouflaging themselves in wheat-fields. In expectation of a threshing, of course.

A new X-ray machine will take pictures through a wall of steel a foot thick. A boon to press photographers, obviously.

"Japan Loses Face" says a headline. Satisfactory, but not as good as if it had been "Japan Loses Head".

The average Canadian, a statistician says, has $70.27 in his pocket. Just another indication that we are away below average.

A candidate for election in the state of Maryland promises to kiss every woman voter in his district. He can lose a lot of support that way.

John Henry Titus, who claims to be the author of the old tear-jerker, The Face On the Bar Room Floor, has just married at the ripe age of 97. Was it the pursuit of poetry, or the comforts of the bar room which preserved romance in his heart at an advanced age?

The winner of the beauty contest at the Hanover fall fair has been widely commended for her modesty in wearing a long white gown, instead of the customary bathing suit. The defeated contestants, however, might be justified in complaining that they revealed what beauty they had, whereas the winner took a cunning method of concealing her deficiencies. The prize, girls, is not to the frank, but to the evasive.

Farming News and Views

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

MOVING about in Western Ontario for about a week, I found conditions first rate. Fall wheat, in Middlesex and North Perth, was all that could be desired. It has a fine top of dark green. It continues good in Oxford and south into Elgin. East from Galt to Guelph Junction, it was not far enough forward as dry weather seemed to have hindered it. I saw some fall ploughing being done near St. Marys and a mat of green was being turned under which indicated that shelled grain and weed seeds had all sprouted, so green manure was being ploughed in. The cattle in the fields had fine grazing and I saw some fields of mangels and turnips being lifted that would insure them good feed this winter. Several fields of corn had suffered from lack of help to get it into the silo in time. Quite a number of feeder cattle came down from the West but the "cover crop" in Alberta had put good two-year-old steers up to 10c, and some a trifle higher. I have mentioned cover crop before and it grows in popularity. At one time it was sown to hold the soil on summer fallows from drifting, now it is sown to finish cattle on its green feed, and as the cattle clean it up, they put on good firm flesh quickly, and have manure on the land which will insure a better crop of wheat to follow. A wheat farmer can realize $10 to $12 per acre for the pasture on his cover crop and has almost to quarrel with several parties as to who will get it.

APPLES everywhere this autumn, and the demand as keen as the crop is plentiful. British Columbia seems to have rather more than they can take care of at home. The weather in Ontario was almost perfect for harvesting the abundant apple crop.

ROBINSON Bros. dispersed their Shorthorn herd on October 11. It was a case of selling everything, and the 48 lots offered brought an average of $717, another proof of quality counts. A seven-year-old home bred bull by Millhills Ransom sold for $1,500, not bad for an aged bull. A five-year-old bull by this sire sold to Kenneth Deacon, of Unionville, for $2,500, also home bred. An imported cow brought $2,000, and a home bred cow with heifer calf by Robinson Ransom and in calf to Robinson Colonel was sold for $1,725. There is a keen demand for well bred animals of high quality.

THE restocking of Europe with cattle after the war is discussed a great deal in various publications at the present time. In order to determine what is likely to be needed, it is important to review the breeds of cattle that have been prevalent on the continent. The farmers there will likely be favorably disposed toward those they have been accustomed to, and breeds new to these people will find great difficulty in getting a foothold.

The strictly beef breeds are not known, and cattle in Europe have not been bred for beef alone. We have some dual-purpose cattle here, but "triple-purpose" could be applied to some of the continental breeds, as they are used for milk, draught and beef. Many small farms have only cows to do the small amount of ploughing and cultivation they require.

Red Danish is a breed much used in Denmark and Scandinavia. This is a dual-purpose animal weighing from 1,200 to 1,325 lbs., fairly thick in conformation, yields from 7,500 to 8,000 lbs. of 3.7 per cent milk and kills out a fair carcass of beef. Normandy cattle are a Northern France breed good size, from 1,200 to 1,750 lbs., giving up to 10,000 lbs. of 4 per cent milk and are counted profitable animals. They are red and white with white head, but are quite unlike Herefords, as the shape of their heads and horns are rather on a Dairy Shorthorn type. Red Flemish, like Danish, and red in colour but larger, from 1,450 to 1,650 lbs., and often give a yield of 10,000 lbs. of 4 per cent milk when used for strictly dairy purposes. These cattle are found in parts of France and Belgium. French Eastern Dappled cattle are small and are not heavy yielders of milk or butter-fat. They are the cattle of the very small farmer and are all purpose beasts on his farm.

The Simmenthal breed of cattle originated in Switzerland but have been much used in Germany. They are big, heavy-boned strong animals from 1,450 to 1,750 lbs. They are used for draught, milk and beef. Under favorable conditions they will give 8,500 lbs. of 3.5 to 4 per cent milk. This has been a sort of all-purpose breed in Germany.

The Angler is a bright red breed of cattle used in Germany and central Europe. They are small, from 900 to 1,150 lbs. and will give about 7,500 lbs. of 3.6 milk. They will live on very moderate quantities of feed. Some of these breeds we should consider rather nondescript but they have served their purpose in Europe. The shortage of fats is very serious in Germany, and for some time they have been crossing their small dairy cows with a rather common breed known as Black Lowland cattle, but carrying more tallow and edible fat. This is a rather desperate effort and indicates Germany's present plight.

Holland is the home of the Dutch Friesians. When Germany obtained the Province of Friesland, the black and white cattle in that district moved into Holland, where they were in high favour, and practically abandoned the district from which they take their name. The British Friesian Association has admitted two importations into their herd book during the past twenty-five years, one from South Africa in 1920 and one from Holland in 1936. The cattle for these importations were specially selected and are highly prized. A few breeders have been able to keep this imported blood pure from any outcross. One result of this was shown in a sale of British Friesians at Someries Farm, Luton, England, on Sept. 14th, 1943, when 21 head of these Pure Imported Friesians were sold and made an average of 1,343 pounds, about $5,900 each, the top price was $11,960, and five head were up to $10,000 each. At an auction in December of 1943, a heifer of this Imported Holland breeding sold for 2,800 guineas, the equivalent of $12,900. These are fabulous prices but they indicate what Holland Friesians mean to English breeders. These cattle are too expensive for Holland but there should be a market for our Holstein-Friesians in Holland and there will be a demand in Britain where breeding records are being made of Canadian Black and White cattle. No American cattle can enter England as when the embargo was removed from Canadian cattle, it was only removed as against cattle, "Born and reared in the Dominion of Canada."

The war has taught Britain, as it doubtless has a number of other countries, the value of milk in the human diet. More milk will be demanded and it must come most profitably by increased milk production from the average cow. It is amazing how long people will persist in keeping cows that scarcely pay their way. Mr. Hudson has tackled this business in England and he is bound to eliminate the cow that is unable to do her fair share in the dairy. There is an effort being made by the breeders of South Devon and Red Polled cattle in England to supply some of the Continental demand. They will only succeed as they improve their animals.

There are likely to be more beef-eaters after the war than there were before. We can supply some of this demand from Canada, but we are much more likely to do it by shipments of beef than by exporting live cattle. Russia may be a market for some of our breeding stock of beef type, but the small European countries are not likely to buy these cattle. During the two year period, 1943-44, we agreed to ship 100,000,000 lbs. of beef to Britain, and if we had any excess Britain agreed to take it.

What we could do in the shipment of Jerseys or Guernsys across the water would be difficult to determine. We would likely send a few tops, but there is a keen demand on this continent for them and also for Ayrshires.

Our business will be to ship beef, or live cattle for slaughter, Holstein-Friesians as we can find them for the market, and Wiltshire sides of the highest quality.

I VISITED the Championship Yorkshire show at Erin on Thanksgiving Day, and the splendid exhibits which were assembled from the Regional shows at Galt, Collingwood, Teeswater, Richmond and Strathroy, was ample evidence of the high class Yorkshires bred in Ontario. The Grand Champion boar was exhibited by George Hanna of Holland Centre, and the Junior Champion by S. J. Gallagher & Son, Alliston; the Grand Champion sow by Percy Carscadden, of Bradford, and the Junior Champion by Wm. Pinkney and Sons, of Cooksville.

AN EFFECTIVE DAM

English Church and Post-War Needs

(By THE BISHOP OF NORWICH)

Note: The Rt. Rev. Percy Mark Herbert, D.D., has been Bishop of Norwich since 1942, having previously been Bishop of Blackburn since 1926. Before becoming Bishop of one of England's most beautiful rural Dioceses, in which Sandringham, the King's country house, is situated, he was Vicar of St. George's Church and Warden of Trinity Mission, Camberwell, London. His wide experience of working-class Camberwell, industrial Blackburn, and agricultural Norfolk, has made him particularly alive to conditions which must be improved in a reconstructed Britain, and the ways in which the Churches can help to bring this about.

IN the years between the two world wars it was widely felt that religion in Britain was losing ground. Such criticism was healthy in that it showed a belief in the potential influence of the Churches and a desire for spiritual leadership. It was also often rather unbalanced. When people said that the Churches were half empty, they forgot that by the same token they were at least half full, and they also forgot that Church-people are just a cross section of the community, and therefore influenced by the general atmosphere.

What certainly was true was that the spirit of the time was irreligious. Reaction from the strain of war years, popular gospels of misunderstood psychology, a vast increase in opportunities of amusement, the loosening of home discipline, and unsatisfactory religious teaching in the majority of schools, were rapidly having the effect of crowding God out of life and making people more and more wrapped up in natural issues. The soul of England was not dead, but it was to a great degree asleep. Christian tradition remained, often making the behaviour of men better than their creed, but we were living largely on our capital. Christian conduct cannot for long survive, divorced from Christian faith. The situation was therefore highly disturbing and the outlook dark.

Yet when the second world war came, we saw in the religious as in other spheres of life a great awakening. The challenge of the powers of evil, which had so clearly taken shape in the policy and behaviour of Nazi Germany, forced people to see that the British Commonwealth was fighting to preserve Christian civilization. Religion therefore became again relevant to the needs of the time. Men saw that God was concerned in the war. It was His rule of life, His purpose for the world, that was threatened. The age of the Crusade had come again. And in consequence of this men realized afresh the need of religious knowledge, of spiritual power, and they were ready to turn to the Churches for help. I do not want to paint a glowing picture. There is much lee-way to make up, millions still stand outside organized religion, and the Churches are not full. But there is a new sense of dissatisfaction with the pre-war life, a determination not to return to it, and a real hunger for spiritual leadership. Men are ready to listen to those who shall say "This is the way: walk ye in it." This is perhaps more widely true of the men and women in the Services of the Crown than of those who remain in their own homes, but after all it is these men and women who must shape the future of our country both as citizens and as parents, and if they can take up their task with the right ideals, we can regard the future hopefully.

I HAVE said all this because ultimately it is not the activities of Churches or particular societies or movements that will count in post-war reconstruction. They will be needed both for inspiration and for leadership, but they can only succeed if they are, and if it is known that they are, truly representatives of the conscience and purpose of the community. While, therefore, I want to call attention to activities of this kind, it is mainly because they seem to me to focus and co-ordinate widespread desires and impulses.

But first a word about the clergy. They are not the Church, and much confusion and ill-placed criticism would be avoided if this simple fact were remembered, but they are, and must be, the recognized officers and leaders of organized religious life. At once a great difficulty confronts us.

For various reasons the supply of ministers to meet the ever increasing demands, both at home and overseas, was, in the pre-war years, decreasing and causing grave anxiety. During the war very few have been ordained. It is calculated that the Church of England alone will be at least 2,000 clergy short of her requirements by the end of this year.

And this shortage will not end when the war ends. Many men, mainly from the Services, will then offer themselves, but they will have to be trained and will not be available for the ministry for some years, during which, owing to old age and death, the existing clergy will become increasingly insufficient. Here is a serious situation, which must be accepted. It may well prove disastrous, unless lay men and women realize more than in the past, their responsibility for the greater part of the work and witness of the Church.

FOR the past twenty years the Churches have been taking a large interest in politics, economics and citizenship. The aloofness of a hundred years ago, when but few voices, and those only of individuals, were raised in protest against child labour, miserable wages, slum dwellings, and the like, is wholly a thing of the past. But undoubtedly the elevation of Dr. William Temple to the Archbishopric of Canterbury two years ago has greatly quickened the pace. There has been a sequence of meetings in important cities, at which he and others have asserted the Lordship of Christ over all departments of life. He has squarely met the criticism that the Church should not meddle in politics by his insistence that since politics is the science of relationships and determines so largely the conditions under which men live, the Church would be false to its responsibilities if it did not insist that politics must be based on Christian principles.

It is so easy to think of politics in terms of party, to think of economics as subservient to money, to think of social service in terms of Government departments, and to lose sight of the one fact that really matters, that they all concern the individual man (and woman) and his opportunity, or lack of it, for developing his personality. Modern science, modern commerce, modern theories of Government must never be allowed to be the master of man's life: they are his servants, to minister to his need, while he himself is a person, a citizen, a worker, a neighbour with a right to fulness of life in body, mind and spirit. It is, of course, possible to criticize the Archbishop and those associated with him, on the ground that he has not the requisite knowledge of technical details, but it is certainly true that he has a great influence through his insistence that it is the principles that underlie politics that matter, and that these must be in accord with the laws of God.

Another hopeful development of recent years is seen in the British Council of Churches. Here the longing of so many people to cross the gulf that separates Church from Church, to unite in the things they hold in common rather than emphasize the things that divide them, and to bear a common witness to God in the problems of daily life, finds an ever increasing expression.

IT was formed in 1942 out of three older bodies, whose work it carries on, and it has four main departments:

(1) That of International Friendship, cultivating relationships and spreading knowledge which will be of great advantage in rebuilding international brotherhood;

(2) That of Social Responsibility, active in thinking out problems of Home, Family, Rural Reconstruction etc.;

(3) That of Youth, inspiring and guiding the Churches in this essential part of their task;

(4) That of Faith and Order, which promotes a world-wide consciousness of the oneness of Christian discipleship.

Latterly, too, the Council has promoted in many places "Religion and Life" Weeks. The main idea of these is to make clear the demands on every individual from the corporate life in which he shares—home, business, local government etc., and the need of uniting men in their various capacities and occupations as Christian citizens with a work and a witness to give. In many places these "Weeks" have marked the beginning of a new atmosphere and a more Christian outlook on the problems of life.

THERE is not space to write about the internal reforms in Church life, needed to equip her for post-war work. But in every Church these are being faced. The Church of England for instance is busy in the Church Assembly with legislation necessary for dealing with Clergy who for varied reasons are unsuited to their benefices, with over-large parsonages, and with better distribution of stipends. It is also summoning lay people to new responsibility in evangelism in view of widespread ignorance of the elements of Christian faith. The Free Churches are no less active in facing the facts.

This article is necessarily very incomplete, but at least it witnesses to life and progress. In the critical years after the war, the Churches in England will play no unimportant part in national life.

A Bible Message

And I saw another angel ascending from the east, having the seal of the living God....

After this I beheld, and, lo, a great multitude, which no man could number of all nations, and kindreds, and people and tongues stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands; and cried with a loud voice, saying, Salvation to our God which sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb....

And one of the elders answered, saying unto me, What are these which are arrayed in white robes? and whence came they? and I said unto him, Sir, thou knowest. And he said to me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.

Therefore are they before the throne of God, and serve him day and night in his temple: and he that sitteth on the throne shall dwell among them. They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more; neither shall the sun light on them, nor any heat.

For the Lamb which is in the midst of the throne shall feed them, and shall lead them unto living fountains of waters: and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes. (Rev. 7: 2, 9, 10, 13-17.)

VORACIOUS RATS

On the subject of rats, against which some of the War Agricultural Committees are making a special campaign, it is reckoned by one farmer that a hundred rats will eat the total grain produce of an acre, say, 18 cwt. of wheat, that is (according to a statistician in the Country Gentleman) flour enough to feed nine persons for a year! A ratless Britain would be richer by several millions of pounds a year.—London Spectator.

King Loses Coins

King Victor Emmanuel's valuable collection of coins was stolen from Turin by Fascists and Nazis and is probably dispersed forever, it was revealed today.

The collection was considered one of the finest in the world. Few museums had anything comparable. It had been the King's hobby since childhood and he had written books on coin collection.

For safety the collection had been placed in one of the royal villas near Turin and it was discovered there and seized.—New York Times.

Reserve Army In Post-War On New Basis

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 (CP)—One of the military matters that soon will be settled is the place of the Reserve Army—now buckling down to full indoor winter drill hall activity—in the postwar period.

Maj.-Gen. F. R. Phelan, energetic director-general of the Canadian Home Guard, will say nothing of his own or the army's future. He says that it is a matter of high policy to be given at a proper time by Defense Minister Ralston or the Cabinet.

However, reliable reports have it that Gen. Phelan one of Canada's business-men generals, is anxious to get back to his peacetime Montreal financial information agency after the war and that when he does resign his post will be abolished and the work taken over by the chief of general staff.

This will be part of a general army reorganization with the re-establishment of a non-permanent active militia with emphasis on up-to-date training methods and equipment and real, tough army courses. The Reserve Army is expected to get encouragement after this war in place of the seemingly grudging support it got after the first Great War.

One thing is sure: The army will have plenty of the best equipment to draw from and there is every likelihood that the wide range of weapons from tanks and landing barges to Commando daggers and Sten guns will be used in peacetime training camps after the war.

The question as to whether the veterans will join the Reserve has already been answered in many cities where discharged men have found themselves irresistibly drawn back to the parade ground and the comradeship of arms.

One officer said recently: "When they quit the army they all say it's the last time they want to see a uniform. I know, because I said the same thing after the last war. But in about six months' time they start coming around the armouries, and the first thing you know they've got on sergeant stripes and are bawling out commands."

Sixteen Blood Donors Attend Belleville Clinic

MARMORA, Oct. 23—(ENS)—Marmora and district's contribution to the Belleville Blood Donors Clinic on Sunday was made by sixteen donors.

The total donations at the Clinic for the day were approximately 155. Other outlying places besides Marmora which were well represented included Stirling, Bloomfield and Warkworth. Ervin Badour was the second local donor to receive his pin for the tenth donation. As a result of Sunday's donations, the number of local donors was increased to 262.

Those donating were: Ervin Badour 10, Douglas Stocker 7, Charles Ray Brown 7, Ralph Neal 7, Joseph O'Neill 7, Fred Mumby 7, Donald Richardson 7, Gordon Scott 6, Joseph Lashawa 5, Donald Marett 4, Mallory Knox 4, John Paranuik 3, William Neal 3, Harold Dalton 3, Charles Barrons 2, Mrs. Charles Barrons 1.

Canadian Mosquito Planes Glorified In New Film

OTTAWA, Oct. 23. — Canada's contribution to world air-power has been significant, not only from the viewpoint of training of manpower, but also from that of aircraft production. One of the Dominion's greatest contributions to the Allied war in the air is the Mosquito, the deadliest of all intruder aircraft and powerful air weapon. Unarmed, the Mosquito can operate as a bomber carrying 4,000 pounds of bombs. Armed, it becomes a night or day intruder or a photographic reconnaissance unit aircraft. It can outfly the fastest enemy craft, usually flying low to avoid flak, but also to dodge balloon cables and chimneys.

The Mosquito's greatest assets are its speed and manoeuvreability, made posible by its construction, which is almost entirely of wood. The plane's tremendous speed requires split-second timing, in the takeoff and landing in low-flying tactics, demanding top ability from the men who fly it.

Not only Canadians, but airmen all over the world revere the Mosquito. The story of this amazing craft, its construction from plywood strong as sheet metal, the training of its crews, its astounding action in battle, is told in the National Film Board production, "Mosquito Squadron," released in the Canada Carries On series. This film follows the story from the pound of the axe in the forests of the Dominion through the unique construction operations, the intense training at an eastern school, to battle.

Logs come from the forest to be softened by steam to allow a razor-sharp knife to shave paper-thin sheets of wood from it. From these thin, weak sheets, strong, sleek plywood is made and formed into the fuselage and wings of the Mosquito.

No. 36 Operational Training School, at Greenwood, N.S., is where the crews are trained, most of the students being veteran airmen with enviable records in war, some of them with decorations. The instructors are all veterans of the air war. These men get to know each other and study, fly and fight as teams. At the school, they team up, to stay together on into the skies over enemy teritory.

"Mosquito Squadron" is enhanced by the appearance of several outstanding airmen at Greenwood, including Squadron Leader Stewart of Calgary, chief flying instructor at the school; Sqdn. Ldr. Henney of England, chief ground instructor; Flying Officer Ross Rowland of Moncton, former newspaperman and radio announcer who returned from flying Bostons and Beaufighters to learn the intricate and exacting flight of the Mosquito; Pilot Officer Peter Wood, D.F.C., of London, England, with an extensive record of combat experience, and others.

W.I. Planning Auction Sale

HAVELOCK, Oct. 23.—(ENS).—At the October meeting of the Belmont Women's Institute it was decided to hold their annual auction sale November 1, the proceeds of which are to be utilized to provide boxes for the boys from that district overseas.

All articles for the sale are donated and cover a large variety of items and it is expected that auctioneer G. Andrews will be present to conduct the sale. Mrs. J. H. Toms, Mrs. F. Elmhurst and Mrs. R. Wrightly were appointed a committee to receive donations.

The president, Mrs. George Hartin, was appointed delegate to attend the Women's convention in the Royal York hotel in Toronto in November. The roll call was answered by giving a remedy for burns or poison.

The balance of the afternoon was spent in quilting and it was decided to hold a quilting November 2. Lunch was served at the close, the hostesses being Mrs. G. Smith, Mrs. H. King, Mrs. J. H. Toms and Mrs. H. Salter.

Report Brothers War Casualties

COE HILL, Oct. 23.— (ENS).—Paratrooper Morris Woodbeck, age 28, son of Mrs. Chas. Woodbeck, of Owenbrook and the late Chas. Woodbeck, was reported missing in the D-Day invasion. Paratrooper Woodbeck trained at Camp Borden, and Fort Benning, Georgia, before going overseas in 1942.

Pte. Irwin Woodbeck, his brother, age 24, is reported as killed in action on October 4, in Belgium. Pte. Irwin Woodbeck trained with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and later, while in England was transferred to the Lake Superior Regiment. He went overseas in July, 1944.

The two brothers are survived by their mother, Mrs. Chas. Woodbeck, and seven sisters and one brother. They are: Mrs. James Walk, Owenbrook; Mrs. Harold Landon, Coe Hill; Mrs. Walter Peacock, Toronto; Mrs. Edward Bullock, Peterborough; Misses Winnie Woodbeck, Peterborough; Philys and Maurine at home; Royce at home, and a brother-in-law, Pte. Walter Peacock, of Toronto. The latter is serving with the R.C.A.S.C. in Belgium.

Oshawa Students Defeat P.C.V.S. 13 to 6

The Oshawa Collegiate and Vocational Institute senior rugby team handed P.C.V.S. seniors their first defeat of the season in league competition at Oshawa on Saturday afternoon by a score of 13-6. As Bowmanville defeated Lindsay 33-1 in Bowmanville, the senior group of the Lake Ontario district of the C.O.S.S.A. has three teams tied for first place with two wins and one loss.

At Oshawa, the home team was quick to take advantage of Peterborough's early game nervousness and capitalized on fumbles and a bad third down snap to take a 13-0 lead. It took until the last quarter for the courageous Peterborough boys to finally carry the ball across the Oshawa goal-line for a converted touchdown. A series of penalties to the home club had helped carry play to the Oshawa five-yard line with Peterborough in possession. Jack Matthews then scampered across the goal-line on an end run, but a Peterborough offside erased the score. Not downhearted P.C.V.S. tried again and this time were successful when Jack Sisson received Red Outram's forward pass behind the Oshawa goal-posts. Outram then kicked the convert from placement.

Peterborough elected to kick-off to open the game and kicked short into the wind. Oshawa's first towering wind-blown punt was fumbled to give the homesters possession on the P.C.V.S. thirty. Oshawa kicked again, this time behind the Peterborough goal-line, but a no yards penalty cancelled the score and gave P.C.V.S. possession on its own ten. Failing to gain yards on two running plays, Peterborough was forced to kick. The snap went high over Estlick's head on kick formation to give Oshawa possession one yard out. On the first down Oshawa went over for a touchdown which was converted, making the score 6-0.

Lose On Fumble.

Peterborough again decided to kick off, but once again a fumble on an Oshawa kick gave O.C.V.I. possession in Peterborough territory. An exchange of kicks left Oshawa in position to score a single point on a kick to the deadline.

With play still in the P.C.V.S. end of the field, Oshawa again punted high behind the visitors' goal-line, where the ball was dropped once more by the jittery Peterborough team. An alert O.C.V.I. end fell on the ball for a major score. A successful convert brought the score to 13-0 at the quarter.

With the changing of sides, the visitors were favored with the wind at their backs and settled down to play better football. However, it was not until the last quarter that any appreciable dent was made in the O.C.V.I. defences and then it was too late to overcome the costly first period mistakes.

For Oshawa, Seeley threw several completed forward passes into the flat zone to the right, while Dell crashed for many ground gaining plays, through the right side of the P.C.V.S. line.

Once over first-quarter nervousness the whole Peterborough team played well and give promise of a battle royal November 11th, when Oshawa pay a visit to Riverside Park in a game which may easily decide the Lakeshore title.

The teams:

Oshawa—Snap, McColm; insides, Brown and Chant; middles, Lindsay and Joyce; outsides, Fleming and Wales; quarter, Bird; halves: Wallace, Dell, Seeley; flying wing, Reddoch; alternates: Hanna, Kerr, Mozewsky, Panke, Anderson, Gilbert, Rundle, and Patte.

Peterborough—Snap, Scott; insides, Browne and Paterson; middles, Lech and Graham; outsides, Davis and Smith; quarter, Sisson; halves: Outram, Robinson and Matthews; flying wing, Thompson; alternates: De la Plante, Loftus, Estlick, Hinton and Frise.

Peterborough juniors lost their second game of the season Saturday when Toronto Vikings handed them a 26 to 0 beating before a good crowd at Riverside Park. Lack of experience was a factor that hurt the Petes badly. They were offside frequently, balled up some of their plays and fumbled at critical moments and the result was that Vikings who proved to be real opportunists cashed in on these errors of omission and commission. The Toronto team had three or four outstanding performers. The little flying wing, Mazur, who weighs only 120 pounds but makes up for his lack of poundage by an abundance of speed was perhaps the star of the game, alhough Studd, the visiting quarterback was not far behind in the all-round excellence of his play. Mazur scored three touchdowns, one by knifing through the Peterborough line, the second on a fine run after taking a basketball lateral pass from Studd and the third by a Marty Marion grab of a long forward toss behind the Petes' line. Studd set the homesters back on their heels early by scooping up a fumbled ball and dashing 60 yards for a touchdown and later he tore off a number of fine runs. In addition he forward-passed well and defensively did a big job in intercepting the Petes' aerial attack.

Ron Hodson was the best performer for the Petes. He kicked well, forward-passed to advantage and was the homesters' best ball carrier. But on the whole the local team's ragged play indicated that possibly attendance at practices has not been as faithful as it should have been. Unfamiliarity with the rules explained the number of offsides and fumbling and balled-up plays were obviously the result of insufficient training. You cannot run through plays smartly or handle the ball cleanly without regular practice and it looked Saturday as if some of the Petes had been missing the workouts. On top of that there was a tendency to rough it a bit along the line. It is all right to learn to take care of yourself but there is more to football and to linework than playing commando with the opposition. There is not much profit in getting a little the better of the personal argument, if while you are doing that the opposing team is running plays through and around you. That is a lesson the Peterborough youngsters might as well learn now. What happened to them Saturday should help considerably in driving that lesson home.

Collegiate Beaten

A bad combination to run into on the football field is a team with a kicker who can boot them 60 yards or better with the wind and with a plunger or two who can get considerable yardage on the ground when playing against the breeze. That was the setup P.C.V.S. seniors encountered in Oshawa Saturday and it proved just a little too tough to handle In other words Oshawa Collegiate won the argument 13 to 6 and as a result Peterborough, Oshawa and Bowmanville High who beat Lindsay Saturday are all tied for first place with two wins and one loss each. A fumble early in the game on their own 10 yard line put the Petes behind the eight ball for Oshawa cashed in with a touchdown which was converted. Before half time they added another converted try and a single to lead 13 to 0 at the half. P.C.V.S. made it a battle all the way through the last half and were finally rewarded with a forward-pass touchdown late in the fourth quarter. Oshawa's kicking and the effective plunging of a giant middle wing who was pulled back to do the bucking were the principal factors in the defeat of the Peterborough students. The latter are confident that they can revenge that loss when Oshawa visits here on November 11. Meanwhile they have a home game here Saturday with Lindsay as the opposition.

Balmy Beach who flashed into public attention last week as a possible contender for the O.R.F.U. senior title after they had massacred the Trojans 33 to 0 in Ottawa proved Saturday that their sudden designation as a menace to the Wildcats was not misplaced by beating the Hamilton team at Varsity Stadium 10 to 4. The fact that the public was hungry for good football was shown by an attendance of 14,000 fans to see the Wildcats absorb their first loss in two seasons. The $64 question during the past week had been "Can the Bammies stop Joe Krol," and the Beachers answered Saturday with an emphatic "Yes." They didn't keep the Hamilton ace off the score sheet for he kicked a field goal and got a single point off another attempt that misfired but on the whole Krol was kept fairly well under control by a hard-charging Beach line and the good kicking of Sammy Sward and a fumble by Mister Football himself did the rest. The rise of the Bammies is a great thing for football. Wildcats looked so much like repeating without too much of a struggle that the advent of another powerful club likely to cause trouble in the playoffs makes all the difference between a dud season and a successful campaign. Wildcats are not beaten yet of course but the Beaches showed Saturday that the final series should produce a lot of hard and fast football.

They Didn't Stay

Ken Colling in his Belleville sport column tells how close the Petes back in 1941 were to running into a Belleville Reliance Club much tougher than the one the local outfit eliminated in the group finals. Here is a bit of hockey history about which little or nothing was known here at the time, although it was known that Tom Burlington had been in Belleville: "The Chicago Black Hawks had the last laugh on their rivals when they drafted Pete Horeck, 21-year-old right-winger of the Cleveland Barons and leading scorer in the American Hockey League last winter....At least two other National League teams by-passed the young man because they knew he was to be called for military service in Canada...."Well, we took a flyer," laughed President Bill Tobin of the Hawks in telling the story. "Sure enough Horeck got his call but was rejected and so will be wearing a Hawk uniform next winter....In 1941 Horeck played second base with the Reliance softball team here during which time Kennie Soden and company had hoped to induce the speedy Pete to remain here and display his puck wares with the local Senior club the following winter... However, Horeck had other ideas and moved to Cleveland to join Tom Burlington, another player who didn't play here....With Horeck and Burlington in the camp, the Reliance could have copped the Intermediate crown that year, instead of the Petes."

After a successful soccer schedule in the Public Schools, Central eleven won first place, with King Edward in second spot and the two aggregations playing a best-of-three series for the school championship. The first game was played last Thursday afternoon finishing in a one-all tie. King Edward had the feeling of confidence in a sure win until the last minute of play when Brooks, Central, accepted a nice pass along the wing from Tom Hum, Chinese boy. He carried the ball into the corner and sent a lightning drive into the centre of goal where Whitnall connected quickly with a first-timer that sent the ball in below the cross-bar for the equalizer with a half-minute to play. The second game will be played on Nicholls Oval on Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock. Prince of Wales won the championship last year. Toronto Team Whitewashes Peterboro Crew

Sparked by a swivel-hipped quarterback who ran the ends like a scared cat and a 120-pound flying wing who scored three touchdowns Toronto Vikings carried too much scoring punch for the Peterborough juniors in Saturday's game at Riverside Park and won handily by 26 to 0.

Most of the damage was done in the first half. The Peterborough team was knocked back on its heels by an early disaster when Studd, flashy Toronto quarter, snapped up a loose ball on a Peterborough fumble and ran 60 yards untouched for an easy try. The local youngsters didn't recover from the shock until the third period. By that time Vikings were leading 21 to 0 and the best the homesters could do about it was to hold the invaders scoreless for most of the second half, yielding a fifth touchdown in the closing moments of play on an intercepted forward.

Although the Peterborough team had its moments they were guilty of too much sloppy football to hope to hold a bunch of opportunists like the Vikings in check. Frequent offsides and a number of fumbles were costly, for the visitors had the punch to cash in on scoring opportunities.

Albert Mazur, tackweight flying wing, Studd, a fast-moving quarterback who did everything well and Berbard, a big and speedy half back, were the backfield stars and contributed most of the team's ground gaining behind a forward wall that blocked well and gave their ball-carriers plenty of protection. Mazur scored three touchdowns and was aways a threat, while Studd carried the ball for big gains and Berbard also was hard to stop.

For the Petes Ron Hodson stood out, not only because of his good kicking but also for some brilliant running and good passing. Lynch, Shadgett and Dugan were about the pick of the rest of the squad.

A Bad Break

Vikings kicked off and the Petes started well by twice making yards and working the ball up past the mid-field stripe before disaster hit. They tried an extension there, the ball was fumbled, Studd pounced on it, scooped it up and was in full flight down the field before the homesters knew what had happened. No one got near the fast Toronto quarter as he sprinted down the gridiron for a touchdown, which was not converted. That was a lucky major but the next one coming shortly afterward was well-earned. With the ball on Toronto's 40-yard line, Studd tossed a 25-yard forward to Berbard who went 10 more before being downed. On the next play Berbard circled the Petes' right end on an extension for 10 yards more and then Mazur knifed through the line for a touchdown, which was not converted, to make the count 10 to 0.

Early in the second period a long kick by Studd carried the play into Peterborough territory and the homesters lost the ball for interference. Again Vikings were quick to strike and on a lateral pass from Studd, Mazur went round the Petes' right end for a try. The attempt at converting failed.

The Petes again were guilty of illegal tactics on the runback of the Toronto kickoff and once more lost possession in their own territory. It was costly for after a couple of Viking plunges Spiers faded back to the Petes 35 yard line and drilled a long forward pass which Mazur took a foot from the ground back of the homesters' goal line, a great play at both ends. Tollievi converted with a goal from placement and the visitors were in front 21 to 0.

Petes Fight Back

After the rest the Petes looked like a different team, Vikings kicked off to start the third period and the homesters uncorked a couple of beautiful forward passes, Hodson shooting the first to Shadgett and Roberts tossing the second to Dugan to carry the play well into Toronto territory and the Petes kept it there for most of the period. They could easily have kicked over for a couple of singles but touchdowns were the only thing that would have helped much and so they kept shooting for majors, only to have something go wrong. Finally Studd relieved the situation for his team by racing around the Petes left end and then cutting across field to dodge three or four more tackles before being dragged down after he had gained 40 yards.

Play was fairly even in the final 15 minutes with both teams taking to the air frequently and with the ball changing hands frequently on interceptions. Neither goal line was seriously threatened and it looked like another scoreless stanza until the last couple of minutes of play when Berbard intercepted a long forward at the Petes' 35-yard line and made a brilliant run for a touchdown that was not converted, leaving the final count 26 to 0.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.— (AP).—It's beginning to look as if V-Day in the war would be M-Day in the battle of pro football....Although the All America (Arch Ward) League served notice from the start that it wouldn't recognize National League "draft" lists, some National Leaguers are showing signs of annoyance because of the signing of Bill Daley, Paul Governali and Glenn Dobbs, whom they had regarded as their own property....There have been other rumblings, which may come partly from personal feuds, but the other day one of the A.A. franchise owners remarked that his league would come through because its backers were "men of established reputation and financially able to weather four or five losing seasons."....That, with a few other pointed remarks tossed in, sounds as if he was looking for a scrap with the old league as well as the other new ones.

It Burned Him Up.

A new (to us) bowling alibi was offered recently by Connie Constance of Seattle, Wash.—He got "too hot"....Trying to convert a spare on the last frame. Connie bumped his leg as he delivered the ball, ignited some matches in his pocket and dropped the ball....As a result, he missed the spare, a 200 game and a 600 series and his team lost by a single pin.

Buffalo Bisons Down Hershey Bears

By The Canadian Press

Buffalo Bisons, champions of the American Hockey League, downed Hershey Bears 5-2 last night in their home opener game. League President Maurice Podoloff presented the Bisons with the Calder Memorial Cup, league championship trophy, before the game.

The Bears, Saturday, had outscored Providence Reds 5-3 in the opening game of the A.H.L. season on Hershey ice before 7,200 fans.

At Providence last night, Pittsburgh Hornets easily overwhelmed their younger and less experienced opponents to pin an 8-4 victory over the Reds. It was Pittsburgh's third straight victory of the A.H.L. season, having downed Buffalo Bisons 5-2 on their home ice Saturday.

Saturday, Indianapolis Capitals went down 3-1 before the Cleveland's Barons who tied Pittsburgh Hornets for the Western Division lead.

CASTILLOUX TRIMS MEXICAN—Dave Castilloux of Montreal, holder of the Canadian lightweight and welterweight titles, evened his score with Joey Peralta of Mexico before a crowd of 7,000 in Montreal when he pounded out a 12-round decision. Castilloux weighed 136 pounds, two less than the Mexican.

Training Camp Gossip

By The Canadian Press

The daily grind at the training camps is gradually coming to a close and with only five more days until the N.H.L. gets under way, rosters of the teams are being whittled as coaches watch their aspirants perform in exhibition contests.

Whether candidates for regular berths will get the "axe" in a body or one at a time is problematical, but amateurs and a number of others brought in for trial from the American Hockey League are showing their way in the goal-scoring column.

Fred Thurier and Fred Hunt, taken from the A.H.L. into training sessions by Lester Patrick, sparked Rangers to a 6-4 victory over an Air Force team at Winnipeg Saturday. Thurier netted two and Hunt one. Bob Dill and Ab Demarco also a former A.H.L. marksman each counted once.

Ace Centre Bill Cowley of Boston Bruins may be headed for another big season. The classy stickhandler who won the Hart Trophy in 1940-41, was on the injured list most of last season. He tallied twice as Bruins defeated H.M.C.S. Montcalm at Quebec Saturday night.

Calladine Gets Two

Dick Irvin isn't saying much about his Canadiens, although the 1943-44 champions scored a 5-4 victory over an all-star squad made up of Canadien and Quebec Senior League players in their first exhibition game. Toe Blake, Elmer Lach and Maurice Richard, the "big line" proved effective in the pinches.

Canadiens' officials announced that Bill Durnan will be eligible for their net-minding job this season and that Paul Bibeault also will be retained by the club.

Jack Adams took a very grave view of Carl Liscombe, top scorer of last season, going pheasant hunting last Saturday instead of showing up for training. Result: Carl warmed the bench for 40 minutes of Sunday's exhibition game with Cleveland Barons and then watched the third period from the stands—dressed in street attire. Jud McAtee of Stratford, Ont., was playing in Carl's position. Note: The Wings won 8-2.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

Ridley College of St. Catharines, defending champions, defeated Upper Canada College 25-16 at Toronto Saturday in the opening game of the Little Big Four Football League. Ridley led 13-6 at the half on the strength of two converted touchdowns and a kick to a converted touch for upper Canada.

Hamilton Beavers won the Ontario Senior "A" softball title Saturday, defeating Peoples, 7-1 in the seventh game of the O.S.A. final series. The game was decided in the second inning when two costly infield errors pave the way for five Hamilton runs. Russ Johnson kept Peoples' six hits well scattered to turn in his fourth victory of the series.

Scottish defeated John Inglis 2-1 Saturday to win the Toronto Senior Soccer League championship in one of the roughest games seen at the Queen City.

Rankine Wins

Robert (Scotty) Rankine, sergeant in the R.C.A.F. at Toronto, Saturday won the annual Army and Navy Veterans 19-mile road race at Hamilton for the sixth time in seven attempts. His time was 1 hour 52 minutes 40 seconds. L. Cpl. Alistair Cameron of Newmarket, N.B., competing in the event for the first time, finished second. Walter Fedorick, Hamilton, placed third and Walter (Whitey) Sheridan, also of this city was fourth. LAC. AB Morton of Galt, Ont., was fifth.

Mrs. K. Bibby, secretary of the Ontario Women's Basketball Association, announced last night that the annual meeting of the organization will be held in Toronto next Saturday night, Oct. 28.

The mysterious lady in red who has been getting in the hair of New England horse tracks by plunging on favorites to show, returned to Rockingham Park Saturday and added to her earnings by wagering $7,000 that Pete's bet would show in the second race. She picked up a quick profit of $700 when Pete's Bet finished second.

Beaches Defeat Hamilton; Krol Hogtied

(By The Canadian Press

Toronto Balmy Beach football team offered proof in Toronto Saturday that the way to defeat the seemingly invincible Hamilton Wildcats was to stop Joe Krol.

In the first Ontario Rugby Football Union clash between the two teams this season, Beaches hammered the starry Hamilton back incessantly, stopped him from breaking away on any of his long dodging runs and came up with their fourth straight victory of the season by a 10-4 margin in a bitterly-contested game which was attended by 16,000 fans, largest crowd of the season.

The victory left Beaches the only undefeated team in Ontario and gave them a first-place tie in the Ontario Union standing with the Wildcats who had won their first four starts of the year from Ottawa Trojans and Toronto Indians. The Toronto team has played one less game.

In Saturday's other O.R.F.U. game at Ottawa, the Trojans won their last home stand of the season 21-0 over Indians for whom it was the sixth defeat in as many games. Trojans, who have one game to play with Beaches, lost their last mathematical chance of reaching the second-place play-off spot through the Toronto team's win over Hamilton. It was the last game of the season for Indians who wind up in the cellar.

Navy In Front

Toronto Navy Bulldogs moved out in front in the Ontario Armed Services League race again with a 14-5 conquest of St. Thomas R.C.A.F. Hornets at London while Hagersville R.C.A.F. Bombers and Camp Borden R.C.A.F. Hurricanes played in the first tie game of the season at Hamilton, the score being 6-6. Bombers are in second place, one point behind Navy, while the third-place Hurricanes are two points behind Hagersville. It was the fifth straight loss for St. Thomas.

Krol was both a goat and a hero for Hamilton. He fumbled the ball when tackled viciously by four Beach players early in the game to enable Harry Sonshine to pounce on the loose ball for a touchdown and he also tallied all four of his team's points on a field goal and a single. The other five Beach points went to Earl Selkirk who got three with a field goal and to Sam Sward who kicked two singles.

Weather Cold

George Fraser, Ottawa's veteran inside wing and placement kicking artist led the scoring parade at the capital. He had six points, kicking one field goal and converting touchdowns by Tommy Daley, Arnie McWatters and Jack Mowatt. Only 500 fans braved the cold weather.

Quarterback LAC. Bobby Porter led the Hurricanes to their tie with Bombers. Hagersville forged to the front in the first quarter on a touchdown by LAC. Reg Boviard which was converted by LAC. Doug Smylie. Porter scored a single in the second quarter, two more in the third and woundup his one-man scoring act with a field goal for three points in the fourth.

LS. Annis Stukus headed a Navy scoring drive in the London game, kicking two field goals, a single and a convert for eight points. OS. Byron Karrys scored a touchdown and OS. Royal Copeland kicked a single. LAC. Rat (Moon) Mullins was the St. Thomas point-getter with a field goal and two singles. Navy didn't take the lead until the last quarter. St. Thomas led 2-1 at the end of the first quarter, 5-1 after the second and 5-4 after the third but they were unable to beat off the persistent attacks of the Toronto team.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 23 — (CP). — Back in 1941 when Britt Jessup was sports editor of the North Bay Daily Nugget he campaigned for a new system of rating hockey goaltenders by the percentage of pucks they let by, rather than the total number of goals scored against them as is done now in determining the Vezina Trophy winner in the N.H.L. each year.

Britt is in the R.C.A.F., stationed in Toronto now, but still has the same ideas about the subject, which has much to commend it. It's the same as any other innovation or change, there are arguments on both sides, with the status quo usually having nine-tenths of the law.

The way the system would work is like this: To take a simple example, supposing one goalie had 200 shots fired at him and let 50 get by, while the other chappie had 250 shots to handle and allowed 35 to trickle by him. If they had each played the same number of games, the first goalie on the surface would appear to be the better man, since he allowed fewer goals.

But a bit of slide-rule fumbling would show his percentage of goals allowed was .250, while the second man would have a lower percentage of .220, because he stopped a higher proportion of the shots on goal.

Where that system of rating goalies would pay big dividends would be in the case of a weak team that failed to give its netminder much protection, and let him sweat it out in front of a heavy barrage. Take Ken MaAuley of the New York Rangers last year, for example. He allowed more goals than any other goalie, but there were plenty who agreed he was one of the best netminders in the league. The protection Rangers put up in front of him practically wasn't there, and it was just an ordinary evening's chore for him to handle 45 or 50 pucks.

Prime objection to the system is the extra bookkeeping it would entail for the scorers, keeping track of the shots on goal. But hockey statisticians have an easy time of it, compared with the way their brethren in baseball have to work. The fans take quite an interest in figures, averages, and the like, and the time may come when hockey will blossom out more in this line.

The percentage system might also be worked out to evaluate the goal scorers, perhaps with interesting results. If records were kept of the number of shots each player took at opposing goalies and percentage of goals they scored, it might not prove too much, but would show who was carrying the ball most of the time. Then, if those fellows who don't do much actual goal-getting, but set up plays for the other fellows, were given credit for assists in determining their goal average, it would give them quite a high mark and point up their value more than the present system does.

It would require quite a complicated set-up to keep track of all those details in a fast-moving game like hockey, but as said before, the customers like statistics—they are so interesting to argue over during the off-season months.

Quebec Youths Told Ignore Call-up

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 — (CP). — Lt.-Col. A. L. Normandin, officer commanding Ottawa area recruiting headquarters, said in an interview today on his return from a tour through Northern Quebec that in the Noranda district "several prominent men" were "openly counselling" young men not to enlist in the army or answer their military call-ups.

"Several prominent men in the district are openly counselling young men to disobey the law," said Col. Normandin. "Action has already been taken against some of these, and action will be taken against others if they persist in their illegal and unpatriotic efforts."

During the recruiting tour many young men applied for enlistment, Col. Normandin said. However, a number of young men 18½ years and older still were walking the streets, refusing to answer their call-up notices and listening to the advice of those who told them not to enlist.

"The counsellors of these young men are advising them on a course which brings them only dishonor and renders them liable to arrest, fine and imprisonment," said Col. Normandin.

On the tour he was accompanied by Lieut. J. Harel of the Canadian Women's Army Corps. Miss Harel made arrangements through a "prominent official" to address a women's organization.

She went to the convention hall, but was refused permission to deliver her message to the meeting and was ordered to leave the building, Col. Normandin said.

Before leaving the area he delivered a radio address and told of the opposition to recruiting which he had met. Later he felt that the situation had shown some improvements.

Mounties Check Arctic Murder

FORT SELKIRK, Y.T., Oct. 23—(CP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers are investigating today a grim tale of murder in the rapidly freezing Yukon Territory.

Oscar Adami, white trapper, arrived at Fort Selkirk, Oct. 15 in a small gas boat from his home at Kalzas Creek, 125 miles east of here, to report the mysterious shooting Oct. 13 of Mary Isaac, an Indian girl, and the wounding of her father, Tom Isaac, at their home three miles from Kalzas Creek. Adami told police he had been informed of the shooting by Magdalene Isaac, wife of Isaac.

Flown to the scene of the crime police removed Isaac to hospital at White Horse. Later, while searching the bush on the banks of the Pelly River at Kalzas Creek the officers discovered a water-logged canoe tie to a log. A short distance further Adami, who was acting as a guide, stumbled over the decomposed body of a white man. Near-by lay a rifle.

A note addressed to police and dated Aug. 26 said that he and some Indians had been set upon by an unidentified man and pleaded for an inquest into his death. The note was simply signed Peter.

Mission Band Has Fall Rally

MILLBROOK, Oct. 23—(ENS)—The Sunshine Mission Band held its fall rally Friday afternoon at the parsonage, the guest speaker being Mrs. R. Hanscom, Presbyterial Band secretary of Peterborough, who presented many practical ideas for the year's study, and the leader's instruction.

Mrs. D. L. Dunn was in charge, telling a thanksgiving story from an Indian boy's viewpoint, the associate leader, Margaret Smith, presiding at the piano. The Fall thankoffering envelopes were given out, and attention called to the posters which Mrs. Hanscom had placed about the room illustrating Mission Band features. In her address, Mrs. Hanscom introduced the new study book, "Tommy Two-Wheels," explaining that Tommy was one of the evacuated English children who stayed with his aunt at Santa Barbara, California. His father was a pilot in the air force, and Tommy had a paper route and so, on his bicycle, visited many different homes, and kinds of people.

Handwork for the children in connection with the story was shown in illustrated form, and World Friends was mentioned as obligatory for the Band leader, the senior Auxiliary being responsible for providing such literature as is necessary. By means of a large daisy, with the 16 points to be reached in order to be eligible for the certificate of recognition on its petals, the speaker went into details, afterward presenting the poster to Mrs. Lunn for use at each meeting. The colors have this significance: yellow centre, light; white petals, purity; and green leaves, growth. Some new songs were taught, and some ways of having the boys and girls learn peace, and temperance, were a part of Mrs. Hanscom's informative talk.

In conclusion the guest speaker told that the thankoffering this fall will go to help a United mission at Sidney, Cape Breton Island; to All People's Church, Hamilton; and to pay the salary of a boys' worker.

GUEST SPEAKER.

V. C. Phelan, Director of Information for the Department of Labor, and president for 20 years of the Civilian Service Federation of Canada, will address a meeting of the Civil Service Federation of Peterborough and district on Wednesday evening in the Council Chamber at 8 p.m. Mr. Phelan has been attending the convention of the Postal Employees in Toronto.

TRAFFIC SIGNS

Philadelphia traffic signs which appealed to Alderman Dutton in his travels last week substituted the directives: Stop; Wait; Walk; for the universal colors. He felt there was more action emphasis in the words than in the green, yellow and red colors. Another impression he gleaned was that people appear to bolster the orders of the signs by their own warnings to others who may be forgetting them or inattentive.

DIES AT BORDEN — Robert Bertram Munro, meteorological expert at Camp Borden, died after an accident there. He was on loan to the R.C.A.F. from the Department of Transport, and is the son of Mrs. Annie E. Munro and the late M. D. Nihill Munro, 580 George street.

NATURE OF INJURIES.

Pte. Donald Ada, who was previously reported injured while serving in Italy, is now reported to have had both ear drums perforated from a concussion wound. His wife lives at 771 Water Street.

FOOT WOUND.

Pte. Ralph McKenzie King Tully, whose wife lives in London, England, is still in an English hospital after suffering a foot wound September 1 in France, according to information reaching his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. Tully, of the Port Hope Highway. Shrapnel from an exploding .88 mm. shell caused the wound.

BACK TO BOWMANVILLE

A charge against a 12-year-old Collingwood boy of breaking and entering the Stedman store was withdrawn in juvenile court this morning. Crown Attorney McElderry said that the boy was being taken back by the Bowmanville Training School, and that the charge was being withdrawn because of the age of the lad.

HIT-AND-RUN

Police are searching today for two hit-and-run machines involved in accidents Saturday. One automobile struck a parked car owned by Rufus Payne, Water street, and proceeded north of Water street at a fast rate without stopping. The other crashed into a Hydro pole on Murray street, breaking it off. This vehicle also left the scene of the accident without stopping.

SHOOTS WOLF IN CAVAN.

Three fox hunters operating about four miles west of Fraserville along R.R. 1, had the unusual experience of finding their fox hounds close on the heels of a wolf. Two shots were required before the wolf was bowled over. It was a female, not full grown, and is the first wolf to be shot in Cavan township in many years. The three, Cliff Williamson, Donegal street, Peterborough, Isaac Wood of Fraserville and Wilfred Reynolds of R.R. 1, Fraserville, were hunting on the latter's farm on Saturday.

Highlander Wounded In Dawn Assault

"It's nothing to worry about, just a crease in the back of my head from a bullet while out on a dawn attack", writes Pte. Alvin C. Dolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Dolan, 492 Dickson street, describing the wound he received while fighting with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders October 10, in France.

"I've only been in the hospital 24 hours", he wrote, in a letter received Saturday, preceding the official telegram received by his parents, "but it's so quiet here, I wish I was back in the fight." The letter indicated that he will be out of the hospital soon!

Twenty-five years of age, Pte. Dolan is one of five sons serving in Canada's armed forces. He left the C.G.E. to enlist with the S. D. and G. Highlanders in June 1940, and went overseas in July of the next year. He went ashore with that regiment during the early hours of D-Day, and has been fighting there ever since.

Dominion Woollens Employees Give $150 To Christmas Fund

While one would hardly wish to advocate anything of an evil nature in order that some good might follow, it does however remain a proven fact that from out of wickedness of almost any kind, some good in some shape or form has emerged that has proved of some advantage in a general way, where both were concerned with things of a public nature.

General experience during the past five years in regard to public welfare work in this city, combined with the many added opportunities for war service in the same field, has shown the distinct advantages that come from a unity of purpose amongst all groups of any size at all, when by placing themselves on a budget system of a small voluntary weekly contribution, big things have been made possible through their unity in this particular.

Coming down to individual groups and just how well such a system has proven of real merit, one has only to point to the experience of the employees in the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds, Ltd., who were among the very first, if not the first, to operate a Community Fund of their own, so as to be in a position to take care of the many calls that from time to time are made upon all loyal citizens, to assist in the many ways that the tragedy of war has forced upon a peace-loving people.

To the leaders of this movement in this particular instance, and the many others in similar movements in what has now become a general usage where any sizeable group is concerned, much credit is due, and perhaps no better tribute can be paid to the foundations they thus laid, than to add that from out of this experience has emerged something that in all probability will remain for a long period after no more claims of a war nature will be necessary, in order that the needs of lesser fortunate people in the city's own environs may be adequately and more better taken care of than ever before.

The Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund has particular reason to point to this group of Woollens' employees as concerning the success of its own Community Fund, for right at the outset when the fund began to function, their operation of such a fund placed them in a position to make an immediate contribution of a substantial nature, being one of those things which offered so much encouragement, in the strength of which the fund has been going on to roll up a record on behalf of the citizens that is truly a credit to them all.

The old saying that "he who gives quickly, gives twice," resounds with added force where this group is concerned in the annals of the fund's operations, for one each and every occasion that an appeal has been made to them in a direct manner, they have responded with an alacrity that was spontaneous to the Nth degree. So it once again happens that when the special appeal by letter from the secretary-manager of the fund was given to their leaders, for the special donations now being gathered for this coming Christmas, they again lead the way with a contribution of $75.00 from their own Community Fund, which might well serve as a good omen and forerunner of a success for the whole objective which aims to provide Christmas cheer to homeless boys and girls in Britain.

This, however, only partially tells the story as far as their assistance to the fund on this day is concerned, for the employees of this plant have in reality created a second fund, which represents the profits on their purchases of milk during working hours, which also is allowed to accumulate, from out of which another splendid cheque of $75.00 accompanied the one aforementioned one, to give them a total credit of $750.00 which is a splendid boost for the great cause that the fund keeps working for, and the special objective of the moment.

In giving leadership in this particular war effort of a particularly city and immediate district nature, the fund management is hoping that it will be possible to send what will constitute its greatest single effort to climax its operations, by cabling over the sum of £2,000, requiring some $8,960 in Canadian currency, in order to assist in taking care of the much larger number of people, particularly children, who have been forced out of their own homes through the attacks made by the robot or flying bombs in recent times.

For this purpose it should now be stated that the fund has today the sum of $1,840.89 deposited in the bank when the contributions previously mentioned are included, leaving still a sum of $7,120.00 required to complete the objective mentioned previously in this article.

ENJOY SING-SONG.

It started off with a woman and a song sheet, but before very long, at least half of the people on one of the C.P.R. midnight train coaches were singing heartily Gospel songs and other hymns on Sunday evening and early Monday morning. A group of soldiers augmented the chorus, and several members of the Salvation Army returning from a musical festival, joined in as the songs grew louder with each passing mile.—D.M.

THEY WERE RIGHT

A Peterborough boy experienced an amusing coincidence over the week-end. Suffering one of the severer colds going about town, he was about to hitch-hike to Toronto Saturday afternoon, but business associates ominously warned that if he left town in that state, he would surely ride to Toronto in an ambulance. The unusual happened, and the boy received a ride all the way to Toronto . . . in an ambulance! The driver of the ambulance is still laughing, after learning the circumstances. D. M.

History Textbook Protested By AYPA

SMITHS FALLS, Oct. 23.—At the Saturday afternoon session of the 13th annual provincial conference of the Anglican Young People's Association here a panel discussion on "the Church and Youth" was part of the program. Rev. W. J. Robinson, of Tweed, was chairman and Rev. K. R. Cowan of Combermere, assisted by Miss Jean Giddens of Niagara Falls and Harold Baron, Hamilton, conducted the discussion.

The conference decided to submit a protest to the Department of Education in regard to the reference to the formation of the Church of England in the history textbooks used in the province.

It was also resolved to appoint a member from the executive of the provincial council to keep in touch with the Canadian Youth Commission.

The conference accepted the invitation of Kingston to hold their 1945 meeting in that city.

2 Boys Find Bomb Both Are Killed

By The Canadian Press

Seven persons died in accidents in eastern Canada over the week-end, two of them victims of the explosion of a mortar bomb with which they were playing in the kitchen of their home.

Arnold and Roy McCallum, 12 and 10 years old respectively, were instantly killed Saturday when a mortar bomb exploded in their home near Meaford, Ont., and their mother, Mrs. Charles McCallum, suffered multiple injuries. She was given a good chance for recovery by attendants at Owen Sound General Hospital.

Police said the two-inch mortar bomb had been brought home from the Canadian Army tank range near their home, the boys believing it to be a dud.

Shirley Hurtubise, 10, of Hull, Que., was killed and six other persons were injured when the cars in which they were riding collided Sunday on a highway near Hawkesbury, Ont.

Four Soldiers Named In Casualty List

Four men from the Peterborough district have been reported casualties, according to an official Department of National Defence announcement made today.

Lieutenant William W. White, whose wife lives at 42 Bond street, Lindsay, was listed as killed in action, while serving with a Central Ontario regiment. Pte. William Frank Watts, son of Mrs. Myrtle Watts, 44 Thomas street, Port Hope, was reported "wounded" while on active service with an Eastern Ontario regiment.

Two men were listed as being "slightly wounded," Pte. M. O. Knott, son of Mrs. Margaret Knott, Curve Lake, and Spr. Vincent M. Quinlan, son of Mrs. Theresa Quinlan, R.R. 2, Indian River.

HEAD WOUND—Pte. Alvin C. Dolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Dolan, 492 Dickson street, was grazed in the back of the head by a bullet during a dawn attack, October 10, while serving with the S.D. and G. Highlanders in France.

River Pollution Major Problem

"Pollution of streams by industrial wastes and municipal sewage seems to be a major sanitary problem in the United States," Alderman Dutton commented to the Examiner today in mentioning his trip to Philadelphia last week, attending the municipal sanitation convention with City Engineer Parsons.

"It seemed so me from the discussions in the meetings and outside them that our sanitary problem is negligible compared with theirs. Their larger and longer rivers pass through many cities, and you can readily imagine the extent of the problem of trying to eliminate contamination. They have so many great industrial centres with wastes from their manufacturing processes flowing into the rivers that authorities are giving more thought than ever before to this phase of their problem. And it is a big one."

Pre-treatment of industrial wastes is one of the methods that is being advanced today. Factory effluent would be filtered in one way or another before pouring into the sewers.

Peterborough's problem is concerned with the digestive stage of sewage disposal, and it is expected that the city's two representatives to the convention will have reports to the council on the general practice by cities in both Canada and the United States as they have developed their disposal methods by most recent experience.

Raise $27,450 At Norwood Victory Sale

"Definitely a success," is the way the rural bond auction held in Norwood Town Hall Saturday evening is being described by officials of the Victory Loan committee, pointing out that brisk bidding and an enthusiastic attitude by the people combined to sell a total of $27,450 worth of Victory Bonds. A program of entertainment was lined up for the huge crowds that attended.

Long before proceedings got underway the hall was jammed and standing room space was rapidly taken up. Conducted by Gordon Hancock, the auctioning went off in double-quick time, and the residents bid fast and freely. One of the highlights of the sale was when the cream separator took the spotlight, going for $1,200 in war bonds.

A Peterborough-Brinton rug was raffled for $50 bonds, and this form of salesmanship sold $1,650 worth of bonds. The beautiful rug measured 6' 9" v 9'. The raffle with bonds proved overwhelmingly popular.

A quantity of Quaker pig grower went to the person who bought $1,000 in bonds, and 500 pounds of pig starter cost $800 in bonds. The brisk bidding continued, and a case of peas and a bedspread each went for $500 in Dominion of Canada Victory Bonds, followed by a quantity of calf meal that sold for $700 in bonds. A grease-gun complete with a can of grease brought $900, and a clock went for $200.

A quantity of Ovaltine and a case of tomatoes each sold for $50 in bonds, and hog special and 100 chickens each was presented to the persons investing in Canada to the tune of $150 in war bonds. A pail made $100.

Shown Film

All articles that were auctioned at the sale were donated in the interests of the Victory Loan campaign by public-spirited manufacturers and people in this district.

After the sale entertainment and a free dance held the floor, and E. W. Simpson, a unit organizer, presented sound films dealing with the Seventh War Loan, entitled "If We March By." Mr. Simpson outlined to the crowd the excellent record Norwood has established with regard to each war loan. He urged that the people live up to that achievement by supporting this newest loan to the utmost. Andy Rutter was master of ceremonies for the evening, and many other entertainers were present to display a brilliant program of talent.

Peterborough is reminded that tonight another auction will be held in the town hall at Lakefield, and a dance and entertainment will be a feature. A highlight will be the Camp Borden Band of the C.M.G. T.C. 48th Highlanders, under the direction of W.O.-1 Harry Thompson.

Court Remands Man Accused Of Begging

James O'Regan, charged in police court this morning with having unlawfully begged, had a question for the magistrate.

"Am I guilty of begging if all I did was to sell shoe-laces?" he wanted to know. "That's the quandry I'm in now."

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., said that it was a question that he should not answer at that stage of the proceedings.

"Well, I'll plead not guilty for the present," said O'Regan.

However, when the police asked for a remand until Tuesday the accused changed his mind and said that he wanted to enter a guilty plea.

"I was just passing through to Toronto," he said, "and I thought I would get enough money by selling shoe-laces to pay for a meal or two."

Inspector James F. Reid said that the man had been rather abusive. "He was given 25 cents at one place and came back later and wanted 25 cents more," he said.

O'Regan was remanded until October 27 for sentence. In the meantime the police will investigate his record.

Carriers Buy $1,900 Bonds

With purchases in the last three Victory Loans totalling $4,450 the Examiner's carriers both boys and girls have already in the 7th loan purchased $1,900, Stanley Pogue of the circulation department who is in charge of the canvass announced today.

Three of the carriers have each purchased a $100 bond Mr. Pogue said and he expects before the canvass is completed to have very close to $3,000. Examiner boys and girls were the first newspaper carriers in Canada to purchase Victory Bonds, they also led in War Savings Stamp sales and in securing donors for Blood Donors Clinic.

Over-optimism Is Worrying Loan Officials

The Seventh Victory Loan campaign opened this morning in Peterborough with an undercurrent of uneasiness over the premature successes in the payroll division.

Headquarters was asking the question and was worried about: "What will be the effect in the minds and decision of the general public as they hear of the surplus subscriptions in the payrolls deductions even before our three weeks' drive got under way?"

And to that question they added the statement, "Our concern is about the general sales in the city and county. Here are our objectives: Payroll, $900,000; general sales in city and county, $2,300,000; special names, $1,400,000."

If the people form the opinion from the payroll deductions reports that this Seventh Victory Loan is going to be a pushover, we are likely to build up a sentiment of over-confidence at the very beginning that may become a serious obstacle to the final subscription of $4,600,000 from this "city and county unit" of Peterborough.

Canvass Quickly

The public should know that the industrial groups are in a position to organize their plants thoroughly and also without any lost time, they can make their canvasses quickly and wind up their campaigns while the city and county canvassers are slugging along from house to house, and farm to farm.

Of course, the Victory Loan committee is happy about the rapid results in the payroll deductions division. That is a highly important group of subscribers who are apparently going to bowl their objectives over and get the job done early. It is a pleasant prospect and also an auspicious beginning.

But, what of its repercussions throughout the unorganized part of the community, city and country residents who are being asked to subscribe $2,300,000. This is the figure the committee is trying to resound above the elation in the payroll deductions section. They are shock-troops whose investing power is concentrated and quickly mustered.

Need Individual Support

The general sales division comprises the thousands of individual investors from one end of the country to the other, including the city, and the success of this campaign is going to depend on their subscriptions. They are being asked, as is everybody, to increase their bond buying in this Loan, and a huge part of their investments flows through the hands of the canvassers who are undertaking house to house calls.

Sixth Loan Facts

In the Sixth Victory Loan last spring the objective for the general canvass in the city and county was $2,150,000 and the total subscriptions $2,252,450, exclusive of payroll deductions and the Armed Services.

That means the general canvass has been increased $150,000 because the number of industrial workers is not quite so large as last spring.

LOANS FOR MEN AND WOMEN WHO WORK

Here's a quick, private way to borrow up to $500—
No endorsers required—Repay in monthly instalments that fit your own budget

SHORT of cash? Need $100, $200 or more? Here's a loan plan that can help you solve your problem. You may borrow quickly and privately—and repay on the monthly schedule that suits you best. To apply for the amount you need you merely give us a few facts about yourself and your work. No endorsers or guarantors are ever required. We lend—to men and to women—largely on character and earning ability.

Payments to fit your budget

Notice in the table below that you may repay your loan in 2 to 15 monthly instalments. It's wise to repay as rapidly as your income and expenses permit. The sooner you repay the less your loan costs. A $100 loan repaid in twelve monthly instalments of $9.46 each—a total of $113.52—costs $13.52. If repaid in six monthly instalments of $17.85 each a $100 loan costs only $7.10. You are also welcome to repay your loan ahead of schedule at any time to reduce the cost. Payments shown in the table repay principal and charges. Our rate of charge (given below) includes everything. You pay nothing more—no hidden charges, no fees or extras of any kind.

Get cash to pay your bills

You may use your Household Finance loan to pay old debts, taxes, doctor bill, insurance premiums, make repairs, help relatives—for almost any purpose. If you have a money problem, phone, write or visit Household Finance.

Brooks Couple Observe 50th Anniversary

In St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto, where they had taken their nuptial vows fifty years ago, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Brooks of Peterborough who returned to Toronto for the occasion, attended a Thanksgiving mass marking their golden wedding anniversary. Rev. Father McQuillen, who celebrated the mass, announced to the congregation that Mr. and Mrs. Brooks were observing their anniversary, and sitting in the same pew they had fifty years before.

Coming to Peterborough fifty years ago, on the fifth of February, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks, who at present live at 521 Reid street, have lived here since that time, with the exception of five years spent in Lindsay, where they were in business for themselves. Better known as "Barney" Mr. Brooks is employed at Wilson's garage, and has a wide circle of friends in Peterborough and Lindsay, where he lived prior to his marriage. Reminiscing about the "good old days" Mr. Brooks says he can remember the first Lindsay fair and all the fun the children used to have on fair day.

Born Mary E. Black, in Toronto, Mrs. Brooks married the slim and handsome "Barney" Brooks when she was a pretty miss of 21, and he was 26. She recently celebrated her seventy-first birthday, and Mr. Brooks will be 77 years old in the spring of 1945. Her nimble fingers have tatted and knit untold yards of tatting and lace for fringes for the beautiful linens she makes. Although unable to get good linen, Mrs. Brooks still keeps her fingers busy during the day, and she has been quilting too. An injury to her back and a fall late in 1943 have made it impossible for her to be active outside her home, but she gets Mr. Brooks' meals, always on time, and keeps busy the remainder of the day with her tatting and lace.

Although they tried to keep it quiet, their secret leaked out, and cards and presents from friends, relatives and neighbors, in Toronto, Lindsay and the States, as well as from Peterborough, began coming to the little house on Reid street, and flowers and telegrams too. The employees of R. N. Wilson's garage, and Mr. Wilson, presented Mr. Brooks with an occasional chair as an anniversary present, with Cecil McIntyre making the presentation.

Hastings Party Aids Red Cross

HASTINGS, Oct. 23—A successful and entertaining card party was held in the parish hall, Hastings under the auspices of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Sewing Circle, the proceeds of which will be used for quilt material in aid of Red Cross.

Prizes were as follows: Women's first by Mrs. Preston, second a draw between Mrs. Alphonse Sullivan and Mrs. Bert Lynch, Mrs. Lynch winning. Men's first, M. A. O'Shea; second, T. A. Walsh; lucky chair prize by Mrs. Don Barnett, Toronto.

Coffee and sandwiches were served and thoroughly enjoyed after which Miss Twomey entertained with several piano solos.

Showers Given For Recent Bride

Prior to her recent marriage, Mrs. J. C. Wood, nee Mary Gilman, was entertained at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. A. Murdock, Sophia street. For the occasion, the rooms were decorated with pink and white streamers, and a pretty decorated basket, filled with gifts, was presented to the bride by Joe Murdock and Jeanne Leonard. About thirty guests were present, and after a social evening, the hostess served refreshments.

Miss Dorothy McAuliffe was also hostess for a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mrs. Wood. She was seated before a table laden with many useful and attractive gifts, and after she had opened her presents, a social evening was enjoyed, and refreshments were served by the hostess.

THE STARS SAY .....

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, October 24

ALTHOUGH, according to the lunar transits, there may be excellent prospects for success, advancement, fulfilled ambitions and financial increase with extended credit, yet the attainment of such high objectives must be secured by adhering to strict business principles and generally accepted modes, procedures and regulations. This because of sudden factors of erratic conditions which may incite to impulsive or emotional decisions rather than sound principles. With care there should be many pleasant and profitable contacts.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of much advancement, financial expansion and business rewards, if they will adhere to the principles and sound practices of progress and accomplishment and not be carried to unwise decisions or actions. There may be some opposition from elders or influential sources, because of certain irregularities. In personal life there should be success, romance and happiness, with fulfilled ambitions in many contacts.

A child born on this day may have much talent and worthy ambitions, but is likely to be carried away by his emotions or impulses.

Peterboro Bride Wears Mother's Gown

Her mother's wedding gown of cream Irish crochet lace and Battenburg, embroidered on net, was chosen by Muriel White Stenson, for her marriage on Saturday to Sgt. Gordon White, R.C.A.F. Trinity United Church was decorated with coral 'mums and palms for the occasion. Hon. Capt. J. L. Hodgson officiated, and Miss Mabel Clarry at the organ accompanying Miss Helen Parkinson when she sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the bride entered the church, and "I Love Thee" during the singing of the register.

The bride's gown, made with Victorian neckline seeded with pearls, was accented by a veil and train of cream tulle, caught to a Juliet cap with orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade bouquet of Bettertime and Bouvardia roses. She is the daughter of Mr. Arthur F. Stenson and the late Mrs. Stenson, Port Hope Highway, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. White of Chatham.

She was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Wilton Hillier as matron of honor, and Mrs. Harold Rutherford, as bridesmaid. Mrs. Hillier was gowned in floor-length violet chiffon with matching feather hat and veil. Mrs. Rutherford was frocked in floor-length Hunter green chiffon, with matching feather hat and veil. Each carried a cascade bouquet of Bettertime roses.

Harold Rutherford, R.C.A.F., was best man, and the ushers were Wilton Hillier and Fred Stenson.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home, where Mrs. W. P. Hetherington and Mrs. N. Stenson, aunts of the bride, and the groom's mother, received the guests.

For a wedding trip to Toronto and points west, the bride donned brown gabardine tailored suit, mink furs, and matching accessories, with a corsage of Rapture roses. On their return, Sgt. and Mrs. White will live in Belleville, as the groom is stationed at Mountain View.

This Week's Best Wartime Recipe

Contributed By Mary Moore Readers

DEAR MARY MOORE: My husband and I are both the son and daughter of missionaries and were born in India. When you printed a recipe for a chicken curry last summer we were pleased to think that some Canadians were getting enough curry powder in their stew. Obviously chicken is too expensive for every day and we often want curry and the following is one of our favorites:

MADRAS CURRY (Contributed by Grace Anderson)

One lb. mutton, beef or veal (we like yearling lamb best), either cooked or raw, 2 or 3 small onions, 1 tablespoon fresh curry powder, 2 cloves garlic (optional), the juice of ½ lemon, 2 cups stock or water or gravy and water mixed if you are using cold cooked meat), butter and salt. Slice the onions and fry until light brown in butter with the chopped garlic. Add the curry powder, and season with salt. Mix all well, add the liquid and simmer 20 minutes. Add the meat, cut in inch lengths, and simmer for 1 hour till meat is quite tender. Before serving add lemon juice. If cooked meat is used of course it would not need the long cooking.

Of course you know that nice fluffy white rice is the natural accompaniment for this—you need plenty—our family of 5 eats all the rice when I boil 1 cup raw rice. G. A.

I bought a front quarter of lamb cut off the rough parts for my curry and roasted remainder—at total cost of 97c for 2 meals (good ones) for 5 people.

For business it's wise to have a smart hair style.

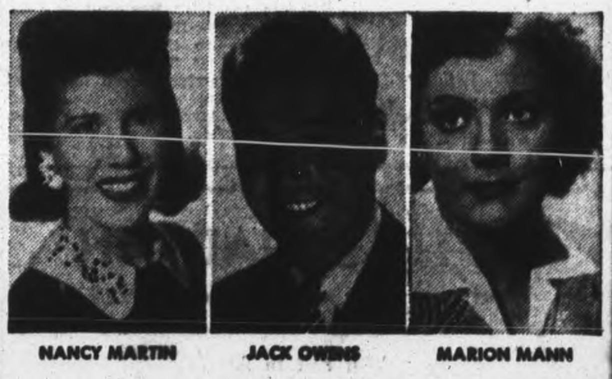
SWIFT'S WEEKLY FOOD HINTS

Martha Logan

Martha Logan, Swift's famed home economist, who tells of the outstanding vocalists on this continent's most popular daytime radio show, "The Breakfast Club."

They Sing for Their Breakfast



NANCY MARTIN JACK OWENS MARION MANN

Three are featured vocalists on Swift's "Breakfast Club" which comes to Canada next week

Beginning next Monday, Oct. 30, listen every morning for Swift's "Call to Breakfast." See panel for the stations and times when you can tune in "The Breakfast Club." You'll find you just have to perk up early in the day when you hear the voices of "The Breakfast Club's" three radio singers raised in song.

The male vocalist is handsome Jack Owens, the talented baritone who has written some of our most popular tunes: "Hut Sut Song," "Hi Neighbor," and "By-U, By-O." The two girls are both attractive brunettes of medium height, who have been singing regularly during the morning shenanigans for several years now. Marion Mann is a double career gal, running both a home and radio career; Nancy Martin, who comes from Virginia, left the blackboard and ruler of a small country schoolhouse for the microphone and "The Breakfast Club."

Do meet this grand trio at "The Breakfast Club," where master of ceremonies Don McNeill guides his "family" through their scriptless spontaneous show ... a show, which in the past 11 years has risen to receive year after year the greatest popularity poll of all daytime radio shows on this continent.

I'll be on hand from time to time to greet you, personally, but until then, remember we still must conserve food. Buy it wisely; cook it properly; eat it up!

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

DESERTED WIFE FACES TEST

Must Carefully Judge Her Love, Character of Man Who Seeks Reunion.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a woman 22 years old and have been married three years. Several months ago my husband left me and I had to go back to my mother, but now my husband wants me to come back to him. He says he is sorry for his mistake and that I am the only one he loves or ever did love. He wants me to forgive and forget and start all over again but my parents are opposed to my going back to him. What should I do?

WORRIED.

Conditions to Overcome

ANSWER—Of course, this is a matter between you and your own heart and one in which no stranger dare intermeddle, but there are two things which should guide you in making your decision.

The first is, of course, your own feeling towards your husband. Do you love him well enough to forgive him for the indignity he has put upon you and the humiliation he has made you suffer? It takes a lot of affection to make a woman able to forget that her husband has not cared how much he hurt her, nor how much he shamed her.

Will his love make up to you for the loss of your family, who have been good to you, and who took you in and gave your shelter when he threw you out?

The other point to consider is the character of the man himself. Is he weak, or is he strong? Is he trustworthy or vacillating? Is he the sort of a man who can stick to a thing even if it is hard, or is he one of the kind who are always changing? Above all, is he a philanderer by nature, one of the men who always have an eye for every fluttering skirt? There are men who can make a big mistake and profit by it; men who can learn a lesson from experience, and other men who never change, but who go on committing the same old sins as long as they live.

You should be able to judge to which class your husband belongs and whether he would be liable to repeat his offense and go off and leave you the next time he got bored with matrimony. Unless you love him so well that you feel that life without him will be cinders, ashes and dust, unless you feel assured in your own mind that he has enough manhood in him to live up to the obligations of marriage, you will be wise to stay as you are and let well enough alone.

DEAR MISS DIX—What do you think of the chances of a marriage between a man and woman who have known each other from childhood? Do you think one would get more thrills in being married to a man who was a comparative stranger?

DORIS K.

Long Friendship Better for Marriage

ANSWER—"Like the moonlight, like the sunlight, is the handsomest of strangers, like the fire upon the hearthstone is a neighbor's homely daughter," sang the poet. And this is just as true of men as it is of women. The man you have known all of your life is a safe bet, and you should stand ten times the chance of happiness in marrying him than you would in marrying some man of whom you know nothing.

When you marry a man you have known all your life, you know what sort of a disposition he has, whether he is generous or stingy, tender-hearted or hard-boiled, courteous and considerate or rude and selfish. You know what his money-making abilities are and whether he is likely to be a success or an also-ran.

But with a stranger you know none of these things and you have no way of finding out, because a man always puts his best foot foremost when he is trying to win a woman. Many a girl who thinks she is getting a Prince Charming for a husband discovers after she has got him that he is a grouch and a tightwad.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a woman of 50. Have nine children. My husband works in a factory where there are many young girls and he likes them very much. Should I stop him from working in this factory and make him go to work at some other job? Or should I try to look younger? Or should I work with him and go on as I have?

LIZZIE.

ANSWER — Well, Lizzie, there is no place in this world now, except a monastery, where a man can be without being surrounded by many pretty girls. So there is no use in looking for an Eveless Eden. It is also futile for a woman of 50, who has had nine children, to try to look younger. Your best play is just to be the good, sensible, kind wife you have always been. That is the kind of wife a man always comes back to when he gets tired of the little selfish, gold-digging cuties.

The Tea Hour Gossip . . . .

We will soon be doing our Christmas baking, and all housewives like to have several kinds nice cookies, so when friends drop in they can serve a cup of coffee with some cookies, while enjoying a little chat. Now these are the recipes that I am going to give you today.

Rich Ginger Cookies

2½ cups once sifted pastry flour, or 2⅞ cups once sifted flour, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1½ teaspoons ground ginger, 1-3 teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening, ½ cup butter, 1¼ cups brown sugar, lightly packed, 1 egg well beaten.

Measure and sift together the flour, cream of tartar, ground ginger and salt. Cream the shortening and batter together and gradually work in the brown sugar. Add beaten egg, a little at a time, beating well after each addition. Add dry ingredients, part at a time, working in well after each addition. Chill thoroughly. Roll into balls about the size of small walnuts and place them well apart on a buttered cookie sheet. Flatten each ball slightly with the tine of a fork dipped in flour. Bake in a slow oven for 12 to 15 minutes.

This is also a good type of cookie for mileage sending, crisp and so mild in its spicing that it has just a pleasant delicious flavor that is not definitely gingery.

Butterscotch Oat Bars

¼ cup shortening, ¼ sup butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups quick-cooking rolled oats, ¼ cup once-sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder.

Melt the shortening and butter and stir in the brown sugar, vanilla and then the rolled oats. Measure and sift together the flour and baking powder and stir them into the first mixture. Mix well. Pack into two buttered eight inch square cake tins. Bake in a slow oven about 30 minutes. Cut while hot into bars two inches long.

These bars are crunchy, full of flavor with a nuttiness we get without benefit of nuts, a characteristic of most of the oatmeal cookie mixtures.

Clip Trousers Of Young Nazi

WINNIPEG, Oct. 23—(CP)—Canadians have their own way of dealing with "the little boys" in the German Army.

Dick Sanburn, Winnipeg Tribune war correspondent, found this out when he met Mr. and Mrs. Camille Petersen, who lived in a village in Belgium during the German occupation.

A German baker's boy who appeared to have little liking for life in the Nazi army after its defeat in Normandy, told them; "These Canadians are funny people."

"When we were around Falaise, the Canadians captured one of my friends, a very young friend," said the German youth. "Next day my friend came back. But what had those Canadian done to him?

"They had cut his trousers off about the knees, even putting a careful hem on the bottoms. They had taken away his tunic and dressed him in a boy's shirt.

"Then they gave him a bar of chocolate and a note to our officer saying that Canadians did not fight little boys. Ach, what a queer people."

Mrs. Petersen is a sister of John Bird, editor of the Winnipeg Tribune.

TWO MILLION QUARTS . . . that's a lot of milk, isn't it? British children need all that - and more - RIGHT NOW . . . in evacuee homes, in War Hospitals, War Nurseries, Havens for Waifs and Strays. Yes! Two million quarts is a lot of milk - but these youngsters, like ours in Canada, should drink milk every day. Canadian children are going to send it to them. Hallowe'en Night our children, in all parts of Canada, instead of crying "Gimme!" are going to ask "Help us to help others". Oh yes! They'll cry "SHELL OUT" but this year it will be "SHELL OUT" for the kids in Britain. You'll help them, won't you?

Kinsmen Fund Shell Out tickets, instead of candies and treats for themselves, are wanted when Canadian kiddies knock at your door this Hallowe'en and call "SHELL OUT . . . SHELL OUT for Milk-for-Britain".

Buy your SHELL OUT Tickets, 100 for $1.00, at your neighborhood store or from the school children themselves. Take your change in SHELL OUT tickets. Then when Hallowe'en "ghosts, an' goblins, an' funny little people" call at your door Tuesday night . . . "SHELL OUT" . . . for the children in Britain.

IN MEMORIAM.

QUACKENBUSH— In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. A. Quackenbush, who died October 23rd, 1943.
Peaceful by thy silent slumber,
Peaceful in thy grave so low,
Thou no more will join our number,
Thou no more our sorrows know,
Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life is fled,
And in heaven with joy to greet thee.
Where no farewell tears are shed,
—Ever remembered by her son, Ernest, wife and family.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. (Barney) Brooks, Reed street, wish to thank all their friends and neighbours, and friends in Toronto, especially employees of Wilson's Service Station and Mr. R. N. Wilson and Cecil McIntyre, for their cards and gifts on the occasion of their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. P. Turner and family, wish to express their appreciation for the many acts of kindness, expressions of sympathy and for the beautiful floral remembrances extended by friends and neighbors, also for the untiring efforts of the doctors, nurses and sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital, during the recent illness and death of a dear wife and mother.

Plan Big Parade Tuesday Night

With "fair and milder" probabilities, the weather for Tuesday evening's 7th Victory Loan parade should bring out a big crowd of citizens for the major campaign event this week.

Lieut.-Colonel James Turnbull has accepted the role and responsibility of parade marshal. The units taking part will be officers and men of No. 32 Basic Training Centre, 2nd Reserve Battalion, Prince of Wales Rangers, 4th Reserve Battalion Royal Canadian Artillery, Sea Cadets and Air Cadets, and also a group of the girls of the Canadian Women's Army Corps; 48th Highlanders Band from Camp Borden, Rangers Band, Salvation Army Band and the cadet bands.

The parade marches off from Confederation Square at 8 o'clock. Its route is McDonnel, George, King, Aylmer, Charlotte, George and Murray streets.

Bears Drive Farmer To Protect Apiary

Bears seem to be pushing their frontier in toward the centre of the county as indicated in a main street story this morning that William Thompson of Asphodel was in the city looking for an electric fence to protect his hives of bees and their honey. The Thompson apiary is about a mile north of Westwood. Several years ago between twenty-five and thirty colonies at the Thompson place were destroyed in the marauding manner of bears, and it isn't so long, so the reports go, a few months back that a bear was shot around Westwood, and one has been seen in the hamlet.

Alan T. Brown suspects that the East Peterborough bears, which he too has heard of, wander down from the Crown Game Reserve.

Obituary

BERT HUBBARD

A resident of Peterborough for more than 40 years, Bert Hubbard, 541 Homewood avenue, died Sunday in St. Joseph's Hospital, after an illness of five weeks. He was in his 76th year.

Born in London, England, Mr. Hubbard came to Peterborough from there, and has lived here ever since. For more than 30 years he was an employee of the Canada Packers Company, until he retired six years ago. His wife, Caroline Madden, predeceased him.

A member of the Ancient Order of Foresters, Mr. Hubbard was a member of the Anglican Church. He leaves to mourn his loss two daughters, Winnifred Hubbard, and Mrs. Darel Allen, (Kathleen), both of Peterborough.

Also surviving is a sister, Mrs. Jack Swingwood, of London, England.

The funeral will be Tuesday, at two o'clock, from the Nisbett Funeral Home, 347 Charlottee street, to interment of Little Lake Cemetery, Rev. W. A. Filer, of All Saints' Anglican Church, will conduct the service.

Road To Tokio Will Be Long And Rough

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Gen. MacArthur's return to the Philippines breaks the back of the Allied task in the Pacific, since the battle for these islands is the prelude to the final struggle for Japan itself: without the Philippines the Mikado's ill-got empire of conquests will fall to pieces.

Once the American forces have overrun Leyte, which is strategically situated almost in the heart of the Archipelago, and have established powerful air-bases, they will be able to sweep the rest of the islands with bombers. Today's reports show them firmly established and smashing ahead with the job of clearing the island. The Japanese 16th Division, the barbarians who tortured so many boys to death on Bataan, have taken to the hills.

MacArthur declared in his proclamation to the Filipinos that the Americans have come as "Liberators for the entire Philippine Archipelago." How he will proceed in the liberation is the secret of the High Command, but presumably he will move northward into the great island of Luzon, unless developments change the picture. Luzon, where lies Manila, is the key which can unlock the Mikado's defences.

From this most northern of the Philippines the Allies can dominate Japan's communications to her essential war supplies—rubber and oil—in the East Indies. They can, by the same token, cut off from the homeland hundreds of thousands of Japanese troops in Indoesia and Burma. They can neutralize the powerful air-naval base of Formosa, which is one of the chief shields of the enemy. They can reach the southeast coast of China to establish bases to aid the hard-hit Chinese, and from these bases they can send bombers to rip at the vitals of Japan.

All that sounds mighty good—and it is good. However, let's not permit it to mislead us. As things now stand, it's a bloody route to Tokyo. The conquest of the Philippines in itself bids fair to be one of the greatest engagements of the entire war.

That much is certain. The fight may also prove to be not only tough but long.

While we are talking about taking the Mikado's empire to pieces, it's important to note that, coincident with the American invasion of the Philippines, London announced that part of a British fleet strong enough to deal with the whole Japanese navy was en route to the Far East.

So much for recent speculation as to whether Britain intends to see the war against Japan through to a finish. Of course she does. There never was any legitimate doubt of it.

Great preparations are under way in India for the all-out war against Japan. In this connection it has been disclosed that there are 2,250,000 Indian troops under arms, ready for action.

Premier Returns From Moscow

LONDON, Oct. 23 —(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, back in Britain after 10 days in Moscow, is expected to report to the House of Commons this week on his conferences with Premier Stalin and other Soviet officials.

Mr. Churchill returned to London by air yesterday.

It was announced today that Mr. Churchill spent a night in Italy en route home and also halted in Cairo for 24 hours.

The stop at Cairo was for conferences with British Army and Navy leaders believed connected with the prosecution of the war in the Far East.

While details of the conferences were not disclosed, they were described officially as purely military in character.

Among those with whom Mr. Churchill talked were Gen. Sir Bernard Paget, British commander-in-chief in the Middle East, and Air Vice Marshal Sir Keith Rodney Park, air comander in that theatre.

The prime minister's entire stay at Cairo was devoted to official business. Those who saw Mr. Churchill said he was in excellent spirits and seemed entirely satisfied with the results of his talks with Premier Stalin.

Kimball, vice-president in charge of the engineering. The system is known as radio-induction.

F.D.R. Suggests Action Needed

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—(CP)— A world organization with power to compel peace—by force, if necessary—was called for by President Roosevelt in a campaign address before the Foreign Policy Association here Saturday night. The President declared the United States' representative in such an organization must be given congressional "authority to act."

"We either work with the other great nations, or we might some day have to fight them," he said.

The flags of United Nations at his back, Mr. Roosevelt surveyed some 2,000 diners overflowing balconies and foyers and said:

"The people of the nation want their government to act, and not merely to talk, whenever and wherever there is a threat to world peace."

There was applause when Mr. Roosevelt declared there would be "stern punishment for all these in Germany directly responsible" for the war and also when he said that "we bring no charge against the German race, as such."

"The German people are not going to be enslaved—because the United Nations do not traffic in human slavery," he said. "But it will be necessary for them to earn their way back into the fellowship of peace-loving and law-abiding nations."

The president got a big hand when he listed stepping stones in the development of his foreign program and mentioned the good neighbor policy, independence for the Philippines and recognition of the Russian government.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

MAYBE NO DEFENSE

YOUR PARTNER is not necessarily loaded with defensive strength just because he bids a couple of suits up to fair heights. Especially if the opponents are vulnerable and he is not, his bids may be for defensive reasons because he has considerable suit length for playing at his own contract, but hardly any cards of defensive value against a hostile one. This applies with emphasized accent if his first bid was an overcall.

North: ♠ K 4; ♥ A 10 2; ♦ 6 3; ♣ A Q J 5 4 3

West: ♠ A 8; ♥ 7 6 5 4 3; ♦ Q 9 7; ♣ K 10 9

East: ♠ Q J 10 9 7 3; ♥ None; ♦ K J 10 8 5 2; ♣ 7

South: ♠ 6 5 2; ♥ K Q J 9 8; ♦ A 4; ♣ 8 6 2

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♣	3 ♦	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	Pass	Dbl

East did not study too long before deciding to pass that double. He reckoned that his own bidding, in the face of what the vulnerable opponents did, must have been read clearly by West as indicating terrific distribution with hardly anything in high cards. So he felt that West was surely doubling entirely on his own responsibility, after having been warned that East's hand could not be of any use in the defense.

West led the spade A, then switched to the diamond Q. The declarer won that with the A and then took all the rest of the tricks. The order of trick winners was thus: Heart A and K, finesse of the club J, heart 10 to the Q, finesse of the club Q, heart J and 9, and five more clubs.

After the declarer had chalked up his two extra tricks, West censured East for not taking out his double into 4-Spades, in view of the weakness of East's hand in high cards. But West was the wrong one. To double after such bidding required a lot more strength than he held. Perhaps East should have bid a makable 4-Spades after North bid the 4-hearts, but certainly not after his thoroughly-warned partner had doubled.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ K 10 6 4 2; ♥ 3; ♦ 8 7 6 4; ♣ K 8 2

West: ♠ A 7 5 3; ♥ 7 2; ♦ K J 10 9 5 2; ♣ A

East: ♠ Q J 9 8; ♥ J 10 9 6 4; ♦ 3; ♣ 10 5 4

South: ♠ None; ♥ A K Q 8 5; ♦ A Q; ♣ Q J 9 7 6 3

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

After West leads the diamond J, what is South's soundest plan to make 5-Clubs on this deal?

New Ghost Yarn Told In Ireland

LONDON, Oct. 23—(CP-Reuter) —The west of Ireland has produced the newest ghost story of the British Isles. The phantom of Eire now appears as a man and now as a beast. It appears and disappears and above all it leaves its beholders with an overpowering and dreadful sense of the uncanny.

Its story is told in the Anglo-Celt, a newspaper of county Cavan, by a reporter who has interviewed no less than five individuals who say they have seen it.

It appears near Lough Gowna, on the border of counties Cavan and Longford. Early this month, said the reporter, two young men walking by the river at Gowna, saw the figure "wearing convict's dress" and decided to give chase. The figure promptly disappeared through a thick hedge. That left the young Irishmen with a "very uncanny feeling."

Later two girls cycling by saw what appeared to be a calf coming from the river. "It crossed the road," the reporter said, "it then appeared as a man" and went through a thick hedge.

Investigations are proceeding, the Anglo Celt said.

ONE TEAM

One Purpose

• Nearly a million Canadian men and women in the armed services of the Dominion, more than a million in war industry, and all the others on the home front—have one goal in sight, a complete and speedy victory.

Teamwork counts as never before, for now the game is in its final, crucial stages. We must all put forth extra effort, use even more of our resources, to make the finish swift and sure.

It is urgent that in this Seventh Victory Loan we each buy at least one more bond than we bought before. It is our duty to our teammates; our duty to our children who will enjoy the fruits of victory. Let us do our duty gladly, that we may earn our place on our winning team.

Congress Of Labor Delegates Differ On News

QUEBEC, Oct. 23 — (CP) — The Canadian Congress of Labor expressed mixed sentiments to the press.

The report of the education and publicity committee congratulated The Canadian Press and the convention also expressed appreciation to reporters who have been concentrating on labor news.

This appreciation was not, however, extended to the majority of the newspapers themselves. Of these the report said: "All too often accurate reports from major news services have been displayed and situated in such a way as to leave erroneous impressions, while there is consistent editorial bias against labor in almost every major daily of the country, a bias which continues over into small town weeklies.

"Very often this bias reflects itself in unfair and misrepresentative attacks upon accepted and established labor objectives such as union security and nationally standard wages but is actually inaccurate. Often there is not only prejudice but ignorance. Apparently certain editorial writers, normally well-informed, do not even know the elementary structure of Canadian labor and show this ignorance in editorials which are full of glaring inaccuracies."

The committee said it did not not challenge the right of a newspaper to have its own opinions.

"It should be frankly pointed out that continued and obviously biased opposition to Labor, which cannot be always wrong, is hardly an effective method of increasing public support for a privately-owned press," the report said.

US Planes Riddle Japanese Ships

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Oct. 23—(AP). — Diversionary raids on southern and central targets in the Philippines by American aircraft in which Japanese shipping was set afire and grounded planes destroyed, were reported in a communique by General Douglas MacArthur today.

Fighter planes on Friday harassed shipping in the Sulu Islands and Zamboanga in the Southern Philippines, damaging one medium and three small freighters and three coastal ships.

In the Cebu area of the Central American fighter-bombers were lost to Japanese anti-aircraft fire in a raid on airdromes in which an undetermined number of grounded Jap planes were destroyed. In addition a freighter and two luggers were set afire. A patrol plane destroyed a float plane at West Samar Island.

Marmora Man Hears Brother Prisoner

MARMORA, Oct. 23 — (ENS). — Two letters received by Gordon Knox on Saturday informed him that his brother, Private William Isaac Knox, reported missing, September 16, is a prisoner of war.

One was from Gustave A. Magnuson of Providence, Rhode Island and the other from Donald H. Neale of Toronto. Both heard the name given out over a short wave station in Berlin in a list of those interned in Germany. The latter gave the particulars as given out over the enemy station, Private William Isaac Knox, whose home address is c-o Mr. Gordon Knox at Marmora, Canada.

Christmas Box Drive Successful

HAVELOCK, Oct. 23 — (ENS). — The house-to-house canvass conducted by the Eastern Star Patriotic Association to raise funds to send Christmas boxes to members of the armed forces from Havelock and district, resulted in the sum of $310 being realized, $60 of this amount being contributed by residents of Cordova Mines. Eighty-five boxes have been mailed for overseas which cost $317, while a hundred boxes are yet to be packed for those stationed in Canada.

Labor Congress Re-affirms No Strike Pledge Lauds Family Allowances

Assure Co-operation For Production Of All Vital Commodities For The Duration Of War Emergency

By JACK WILLIAMS—Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 24 (CP).—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today re-affirmed its "no strike" pledge, made at the 1943 convention, and went on record as approving the principle of family allowances. The "no strike" resolution was adopted by the delegates to the 60th annual convention of the Congress without discussion. On the question of family allowances there was a difference of opinion with some speakers expressing a fear that such a measure might be used as a substitute for adequate wages.

The convention today started consideration of the more than 300 resolutions submitted by local unions. Ernest Ingles of London, Ont., reported recommendations of the resolutions committee.

In the resolution dealing with strikes reference was made to the stand taken by some other labor organizations.

(The Canadian Congress of Labor at its convention in Quebec last week turned down a demand from a section of the delegates for a straight "no strike" pledge. The convention committed itself to avoid strikes wherever possible).

The resolution which received approval of the Trades and Labor Congress to-day said in its preamble:

"Through the columns of the press and through other agencies we learn of the activities of groups who would countenance renunciation of pledges of no strike policy for the duration of the emergency."

The resolution provided, "that we, in no uncertain terms restate our pledge of no strike for the duration of the emergency and assure our continued co-operation for the production of all supplies and sinews of war necessary to bring this deplorable war to a successful and victorious conclusion."

Support The Army.

In another resolution the convention pledged full support to the armed forces until final victory is attained.

The convention approved in principle the payment of family allowances "while emphatically declaring that such allowances must not take place of an adequate wage rates."

The Congress turned to consideration of resolutions after hearing an address last night by Premier Drew of Ontario, who told delegates no labor legislation in Canada is more advanced that that in Ontario.

Drew An Enemy.

Miss Madeline Parent of Montreal, who led off in discussion on family allowances referred to opposition to the Federal Government's proposal by Premier George Drew of Ontario who she called "an enemy to labor and an enemy of unity in Canada." She supported the resolution.

Ad Stahl of the International Labor Office, Montreal, outlined the activities of his organization and

Report Clashes In Spain Against Franco

LONDON, Oct. 24—(CP).—Conflicting reports of armed clashes in Spain reached London today and it was not yet clear whether the action involved only frontier skirmishes or an organized and formidable revolt against Gen. Franco's Falangist regime.

An authoritative source cautioned against overestimating the extent of the hostilities. Official quarters said they had no information confirming reports of a general uprising.

It was pointed out, however, that strong, well-equipped Maquis forces, including a high percentage of Spanish Republicans were in southwestern France near the Spanish border.

A responsible source stated it had not been learned how many of these Spanish Maquis had been crossing the border into Spain or to what extent they were in contact and collaborating with guerilla forces of the Spanish Republican junta.

Franco's Spanish national radio told of clashes between regular Spanish troops guarding the frontier and "several groups of Spanish Reds" from France, but sought to create the impression that the situation was well in hand, with most of the rebels surrendering or fleeing back across the French border.

"In general," said a broadcast by the Spanish national radio, "it seems that the infiltration of Spanish Red into Navarra can be considered over, as many of them are surrendering without arms. When taken prisoner, all express disappointment at not finding conditions favoring formation of a so-called army of liberation."

The broadcast added that some "fugitives still are roaming through the mountains of Navarra," but said most of these were being closely pursued by Spanish troops.

Americans Hit Samar Island

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 24—(CP).—A Melbourne Herald war correspondent in a field dispatch from Tacloban reported today American forces had crossed San Juanico Strait and established a bridgehead on Samar Island.

Blaine Fielder, the correspondent, said the bridgehead was established Monday (Philippines time) on the second major Philippines island to be invaded.

He reported that a tank column drove up the highway to a point from which it ferried across to Samar, and said Gen. MacArthur, capitalizing on successes in the Tacloban area, pushed the force across the strait.

This was not reported by other correspondents nor was it mentioned in MacArthur's communique today.

Samar is the only big link between Leyte and Luzon Island on which Manila is situated. Narrow San Juacinto Strait separates Leyte from Samar.

El Alamein Battle Two Years Ago

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—Field Marshal Montgomery last night observed the second anniversary of the battle of El Alamein in a message to the troops of the original British 8th Army, now scattered all over the world. Marshal Montgomery spoke from his headquarters in Western Europe over the American broadcasting station (ABSIE) and the talk was recorded by the blue network.

"This day is one that will never be forgotten by those who fought at El Alamein," he said. "That victory was turning point of the war and since then the armies of Britain, the United States and Russia have turned theenemy back on every front. The end cannot be very far distant. Good luck to you all, and God bless you."

Bomb Reveals Roman Wall

Robots Did Most Damage To Property

FREDERICTON, Oct. 24—(AP).—Although the robot bombs "were extremely dangerous to property, they were much less dangerous to life than might have been expected, for our shelters were safe and London became thoroughly shelter-minded," Sheila MacDonald, sister of Malcolm MacDonald, United Kingdom High Commissioner, said today in an address prepared for delivery to Fredericton service club (Rotary).

Recently returned from a two-month visit in Britain, Miss MacDonald is touring the eastern townships and the Maritimes.

"The destruction has revealed early days of London which would otherwise have remained unknown. A bomb near the Tower of London exposed a section of the Roman wall superimposed with mediaeval masonry, and similar archaeological diggings have been carried out by the Germans in some of our other cities," said Miss MacDonald.

English women were doing much heavy work, including transfer of baggage.

The British were tired from the strain of war and in their few spare moments were glad to "sit at home and do nothing at all." There was, however, a great revival of interest in artistic subjects."

Charge Dismissed

NORTH BAY, Oct. 24—(CP).—An oddly-worded charge laid against a North Bay resident was dismissed by Magistrate M. G. Gould after Crown Attorney E. A. Tilley remarked that it meant nothing. The charge said the accused failed to make proper returns of his day's receipts and truck "using extra gas by driving around the city for pleasure."

Russians Drive 35 Miles Into Germany

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press War Correspondent

MOSCOW, Oct. 24—(AP).—Russian penetration of German territory to a depth of at least 19 miles in East Prussia was proclaimed today in the first Moscow announcement of a powerful Red Army offensive that already has captured 400 German towns and villages.

Summarizing results of a thrust from western Lithuania that the Germans have been reporting for a week, a Russian communique said Gen. Cherniakhovsky's 3rd White Russian Army had broken through frontier defences on an 87-mile front on the east.

The Soviet bulletin announced Gen. Bagramian's troops had occupied all of Memel territory except the port of Memel itself, where the German garrison was cut off, and had massed along the Niemen River, East Prussia's northern border, from the Baltic to Jurbarkas in Lithuania.

Twenty salvos from each of Moscow's 224 victory guns saluted the achievements of the Cherniakhovsky and Bagramian armies — disclosed on a day that brought announcement of nearly 1,500 towns seized by Red armies from the Norwegian border in the Arctic to Yugoslavia in the south.

Cherniakhovsky's offensive, which gave the Russians a solid footing on German soil for the first time, drove directly westward on each side of the main highway and rail routes from Kaunas, Lithuania, to Insterburg and Konigsberg. Insterburg, a hub of five railways 37 miles from the border, appeared the immediate strategical prize.

Late dispatches said the Russians were approaching Gumbinnen, on the main westward ro[illegible] 15 miles east of Insterburg and 63 miles from Konigsberg, East Prussian capital.

Chinese Launch Counter Blows

CHUNGKING, Oct. 24—(AP)—Counter-attacking Chinese forces have inflicted heavy casualties on Japanese troops in bitter fighting eight miles southwest of Kweiping in Kwangsi province, from which the enemy has been thrusting toward the United States air base at Liuchon, a Chinese communique declared today.

In northern Kwangsi no further change was reported in the situation 21 miles north of Kweilin, where the high command yesterday said Chinese forces had made appreciable gains.

Baby Crosses Atlantic In Transport Plane

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP).—Six months old Kenneth Barry Maloney, a war orphan and the youngest passenger to cross the Atlantic on an army transport plane, was in the care of his parental grandmother to-day.

Kenneth, a chubby, blue-eyed blond whose American father, Lieut. Kenneth Maloney, was killed in action before his birth and whose English mother died in childbirth, was flown from England to New York yesterday in care of an army nurse.

His grandmother is Mrs. William Maloney of Grand Rapids, Mich. Kenneth's maternal grandmother, grandfather and aunt were killed when bombs struck their home in England.

Victory Loan Falls Short On First Day

Daily Average 75 Millions $68,260,300 Taken

OTTAWA, Oct. 24—(CP).—A recapitulation today of yesterday's first stage in Canada's $1,300,000,000 seventh victory loan drive showed that the estimated $75,000,000 figure had not been reached and instead only $68,260,300 had been collected.

With early reports from the armed forces showing enthusiastic buying, loan officials had felt that the first day of the three-week campagin would at least equal if not exceed the first day of the sixth loan when a total of slightly above $74,276,000 was subscribed.

Of today's total, $19,858,300 came from individual Canadians. This is approximately $14,000,000 below the daily average which must be maintained by individual purchasers if their minimum objective of $600,000,000 is to be reached.

"Too much emphasis should not be placed on the results of the first day's canvassing," a victory loan official stated today. "In the fifth loan, for instance, our first day's total was approximately the same as in the present one with the first day of the sixth loan an all-time high. While, at the moment, the total of individuals is below what their daily average must be, we are certain that they will equal the total they reached in the last loan."

Navy in Heavy

At Halifax the loan got away to a flying start when five ships and three naval shore establishments in the north-west Atlantic command over-subscribed their objectives. A grand total of $350,500 in bonds was purchased by naval and civilian personnel of the command. This was $100,000 more than the total of the first day in the sixth victory loan.

Chief of Police Horace E. McLeese of Saint John, N.B., believes he was the first man to be canvassed there. A few minutes past midnight he was reading a book in bed when he was halted by a terric crash. The special white "buy victory bonds" bus of the New Brunswick Power Co., had coasted down a hill and crashed into his home. The chief bought a bond as soon as it was daylight.

In a lead editorial Keith declared applications for a West Virginia chapter of the society were being rejected on grounds that West Virginia and "real southern" accents are as different as poison ivy and Virginia creeper.

8th Army Gains Half Mile Beyond Cervia

ROME, Oct. 24 (AP)—British 8th Army troops driving northward along Italy's Adriatic coast advanced half a mile beyond captured Cervia, while inland Canadian forces have enlarged and strengthened their bridgehead across the Savio River north of Cesena, Allied headquarters announced today.

German tanks and infantry counter-attacked the Canadians, but the latter held firm, the anouncement said.

West of Cesena, where British troops hold another bridgehead across the Savio, the Germans were hurling a heavy weight of shells. Tanks were moving up most of the supplies for the British infantry.

Flood conditions made for difficult going on the 8th Army front, but the troops were meeting only slight enemy resistance.

South of Cesena, Indian troops took Monte Cavallo, key feature of the Savio watershed. Farther south Britons and Poles of the 8th Army made local gains.

American troops of the Allied 5th Army battling down the northern slopes of the Apennines approached today within four miles of Castel San Pietro, large Po Valley junction town on the Rimini highway 13 miles southeast of Bologna.

Headquarters announced this American column had captured the village of Frassinets, southeast of Castel San Pietro, after a heavy battle. Rough terrain still lay ahead.

Thick minefields, demolitions and barbed wire entanglements held up another force advancing on dominating Monte Belmonte. A communique said the most bitter fighting centred around that feature.

Housing Shortage Critical Bewilders Tired Officers

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS ON THE ADRIATIC FRONT, Oct. 24.—(CP).—It may be of comfort to the good and sardined people of Halifax, Edmonton and so on to come into the knowledge that as regards housing crises, brother, they ain't seen nothing.

They ought to live along the Adriatic when the weather gets sullen and the front pulls up short and everybody from the biggest general of them all to the rifleman just out of the line starts looking for shelter.

Here, there are no landladies, no rent ceilings, no ads in the papers, but here there are generals who overrule brigadiers who dictate to colonels who molest majors who do what they can by guile and compromise, and the odd lick of whisky to work their charges in to the houses or buildings left after the last bomb and shell has had its say.

A Tough Job

And the impact of it all falls upon the town major, that luckless individual who volunteered to go anywhere but swears it wasn't to this. To him come colonels whose resting battalions need billets, representatives of vast headquarters of corps and armies who have decided tents are no longer the thing, people who want room for casualty clearing stations, supply points, leave centres. He encounters pressure, persuasion, passion, even pathos.

There is the case of a town in which the Canadian public relations field detachment has had a billet. With one hefty blow 8th Army headquarters decided to move in and half the town has been ordered to be evacuated.

For three days now the detachment's troubleshooters, Maj. Ed. McIntyre, Galt, Ont., and Capt. Len Tracy, Weyburn, Sask., have been seeking a new home. In Rimini they were given their choice of 16 houses. There wasn't a window in any of them. Huge bomb craters blocked the roads. They decided against Rimini.

They went to the other towns around there, Cattolica, Riccione, others. There was nothing, absolutely nothing. They searched, argued, cajoled, begged. There was nothing, absolutely nothing. Today they are back in Rimini, the while ravenous, chilled army headquarters officers ramble through our villa with hungry eye and inadequate courtesy. The situation is ominous if not desperate.

Aim Attacks To Flank Hun Anchor

Canadians Advance Without Let-Up Get Strong Support

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, Oct. 24 (CP Cable)—In an overnight attack, Western Canada infantry today cut clean across the neck of the causeway which leads to South Beveland Island, completely sealing this gap for the first time, as operations on this sector north of Antwerp gained more ground.

Advances also were made northeast of Hoogerhide, and several large woods were cleared, while west of Dallen Esschen Ontario tank-supported infantry got within 1½ miles of Dorp Op Pindorf, a village 3½ miles west of Bergen Op Zoom.

To the west, Canadian troops neared Roosendaal in their drive to flank the German anchor of Bergen Op Zoom. An Allied communique, reporting fresh crossings of the Dutch border north of Antwerp, announced new gains northward along the Antwerp - Roosendaal railway. The Paris radio said the Canadians were less than three miles from Roosendaal.

Artillery provided heavy support as the Canadians drove across the peninsula neck west of Woensdrecht. They cleared the area right to the banks of the East Schelde.

Elsewhere in the pocket, consistent gains were reported, and Canadian infantry was reported within a mile of village of Groede, across the Schelde. Allied planes bombed German guns on Walcheren Island.

A dispatch from Allied Supreme Headquarters in Paris said Canadian units fighting to clear the south bank of the Schelde estuary held the ferry port of Breskens firmly today and were along or across a road all the way to Schoondijke, three miles south of Breskens. The Germans have been squeezed into a pocket in this area.

An earlier dispatch had reported that the Canadians who took Breskens Sunday had withdrawn from the town and that a confused situation prevailed there.

Demolition patrols which moved a half-mile beyond Breskens to Fort Frederik-Hendrik withdrew, presumably leaving that Bastion's powerful coastal batteries out of action. Neither side now occupies the fort, the Paris dispatch said.

Raid Batters Krupp Plants

LONDON, Oct. 24.—(CP).—Strong forces of German night fighters, saved for defence of prize targets, swarmed up over Essen last night to challenge a fleet of 1,000 R.A.F. heavy bombers which attacked the great armament and railway centre in the heart of the Ruhr.

The bombers, which flew through the first heavy snowstorm of the season over the western front, also encountered the fiercest ground barrage they have met on their last seven trips to the Ruhr.

Eight of the giant bombers were reported missing.

While the heavies were unloading their bombs at Essen a small force of fast Mosquitos shot on across Northern Germany and attacked Berlin.

Thick clouds began enveloping the bombers as they started across France and soon they were flying through a blinding snowstorm. It was not snowing at Essen, but the sky was so black that Pathfinder planes had to circle the city repeatedly during the attack to lay color markers for the bombers.

Essen has been a frequent R.A.F. target in the past.

A saturation attack on the Krupp Works, which occupy a large part of Essen, the night of March 5, 1943, marked the beginning of the Allies' all-out strategic bombing offensive. Six large-scale blows put two-third of the Krupp Works out of business for a while. Last night's attack was to undo repairs since made to the factories.

Bitter Fighting Slows Drive In Philippines

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press War Correspondent

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Oct. 24—(AP)—American liberators of 11 towns in the central Philippines drove ahead on Leyte Island today through almost impassable muck and bitterly resisting Japanese.

U.S. Sixth Army troops moved northwestward from Tacloban, at the northern tip of the 20 mile Leyte east coast front, and slid through swamps in the southern sector from Dulag. Muck and slime, proved a greater obstacle in the south than the Japanese, and sometimes left the advancing troops without the support of their tanks.

Palo and Dulag anchored the westbound arms of a potential trap reaching out to engulf enemy elements in a 140-square-mile area bounded on the east by the coast and on the west by a valley road from Burauen to Santa Fe.

Marked progress was reported today in a communique on the Dulag south arm toward Burauen. After menacing positions in the Catmon Hills area were by-passed, Sherman tanks pushed 7 miles into the outskirts of San Pablo, about three miles from Burauen.

Night-long Attack.

It was a different story at Palo. All Monday night, the Japanese counter-attacked fiercely and it was not until this morning that the onslaught was broken bloodily. Then the Americans resumed a slow push west of the liberated town of Palo which is six miles from the road junction of Santa Fe. The advance was contested along the main road.

There are signs the Japanese have sensed the growing danger at the southern end and already are pulling out to the northwest. Opposition before San Pablo was by rearguards.

Churchill Promises Statement Friday

LONDON, Oct. 24—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill was roundly cheered today as he took his seat on the government bench in the House of Commons for the first time since returning from Moscow.

His entry interrupted a discussion of the housing shortage due to the blitz and robot bombings.

Mr. Churchill said he would make a "shortish statement" Friday on his meeting with Premier Stalin.

He added he hoped his statement would not lead to a debate.

"But I would like to make a statement which in a way would be supplementary to what I said the last time and bring a few matters into it on which the House should be informed," Mr. Churchill said.

Snow Blanket Covers Aachen Front

British 2nd Army In Suburbs Of Key Dutch Town

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 24—(AP).—British troops drove into the outskirts of the Netherlands road hub of 'S Hertogenbosch today in one phase of a Canadian-British squeeze offensive against perhaps 40,000 German troops battling to hold southwestern Holland and to maintain a blockade of the great supply port of Antwerp.

An assault ring was shaping around 'S Hertogenbosch, with the northernmost British column reaching the city. Scottish troops swinging up from the south cut the road leading to Eindhoven.

Nearly 50 miles to the west, Canadians cut off the Causeway to the Schelde estuary islands where enemy cannon block the sea route to Antwerp, and fought to within from three to five miles of the strongholds of Roosendaal and Bergen Op Zoom.

Along the main 475-mile front facing east toward Germany persistent Allied pressure scored no major gains, and the winter's first widespread snow sharpened the plague of weather which has hampered the Allied armies for weeks.

Front reports indicated that the Germans in the 'S Hertogenbosch area were suffering from lack of artillery support. The British were using a powerful force of infantry, tanks and artillery.

Three British columns drove on the cathedral city and Dutch provincial capital. The northernmost one, having captured the village of Rosmalen, clawed its way westward into the outskirts of 'S Hertogenbosch during early-morning darkness. Two more columns slashed their way toward that communications hub and bastion of the Germans' west Holland line from the south and east.

The sector around Aachen was not active, but to the south German big guns, apparently railway weapons, hurled 16 to 20 huge shells

Big Contingent Reaches Canada

By The Canadian Press

From all the fighting fronts of Canada's war, a group of men and women of the Canadian Services have returned to the Dominion to take up new duties or to undergo treatment for wounds or disabilities suffered across the Atlantic.

Soldiers, sailors and airmen were in the large movement, with the khaki-clad contingent predominant. There were men from Italy and France, Navy veterans of the war at sea and survivors of the battles over Europe. A few men who fought through the Dieppe "reconnaissance in force" were among them.

Members of women's branches of the fighting forces, coming back home after service in Britain, were included in the arrivals.

Along with them came another unit in the long procession of war brides of Canadian servicemen in Britain. Many of them carried young children, and in a few cases husbands and wives were travelling together.

Claims Senate Essential

Labelled Pillar Of Confederation

ST CATHARINES, Oct. 24.—(CP).—A woeful ignorance of constitutional history and the political background of Canadian Confederation were blamed for statements that referred to the Canadian senate as "useless and a haven for worn-out politicians," Senator J. J. Bench (L-Ontario) to-day said in a speech prepared for delivery before a service club here.

Reviewing the record of the Senate in its capacity as custodian of the rights and privileges of Canadian people, Senator Bench said he was not surprised that derogatory comments were made by politicians.

Granting of territorial representation rights during Confederation was tantamount to saying that "without the Senate there could have been no Dominion of Canada as we know it to-day," he said.

"When these historical circumstances are reviewed—acknowledgment must be made of the fact that one of the pillars upon which our Confederation rests is the existence of the Senate. Without it there might be denied the territorial, racial and economic minorities and equal voice in the government of their affairs.

"Let those who would re-make our political, social and economic order, have regard for these fundamental truths."

15 Industries Over Top In Loan Drive

Fifteen of twenty-three Peterborough industries listed in the payroll deduction section of the Victory Loan, have already passed their objective, and are going on to "three star" rating.

The total plastered on the board at C.G.E.-Genelco this morning was $394,750 of their $450,000 objective.

Going far afield for another item of Victory Loan interest, Rev. C. A. G. Spence began his campaign Monday in the Apsley district, and had a splendid day. The amount of his subscription was $9,500 from twenty-four applicants, and represented about half of his objective.

The Rev. Claude Spence, one time member of the Examiner staff, is now in his seventy-fourth year, and is widely known throughout the county, and especialy in the north-east. One of the first calls he made Monday was on Duncan Brown "who has never let me down on any canvass."

With 50 per cent of his objective in the very first day, Rev. Mr. Spence is going to be inspired to hit out for a new record for his district. He said the Monday subscribers were a great inspiration to him, and he was passing on his impression to the general public in order that they would know the sentiment in the Apsley area toward this Seventh Victory Loan.

J. S. Henderson said he was getting off to a good start in Otonabee. Coming back to the city Herb Jamieson of Canadian Department Stores said there wasn't much to the shop drive for the simple reason that the employees were all set, knew the story off by heart and the right answer, too. In fact many of them were doubling, some trebling their investments. Even Saturday helpers, part-timers, climbed aboard this Loan at C.D.S.

Amphibious Jeep

An amphibious Jeep made by Uncle Sam and sent across the border as a Victory Loan campaign feature will arrive in the city at 6 p.m. this evening and will be seen in the parade at 8 p.m. Corporal Houstain and Lance-Corporal Whalley are in charge of the machine. There may be a later demonstration of this Jeep that takes to the water as confidently as it does the land, but no definite information was at hand this morning.

C. J. McGregor, Toronto, superintendent; Harry M. Gossage, Toronto, assistant to the Vice-President; and Flight Lieutenant Potter of Toronto, comprised the visiting group who are making a special appeal to C.P.R. employees throughout the division from Toronto to Smiths Falls. From Peterborough they continued to Havelock and from Smiths Falls will return along the Lake Shore line to Toronto.

T. A. McArthur, local agent, introduced the members of the party, whose tour of this division is part of the C.P.R. campaign throughout its entire system in Canada, to stimulate among the company's employees a special effort to exceed their objective in the Seventh Victory Loan. This is the first time Victory Loan meetings are being held generally among the great Canadian family of C.P.R. workers.

$25 From Cash Box Taken In Break-in

The Louis Billiards' establishment was entered during Monday night and around $25 was stolen from the cash box in the front of the store.

Entrance to the building, police say, was obtained through a skylight on the roof. This had been removed and the thief then had no trouble making his way down to the ground floor and obtaining access to the cash box.

Apparently nothing else in the place had been touched for a checkup showed that no stock was missing.

Month Sentence Given For Bicycle Theft

Justin Carter, 21, Crescent street, was sentenced to a month's imprisonment in the county jail by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., on a charge of stealing a bicycle, valued at less than $25.

Carter had previously pleaded guilty and giving evidence this morning Detective John Stevenson who had investigated the case, testified that at first the police did not know the owner of the stolen bicycle. Subsequently they had learned that it had belonged to Norman Brick.

Detective Stevenson said that Carter had been arrested in Lindsay, where he had gone with the stolen wheel.

"Sending you to jail doesn't seem to teach you," commented Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., after reading the youth's record. "Why don't you stop that kind of thing?"

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY AND EASILY
If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.
For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any I.D.A. or other drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.
If you try Hem-roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.—(Adv.)

3rd Division Superbly Trained

MONTREAL, Oct. 24 — (CP). — The 3rd Canadian Division, which participated in the invasion of France on D-Day, was the finest trained body of men ever to be taken into an assault operation, Maj.-Gen. R. L. F. Keller, former leader of the division, said in an address here today.

Gen. Keller, who has been invalided home, addressing a 7th Victory Loan gathering, added that on invasion day every soldier was "briefed" on exactly where he was going, the distance there, and who was leading him. Also who he should follow if his leader was killed or captured.

Another speaker was Matthew Halton, Canadian Broadcasting Corporation war correspondent. He said that during the first hours and the first days of invasion men of the 3rd Division held positions even when it seemed almost hopeless.

"Time after time sections of men thought they were alone and that everybody else was gone, but they had been told that the fate of invasion might depend on them, and they stuck and they held," he said.

(Berlin declared further that on the north Bagramian's forces, already within shelling range of Tilsit, had attempted to cross the Niemen and capture that fortress city on the south bank of the stream.)

Insterburg, where the sound of the Red guns already was said to be audible, lies 29 miles south of Tilsit. If Insterburg falls, the northern city would be threatened with encirclement.

Bagramian's 1st Baltic army captured 500 populated points in virtually cleaning up Memel territory, a 1,099-square-mile area ceded to Germany by Lithuania in 1939 under German pressure.

In a battle for the frozen wastes of Norway's northcap, Gen. Meretskov's Alpine troops deployed for miles along the Norwegian frontier. It was announced officially they had cut the highway to Kirkenes, big German naval base in Norway.

into the U.S. 3rd Army area. The German radio reported that Allied guns were pounding the fortress of Metz with a heavy artillery barrage. Street fighting for possession of Maisieres Les Metz continued, with the enemy still holding about one-fourth of the town.

Repulse Counters.

The enemy hurled several counter-attacks, with armored support, against the Allied lines near Luneville, but Headquarters reported all were repulsed. North-east of Luneville Allied troops consolidated the gains of their push to the vicinity of Moncourt.

The eastward push of the Allied troops north-east of Brouvelieures was continued by forward units which crossed the Mortagne River at several points. The Allied communique said gains were made in the Vosges Mountains against "stiff resistance."

While one obvious objective of British and Canadian forces is the clearance of the Germans from the vicinity of the Belgian port of Antwerp, German military commentators imputed a broader strategic aim to the assault on 'S Hertogenbosch. They said that Lt.-General Dempsey's men were attempting to cut off German forces south of the Maas (Meuse) and Waal Rhine Rivers and to gain elbow room for a general drive into Central Holland.

The British 2nd Army wiped out a whole battalion of the 712th German Infantry Division and took 500 prisoners, including one regimental and one battalion commander.

The enemy captured 'S Hertogenbosch on May 12, 1940, after German troops in Dutch uniforms seized the city's vital bridges and defence centres. A city of 41,000 population, 'S Hertogenbosch is a junction of five rail lines and is an important centre of motor roads and waterways. It also is known as Bois de Duc.

Switzerland Frees 1,118 Servicemen

A NORTHWEST BRITISH PORT Oct. 24 (CP) — Britain welcomed home Monday 1,118 servicemen repatriated from Switzerland, where they had been interned after escaping from German and Italian prison camps.

The men who landed here were the first home of more than 5,000 Empire soldiers and airmen released in recent weeks by the Swiss after being interned for periods ranging from months to years.

A small number of Canadians were interned in Switzerland, but it was not known immediately whether any of them were with the group which reached here tonight.

extreme north end of the Leyte front retreated before cavalry troops which last night pushed three miles northwest of Tacloban, new provisional capital of the Philippines government.

Gen. MacArthur's communique listed not only the liberation of 11 towns on the island of Leyte but also the complete occupation of the three small islands of Suluan, Dinagat and Homonhon guarding the entrances to Leyte gulf.

Front line dispatches told of Filipino women and children, who took to the hills during the pre-invasion shelling, coming down into liberated communities where they were issued food and clothing.

The list of liberated towns announced included those along the road from Tacloban to Palo.

Attempts to move south of Palo were slowed down in scrub-congested palm plantations flanking the road. Warships in San Pedro Bay poured salvoes into Japanese pockets and carrier planes swept in for low-level bombing and strafing.

Most of the coastal road between Palo and Dulag apparently is in Japanese hands. MacArthur's reports are stressing the inland pushes from Dulga and Palo.

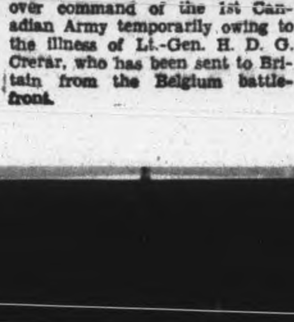
Tokyo radio's version of the situation, for Allied consumption, as recorded last night by the Federal Communications Commission, was that the invaders on Leyte have only a "toehold." The announcer boasted the Americans "would be crushed like an egg shell once the Japanese forces launched full-scale counter-offensive operations." In the same breath, however, he said MacArthur was landing reinforcements.

Man Believed Killed Back With Regiment

Unofficially reported killed overseas several months ago, Cpl. Lloyd Davis has returned to his regiment the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders in France, after a period in which he was missing at the front. The information from his father, Ralph Davis, who went overseas with the same unit, has been received by Mrs. M. Coughlin, College Street, aunt of the yonug soldier.

Fenella Man Injured

Serving overseas with an Eastern Ontario regiment, Pte. James Henry B. Nichols, whose wife, Mrs. Theresa Nichols, lives at Fenella, has been wounded in action, the Department of National Defence announced today.



ARMY COMMANDER—Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, commander of the 2nd Canadian Corps, has taken over command of the 1st Canadian Army temporarily owing to the illness of Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, who has been sent to Britain from the Belgium battlefront.

Half Greece Now Liberated

ROME, Oct. 24—(AP)—British patrols of the Allied land force in Greece have occupied Lamia, approximately 93 miles northwest of Athens, and have pushed north of the town, Allied headquarters announced today.

British forces now have liberated almost half of Greece.

Patrols today were pushing along the main Thermopylae - Larissa road beyond Lamia and some reports put them at more than 100 miles beyond the capital.

Labor Congress

asked for the support of Canadian labor in having recommendations of I.L.C. conventions implemented in Canada.

One of the most important matters at present under consideration by the I.L.C. was the formation of International Industrial Committees to deal with problems of some industries on an international basis.

A reference to post-war problems also came at the night sitting when Percy Bengough, president of the Congress, said he thought it was possible there would have to be a six-day and 30-hour week after the war to provide employment for the 750,000 members of the armed forces and the 1,260,000 workers who have been engaged in war industry.

An appeal for co-operation of Canadian labor in establishment of a continental congress of labor was made at yesterday's afternoon session by Vincente Lombardo Toledano, president of the Confederation of Latin American Workers.

Premier Drew said he believed it was safe to say that Labor Minister Daley of Ontario had introduced more legislation for the advantage of labor during the present year than had been introduced "in any one year since Confederation."

Resents Charges.

He referred to suggestions "that the government of which I am the head is opposed to organized labor."

"You know where those statements come from and why they are made. Isn't it somewhat strange that the first government in Canada to provide holidays with pay as a legal right, and that one of the only two governments in Canada to fix a 48-hour week and an eight-hour day should be charged with opposing organized labor?"

Amendments had been made in the Provincial Workmen's Compensation Act, the Factory and Office Building Act, and other legislation dealing with the rights of labor. Establishment of the Ontario Labor Relations Board had been a forward step of the utmost importance and before it collective baraining was a matter of right.

In Peace Years

"There seems to be some thought that the Ontario Labor Relations Board is only set up for the duration of the war. That is not so. It is set up to carry on into the years of peace. When the war ends and the war emergency has passed, the Dominion regulations will be suspended, but this will not affect any rights established before the Ontario Relations Board, and it will continue to operate as it did before."

The Government owed much to the Congress for suggestions it had made in establishing the Board and in regard to other labor legislation.

The Premier said there had been advertisements in different newspapers under the heading "Drew Must Go," but the Government would not be guided by advice of that kind.

"We will go to you as we have in the past, knowing that we will receive sincere, thoughtful and useful advice. We will go to other public-spirited Canadians for advice. But neither now nor at any time in the future will I go to the Canadian Communists or their fellow-travellers for advice as to what I ought to do as the head of the Government of Ontario.."

Lord Davies Is Killed In Action

LONDON, Oct. 24 — (CP). — Major Lord David Davies, 29, reputedly the wealthiest man in the British Army, has been killed in action with the Royal Welsh Fusiliers, it was announced Sunday. Lord Davies previously had been reported missing in action when he was taken prisoner Aug. 16, but he persuaded his German captors to surrender instead. His father, the late Baron of Llandinam, contributed $8,000,000 to charities.

Lady Davies, and some of the younger children came to Toronto early in the war and lived there for three years. The two younger brothers of the late Major Lord Davies were at Upper Canada College when they enlisted. Hon. Edward Davies is with the R.A.F. in the East and Hon. Islwyn in the Royal Navy. His two sisters are also in the services, Hon. Mary in the Canadian Wrens and Hon. Jean in the WAAC's.

Major Lord Davies leaves a widow and two little children. Lord Davies was the head of a big colliery company in South Wales. His Welsh seat was Plas Dinam, Llandinam.

Germans Renew Robot Barrage

LONDON, Oct. 24 —(CP)— The Germans struck twice at Britain last night with their flying bombs, ending a 48-hour lull that followed 11 successive nights of attack.

The double assault, which appeared more intense than any recent raids, was met by terrific anti-aircraft fire, but a number of the robots penetrated the barrage.

One crashed in the centre of a town in southern England, plunging into a garage and setting fire to many automobiles and trucks. Gasoline-tank explosions rocked the whole town and flames shot 100 feet into the air. An elderly couple living above the garage was critically injured.

Hon. W. D. Black Dies At Age 77

OTTAWA, Oct. 24 (CP)—Hon. W. D. Black, 77, former Conservative Speaker of the Ontario Legislature and well known lumberman, died in hospital here today after an illness of two weeks.

Dean of the Provincial Legislature for many years, Mr. Black, a native of Inkerman, Ont., represented Addington continuously from 1911 until he retired last year. He served as speaker from 1927 to 1930.

Until dissolving the partnership several years ago, Mr. Black was associated with the Black and Wagar Lumber Company, near Timagami, Ont., for a lengthy period.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at his home at Parham, Ont.

Obituaries

MRS. EARL LAING

NORWOOD, Oct. 24—(ENS)—Ra- and Mrs. Earl Laing of Rochester were motoring to visit at Norwood with Mrs. E. Laing, Mr. Laing's mother, and his sister, Mrs. W. H. Giffen, when they stopped to visit relatives of Mrs. E. Laing's at Colborne. Mrs. Laing suffered a stroke at 5:45 and passed away at 6:10 Saturday evening. The remains were taken to Rochester for burial on Wednesday.

Mrs. W. H. Giffen has gone to Rochester.

MRS. R. F. RADDEN

A resident of Peterborough for almost two years, and a former resident of Norwood, Mrs. Mary Belle Radden, formerly Mary Belle MacNaughton, 282 McFarlane avenue, died Monday at the home of her sisters, 476 Driscoll Terrace, after an illness that began in August. Mrs. Radden was in her 64th year.

The daughter of the late Donald MacNaughton and Elizabeth Kidd, she was born in Dummer township. During the time she lived in Norwood, Mrs. Radden belonged to Norwood Baptist Church, and took an active part in activities. Along with being secretary of the Women's Mission Circle, she was a Sunday School teacher, and organist. She also held membership in the W.C.T.U. While in Peterborough, Mrs. Radden was a member of Murray Street Baptist Church.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, R. F. Raden, two daughters, Mrs. J. H. Curtis (Clara), of Port Burwell, Mrs. Gerald MacMillan (Belle), of Peterborough, and two sons, James, of Pennsylvania, and Donald, of Peterborough. Also surviving are three sisters, Mrs. C. E. Purdy, of Edmonton, Miss Jessie MacNaughton and Mrs. Ross MacNaughton, both of Peterborough, and two brothers, Alexander of Peterborough, and Maxwell, of Newmarket.

The funeral will be Thursday at three o'clock, from the Nisbett Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street, to Norwood Baptist Church, where Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe will be in charge of the service. Interment will be in Norwood Cemetery.

Girl 23 Marries Egyptian At 55

LONDON, Oct. 24—(CP-Reuter).— Dr. Hassan Nachat Pasha, 55-year-old Egyptian Ambassador to Great Britain, was married today to a 23-year-old nursery school mistress, Patricia Mary Pansy Priest, of Sparkling Brook, Luppitt, Devonshire.

In one of the most picturesque and unusual ceremonies ever seen in London, witnessed by many members of the London diplomatic corps, Sheikh Hafez Wahba, Saudi Arabian Minister here, conducted the Moslem ceremony of marriage in an English translation. The ceremony began with the intonation of verses from the Koran but the bride and groom said "I will" in English.

Dr. Nachat Pasha automatically has to resign his post as Ambassador as under Egyption law no diplomat is allowed to marry a foreign bride.

His wife has adopted the Moslem religion.

KITCHENER, Oct. 24 (CP) — Waterloo County Council find itself with a new "deputy warden" recently—but not for long. That's the title members bestowed upon an inebriate found "sleeping it off" in the council chamber by the building superintendent. The man was handed over to police.

Rambling Reporter

AT LONG LAST

One of these days Peterborough is going to discover within its musical precincts and talent a band of pipes and drums that is now being organised somewhere in the south end, reportedly in the vicinity of the C.G.E. Alex Clark and Alderman Sands confirm recent rumors which could be true, especially that C.G.E. connection, since the works manager is himself of Scottist descent with a penchant for plaid ties. The story isn't particularly new around the big plant. In fact it is said to have been reported in the Shop News, but the band is not yet ready for general circulation and performance, and the story goes that they are making no premiere appearance until they are ready to give a good account of themselves. And that's in Scottish character. But, there'll come a day!

Research enterprises, Toronto, announced that as early as last Tuesday their 5,400 workers had rolled up $772,000 on a $532,000 objective. Humberstone Shoe Company, Humberstone, Ont., exceeded even this record. Two weeks before the books opened $26,000 had been subscribed on a $21,000 quota, every worker pledging a purchase.

Lethbridge, Alta., set what is believed to be a precedent on the first day of the loan by closing all liquor stores and beer parlors and, at the close of the canvass on the initial day of the drive, reported 323 subscriptions totalling $46,350. Calgary had 566 subscriptions for $271,150.

Farmers of the Peterborough, Ont., area staged an enterprising auction in which goods went to the highest bidder of bonds. The sale realized $27,500. One item raffled was an $85 broadloom rug for which 33 farmers each bid a $50 bond. A $67 cream separator brought $1,200 in bonds.

Large subscriptions reported earlier included Shawinigan Water and Power Co., and Associated Companies, Montreal, $5,000,000; Crown Life Insurance Co., Toronto, $3,000,000; Western Savings and Loan Association, Winnipeg, $1,500,000; Lake of the Woods Milling Co., Montreal, $750,000 and Wawanesa Mutual Insurance Co., Wawanesa, Man., $350,000.

The army overseas announced that it had reached 84 per cent of its total objective. In Canada, the troops had subscribed more than 50 per cent of their total objective at the end of the first day of selling. Canvassing overseas began Oct. 12.

60 Britishers Wed Swiss In Internment

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Oct. 24 —(CP Cable)— Home from internment in Switzerland, British servicemen voiced the almost unanimous opinion to-day that the Swiss people long for Allied victory over Germany and even German-speaking Swiss are certain it will come within three months.

The 1,119 repatriates, who arrived at a north-west port yesterday after being interned for periods ranging from months to several years, started home leave to-day. There were no Canadians in the grou[p] but a few are expected among th[e] more than 4,000 Empire fighting men yet to arrive.

It was a quiet homecoming because it was kept secret, but a better day than yesterday for the return to Britain could not have been chosen for it was the second anniversary of the British 8th Army victory at El Alamein—described by Field-Marshal Montgomery as "the turning point of the war."

Most of the men had served under the Field-Marshal when he commanded the 8th Army in the Middle East and each had defied bars and guards or fought or wangled his way from captivity in Italy to neutral Switzerland.

All spoke highly of the Swiss people and the treatment received. About 60 of them had married Swiss girls.

Internment regulations were not severe and a Scots Guards member who married a Swiss girl was allowed to live with his wife's fami[ly].

Task Of Church Stressed At Anniversary

ROSENEATH, Oct. 24—(ENS)—Speaking from his pulpit in Centenary United Church at the morning anniversary service on Sunday, Rev. R. C. White on the subject "The Significance of the White Spires in a Thousand Villages," said these spires stand with pointing fingers, as a friendly warning, as towers of strong rebuke to the bitter enemies of Christ and as towers of kindly light to those who stumble in sin, they are the sunrise of God Himself. These points were the basis of a sermon stressing the importance today as never before, of the significance of the task of the church.

Fenella United Church choir had charge of the morning service of music, singing two anthems, and a quartette, the latter made up of W. A. Macklin and Mesdames W. I. Montgomery, N. C. Leach and F. Minor.

Rev. Preston Brown, of the Camborne charge, was the guest speaker at the evening service. He spoke from the text, "All This Is Yours," under four headings, a whole Christ for my salvation, a whole Bible for my staff of life, a whole church for my fellowship, a whole world for my parish.

This was the framework of a sermon challenging the Christian church to remember Christians no longer live in a community of a nation, but in a world, and before it can be possessed for Christ, their own little realm must first be possessed, beginning with the individual for then, "All things are yours."

Roseneath United Church choir led in the service of song. A quartette of Mrs. Sam Black and Misses Margaret, Clarice and Betty Atkinson sang "Day is Dying in the West". A double quartette, Misses A. Mouncey, L. Brown, D. Roberts and B. McMillan and Messrs. D. Coyle, J. Beatty, V. Morrow and A. Atkinson sang, "Saviour Again To Thy Dear Name We Raise," and a full choir sang, "Brother James Air."

Church Observes 79th Anniversary

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 24 — (ENS). — Larger congregations at both the morning and evening services were present at St. John's United Church on the occasion of the 79th anniversary. The pastor, Rev. G. N. Maxwell, B.A., B.D., took the morning service and the Rev. Dr. Semple, B.A., D.Th. of Bridge street United Church, Belleville, and who is called as pastor of George street United Church in Peterborough took the evening service.

The choir under the direction of the organist, Mr. Charles A. Harvey, rendered music that was inspiring to all who were privileged to attend.

Mr. Maxwell chose as his text the following passage of scripture, "Ye Are the Body of Christ". He said that the church at one time moulded the policies of the realm and today demands our best for as the conscience is the soul of the church, so is the church, the soul of the state. It is a living company of holiness — the feet, hands, eyes, ear and heart of Christ.

At the morning service the choir rendered the anthem, "The Earth is the Lord's", Mrs. A. G. Watson sang beautifully, "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings", Mr. Samuel Castle of Peterborough, solo, "Just for Today", was greatly appreciated.

At the evening service Dr. Semple expressed his gratitude for the invitation to be present for the anniversary services. His text from Zackariah 8—(4 and 5) said, "There shall yet, old men and old women dwell in the streets of Jerusalem and the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing", told of the rebuilding of Jerusalem, in the redeemed city, age would make its contribution. They would lay the foundations in the fear of God.

While all the boys and girls had the right to a place to play. This is an important part of the church's duty. "Christian education of the parents and provision for relaxation which provides for the coming generation true values in courage, obedience and character on which no price can be set. Education must be placed in the hands of the right people or it is dangerous. The best educated nation in the world "Germany", turned out to be a nation of butchers. It is on, the concern for the young and old, that the church of today must be built, the foundation of the church spoken of by Zachariah."

In addition to the anthems rendered by the choir at the evening service, a male quartette composed of Messrs. Samuel Castle, H. M. Donald, Harold Price and Harold Twigg, sang very effectively, "I Want My Life to All for Jesus".

Cat Brings Fox Home Gore's Landing Farm

GORE'S LANDING, Oct. 24 — (ENS). — A cat lead home a fox on the farm of Norman Waldon this week, on the outskirts of Gore's Landing. Hearing the fox barking, Mr. Waldon and his son Lloyd went out to locate Master Reynard. Walking slowly along about ten feet ahead of the fox was the farm cat who stopped once in awhile to turn and hiss at her pursuer.

Lloyd Waldon tried to sneak up on the fox with his rifle but the fox saw him and bounded away. About two weeks ago, he shot a fine specimen.

Personals

With Capt. Helen Delaney in charge eight Girl Guides met at the home of Lieut. Margaret Ball and packed four ditty bags at their weekly meeting. The Guides are taking on three more ditty bags. A church parade of the Guides is to be held on November 12 to the United Church.

Mrs. Davis is returning to London for the winter after visiting her sister and brother, Miss Jennie and Tom Fowlie.

Rev. Lloyd Delaney and Mrs. Delaney with baby Paul are taking their vacation the next two weeks. On Sunday, October 29, Rev. K. D. Whatmough of St. Nicholas Church, Birch Cliff, a former rector, will preach at St. George's.

Miss Dorothy Harris, Toronto, spent the week-end at her home, Glen Lynden Farm.

Mrs. Goode and Miss Mary Goode closed their summer home this week-end and returned to Toronto.

A successful euchre and crokinole party was held in the public library on Friday evening, proceeds to build a cupboard for the library.

A real esatte deal was concluded this week by the sale of the north east corner lot, opposite the post office and bordering the county and township roads. Ray Pomeroy of Noval, son of Sidney Pomeroy of this village was the purchaser from Mrs. Milton Ames. Mr. Pomeroy intends to build a store and dwelling-house on the property commencing next spring.

DIDN'T HAVE PERMIT

MALVERN, England — (CP). — An 83-year-old farmer was committed for trial on a charge of growing canary seeds without a licence.

Wrong Certificate

COBOURG, Oct. 24 — (ENS) — Charged with having a registration certificate which was not his own, Kenneth Nicholls of Toronto, appeared in police court Monday and was remanded until Thursday afternoon. As the youth, who is 16, is employed, the magistrate did not remand him in custody but directed him to return Thursday or he would be picked up.

Return Of General MacArthur

It has been two years and seven months since the American forces were driven from the Philippines; when they left, General Douglas MacArthur gave his solemn promise to the Filipinos that he would return. Last Friday he did so, and with him were President Osmena and Colonel Romulo; they spoke to the islands by radio, and MacArthur was able to say, "I have returned". It was a great moment for the islands, and a great moment for the United States of America. The loss of the Philippines was a severe blow to American pride, and, it must be said, a shock to American official complacency; now, after defeats and bitter fighting, the tide has turned, and the American forces are moving backward toward Japan.

The fight will not be easy, and there is still a very long way to go. Leyte is 400 miles south of Manila, and more than 1,000 miles from Japan. To make sure of their hold on the Philippines the American forces will have to fight to the western coast of Luzon, and will have to neutralize Mindanao. They lost the islands because they were short of sea and air power, and they will be able to retake them because they are now amply supplied with those necessities. The only factor which can seriously impede their progress is the Japanese fleet, which has been avoiding action for some time. The question is: do the Japs want the Philippines badly enough to risk their fleet in a fight for them?

• • •

The Filipinos may be depended on for all the help that they can give. They have President Roosevelt's promise that when the Japs have been cleared out "the Philippines will take their place as a free and independent member of the family of nations". They know MacArthur, and have admired and trusted him for years. His dramatic fulfillment of his promise to return will deepen their affection and their trust for him and the nation which he represents. When the Japanese made their spectacular thrusts in the Pacific, reaching a point where an invasion of Australia was extremely probable, the prestige of the white races fell disastrously among the Pacific peoples. Many of those peoples have since had a chance to try Japanese control, and they have not been impressed with Japanese honour or good intentions. They may be glad to see the white men returning; it is unlikely that white domination in the Pacific will ever be what it was in the past. But it might be reconstituted on a more equitable foundation; surely the disasters of this war will have taught us a few things about the East which we did not understand before.

• • •

The United Nations will rejoice with the United States in MacArthur's return to the Philippines. British, Dutch and French—we have all suffered humiliation at the hands of the Japs, and we shall not be content until old scores have been wiped out. Canadians, who remember Hong Kong, will celebrate with their neighbours across the border. Slowly and painfully the tentacles of the Japanese octopus are being pushed back toward the head; the work is slow, but it is satisfactory and thorough.

M. Twain And M. King

To be frank, we did not know that there was such a thing as an International Mark Twain Society until the other day, when we read that the Rt. Hon. W. L. M. King had consented to be Canada's representative in it. Apparently the late Stephen Leacock used to be the Canadian in this literary organization, hobnobbing at long distance with Winston Churchill, President Roosevelt and Bernard Shaw, who are also members; now Mr. King has taken his place. So far as we can discover, the Society never meets; perhaps, once a year on Mark Twain's birthday (Nov. 30) the members raise their glasses wherever they may happen to be, and toast the Immortal Memory. This year Mr. King will perform that rite with a foaming beaker of lemonade.

We had not suspected Mr. King of an interest in Mark Twain. It is well known that he is something of a specialist in the poety of Matthew Arnold, and he has quoted Browning with taste and discretion in some of his speeches. But Mark Twain is different. True, Taft said of him when he died that he had never written a line which a father could not read to his daughter, but there is a ribaldry in his attitude toward life which we should hardly have expected to appeal to the Prime Minister. Mr. King is polished, astute, censorious, urbane and vigorous when need be, but no one has ever accused him of being a joker. We cannot recall a single instance in which he has ever make a remark or told a story in public which could possibly be construed as funny.

Maybe this is another evidence of his celebrated political acumen. People do not like statesmen to be funny. Recently Mr. Roosevelt made a speech with a number of good jokes in it and a section of the press dropped on him like a ton of bricks, and accused him of trying to wisecrack his way back into office. Sometimes — very often indeed — Mr. Churchill makes jokes, and there are plenty of people who do not like it; they expect a statesman always to be on his high horse. In Canada Sir John A. Macdonald used to crack jokes now and again, and the result is that he is still remembered as a flighty old party by the more severe elements of the nation. And it is notorious that Abraham Lincoln's love of funny stories disgusted thousands of Americans, who could not imagine that a man might be a joker and a great man at the same time.

The world always mistrusts jokers. We hope that Mr. King is not getting into bad company. We shall scan all his future speeches with an eagle eye. One pun and he's done!

The Death Of David Williams

Newspapermen all over Canada will regret the death of David Williams of Collingwood, who edited the weekly Bulletin in that community for 48 years. Mr. Williams was one of those men who leave a very considerable mark upon the world without achieving spectacular recognition for themselves. He was one of the founders of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, he was active for many years in the Ontario Hospitals Association, and he was one of the founders of that admirable institution, the Huron Institute. In addition to his public work he edited and published a first-rate weekly newspaper. These are his memorials; he would ask nothing better than to be remembered as one who made an honest contribution to their efficacy and their fame.

He was well known and well liked in the newspaper world. In December, 1941, when the University of Toronto wanted to honour an editor from the weekly newspaper field, David Williams was chosen, and it was thought entirely fitting that he should be granted an LL.D. as representative of his profession. The honour was richly deserved, but he wore it not for himself, but for his colleagues also.

He was for many years a member of the Ontario Historical Association, and was at one time president of that body. His special interest was the history of the Huron Indians, and he did some excellent field-work on that subject, and encouraged others to do so. The foundation of the Huron Institute was almost wholly his work, and that collection of 10,000 pieces, adequately housed and catalogued, represents hundreds of hours of study, search and research; it is one of the finest museums in Canada, and an invaluable contribution to Canadian historical scholarships. Mr. Williams also published a comprehensive catalogue of the Huron collection.

David Williams served his community and his country long, patiently and intelligently. It is pleasant to know that he thoroughly enjoyed his life, and found his reward in the work which will grow in value as time passes.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Suggestion for the coming municipal elections: ration voting, and then watch the rush to the polls!

Making Film History With "Henry V"

By CATHERINE CAMERON
(British Film Critic)

IT is just twenty years now since Laurence Olivier started acting. Already before the war he was recognized as one of Britain's leading young actors, and, perhaps a greater distinction, as one of the best Shakespearean actors. But what does he represent? How can his work as an artist be summed up? At first it would seem that it is too early to start summing up the career of a young man of 37. However, Olivier himself gives a lead by having once said "My career has been very regular in shape."

In 1921 as a schoolboy of 14 he took the part of Katherine in the "Taming of the Shrew" by Shakespeare. It was during a festival at Stratford on Avon, the poet's birthplace, and, as in Elizabethan times, the women's parts were played by boys. He took a course at the Central School of Dramatic Art in London, famous for elocution and the special study of traditional acting, and went on the stage in 1924, starting at the very bottom and working up after some years to leading parts. The first of these was Tchekhov's "Uncle Vanya."

From 1926 to 1928 he played with the Birmingham Repertory Company and it was not until 1930 that he first went on the screen. Since then, until the outbreak of war, his work alternated between stage and screen, and though he has played perhaps three times as many stage roles as screen roles, he is probably more famous as a film-star because films reach a greater public.

THIS is indeed a familiar pattern: through stage to screen. The careers of many successful English actors in the 1930's conformed to it. One reason is that Britain's film industry had not been established on a large scale long enough to represent a whole-time alternative to the stage. But this is not the fundamental reason. Englishmen are introduced to Shakespearean tradition as children long before they come to choose their vocation. Those who wanted to become serious actors before the war instinctively thought of the theatre as the home of dramatic art and this had a profound effect on their technique and later on their style on the screen.

In 1938 when Olivier had returned to the stage in Shakespeare's "Othello" after a spell on the screen, he spoke nostalogically of the "freedom on the stage which films haven't got." He was voicing a feeling common to many actors. Since the war the great beauty and originality of several British films has gradually changed all this. New talent has come straight to the screen without any apprenticeship at the theatre and Olivier himself, who had been released from the Navy at the Ministry of Information's special request in order to make films, has been instrumental in developing a new and very national technique of film acting as an independent art.

Although he has appeared in many classical plays, both in England and U.S., it is for his performance in Shakespeare that Olivier is best remembered as a stage actor. "It has been a fight against the old school" he says. Above all it has been experimental and tentative work in a period of changing values not only in the theatre but in society itself.

AT the end of the 1920's producers were searching for some new manner in which to present Shakespeare and in 1928 Olivier played Malcolm in a modern dress version of "Macbeth." He repeated a similar experiment later but it was not here that he considers he broke tradition. This came later in "Romeo and Juliet" during a Shakespeare season in 1935 when Olivier played Mercutio and later Romeo. In his own words he played with great "naturalness." Critics of the day granted him that, but a phrase from a "Times" review of his performance as Mercutio is perhaps more revealing: "Never was a man so nearly and so well pleased with himself, intoxicated with the light and heady wines of genius."

Then two years later Olivier joined the famous Old Vic Company for its 1937 season of Shakespeare — the most coveted achievement on the English stage. He played the most famous roles and by this time his "fight against the old" had resulted in performances which were characteristic not only of Olivier but of the trend of the day. As Macbeth he stressed the process of deterioration in a man not naturally evil. He delighted in Henry V as the heroic inspirer of a small army which routs another five times its size.

When a year later he played Iago in "Othello" he was as much concerned with explaining his character as interpreting it on the stage. Analyzing Iago's jealously he said: "It might happen to anyone....suppose one were condemned to playing extras instead of decent parts....if it hadn't been for jealousy Iago might have been a great man." This inclination to uncover the fundamental good in human nature and always to take into account the many-sidedness of any character was a result of the analytical mood of the time. But once having got his line on a character, Olivier's compositions were more emotional than intellectual, very personal and often original.

The older generation sometimes asks: but where is the "grand manner" nowadays? remembering no doubt actors of the stature of Henry Irving at the end of the last century. Just what the new grand manner will be we may discover soon: values are changing very rapidly. If we remember that in England moderation has been a virtue for a long time, that understatement is liked and rant abhorred, it is understandable that in acting emphasis should be put on restraint and suggestion. Olivier attracted attention for example, by expressing Henry V's fortitude, something which is hard to represent on the stage.

ON the screen Olivier's most outstanding successes have been in historical films or films based on classics. Several of these, including "Lady Hamilton," be made in Hollywood. His approach to an historical film role is of course different from his approach to a stage part: Olivier's first thought is to make himself intelligible to a much broader public. So rather than work out a characterization which might not be understood he decided to play Nelson to the popular conception. He felt it was enmorously important in the critical days of 1940 to make a success of a film about one of England's greatest national heroes. In fact, Olivier probably achieved something between the two: he admits himself "as I learnt more and more about Nelson I was completely in love with him, and had forgotten all I had determined to do."

Olivier's work as director and actor on the technicolor film of "Henry V" recently completed, has aroused the liveliest interest in both film and theatre circles. It was a daring venture in wartime and a completely new departure. Olivier approached his task in the most ambitious way—there was no question here of simplifying the character of one of history's great eccentrics, as Nelson was, to the "popular conception."

If anything, as Olivier puts it, "the difficulty in Henry V's character is its complete straightforwardness." He canot fail to put into it much of his own experience and thought when he plays the part on the stage. But a film version offers enormous possibilities and Olivier has endeavoured to achieve poetic realism, to create the illusion of looking at the past through the familiar images of Shakespeare's imagination. Only the film medium can do real justice to scenes such as the Battle of Agincourt, and Olivier's fine rhetoric at the breach of Harfleur on the stage will sound infinitely more impressive on a reconstructed battlefield in the open.

"Henry V" was chosen as a wartime production because it is a traditional English play with martial spirit. To what extent Olivier has succeeded in the great double task of directing the film and playing the name part will soon be seen. At all events his professed aim of restoring naturalness to characters dimmed by centuries of traditional interpretation is in harmony with the spirit of the poet's works, of which Dr. Johnson wrote: "This is the praise of Shakespeare that his drama is the mirror of life; that he who has mazed his imagination in following the phantoms which other writers raise up before him, may here be cured of his delirious ecstasies by reading human sentiments in human language."

Taxes Affect Everybody

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

THERE still prevails in many quarters the delusion that taxes are paid by, and are therefore the sole concern of, only those upon whom the burden of tax levies falls directly. Even among taxpayers, those who pay nominal or modest amounts often succumb to the fallacious notion that the impact of taxes as a whole is borne chiefly by business enterprise and the wealthy or moderately well-to-do individual.

Actually, of course, the effect of taxation and even the material payments have boundless ramifications that extend to every single citizen of this country, and are an important governor bearing in the economic machinery upon which depends the welfare of those citizens. Directly or indirectly, in one way or another taxes come from the pockets of everybody as part of the cost of all goods and services consumed. Whether hidden as a sales tax or other levy at the source, or as an unavoidable portion of costs which the producer or distributor must absorb in his prices, taxes are a levy on the whole social and political body of the nation.

Sober realization of this fundamental truth is important to the intelligent, balanced disposition of the tax problems which are mounting up to be faced in the post-war period. These are problems which must be grasped and dealt with as a comprehensive whole. They embrace provincial and municipal as well as federal taxation and their combined aggregate effect on the industrial and economic progress of the population generally.

Canada will enter the peace years with a stupendous war debt which, it should be emphasized, was assumed for and is the responsibility of the Canadian people. If inflationary further borrowing or chaotic repudiation is to be avoided, the Canadian people and the whole economy must provide the taxes with which to meet the carrying charges on this debt and reduce the principal. At the same time there are in prospect ambitious and costly programs of social security and reconstruction. These, too, will have to be financed by taxation affecting the ebb and flow of economic activity.

There is clearly an imperative need to apply some measures of restraint and balance to government spending, not only by the federal authorities but by provincial and municipal agencies as well. Some provinces and municipalities have taken advantage of war-stimulated increases in revenues to reduce debt.

Taxing Co-Operatives

(WINNIPEG FREE PRESS)

EVERYONE will agree that there should be no unfair discrimination in the collection of taxes, and that there should be no exemptions that are not clearly justified. Private companies, paying heavy income and excess profits taxes, protested that wheat co-operatives were exempt from these taxes, though some of them were doing a large business and they all distributed their profits among their members and customers.

This complaint appeared to be justified. If the Government is going to tax profits, why should it not, in fairness, tax all profits? The Finance Department decided that co-operatives were legally liable for the income tax, but this ruling is disputed by the co-operatives, and the case is coming up shortly in the Alberta courts.

In the meantime, the Co-operative Elevator Associations of the three prairie provinces have reduced their handling charges on grain by two cents a bushel, for the purpose of eliminating their profits and the taxes for which they might be liable, or nearly so.

This reduction in rates will make the competition very stiff for the private companies, but no exception should be taken to charges being reduced. Indeed, the most active competition is desirable in the public interest, but as Mr. G. S. Thorvaldson said in a recent speech in Toronto, to be fair it must be competition based on equality of taxation. If the co-operatives' ability to reduce charges is based on an accumulation of untaxed surpluses in the past, it is obviously quite unfair and illustrates clearly what can happen to private business under a system which imposes a minimum tax of 40 per cent. plus excess profits tax on all income of private companies and permits co-operatives to accumulate unlimited surpluses paying no income tax whatever.

On the other hand, if the wheat pools are obliged to pay the income tax and arrears which the Finance Department claim is due on the same basis as the private companies have been taxed and are still able to conduct their business at the new reduced rates, they should be highly commended for their efficiency. The problem raised here is one which should be faced without delay. At a time when income taxes were comparatively light no great harm resulted from tax exemptions, but the gross injustice of such a system is thrown into sharp relief by the very high rates of war taxation. In 1943, privately owned corporations contributed in excess of $750 millions in income taxes. These taxes are essential to the conduct of the war and th maintenance of government in this country. At the same time a very large volume of business of a highly profitable character, frequently in direct competition with these private companies, was conducted by untaxed co-operatives, mutual companies, and state-owned enterprises which paid no income tax at all.

Life Imitates Art

Heath Robinson died in a world afflicted by lethal contraptions more weird than anything he so engagingly drew. Life, as Oscar Wilde insisted, imitates art. Heath Robinson especially satirized the labour-saving device which gives us so much trouble. He would picture infinities of mechanism devoted to something easily done by hand. Here, too, his art was ahead of life's reality. We have only to think of modern man's gigantic expenditures of work, wealth, and brains merely to achieve manslaughter. For Cain it was so simple.—London Observer.

OTHER PEOPLE'S HOUSES

Other people's houses! I wonder if you heard a sort of groan in my voice when I said that? You see, I haven't been able to live in my own home in London since 1939. Five years—that's quite a piece out of my life. It's even more of a piece out of my children's lives.

It's a good thing one can't see ahead. I used to keep going by saying to myself, "Just a few months more and we'll be back in our own home." Well—it's five years now, and I'm still in someone else's house!

Other people's houses! How tired I am of them! I expect I speak for thousands of women all over Britain today, when I say that after the war I want to get back into my own home, and just settle down quietly and not move out of it again—oh, for years!—Sylvia Austen, in BBC Overseas Press.

A Bible Message

Hear ye the word of the Lord, O house of Jacob, and all the families of the house of Israel: Thus saith the Lord, What iniquity have your fathers found in me, that they are gone far from me, and have walked after vanity, and are become vain?.... For my people have committed two evils; they have forsaken me the fountain of living waters, and hewed them out cisterns, broken cisterns, that can hold no water....

Thine own wickedness shall correct thee, and thy backslidings shall reprove thee: know therefore and see that it is an evil thing and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my fear is not in thee, saith the Lord God of hosts. (Jer. 2: 4, 5, 13, 19.)

The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him. But if the wicked will turn from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die....

Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye have transgressed; and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel? For I have no pleasure in the death of him that dieth saith the Lord God: wherefore turn yourselves and live ye. (Ezek. 18: 20, 21, 31, 32.)

HIJACKERS IN BRITAIN

Essex C.I.D. officers admitted that they were still baffled by the hold-up of a lorry carrying £12,000 worth of cigarettes and tobacco on the old "Dick Turpin" highway at Margaretting, Essex.

Waving a red lamp on a lonely part of the London-Ipswich road, a gang of masked men stopped the lorry, dragged out the driver, John Spurgeon, of Woodbridge, Suffolk, his mate Walter Woodward of Ipswich, and a soldier whom they had given a lift. They locked the three in a hut.

Their lorry was found empty and abandoned in Tottenham, London.—London Chronicle.

ITALIANS WELL FED

Railwaymen at a Birmingham station said yesterday that Italian co-operators working with them were better fed—and threw away some of their food.

The Italians, they said, often waste whole loaves.

One worker said: "When you think of the cost in lives to the Merchant Navy it makes you sick to see the food thrown away because they are not hungry.

"I have children who would be pleased to have some of it."

They arrive at 9.30 a.m. in uncrowded motor coaches.

A railwayman said: "As workmen they aren't worth anything. It takes 16 of them a full day to fill in a trench 6 yards long, 3 feet wide and 3 feet deep."

At 4 p.m. the coaches come to collect them. And for the day's work each man gets 1s 6d.

The railwaymen work from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m. and their lunch baskets usually have only bread, margarine and jam—from the family ration.—London Express.

Unconsidered Trifles

"I'm so sorry to keep breakfast waiting," said the husband, coming down about half an hour late. "What am I having with the dried egg, dear?"

"Dried bacon," replied his wife, grimly.

The first ball delivered spreadeagled the stumps. In ominous silence the officer laid down the bat and stalked away, while the entire gang went wild with joy.

"What's the matter?" asked the startled guest. "Why are you all so pleased?"

"Wouldn't you be pleased?" chuckled a gunner. "He's been in three weeks!"

Senator Ball Bolts Party

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 — (AP) — Senator Joseph H. Ball (Rep.-Minn.) announced to-day: "I shall vote for and support President Roosevelt."

The opposition senator, abandondoning his party for the presidential race, said Mr. Roosevelt had met the foreign policy issue more squarely than had Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

In his Saturday night speech on foreign relations. Sen. Ball said President Roosevelt kept record of action by "meeting squarely and unequivocably the two vital and controversial issues on which the isolationists kept us out of the League of Nations and will fight our entry into the United Nations Security Organization."

The senator added in a statement:

"He insisted that the United Nations organization be formed without delay, before hostilities cease, and that it be granted power to use military force against future aggressors without requiring individual approval of each member nation. . . ."

Miss Florence Brockies made 60 pounds of candy, which were placed in coffee tins and included in each parcel were socks, shoe laces, cheese, peas, sardines, prem, handkerchiefs, oxo, soup, chocolate bars, gum, krackley nuts and Christmas cake, also tape and bath powder.

YANKS ADVANCE ACROSS GERMAN COUNTRYSIDE—Across long stretches of barren fields and farmland, men of the American infantry are seen making their way cautiously in a section beyond Kohlscheid, Germany. While the barns and farm houses have a simple rustic appearance, they might well prove to be enemy nests. Latest German sources report the Allies preparing for one of the greatest offensives of the war from Holland to the Swiss border.

Lying In Mud Canadians Hold Italian Bridgehead

By BILL ROSS
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, Oct. 24.—(CP Cable.)—Canadian troops of Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes' 1st Division last night clung with determination to a bridgehead they established Friday night across the Savio river.

The small groups of men holding the bridgehead lay on their bellies in mud, rain drenching them, through Saturday night. Sunday the sun shone down on them but they still were lying in mud, unable to move because of the vigilance of German forces around them.

The rain had swollen the turbulent Savio, which flows through Cesena and northward to the Adriatic northwest of Cervia, into a raging torrent making it difficult to get supplies and reinforcements across to the bridgehead force.

Lieut. O. R. Brown of Cardston, Alta., officer at a regimental headquarters, characterized the foothold west of the river as a place "which you sit into hold and defend. If he (the enemy) comes at you he's dead, If you go to him you're dead."

Maj. Ted Cutbill of Montreal, led over the first group Friday night. Shelling and mortaring was so intense that a company sharing the attack to the right withdrew. But Cutbill's men hung on.

They were relieved when other battalions later crossed the Savio followed by men of their own unit, bringing food and ammunition.

A prairie unit and a western Canada formation which followed across went under cover of barrages from 8th Army field and medium artillery regiments together with all the divisional mortar and heavy machine-guns in an integrated artillery fire plan.

'S Hertogenbosch Name In Holland

By The Canadian Press

It isn't a printer's error when you see the name 'S Hertogenbosch in dispatches describing the British 2nd Army's drive westward in Holland. That is the correct name of an important Netherlands communications centre now in German hands. T. Elink Schurman, consul-general of the Netherlands in New York, explains that the prefix "S" is the Netherlands form of the definite article in the genitive sense. Hertog means "duke" and bosch means "wood," he said, so the name, literally translated, means the wood of the duke.

Baptismal Service

MILLBROOK, Oct. 24 (ENS) — The rite of baptism was administered previous to the sermon in St. Andrew's church on Sunday morning, the minister, Rev. A. L. Sisco, performing the sacrament, the parents who presented their children including: Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Olan, and baby daughter, Maryline Gale; Mr. and Mrs. Stanford Brown, and baby son, John Wesley; Mr. and Mrs. Orville Challice, and baby son, Donald Milton; and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ingram, their baby son, Bernard Wesley, wearing an heirloom dress of finely-tucked lawn which has been in the family for seventy-five years. The baby's mother, grandmother, and other relatives have been baptised in this robe.

Euchre Party Raises Money For Parcels

HAVELOCK, Oct. 24 — (ENS) — Mrs. Roy Longmuir was hostess Friday evening for a euchre party sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the 149th Squadron Aid Cadets when six tables were played.

The first prize, a 5½ pound chicken was won by Mrs. O. Parcels with the second prize, a box of groceries, going to Mrs. B. Longmuir. The proceeds amounted to $6.25, which is being donated to the Eastern Star Patriotic Association to assist their fund for sending Christmas cheer boxes to members of the Armed Forces from this district.

Present Scholarships To Downeyville Pupils

DOWNEYVILLE, Oct. 24 — (ENS). — An enjoyable time was spent at the Hall Friday evening at the presentation of the scholarships for the Continuation School for the past year.

The Andrew Morrissey scholarship was won by Teresa Lucas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. M. Lucas and the Catholic Women's League scholarship was won by Rachael Lucas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. S. Lucas. The athletes cup was won by Frank Herlihey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Herlihey. Rev. Father McFadden was chairman for the occasion.

Bodies Recovered

KINGSTON, Oct. 24.—Bodies of a man and woman found in the St. Lawrence river yesterday near Long Point on nearby Wolfe Island have been identified as F. W. Bothwell, 33, and his wife, Katherine, 28, of Kingston. The couple went fishing in a light boat Sunday while heavy seas were running.

Vote On Hospital

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 24.—(CP).—City council last night decided to ask ratepayers at the coming municipal election to determine whether an expenditure of $100,000 will be made for an addition to the Victoria Hospital nurses' residence.

APPOINTED DEPUTY MINISTER—Walter S. Woods, of Ottawa, newly appointed Deputy Minister of the Department of Veterans' Affairs. Mr. Woods, for the past 3½ years has been Associate Deputy Minister of the Department of Pensions and National Health, where he has been in charge of rehabilitation. Previously he was for 11 years chairman of the War Veterans' Allowance Board.

85 Neighbours Honor War Bride

HAVELOCK, Oct. 24—(ENS)—Neighbors and friends, numbering eighty-five, paid a surprise visit to the home of Samuel Hornsby at Rockdale to honor his brother and sister-in-law, Sgt. and Mrs. Lorne Hornsby with a miscellaneous shower.

Mrs. Hornsby is an English war bride who arrived in the community about two weeks ago. Her husband, Sgt. Hornsby, who was a member of the Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment, was severely wounded in Italy receiving injuries to the spine and was invalided home last June. He went overseas with the first division in 1939.

The couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts and after the presentation and opening of the parcels the evening was spent in games, lunch being served at the close.

Tailors Forecast Battle Dress Suits

LONDON, Oct. 24 — (CP) — Some London West End tailors contemplate lounge suits modelled on battle-dress lines, with a blouse or tunic fastening high on the neck in Russian style. The blouse would vary in make-up according to the season, wool in winter and silk or cotton in summer. The high neck-band would make collars unnecessary and do away with ties and studs.

Some tailors think servicemen will have grown so used to battle-dress that they will wish to rid themselves forever of collars and tied. But other experts do not adopt so revolutionary a viewpoint.

5 Montreal Babies Win Victory Bonds

MONTREAL, Oct. 24—(CP)—Well in keeping with the contest their new-born babies won, the fathers of the first two winners of the "Victory Baby" contest organized Monday in connection with the Seventh Victory Loan campaign are both in the Canadian armed forces.

The contest for the five $50 Victory Bonds offered as prizes was not as keen as expected when only the five winners — three boys and two girls—were born before five a.m. whereas there generally are 15 babies born here between midnight and three a.m.

United Church Unveils Its Honor Roll At Rally Day

SELWYN, Oct. 24.—(ENS). —An impressive service was held Sunday in the United church, when Rally Day was observed. Also the newly inscribed honor roll was unveiled and dedicated. Three men in the forces were present to take part in the dedication, Sgt. Instructor Russel Elliott, R.C.A.F., of Toronto; LA. Ralph McConkey, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Reg. McConkey, Pte. Harry Font, of Camp Borden, and formerly of Calgary, Alta.

The following are the few words spoken by Sgt. Elliott and addressed to Rev. H. H. Mutton:

"On behalf of the members and adherents of this congregation we ask you to accept this honor roll of service and sacrifice which we now unveil. On this roll we record with pride the names of members and adherents and others who have wished to be associated with this congregation who have enlisted in the service of their king and country in this war."

Pte. Font then unveiled the roll, after which LAC. Ralph McConkey read the following names: Victor Thraves, Russell Elliott, Neil Blewett, Ormond Davis, Donald Elliott, Jack Nicholls, Elmer Crapp, David Hill, Stanley Downer, Harry McConkey and Ralph McConkey and Arnold Millar.

Rev. H. H. Mutton replied: "I gratefully accept this honor roll and pray that those whose names are and shall be inscribed thereon may be sanctified to the glory of God and the well being of humanity."

Miss Joyce Mathieson sang 'Land of Hope and Glory,' and two short stories were read by Misses Beverly Davis and Yvonne Sweeting.

For his address Rev. Mutton chose, "A Christian is Different," bringing to mind the great contrast in Canadian soldiers, sailors and airmen and those of Hitler's armies who have been brought up under the rule of Naziism. Wherever christianity is found to exist, there you will find a different class of people, he declared.

Want Pay Boosts

TORONTO, Oct. 24.—(CP). —F. W. Whitehouse of Ottawa, secretary-treasurer of the Association of Canadian Postal Employees (T.L.C.) said at the opening session of a three-day convention here yesterday that the organization intends to continue to press for a flat salary increase of $300 per year. Operative postal staffs across Canada recently were granted increases of $120 yearly.

McCool Likely To Guard Toronto Nets

TORONTO, Oct. 24—"Next move in the Bibeault case," said Frank Selke, Toronto Leafs public relations officer, yesterday afternoon, "is up to Montreal Canadiens."

Selke pointed out the Leafs management was impressed with the training camp showing of Frank McCool, the Calgary Irisher, and did not propose to make any further offers for Bibeault.

Frank didn't say what would be the next development if they took him at his word and decided to sell Bibeault to some other N. H. L. club. However, it is understood Leafs have first call on the agile little French-Canadian netminder.

McCool will be given a thorough test in exhibition games tonight at St. Catharines and here Wednesday night in the annual Kiwanis Club show.

Lineups of the Toronto Leaf hockey units, Blues and Whites, will remain the same at St. Catharines and at the Gardens as for Monday's exhibition at Owen Sound.

Keep Chins Up

One combination of youngsters bound to attract attention Wednesday night is the forward line of Albert, George and Bill Chin, the Chinese lads from Lucknow. They're a considerable distance removed from National League competition. Last winter they played in O.H.A. juvenile "B" company. They're on the small side, with George, the 15-year-old youngest, packing the most weight and most height. But they're aggressive lads and likely to make a hit with Kiwanis night customers.

Lineups Announced

Revised lineups announced Monday by Coach Hap Day for the St. Catharines and Toronto exhibitions were:

Blues — Goal, McCool; defense, Pratt and Morris; centre, Kennedy; wings, Davidson and Ezinicki; alternates, Thomson, McBride, Metz, O'Neill, Bauer Weiler Unger Bunshan, Paul, Sloan.

Whites—Goal, Sargent; defense, Hamilton and Backor; centre, Bodnar; wings, Carr and Shriner; alternates, Hill, Schultz, Prentice, A. Chin W. Chin, G. Chin, McLean, Arundel, Johnstone, Bennett.

(Pat Boehemer, St. Mike's goalie, who was in the nets for the Whites at Owen Sound Monday night, will be replaced by Leo Sargent, the St. Catharines plumber boy tonight but will be back to work again Wednesday.)

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Frank Boucher signed with Vancouver Maroons of the Pacific Coast League 22 years ago today. He went to New York Rangers in 1926 and teamed up with the famour Cook brothers, Bun and Bill. One of the cleanest and best centre players in hockey, Boucher was given permanent possession of the Lady Byng trophy after winning it seven times. He is now coaching the Rangers.

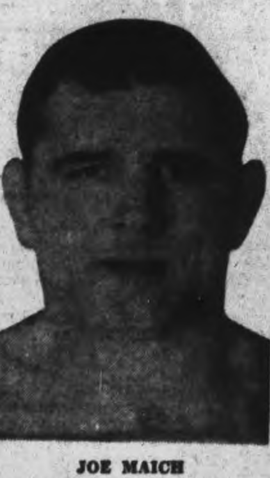
New Referee To Handle Big Battle



JOE MAICH

There will be a new referee in the ring tonight when Irish Jack Kennedy and Dr. Len Hall resume their hectic battle in the main bout of the Tunney wrestling show at the Brock St. Arena. Maxwell is out because he was a central figure in last week's riot. Both Kennedy and Hall are sounding off plenty about what's going to happen and if they are near right it should be one of the warmest mat arguments of the season. The fast-coming Tom Collins meets the rowdy Verne Baxter in the semi-final and the curtain-raiser will see Joe Maich and Jack Wentworth tangle.

Three Homered In All Ball Parks

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 — (AP) — Among the major league highlights of 1944 were the generally overlooked feats of New York Yankees' Johnny Lindell, St. Louis Cards' Whitey Kurowski and the Phillies' Ron Northey, each of whom homered in each park of his respective league.

Northey completed the round-trip cycle at Cincinnati, Aug. 22; Lindell rounded out his job at Detroit, Sept. 19, and Kurowski waited until four days before the end of the season to get his eighth park, Brooklyn, Sept. 27. Charlie Keller of the Yankees was the only player to accomplish the task in 1943. No one did it in 1942.

Twenty players who performed in 100 or more games, hit .300 or over and seven scored at least 100 runs. George Stirnweiss of the Yanks with 205 hits was the only man, in either league to top the 200 safety mark.

Name Slogan Winners For Loan Competition

COBOURG, Oct. 24 — (ENS) — Winners in the slogan contest conducted at Cobourg Collegiate Institute by the local Victory Loan committee, have been announced as follows:

Winner of 1st prize, Miss Loretta Purser, whose winning slogan is "Back the Final Push." Winner of second place was Audrey Macklin who submitted the slogan "Put the Axes to the Axis." Honorary mention went to Margaret MacSporran, whose slogan was "Don't Nap, There Is Still the Jap."

Ex-Mayor In Italy Urges Loan Support

COBOURG, Oct. 24 — (ENS).— Mayor Jack Burnet on Monday received a cable from ex-Mayor Jack Ewart, now in Italy, which read as follows:

"We must subscribe to the 7th Victory Loan. Victory must not be delayed. Keep us rolling, Cobourg; we are in high gear.—Signed, Ewart."

The Mayor of Cobourg cabled as follows in reply:

"We'll put up the dough, so you can finish the show."

Secret Report

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—(AP).—The Army Board investigating the December 7, 1941, Japanese Pearl Harbor attack has submitted a report marked secret to War Secretary Stimson and the Judge Advocate General for review, the War Department announced yesterday. The navy investigating board report was delivered to Navy Secretary Forrestal last week.

Give Out 1,611 Books

NORWOD, Oct. 24—(ENS)—Ration books were given out by members fo the I.O.D.E. at the council chamber during last week. There were 1,611 issued, fewer than before and Village Clerk Dean states there are several who did not receive their new book and will not be able to get them until November 6.

Bit Premature

CAMP CROWDER, Mo., Oct. 24—(AP).—Sgt. Floyd C. Dusen, on active duty here, received a communication from his draft board the other day: "We have been advised that you have been discharged from the armed forces. In order to complete our records, it will be necessary for you to submit a copy of your discharge." The sergeant replied: "How about mailing me a copy of the discharge you mention?"

SPORTS—Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Something new in the line of sport in this city is involved in the announcement by the Peterborough Weightlifting Club of a body-building contest open to any member of the local Y.M.C.A. who wishes to compete. The object of the contest is to introduce to the youth of Peterborough the correct and quickest method of developing themselves physically by bar-bell training under the supervision and instruction of Stan McBride, weightlifting instructor at the Y.M.C.A. It rests with the individual contestant whether he wishes to train conscientiously or to just have the occasional workout. Every entrant, however, must have one month's instruction, two classes a week, to adjust himself to the proper method of bar-bell training. Stan McBride will take each contestant's measurements, height and weight at the beginning of the contest and at the end of six months training each entrant will be re-measured and the individual showing the greatest overall gain will be awarded a trophy donated by J. H. Vernor and Orley De Graw which he will hold for a year while a small replica of the trophy will become his permanent possession. The trophy will be presented at an athletic display to be held at the Y.M.C.A. early in May next. Every contestant will receive a crest to signify his membership in the weightlifting and body building club.

* * * * * *

This method of development is sweeping the country from coast to coast. Club officials point out to this column that while there are folk who do not understand what the word weightlifting means and are under the impression that everybody who lifts weights will rupture themselves or die of a heart condition in short order, that this is a very erroneous idea. "Everybody knows," one official says "that there is a right and a wrong way of doing anything and the surest way to injure oneself is to tackle something when you do not know the proper method of procedure. In spite of the steadily increasing popularity of weightlifting there is yet to be recorded one instance where a lifter who has trained to lift by the proper methods has injured himself in any way, by exercising in the proper manner. Hernias and strains are caused only by ignorance of the right method of lifting."

Soup Tells Them

For weeks scribes around the circuit have been calling on Soup Campbell of Oshawa to come through with some dope as to the prospective lineup of the Generals this season but up to now the only answer from the Oshawa scribe has been an unusual silence. However, Bre'er Campbell has evidently decided that the time has come to throw a little light on the outlook and here is what he now tells the world: "Out of all the players who helped bring the 1943 Memorial Cup and Canadian Junior hockey championship to Oshawa last spring, only two players are now over-age. Several of them, of course, as a matter of fact eight of them have since joined the armed forces, Navy, Army and Air Force and of these eight, three have been rejected and discharged for medical reasons but alas, two of the three rejected the two who are now over-age, Bill Ezinicki and Kennie Smith. Bill Ezinicki is a cinch to be with the Leafs while Kennie Smith may catch a place with Boston Bruins. Harvey Bennett may also catch a berth with the Bruins this season. Jack Taggart, discharged from the services, will be back in uniform with the Generals and so will Al. Shewchuck, another valuable defenseman, while Freddie Petsura is the only forward held over. However, there are four or five boys who made an outstanding showing with Oshawa's Juvenile "A" team, (Ontario semi-finalists) last winter and they'll be backing a real bid for a berth with the Generals."

* * * * * *

"Rival sport scribes throughout the province have been remarking that we have been strangely silent as to who is in Oshawa to play Junior hockey this season," continues the Oshawa scribe. "Well? Jack Gibson, who played goal for Winnipeg St. James Canadiens (rated the best team in Western Canada until upset by Trail) and who was voted the best goalie in the strong 'Peg league, is here in Oshawa. So is young 16-year-old Tommy Love, brother of Bobby Love, who may not catch a place this year but he wants to live in Oshawa (smart boy!). Remember Barry Sullivan, the high-scoring laddies with Stratford last year? Galt got him as a military replacement in a trade with Stratford (amateur hockey too) for three other players and some alleged cash. Well, he's here and wants to play here. Stratford is not in Junior "A" ranks this year. Ron Matthews, the Winnipeg boy who starred on defense for Marlboros last year along with Thomson (now with Leafs) is also in Oshawa and so is Sam McNabney, clever forward with last year's Marlboro team. Syd Smith and Bruce Gallagher, defense and centre for the De LaSalle Junior "B" O.H.A. champs, are both here. So is Val Delory of the Victory Aircraft Juniors. Smith and Delory both played softball here with the Prince of Wales team this fall. In addition—there are a few "probables," all of whom have established their ability as excellent Junior "A" material. Oh Yes! The "Generals" will be in the Junior "A" playoffs again this year."

A Good Double Bill

Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School's football squads are offering an attractive double-header for Saturday at Riverside Park. Port Hope Collegiate who have been riding high, wide and handsome over all opposition in the junior interscholastic group will clash with P.C.V.S. juniors in the first game of the twin bill and Lindsay Collegiate will meet the local Collegiate senior squad in the second game of the afternoon, a senior Cossa affair. There is special interest in the junior tussle for while the Peterborough youngsters were well beaten when they visited Port Hope last week they believe that they can turn the tables on the group leaders here Saturday. They point out that in the second half of the game in Port Hope they held the winners in good style and they feel that they have solved the Hopers' tactics and can give them a real argument. While P.C.V.S. seniors should win over the Lindsay team who have yet to hit the victory column the senior attraction should round out a good bill.

The baseball statisticians have been digging into the figures for the past season and produced some interesting findings. Among these is the fact that the big leagues had six pitchers this season who won more than 20 victories, the first time in six years that that many have managed to reel off a score of wins. Four of the half dozen were National Leaguers but the two American League aces both Detroit Tigers, Hal Newhouser with 29 and Dizzy Trout with 27 topped the entire list. The National Leaguers to finish in the coveted circle were three old timers to whom it was by no means a new story, Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds, 23, Mort Cooper of the Cards 22 and Rip Sewell, blooper-ball expert of the Pirates, 21. The rookie to make the grade was Bill Voiselle of the Giants who won himself 21 games in his first season under the big top.

Rotary Club Hears Victory Loan Speaker

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 4. — (ENS).—The members of the Rotary club at their luncheon yesterday held at Woodlawn were privileged to hear one of the most impressive addresses ever delivered at the local club in support of the 7th Victory Loan.

Flt. Lieut. McLeod of Trenton, had recently returned after two years' service with the R.C.A.F.—service which cost him the loss of nearly all his right hand. Though his address was short it had that eloquence which only sincerity can give. He told of the heroism of his friends overseas and he said "we can all be heroes by denying ourselves in order to buy bonds. By not buying we keep our friends, relatives and sons that much longer in the trenches or in the prison camp or in the air over foreign soil or amidst the dangers of the deep."

H. W. Carr, ex-M.P.P., read the address prepared for service clubs by Hon. J. L. Ilsley.

Rotarian A. D. Bennett thanked the guest speaker. Visitors present were: Mr. Barlow, organizer for the County Public Relations committee, F. R. Deemis, president of the Kinsmen's Club, and F. C. Bonnycastle, R. N. Morrison, J. C. Anderson and Jas. Watters, canvassers for the Victory Loan.

Gnr. B. Cane Wounded In Belgium Fighting

COBOURG, Oct. 24 — (ENS) — Gunner Alfred Norman (Bob) Cane, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cane, University avenue, Cobourg, has been wounded in Belgium, his parents have been advised by Ottawa. He is 20 years of age and was born and educated in Cobourg. Enlisting in April of 1941 he went overseas later in the same year and went to France last July. There are five brothers in the armed services, Lorne, Gordon, Douglas and Clarence, overseas, and Louis in Eastern Canada.

Distributes Arms

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 — (CP). — The Berlin radio, in a broadcast recorded last night by NBC, said arms and munitions were being distributed to the Cologne regiments of the people's army in the belief that they will soon have occasion to use them.

Might Have Something

HAMILTON, Oct. 24. — (CP).— David Lewis, national secretary of the C.C.F., said in an address here last night that the history of this war will show that in Britain as well as in the other United Nations there was more creative capacity in the common working people "given a chance" than in all the "egotistical, bragging representatives of big business."

Report Gnr. J. Quinn Belgium Casualty

COBOURG, Oct. 24 — (ENS) — Gunner Jack Quinn, son of Herbert Quinn and the late Mrs. Quinn of Cobourg, has been wounded in Belgium according to word received here. He is 22 years of age and was born and educated in Cobourg. Enlisting here in June of 1942, he went overseas in July of last year, later transferring to a Self-Propelled Regiment. A brother, Gerald, resides in Port Hope and there are two sisters, Mrs. Kenneth Roberts of Port Hope and Mrs. Doreen Nolte of St. Catharines.

Grace W.M.S. Hears Port Hope Speaker

MILLBROOK, Oct. 24 (ENS) — Mrs. Foote, of Port Hope, whose husband is overseas as a chaplain, and taken prisoner at Dieppe, was the guest speaker for the thankoffering of Grace Presbyterian church W.M.S. last week-end, the sister organization from the Centreville congregation being invited to join with the others for the service.

Mrs. Foote spoke particularly on the situation in China, the difficult problems arising out of the war, the need for prayer, study, in order to have an intelligent interest, and sacrifice as well as giving if we of the western world are to fulfill our obligation to this Oriental nation. Previous to the introduction of the guest speaker, by the president, Miss Agnes Johnston, Mrs. J. R. Thompson gave a thanksgiving reading. Lunch was served by the hostess society.

Personals

Cpl. Henry W. Gray, who has been in Western Canada with the Prince of Wales' Rangers, and Mrs Gray, arrived home on Sunday evening, and are with her parents, Rev. A. L. and Mrs. Sisco, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Smith for the current week.

Miss M. L. Collins is spending the week in Toronto.

709 Ration Books Given Out In Alnwick

ROSENEATH, Oct. 24 (ENS) — Ration books number 5 issued in Alnwick township during the past week totalled 709 as follows—Roseneath Centre—Mrs. A. Nill and her assistants, Misses Doris Roberts, Clarice Atkinson and Olla Duff issued 415 books; Mrs. J. L. Timlin and assistant, Mrs. Leo Timlin, at the former's home, issued 65 books; Mrs. Barton Thackeray at her home issued 77 books, and at Alderville Centre John Loukes issued 152 books.

St. George's Holds White Gift Service

GORE'S LANDING, Oct. 24 — (ENS). — The White Gift service was held in St. George's-on-the-Hill on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Sunday School children took part in the service with the tiny tots singing a short hymn after which each child brought a white gift to the box at the altar.

Rev. Lloyd Delaney preached a sermon for the young people and the collection was taken up by two older boys, Douglas Thackeray and Bob Meggs. Mr. Delaney held a Boy Scout service in St. Paul's Church, Perrytown, on Sunday evening, with three Gore's Landing Boy Scouts assisting, Maurice Harris, Billy Meggs and Garnet Thackeray.

Dewey Extends Roosevelt In Hot Campaign

By R. J. ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.— (CP).—The Champ has come into the centre of the ring, carrying the fight to his opponent. He's as charming, as confident, as self-assured as ever. He's the Champ. But the Challenger has landed some stiff blows, fighting aggressively, hammering exery exposed spot. And the crowd senses the change as the battle enters the closing round.

For weeks Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Republican hope to wrest the presidency of the United States from Franklin D. Roosevelt, has been hitting hard at Rooseveltian weaknesses on the home front, a glaring target with the President preoccupied with directing a global war. He now has turned to international affairs and, the Republicans claim, has scored heavily.

Whether or not Mr. Dewey has swung a majority of the electorate to his point of view, the intensity of his attack has been such that Mr. Roosevelt has decided it is time to cease parrying the blows and to go on the offensive, something the late Wendell L. Willkie was unable to force in the 1940 campaign. The President, too, moves forward aggressively, confidently, with just a little more polish than his less-experienced opponent. He, too, has scored points.

Months ago, the President said he would not campaign "in the usual sense." But he has changed his tactics. He has come forward from the shadows. His address in New York Saturday night was delivered after a day of old-style campaigning — a tour of the city through Manhattan, Brooklyn, Queens, the Bronx. He will make an open-air address in Philadelphia Friday night. He will speak at Boston, possibly in Chicago.

In a campaign as bitter as any the United States has produced unsubstantiated charges have been flung freely by both sides.

Mr. Roosevelt is the possessor of one of the world's finest radio voices. In this respect he outclassed Mr. Willkie who four years ago literally talked himself hoarse as he toured the country from end to end. But Mr. Roosevelt may have met his match in Mr. Dewey who, voice experts say, almost equals the President in his radio delivery.

And the Governor is not making the mistakes that Mr. Willkie made in 1940. He speaks only from selected, widely-separated key cities, resting at his Albany home between campaign trips to spare his voice and energy.

Leafs Possess Greater All-Round Power

By FRASER MACDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Oct. 24.—(CP).—Toronto Maple Leafs will start the 1944-45 National Hockey League season with only one question mark on a club which possesses greater all-round offensive and defensive strength than last year's team which finished in third place in the league standing.

However, Coach Clarence (Hap) Day, who was frankly optimistic two weeks ago about his club's chances when he said it would be the best since the Stanley Cup winning aggregation of 1941-42, now declines any speculation as to its prospects in the campaign which it opens Saturday night in Toronto against New York Rangers.

"I have never seen so little information coming out of the camps of the other teams as this year," he said. "So I don't propose to do any talking until I learn what we're going to be up against."

McCool In Goal.

The question mark concerns the goaltending. Harry McCool, Canadian Army dischargee from Calgary who will be 28 Friday, is Day's choice for the goaltending position. McCool was out with New York Rangers a year ago but illness prevented him from playing. He is the pick of the three candidates in training camp drills here, the other two prospects being 18-year-old Pat Boehmer of Kitchener, who played with Toronto St. Michael's College last season and Leo Sergent from St. Catharines.

Three players from last year's Leafs and one newcomer will make up the regular defence foursome. Big Walter (Babe) Pratt, leading point-getter among N.H.L. defencemen last year with 17 goals and 40 assists, Reg Hamilton and Elwin Morris are the veterans and the newcomer is Pete Backor, a husky performer who comes from Fort William who played with St. Catharines in the Ontario Hockey Association senior series last season. Backor, aged 25, is an army reject.

Metz Is Back

Nick Metz, another Toronto veteran who joined the Army in 1942 and was discharged last summer, is expcted to play on a forward line with Bill Ezinicki, promising Winnipeg youngster who played with the Oshawa Generals, Dominion junior champions last sesaon, and Ted (Teeter) Kennedy, the Port Colborne boy who is starting his second season with Leafs.

Veteran Bob Davidson and Mel (Sudden-Death) Hill will be on the third line and their partner may be Tom O'Neill or Jack McLean, both members of last year's teams. McLean is available only for home games.

Defencemen Jim Thomson from Winnipeg and Ross Johnstone, Leaf utility player last season, may also be carried and there is a prospect that Ken Schultz from Preston and Eric Prentice from Schumacher in the Timmins district may wind up with contracts.

Leafs have not yet completely given up hope of acquiring Paul Bibeault from Montreal Canadiens for goal. The agile little netminder played good hockey in the 29 games he played with Toronto last season when he came to the team on loan from Montreal Canadiens after his discharge from the Canadian Army. They are still angling for his services, although Canadiens so far have turned a deaf ear to all proposal for a cash purchase.

New Speed Record

TORONTO, Oct. 24 —(CP)— A. Miller, an official of de Havilland Aircraft of Canada, Limited, said last night that Jim Follett, the company's chief test pilot, set a new speed mark when he flew a Mosquito from Fort William to Toronto —a distance of 610 ground miles—in an hour and 23 minutes. The plane's average speed was 410 m.p.h.

VICTORY STAR SHOW, OCT. 25—The notable talent line-up for the third big Victory Star Show from Montreal on Wednesday reads like a "Who's Who" in the entertainment world. Included in the galaxy of stars travelling to Canada to participate in this star-studded hour are: Franchot Tone (Upper Right), dynamic stage and screen star, who will share the dramatic spotlight with lovely Constance Cummings, stage and screen favorite of two continents; Alan Young (Upper Left), Canada's favorite comedian; Dorothy Kirsten (Centre), lovely young lyric soprano; Canada's distinguished violinist and composer, Alexander Brott, and Jack Smith (Lower), popular singing star. This Victory Star Show will be broadcast coast-to-coast network, including CHEX, at 8.30 p.m., EDT.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—(AP)—The Amateur Hockey Association of the United States is organizing a series of schools to teach the young how to shoot pucks at the net . . . . That isn't especially important in the general sports program, as the eight schools all will be held in the east and on the Pacific Coast, but one phrase in President Tom Lockhart's announcement stands out: "Any American-born boy with a pair of skates and a desire to learn hockey will be welcomed." . . . this corner has taken occasional raps at other sports, particularly baseball, for neglecting the kids until they are good enough to be professional prospects. Now it will be interesting to see how the hockey folks will do in their effort to start from the bottom.

Men of Letters

Frank Coyne, candidate for a tackle job on the Wisconsin football team, was awarded 18 letters at Muscoda, Wis., high school. He participated in football, basketball, baseball, boxing and track . . . The Badger squad also includes one 12-letter winner, fullback Jerry Thompson of Camero, Wis., high school, who also played two years at St. Olaf's College in Minnesota, and three nine-letter men—Jack Haese, Richard (Dint) Bothm and Bud Elliott.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

There's a scarcity of news from the training camps which probably indicates that coaches, managers and other club officials are busy with the task of weeding out the rookies.

Art Ross of Boston Bruins' adopts the "say nothing" attitude yearly before the league gets under way so that he can keep his line-up more or less secret until the opening game. Bruins break their Quebec training camp and will go to Montrela for the first game against Canadiens Saturday.

Toronto Maple Leafs began the first of three exhibition games last (Monday) night. The Blues play the Whites in these tilts put on for the benefit of the public. Coach Hap Day is keeping quiet also about his starting lineup.

When New York Rangers break camp at Winnipeg Wednesday night they'll be accompanied to Toronto by nine players from New York Rovers, their farm team. Lester Patrick plans keeping the boys with him in the Queen City for a couple of days because of a shortage of hotel space in New York.

Gaston Gauthier, obtained by Patrick from Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League, will be unable to line up with Rangers because of rheumatism in his feet.

Montreal Canadiens' forward lines probably will shape up like this: Toe Blake, Elmer Lach and Maurice Richard; Fernand Gauthier, Murph Chamberlain and Ray Getliffe, and Rollie Rossignol, Buddy O'Connor and Dutch Hiller, with Bob Filion being retained in a utility role.

Even with the opening game scheduled at Montreal for Saturday night the Habitants training camp is not closed to recruits. It is reported that Nils Tremblay, a member of the Allan Cup Quebec Aces, is expected for a last-minute trial.

Detroit Mogul Cooks Player Scheme

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—(AP.—Baseball's annual draft grab day, only two weeks off, is exciting little interest with fans or magnates, but things may be different in the future if Jack Zeller of Detroit Tigers has his way.

According to the scheme concocted by the general manager of the Bengals, the major leagues' only manpower funnel from the minors would be the annual draft system.

The selection system under the Zeller plan would be widened in scope, unlimited in numbers and would call for higher price tags than the current $7,500 ceiling. Although the revolutionary idea has attracted some support among the owners it has been met with violent reaction in many quarters because it practically dictates the end of the farm systems.

Nothing can be done until the annual major league meetings, now listed for New York, Dec. 5-7 and the minors' annual confab, scheduled for Buffalo Dec. 6-8. Most baseball men doubt that the proposal will come up for a vote in the immediate future that is already clouded with post-war planning.

The accent is on age in the list of minor league players eligible for selection at the Chicago draft meeting Nov. 1 with such old codgers named as Garland Braxton of Norfolk, Sylvester Johnson of Seattle, Floyd (Babe) Herman and Charley Root of Hollywood and Earl Whitehill of Buffalo.

Among the prize picks could be Otto Denning or Eddie Kobesky of Buffalo, Alex Mustaikis of Toronto, Ed Levy of Milwaukee, Chick Genovese of Louisville, Chet Clemens of Indianapolis, Howie Moss or Stan West of Baltimore, Bill Emmerich of Rochester and Roy Zimmerman of Newark.

There are 589 eligible "picks" on the active rosters of the 10 leagues and twice as many on their national defence, voluntarily retired and suspended lists.

JUST A POLAR BEAR

MACHRIHANISH, Scotland — (CP). — A "monster" washed up on the shore of this Mull of Kintyre town has been identified tentatively as an outsized polar bear. Twenty feet long, with huge feet, the hulk of an elephant and a coat of long white fur, the headless derelict was at first believed to be some kind of previously unknown sea serpent.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Billy Arnold, 18-year-old welterweight sensation from Philadelphia, scored his 27th knockout in 29 professional fights last night when he stopped Ernest (Cat) Robinson of Jamaica in 2.44 of the second round at St. Nicholas arena in New York. Robinson went through the ropes for a nine-count early in the second round, and was helpless on the lower strand from a flurry of lefts and rights when Referee Billy Cavanagh stepped in and stopped it.

The second highest Daily Double payoff in the history of the San Mateo, Calif., Bay Meadows race track took place yesterday when Milldust coupled with Bonalta returned backers $3,546 for $2 tickets. The record of $3,610.60 was established in 1937. Milldust paid $198.60 and Bonalta $16.20.

George Slater, president of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, announced last night that the league would operate this season with four teams, with the first game scheduled for Ottawa Nov. 4 between Hull Volants and Ottawa Commandos. Decision that the league would operate came after a closed meeting between representatives of the Ottawa and Hull clubs and Montreal Royals and Quebec Aces. Revival of the league came after weeks of reports and counter-reports that it would not operate.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

TORONTO, Oct. 24 — (CP). — What hockey needs is plenty of the old iron fist, without too much velvet glove on it, in the opinion of Leo Dandurand, Montreal sportsman of diversified tastes. Dandurand is best known for his work building Montreal Canadiens into the powerful and colorful aggregation they were for many years in the 1920's and 1930's, but he was, and is, just as keen about horse racing and many other sports.

Dandurand, in an interview with Bill (Niagara Falls Review) Gaynon, joined the ranks of those who plunk strongly for appointment of a "Judge Landis" who would be given broad powers over the great and little lights of the hockey heavens. And his choice for such a big-stick wielder is Red Dutton, with no reservations.

Leo confirmed the report that he had been offered the N.H.L. presidency, but had to decline it because his race tracks and other interests keep him too busy.

Golf balls galore:

Golfers on the West Coast have been digging deeply into their reserves and turning over quantities of golf balls for use by the servicemen. Bill Forst, news editor and golf columnist of Vancouver Province, started it when he remarked how scarce golf balls were in Britain and suggested golfers help out a bit. Since then 400 of the scarce and precious balls have been shipped to service sports officers in Britain, and 600 more are ready to go. Some shiny, brand new pre-war samples turned up in the lot, too.

Incidentally:

The Army, or more properly Maj. Ian Eisenhardt, started something with that cross-country race business. Montreal will see its first interscholastic cross-territory gallop on November 9 when the senior and junior boys get on their shanks' mares......His physical disabilities barred him from the Army, so Gus Mell decided on another way to help out. The Canadian featherweight titleholder donated his share of the purse in his fight with Al Triola of New York, to send Christmas boxes overseas for the troops ......Vince Ferguson, one of the slickest all-round athletes produced in Halifax, played the leading role at a testimonial dinner in his honor recently. Vince has been around the Bluenose sport scene practically a generation now, and still is going strong.

Ten-To-Ace Third Jay Jay In Top Spot

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 24—(AP)—Howard Bruce's aged Jay Jay, a popular campaigner hereabouts for a decade, justified the confidence of his backers when he was up in the final stride to eke out a nose verdict over Mayfair Stable's Bottle Imp in the featured six furlongs Belvedere Purse. Two lengths away Harry Giddings' Canadian Ten-To-Ace wilted into third place after setting the pace to the furlong pole. Aubrey Snellings was astride the winner, which was timed in 1:14 3-5 over a track that was rapidly changing from good to fast.

Ten To Ace flashed keen early speed to draw clear on the back stretch, but Bottle Imp was being rated closed at hand and through the stretch the latter wore Ten To Ace down to take command inside the furlong pole. Meanwhile, Jay Jay had been waiting patiently but almost too long in fourth place. When asked for his best the 11-year-old campaigner responded with the gameness that had made him a prime favorite with local talent, but it required his best to get him to the wire in time to win the close decision.

Notre Dame Leads In A.P. Rating

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—(AP)—For the 13th consecutive time over a two-year period the Notre Dame football team rates as the United States No. 1 college eleven in the Associated Press poll but this time the Irish margin is a mere eight points. Notre Dame, unbeaten this season, garnered 40 first-place tickets and 917 points. Army, likewise unscathed, finished with 909 points.

The leading teams on a point basis with each first-place vote 10 points, second nine, third eight, and so on (first-place votes in parentheses):

MAJORITY PRIVATES

LONDON — (CP). — Canadian Military Headquarters disclosed that the Canadian army overseas is comprised of 68.5 per cent privates, or their equivalent, 21.6 per cent non-commissioned officers, 7.2 per cent officers and 2.7 per cent nursing sisters.

Joe Krol Of Hamilton Wildcats Leading Scorer In Football Loop

TORONTO, Oct. 24.—Joe Krol of the Hamilton Wildcats in the Ontario Rugby Football Union continues to set the pace for individual scoring in Ontario's two football leagues although Leading Seaman Annis Stukus has regained the lead in the Ontario Armed Services League and has narrowed to four points the margin between himself and Krol.

This was shown Monday night in the weekly scoring statistics compiled by The Canadian Press for the two leagues. Krol has 40 points, 16 more than his closest rival in the O.R.F.U., and Stukus has 36. The big Navy quarterback picked up eight points Saturday while Krol was held to four.

Selkirk Second.

Earl Selkirk of Balmy Beach stands second to the Hamilton ace with 24 points and another Balmy Beach player, Sam Sward, is third with 22. Veteran George Fraser of Ottawa is top scorer among the league's linemen, collecting six points Saturday to bring his total points to 13, all of them coming from field goals or converts from placement kicks.

Stukus moved ahead of Sgt. Doug Pyzer of Camp Borden in the Service League. The stocky Camp Borden half was held scoreless Saturday after having scored six touchdowns for 30 points in previous games.

LAC. Bobby Porter, Camp Borden quarterback, moved into third place among the Service League point-getters, by collecting all six points his team scored Saturday to bring his season's total to 16.

LONDON — (CP).—John Trundley, 45, whose youthful ambition was to become the heaviest person in the world and who once weighed 462 pounds, collapsed and died from pulmonary tuberculosis. Recently his weight dwindled to a modest 224 pounds.

AP News Bureau In Court Again

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 — (AP)—"News-gathering agencies are not public utilities and should not be made such by judicial action," the Associated Press said today in a brief asking the United States Supreme Court to reverse a lower court ruling that the A.P. must change its membership by-laws.

The brief, submitted in an appeal from a summary decision by a special federal three-judge court of the southern district of New York, concludes that "so grave a step as transferring the press from the field of private enterprise to the status of a regulated public utility is the last thing which the courts should do on their own motion — and the last thing that should be done at all so long as any possible alternative exists."

The appeal is the latest development in the government's civil suit, under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, to force the Associated Press, a co-operative, non-profit organization, to change its membership structure and make its news report available to any applicant. Named as defendants in the unit, in addition to the A.P., were its 18 directors and the approximately 1,200 other members in the United States as a group.

The government has until Nov. 6 to file its brief and the A.P.'s reply brief is to be filed the week of Nov. 13, the week when the Supreme Court is to hear the case. The district's court 2 to 1 decision was handed down Oct. 6, 1943.

PARACHUTE BRAKE FOR GLIDER—A 10-foot nylon drag parachute serves as a brake to check the flight of this big CG-4A glider as it comes in for a test landing of the new device at the Clinton county army air base, Wilmington, Ohio. The 'chute brake was developed so that gliders could land more quickly in smaller areas, thus decreasing their vulnerability, and at the same time enabling them to land in otherwise inaccessible areas. The 'chute may be released from the glider at any time by means of a cockpit control.

Mission Night Held At Warsaw

WARSAW, Oct. 24 (ENS)— Mission night was held on Friday evening in the church basement by the Y.P.S., with Eva Bolton in charge. A reading "No Parcel From Home," was given by Mrs. Trevor Watts, and the topic Bella Bella, on hospital work, was given by Irene Sidey. The devotional topic was taken by Mrs. Snelgrove.

A duet by Edna and Doris Clysdale was greatly appreciated.

The Society was divided into four contest groups with Stanley Lonsberry, George Payne, Irene Sidey and Jean Bennett as leaders.

Final arrangements were made for the Community Hallowe'en party in the town hall on Tuesday evening, October 31.

The next meeting will be on "Citizenship" on November 10, with George Payne in charge. Thirty young people attended the meeting.

St. Paul's Holds Children's Day

MARMORA, Oct. 24 — (ENS) — Every available seat was taken at St. Paul's on Sunday morning on the occasion of the annual children's day service, which had to be deferred a week.

Thirty-five participated in the Sunday School's corporate communion at 10 a.m. Morning prayer was held at 11 o'clock. A full choir led in the singing of hymns and during the service, the scholars, who occupied front seats, sang "I Cannot Tell Why He, Whom Angels Worship."

To the children, Rev. J. M. Brownlie spoke on "The Lord is My Shepherd." For a sermon to the congregation in general, the rector chose as his text, "I am come that they might have life." He said that much is heard today of the need of religious education and pointed out that all problems are religious. The church needs essentially church people who understand that its task is to teach the gospel of a living Saviour.

The full offertory which included a special offering for the work of the G.B.R.E. which amounted to over $8 was taken by boys of the senior class, James Cochlin and Ronald Smith.

R.C.A.F. Record Tale Of Courage Devotion To Duty

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 24— (CP)— The thousand bomber raids that struck at Germany in the spring of 1942 were interrupted through the necessity for widespread repairs.

This and the fact that the enemy has used British identification markings were disclosed in a new war history—"The R.C.A.F. Overseas"—on the book stalls today.

Covering the war period to August 1943, the book (Oxford University Press) is described in a foreword by Air Minister Power as "an immortal story of initiative and courage, of sacrifice and undying devotion to duty."

It contains the hectic day-to-day life of the death and glory boys of the air and covers exploits, most of which have been touched on in war front dispatches.

The capably and at the same time excitingly told saga of the air force was woven together by the force's historical staff under Group Capt. Kenneth B. Conn, 47, peacetime student tour executive of Toronto.

It is liberally illustrated and written in informal style. The authors have used the racy jargon of the skies in which an evasive action becomes a "jink;" a hit becomes a "prang" anything genuine "pukka" and when an airman is killed they say "he's gone for a Burton." A glossary of the air force language in the front of the book is a help but it doesn't explain the origin of why "gone for a Burton" is used. Burton is the name of a well-known English ale.

Exciting Material

The section dealing with the exploits of Bomber Command contains more exciting material than any Hollywood producer ever could dream of. And it is in this part of the book that the official historians reveal the reasons for the failure of Bomber Command to continue mass raids nightly over long periods.

While the number of bombers lost seem small compared to the number of aircraft engaged and the ferocity of the German defences, there is a factor of aircraft damage the civilian does not take into account.

The mass raids of May, 1942 were followed by attacks of smaller forces in less spectacular fashion.

In this connection it is explained "This interspersal among monster raids of others calling for a fewer number of airborne machines was essential if the effective striking force of the command was to be maintained, since it is seldom that a bomber returns from a raid without being in immediate need of repair, either at the hands of the airframe or aero-engine mechanics."

Stating that the volume is based only on records which can be revealed "without endangering security" the authors also announce for the first time and without elaboration that in April, 1943, the Germans started using British red, white and blue tail markings on their aircraft.

The writers tell of the days before Munich when Canada's force consisted of a few "Saturday afternoon" auxiliaries and an infinitesimal permanent force using planes that were "ropey"—obsolescent. The force in those early days was receiving "only grudging support" from the government.

However, they were whipped into shape and went to Britain when the odds were long and the defence of Britain was the prime objective.

Then came development of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan and its mass production of trained personnel crowned later by the attainment of aerial superiority.

The story uses the cryptic reports of the Canadian fliers serving in a wide range of aerial activity. It deals only with Canada's distinctive force promising that a later volume will take up the story of the Canadains in the R.A.F.

Airplane Development

The full range of changing tactics and improvisation are placed before the reader. Old Lysanders and Blenheims give way to Spitfires and Lancasters as the attack on Fortress Europe is stepped up. The reader finds that the enemy fighter has a "good turn of speed" but the Spitfire can "out-turn and out-manoeuvre" him any day.

You get an airman's picture of the escape of the German fleet through the English Channel on a day when, in Air Force parlance, the weather "was so thick even the birds were walking." Details of the powerful air umbrella spread over Dieppe that served in the development of future successful combined operations is included and there are chapters on the Coastal Command men who guard the convoys, the air sea rescue fliers who pull their comrades "from the drink" and duck enemy fire in so doing, engine busters and others.

The book tells of the tragedy of mistaken identity without going into details; of light-fingered ground defences banging away at our own night fighters; of mid-air collisions over enemy targets; of a coffin plane that flew along after being shot-up by Canadian fighters with its dead German crew slumped at their posts; of the bomber that untangled itself from an enemy balloon cable and limped home safely; of two bombers that flew so low that one gouged mud out of a river bank with its wing tip and the other lost a piece of its tail in the mast of an enemy ship of Coastal Command crews in the air for 23 hours at a stretch.

There was the Coastal Command Catalina squadron which flew from Scotland to Ceylon in an emergency and 48 hours after arrival one of the aircraft on patrol warned of the approach of a large Japanese naval force. The Catalina and its crew of nine never returned but thanks to their radio warning the Japanese were beaten off.

The book has touches of humor too. There was the bomber aiming for Cologne. Caught in an intense searchlight belt it attempted to escape the beams by diving for more than 10,000 feet. With the wind whistling and all crew members waiting tensely for anything that might happen the intercommunication system carried this anguished plea from the front gunner: "Hey, skipper, for God's sake say something—even if it's only good-bye."

Main Street Topics

FALSE ALARM.

Another false alarm, at 6 o'clock Monday evening brought firemen to the corner of Hunter and George streets. All units responded to the box alarm.

DISPLAY.

A display in connection with the Seventh Victory Loan in Neill's Shoe Store window is causing much interest to passers-by. A hand-grenade, bomb, and various types of guns are the main feature.

SERVING OVERSEAS

Mr. and Mrs. E. Crowe, Armour Road have received word that their son ERA "Teddy" Crowe, is now serving overseas with the Canadian Navy. He is a former student of St. Peter's School, and his father is employed at the Capitol Theatre.

A BIT TOO YOUNG.

A youngster puffing gaily on a cigarette on George street Monday afternoon was rudely jolted when a woman calmly plucked the fag from between the boy's lips, and stepped on it. The woman, evidently a relative of the boy, proceeded on her way, and the child, fearing further retribution, did not make a scene.

SEND IN THE NAMES.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Navy expects to pack and ship out the balance of Christmas ditty parcels to Peterborough and district members of the Navy and Merchant Marine shortly and is anxious to have the names and addresses complete before that time. Friends and relatives of Peterborough personnel in the naval services are asked to furnish the necessary information, even if the addresses were sent in last year. A phone call to 5991, 5992 or 4778 is all that is necessary.

CHARGE WITHDRAWN

In police court this morning a charge against Russell N. Sharp, R.C.A.F. of illegally parking in a bus stop was withdrawn by Inspector J. F. Reid. The R.C.A.F. man had complained at a previous hearing that the signs at the point were misleading.

CAR ON FIRE.

Firemen at the local department had the experience Monday evening around 11 o'clock of having a fire come to them. A car drove up to the station, and the driver calmly explained that the back seat was on fire. Firemen extinguished the blaze, with the only damage being a burnt back seat. No hint was offered as to how the blaze started.

D.F.C. CITATION.

The citation given with the Distinguished Flying Cross to FO. Anthony L. Delaney reads: "FO. Delaney has shown great skill, courage and determination while bombing enemy targets in spite of enemy resistance and fighters on many occasions. While his own aircraft was in difficulties, he bombed accurately." He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Delaney, Douro.

ANOTHER ONE.

One of the menaces that firemen must combat at all times is the "False Alarm Demon," and Peterborough firefighters are no exceptions. About a week ago, George and Brock streets were visited by firemen twice in one week, both false calls. The third one came after 10 o'clock Monday evening, following another dud earlier in the evening. Firemen cannot overemphasize the danger that lies in the foolish act of ringing a false alarm.

FIVE IN FAMILY SERVE IN FORCES—Mr. and Mrs. McCartney, R.R. 2, Peterborough, have five children in Canada's forces, one of whom has been reported killed accidentally overseas. Sgmn. M. S. McCartney (Outside Left) is with the 8th Army in Italy. Prior to enlisting in 1942, he worked in Edmonton. Gnr. Raymond McCartney (Left) is also serving with the Canadians in Italy. He has been in the Mediterranean area since the invasion of Sicily, and enlisted in Edmonton in 1942. Sgmn. Angus Irving McCartney (Right) of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals, was killed October 8 in Belgium, as a result of accidental drowning. He enlisted in Edmonton and went overseas in December, 1942. Pte. R. G. McCartney (Outside Right) is a transport driver in France with the RCASC. He enlisted in 1942 and went overseas in December, 1943. A sister, Alma Margaret McCartney, is stationed in Winnipeg with the RCAF. Mr. and Mrs. McCartney came east in 1943.

Lakefield Yields $25,750 At Bond Auction

Brisk bidding and an enthusiastic crowd combined to ring up the total of $25,750 worth of Victory Bonds sold at the rural bond auction in Lakefield Monday evening before an audience of more than 350 people who jammed the Town Hall long before proceedings got underway.

Held in the interests of Canada's Seventh War Loan, the newest and most important of all war loans, the auction turned out like others before it . . . a complete success. All of the articles offered for auction were donated by people and business firms in these districts, and the auctioneer, Gordon Hancock, and entertainers who provided a talent show after the sale all donated their services free, so that the campaign in the Peterborough district may go over the top.

Among the highlights of the evening's fun was when a raffle with $50 bonds for a congoleum rug brought in no less than $1,150 in Victory Bonds, and was won by Belita Rose. A "chore-horse," electrical device for power used on farms, was offered, and it went to the person who bought $5,750 in war bonds. Three saws and an electric fence each was presented to the persons buying $1,400 in bonds, and a quantity of Quaker products sold $850 worth of bonds.

A boy of about 10 or 11 years started to bid on a clock, and through several manipulations of the officials, took the clock for buying a bond worth $50. When the "oldsters" started bidding on the clocks, however, the bidding dashed up the scale to heights of $500 in bonds. Many tomatoes were on hand and cases of the fruit went for $100 up to $500 in bonds, and a quantity of Scarfe's paint was given the one who bought $400 worth of Canada Victory Bonds.

A subscription for The Peterborough Examiner shot bidding up to $150, and a quantity of grease went for $100 in bonds.

A pair of rubber boots went for $100, a hay fork for $250 and a horse blanket for $400, all in war bonds.

Pig-grower went to the one buying $700 worth of bonds, pig-starter for $600 and hog feed for $800. A number of chicks was presented to Rose Murphy when she bought $300 worth of Victory Bonds.

A case of peas went to the person investing in war bonds to the tune of $300, a quantity of Ovaltine went anywhere from $100 to $400, and a bag of cement was auctioned off at $200 worth of bonds. An investment of $900 worth of bonds brought one person an automobile battery, and a "winterization" process for a car, including oil change, sold $1,400 worth of bonds.

After the sale a dance was held, and band music was presented as previously by the 48th Highlanders Band from Camp Borden, under the direction of W.O.-1 Harry Thompson.

Another entertainment highlight was the songs of Russell Titus, formerly with the "Army Show."

Tonight the final bond auction will be held, in the drill hall of the Peterborough Training Centre, through the courtesy of Lieut.-Col. James Turnbull, officer commanding the Training Centre. The featured articles to be auctioned include three calves, a thoroughbred Jersey calf, donated by Charles Doughty; a Holstein heifer, donated by the Silverwoods' Dairies; and a three - months - old dual - purpose Shorthorn bull, donated by Allan B. Mann.

A full program of entertainment is being lined up, and the sale will start at nine o'clock. The Camp Borden 48th Highlanders' Band will be on hand, and music for dancing will be provided by Jack Marshall and his orchestra.

JOINS UNDERGROUND—Flying Officer J. B. (Bun) Armstrong, who parachuted unconscience from a burning bomber in France, was rescued by patriots and shortly afterwards joined the Maquis, raiding the Germans. His wife lives at Dennistoun avenue.

Name Three Men To Committee For New Hospital

Appointment of Albert B. Borland, Dr. Robert Young and Wm. J. Grady to the Civic Hospital committee was reported to the council Monday night by Alderman Sands and confirmed by his motion which Alderman Dutton seconded.

A request to the Department of Veterans Affairs to include Peterborough in the list of cities in which offices are to be located for the rehabilitation of members of the armed forces was adopted on Alderman's Glover's motion, seconded by Alderman Sands.

Harking back to his protest that he was not informed of changes in the schedule of salaries for public health nurses, Alderman Dutton moved, seconded by Alderman Swanston "that the salary evaluation committee be requested to keep minutes of all meetings of the committee and to present to the council reports of all meetings held and of decisions reached; also that all requests for salary adjustments be dealt with promptly."

As a means of reducing municipal taxes, W. J. Gibbs suggested in a letter that those who use the streets should pay for them, and recommended that the council apply a tax on all motor vehicles. His letter was sent to the finance committee.

A music room in the new city hall was recommended in a letter from the Peterborough Branch of the Music Teachers' Guild, through its secretary, Mrs. Helen Matthews.

Maynooth Flier Awarded D.F.C.

Flying Officer D. W. Goodwin, of Maynooth, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, in recognition of the young airman's exploits over enemy territory, and a remarkable record of putting 35 enemy vehicles out of action in one day alone, according to a Royal Canadian Air Force announcement today. He is the son of Mrs. H. A. Goodwin of Maynooth.

The citation reads as follows: "FO. Goodwin is a relentless fighter. Since the invasion of Northern France he has been responsible for the destruction of a considerable number of mechanical vehicles, 35 of which, he put out of action in one day alone. In air fighting, he has shot down an enemy aircraft."

SERVING OVERSEAS — Pilot Officer Don Hendren, son of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Hendren, Lakefield, is serving overseas. He graduated as an air gunner from Mont Joli, and prior to going overseas he worked with his father at the George G. Hendren and Son Funeral Directors. PO. Hendren is a graduate of the Peterborough Collegiate, and was active in basketball and rugby, later playing with the O.R.F.U.

Emily Council Buys Truck And Snowplow

OMEMEE, Oct. 24—(ENS)—The Emily township council at a meeting in Toronto last week decided to purchase a Marmon Harrington truck. The truck is to carry the following equipment new Hercules body with hydraulic lift and reinforced front spring, one heater one spare tire and tube, one extra set of headlights, all necessary clearance lights and safety flares, one extra gas tank, one set of chains one heavy duty jack, one used Fink plow with wings equipped with hydraulic lift to be mounted on truck. Quaker Oats Executive Passes In Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 24 (CP)—Henry Parsons Crowell, 89, honorary chairman of the board of the Quaker Oats Company, died last night on a North Western Suburban train shortly before it was scheduled to leave for his home in suburban Winnetka.

Born in Cleveland, Mr. Crowell began his career with the Quaker Mill Company of Ravenna, Ohio. He served as its president from 1881 to 1891, when it was sold to the American Cereal Company of Akron, Ohio. He was vice president and general manager of American Cereal until 1898, then became president of the Quaker Oats Company becoming honorary chairman in 1941.

Federation Of Mayors Lauds Memorial Arena

"The city of Peterborough and the township of Nepean are among the Ontario municipalities which are setting an example in common sense and foresight in the matter of war memorials which might well be considered by other municipalities across the country."

That tribute to Peterborough's still surprising enterprise is quoted from "The Listening Post," issued by the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities. "The monuments which Peterborough and Nepean will erect to their citizens in the armed services in this war will take the form of community centre and recreational buildings."

The account mentions some of the Peterborough project details.

Mayor Hamilton told the Examiner today that at the convention of Ontario mayors in Toronto last week he was especially questioned by the mayors of Kingston and Sarnia who were keenly interested in the Peterborough way to financing success.

Council Outlines Building Plan For Civic Arena

Alderman Bradburn piloted through Monday night's council meeting the proposed agreement between the city and the Peterborough Memorial Centre committee relating to the authorizing of a commission of management, preceded by the construction of the arena unit by a special building committee.

The building committee is to be composed of seven members: three to be nominated by the council. They may be members of the council, but, if the council prefers, they may be any citizens whose experience and abilities recommend them for the responsibility of directing the planning and constructing the arena unit. The four other members are to be appointed by the Centre committee. The council amended the draft agreement from the Centre committee who had suggested that the council's representatives should actually be member of the council. The council also prefers the clause respecting committee nominees to be broadened as follows: "four members nominatde by the committee of the Centre", and that does not restrict these members to the Centre committee.

The site of the arena shall be agreed on by the council and the Centre committee.

The proposed management commission is to be of seven members to be appointed by the city council. The agreement is suggesting to the council, but without any sense of compulsion, that in the appointment of this commission the nominees should be—one each from Labor, War Veterans, Business Men's Association, Chamber of Commerce, Women's Organizations, Manufacturers and City Council.

Also that two be appointed for three years two for two years and three for one year, and subsequently all appointments be for three years except the member of the city council, who is to be appointed annually, remaining on the commission only while a member of the council.

The clauses relating to operating surpluses were sent back to the joint committee of council and Centre representatives for review in the light of council questioning as to whether excess revenues should be restricted to outlay for additional facilities for sports and recreational activities.

Development of the Memorial Centre in its broad purposes and establishment is generally recognized as the objective of the financing appeal, but members of the council enquired last night whether certain changes should not be incorporated in the agreement to permit use of surpluses as offset for any deficits which might occur, or that the surplus account might be held to certain limit.

Alderman Curtis commented that expansion of recreational facilities "would be O.K. after all accounts are paid."

Alderman Bradburn suggested the idea of limiting reserves, and Alderman Mark drily remarked: "Could we limit deficits, too?"

Heads Jewish Brigade

LONDON, Oct. 24.—(CP Cable.)—Brig. E. F. Benjamin, Toronto-born Royal Engineer, had been appointed to command the recently-formed Jewish brigade of the British army, it was announced to-day.

Brig. Benjamin, who joined the Royal Engineers in 1919, was responsible for repairing the viaducts and bridges destroyed by retreating Vichy forces in the Madagascar campaign in 1942. He now is serving in the Middle East.

Bun Armstrong Joins Maquis Killing Huns After Parachuting Unconscious From Plane

WITH THE R.C.A.F. OVERSEAS, Oct. 24.—(CP).—FO. J. B. (Bun) Armstrong, of Dennistoun avenue, about ready to go back to Canada, has something to remember about his war experience, all right—he parachuted unconscious from a blazing bomber and spent several weeks fighting with French Patriots.

Armstrong doesn't remember his drop when his bomber was set afire by a Nazi night-fighter over a French target last May. He recalls strapping on his parachute and struggling to the escape hatch—then blackness.

His first recollection after that is of being moved from the branches of a tree in which he landed. At a French farmhouse a doctor diagnosed his injuries as concussion, severe lacerations, a sprained back and injured eye.

As he recuperated he met the local Maquis leader and the Maquis soon had another member.

"Our job was principally sabotaging German supply lines," Armstrong said. "We would go out in small groups at night and hide alongside a road over which German convoys travelled.

"We would toss a few grenades, blaze away with our guns, and then fade into the darkness."

Armstrong said the average German soldier hasn't "much on the ball mentally"; but he has a healthy respect for the Gestapo, S.S. boys and the Hitler youth.

"They are full of Hitler and to them killing is a part of living," he said.

Ask City To Pay Interest Charges On Addition To St. Joseph's

Payment of the interest on their proposed expenditure of $250,000, equivalent to $3,750 annually for twenty-five years, was the proposal of representatives of St. Joseph's Hospital in a discussion with the city council Monday night of a recent letter from the hospital board asking for financial assistance in the event of the ratepayers approving the Civic Hospital by-law.

The members of the deputation were John R. Corkery, S. S. Shaughnessy and John G. McCarney.

Mr. Corkery, repeating the statement in the Board's letter to the council, said that if the general hospital is authorized by the ratepayers and becomes a charge on all the citizens, the Catholic people of Peterborough would find themselves in the position of paying toward the city's two hospitals. The Board of St. Joseph's had every reason to believe that its grants from voluntary sources would be largely discontinued as a direct result of having to contribute to the Civic Hospital and its maintenance, Mr. Corkery said. The Board regarded the two projects as related, rather than as entirely separate as viewed by the council's special hospital committee. The one project is the Civic Hospital and the other is the proposed extension to St. Joseph's, a 52-bed addition at an estimated cost of $250,000.

"We feel they are linked together for the reason which we pointed out in the Board's letter, that the cost of the hospital and its operation would be charged to all the ratepayers. That would mean that some of the grants and other donations on which St. Joseph's has been depending will be largely removed."

When the Board's letter was read at a recent meeting of the finance committee of the council, all its members, Alderman Sands, chairman of the special hospital committee, contended that the two projects were entirely apart and that the council should not confuse them.

Mr. Corkery submitted a financial statement of St. Joseph's for the last eight years, quoted from the annual reports to the Inspector of Hospitals, indicating a small annual deficit except in 1941 when there was a surplus. He also stated that the hospital had been built by the Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation, but that it has been turned over to the Sisters of St. Joseph, a corporate body, who will become the eventual owners.

The Board's proposal to the council was that in the expectation of losing financial aid by the action of the city in erecting a civic hospital for which all ratepayers would be taxed, the Board should make an appeal to the city for financial consideration. The basis of their request was the interest, presumambly at 3 p.c., on the proposed investment of $250,000 for 25 years. "We would be undertaking to pay off the principal at $10,000 a year, and that's a big order in itself," Mr. Corkery remarked.

Alderman Bradburn remarked that apparently St. Joseph's Board felt that its 52-bed addition was relieving the Civic Hospital of that much of the cost of hospitalization for the community, and was thereby a saving to the taxpayers in general.

Mr. Corkery informed the council that St. Joseph's was now free of debt. The last payments on the wing built some years ago were made comparatively recently from a bequest received from the late Senator F. P. O'Connor. "We have some money on hand, but for the new addition we will have to borrow."

As to the manner of providing for the proposed grant to St. Joseph's, Mr. Corkery said he recognized that it would have to receive the assent of the people. He suggested that a clause could be included in the bylaw the council was proposing to submit to the ratepayers.

Alderman Dutton said that the request from the deputation merited the careful and serious "and I almost prepared to say the sympathetic consideration of the council."

Alderman Sands said the council was preparing a debenture bylaw to be submitted to the ratepayers, and enquired whether the better way would be to include in that bylaw a clause providing for an annual grant to St. Joseph's.

Alderman Swanston: "Will it be in the bylaw that we have to make up the civic hospital deficits?"

Mayor Hamilton: "It will be your own baby? Who else would pay them?"

Alderman Ovens: "We are hoping there will be no deficits. Belleville is operating their hospital without deficits. Why can't we."

Alderman Bradburn: "I'll bet you a new hat there'll be deficits."

Alderman Sullivan: "Belleville has reputation throughout the province of being the best collectors from their patients."

At the conclusion of the discussions, Mayor Hamilton told the deputation that "I don't want to make any definite promise tonight. It seems to be hard to arrive at a decision, but I assure you that we will give this matter all possible attention."

125TH ANNIVERSARY — St. Peter's Anglican Church, Cobourg, observed its 125th anniversary Sunday, and a special program was arranged. The first service in the church was conducted in 1818, by Rev. W. Macaulay.

Box At Empress Raises $86 In Five Months

If ever a complete history or record under one cover of the work that the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund has been carrying on for the past four years ever comes to be written, one of the outstanding features that would find a place in this achievement of the citizens as a whole for the war effort, would be the part that some 40 penny boxes located in various business houses in the city have played.

Coming under the direct supervision of the fun management, and with the co-operation of the people of the various establishments where the boxes have been placed, this one activity of the fun has raised the second highest of any one source of revenue, the total getting very close to the $2,500 mark. It is surpassed only by the combined efforts of the workers at the Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd. and Genelco Ltd. plants.

As in all other similar circumstances where the work of different units comprise the whole, there are some whose work has contributed in a larger measure to the success, and among these the box at the Empress Hotel takes a primary position, the outstanding part it has contributed being judged by the fact that since the beginning of June of this year it has yielded $86.26 in collections to help the cause.

Looking behind the scenes in any endeavor of a group, one usually finds that success has often been achieved because one or more individuals have taken a deep interest in the work, this particular instance being no exception. This box has a first-class promoter in the person of the proprietor, who leads the way himself by giving a daily contribution on a pledge basis.

St. David's Welsh Society.

They say that the Welsh people are clannish, that is, they stick together. Be that as it may, there is every evidence that the local St. David's Welsh Society members have done much to help not only the bombed-out people of their own native Wales, but have contributed on a liberal scale to the rest of such sufferers in the other parts of the British Isles through this local and district fund. On quite a number of occasions their help has been recorded in this column, and now a further sum of $10, through their treasurer Mrs. Maud Pakenham, is acknowledged in to-day's receipts, to give a boost to the special Christmas donations now being collected.

Officials Are Silent

LONDON, Oct. 24 (CP)—Recurring rumors Allied landings in Norway have been heard in London for more than a month, but always without official confirmation, and a new outbreak of reports today was met by the same official silence.

Communiques have reported an increase in Allied bombings of Norwegian sites used by the German forces in the occupied country.

Another Traitor

LONDON, Oct. 24 — (CP) — A Reuters News Agency Paris dispatch to-day said that Michael Detroyat, French airman famed in pre-war days for endurance flights and acrobats feats, had been arrested on charges of aiding the Germans and being responsible for sending French planes to Germany.

Cpl. A. Harte-Maxwell Wounded In Italy

A member of the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment serving in Italy, Cpl. Albert Joseph Harte-Maxwell, 110 Simcoe street, has reported "slightly wounded" in action October 7, according to word received here by his family. He was wounded by shrapnel in the shoulder, and is 20 years of age.

Formerly with the Prince of Wales Rangers (CA) he transferred into the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment and went overseas in January 1943. He enlisted the previous May and has been in Italy more than a year. Before enlisting, he was employed at the C.G.E.

Capt. Harte-Maxwell has a sister with the R.C.A.F. (WD) overseas, Leading Air Woman Hazel, now stationed in London, England. The father, Cpl. Cecil S. Harte-Maxwell is with the Veterans' Guard, and is at present on escort duty in Canada.

Scott—Hugh

ROSENEATH, Oct. 24.—(ENS). — At the United church parsonage, Little Britain, Saturday afternoon, the marriage was solemnized by Rev. L. W. Scott of M. Ross Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Scott, of Garden Hill and Catherine Helene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hugh, Roseneath.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white crepe over white taffeta, with high shirred bodice, sweetheart neckline, a tiered flounced skirt with insets of wide lace and long pointed sleeves. The gown was buttoned in the back from neck to hip line. A shoulder-length veil of net wtih halo cap, a corsage of red roses, white baby 'mums and fern, and gold slippers completed the costume.

Miss Mary Hugh was her sister's bridesmaid. She wore a floor-length gown of off-white crepe with high shirred bodice, puff sleeves, sweetheart neckline and a lace panel at waist line. Her corsage was red roses and baby 'mums, and her slippers were silver. Gordon Scott was his brother's best man.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Scott left for a trip to St. Catharines and other points. For travelling the bride wore a gold crepe dress, turquoise blue coat and brown accessories.

D. Scully Weds Velma Herlihey

DOWNEYVILLE, Oct. 24. — (ENS.)—A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's church, Downeyville, Saturday morning at 9 o'clock when Velma Herlihey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Herlihey, was united in marriage to Dennis Scully, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Scully of Downeyville. The altar was decorated with roses, ferns and asters. Mrs. Patrick Perdue, aunt of the bride, presided at the organ and Earl Milloy, of Toronto, cousin of the bride, was soloist. Elton Herlihey, brother of the bride and Leo Scully, brother of the groom, were ushers. Rev. Father McFadden performed the ceremony and also said the nuptial mass.

The bride looked lovely in a floor-length gown of white silk lace over white satin on princess lines, buttoned down the back, and with long sleeves. Her long veil of tulle was held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. She was attended by her sister, Zita, gowned in a floor-length powder blue taffeta with fitted bodice and a blue feather hat with shoulder length veil and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses. Kenneth Scully was his brother's best man.

After the ceremony the bridal party numbering about 50 motored to Lindsay for a wedding dinner at the Benson House. After dinner a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at Downeyville, where the bride's mother received in a gown of power blue, with feather hat, fox fur and a corsage of American Beauty roses. The groom's mother also received in a tailored suit with matching hat and a corsage of Bettertime roses.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Scully left on an extended visit to Toronto and Rochester, N.Y. The bride travelled in a dark brown crepe dress with matching hat and accessories and a corsage of Bettertime roses. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm near Downeyville.

Build him up and don't worry about vitamins and minerals.

Authorities say the difference between husky children and those who are poor eaters, underweight, and nervous is often simply a matter of proper nourishment, especially an adequate supply of vitamins and minerals.

But don't worry about vitamins and minerals! Children who eat 3 average-good meals including fruit juice, and drink 2 glasses of Ovaltine each day, are getting all the extra vitamins and minerals they need. In addition to its well-balanced food values, Ovaltine adds significant amounts of Vitamins A, B_1 and D and the minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron. So, if your child is not developing normally, remember this rule:

3 good meals plus 2 glasses of Ovaltine every day.

Ennismore Pair Observe Golden Jubilee

Solemn high mass, in St. Martin's Church, Ennismore, marked the opening of a happy day on Monday when Mr. and Mrs. William Harrington of Ennismore marked the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. The bridesmaid at the wedding fifty years ago, Mrs. James Carrol of Young's Point was present, as was the organist, Mrs. J. P. Flood of Ennismore, and the server, Patrick O'Connor of Toronto. Will Young of Peterborough, the best man, was unable to be present through illness. Mrs. Patrick O'Connor, a sister of the bride of fifty years ago, sang "Ave Maria" during the mass.

In addition to the principles of the original wedding in 1894, Mr. and Mrs. Harrington's four sons and four daughters were in attendance. James Harrington, of Ennismore; Willie Harrington of Peterborough; Mrs. Patrick Murray (Loretta) of Ennismore; Mrs. J. O'Connor (Clara) of Windsor; Frank Harrington of Ennismore; Mrs. M. McAuliffe (Kathleen) of Peterborough; Mrs. A. Walker (Mary) of Toronto, staying at her home at present; and John Harrington of Ennismore.

The sermon was preached by Very Rev. Dean J. V. McAuley of Lindsay, who spoke of the successful life Mr. and Mrs. Harrington had had, and of the importance of married life. Rev. Father Maguire celebrated the mass, with Rev. Father Carrol as deacon, and Rev. Father Gillogly as sub-deacon.

Following the service in the church, the party were entertained at breakfast at the home of Mrs. J. P. Flood. At noon, about forty guests enjoyed a banquet at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club, and Mr. and Mrs. Harrington received at a reception at their home later in the afternoon, where lunch was served to the guests.

About 200 relatives and friends and neighbours gathered at their home Monday evening, for an enjoyable social get-together, with music and dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Harrington had their many telegrams, cards and presents on display, and expressed their thanks to everyone for their congratulations and gifts.

The couple have always lived in the same community. Mrs. Harrington, the former Eliza Scollard is 77, and Mr. Harrington is 79.

Keitha A. Little Weds G. T. Cooper

WARSAW, Oct. 24 — (ENS) — A very pretty wedding took place at the manse on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when Keitha Alberta Little, daughter of Mr. Alfred Little and the late Mrs. Little became the bride of George Theodore Cooper, youngest son of Mrs. Charlotte Cooper and the late Mr. Cooper.

Rev. E. D. Snelgrove performed the ceremnoy in the presence of immediate relatives.

The bride was lovely in her gown of white triple sheer, floor length, with lace yoke, long sleeves and full skirt. Her shoulder length veil of white tulle was made in cornet style and fastened with flowers. She carried a bouquet of red roses, white asters and maiden hair fern.

Miss Barbara Little, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a floor-length dress of pale blue taffeta, made on princess lines. She wore a bandeau of red roses and carried a bouquet similar to that of the bride.

Ralph Moore, cousin of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the groom's mother who received, wearing a blue sheer and lace gown and corsage of pink roses. The bride's sister, Mrs. Earl Bell, also received wearing gold crepe and matching accessories.

Following the reception supper was served to about 40 guests in the dining room, beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers and white bells. The bride's table being centred with a three-tier wedding cake.

Those assisting were Misse Teresa Moore, Isabelle Gallagher, Mima Moore, Ethel Gallagher, Doris Moore and Mrs. Earl Bell.

A telephone call of congratulations was received during the dinner from the groom's aunt, Elsie Moore, in Sudbury who was unable to attend.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were Mrs. Percy Coopper, Miss Madaline Toms, Miss Teresa Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bell and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Little, all of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gallagher, Hastings, and Pte. Hilliard Gallagher, Barriefield.

Many beautiful gifts were received by the newlyweds who will make their home in Warsaw.

Dora I. Payne Wed At Warsaw

WARSAW, Oct. 24 — (ENS). — A lovely fall wedding was solemnized at the Manse on Saturday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, when Dora Irene Payne, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Payne was united in marriage to David Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davidson, of Millbridge, Ont. Rev. E. D. Snelgrove officiated.

The bride chose lovely white satin for her floor length gown, made on princess lines, with V-neck, long sleeves and lace trimmings.

Her fingertip veil of white net was caught with white gardenias, her flowers were a corsage of red roses and she wore the grooms gift; a necklace of pearls.

The grooms sister, Mrs. Rosetta Storey, of Belleville, was matron-of-honor, wearing a floor-length dress of heavenly blue sheer, with shirred waist-line long sleeves and full skirt. She also wore a corsage of red roses, and a gold necklace, the gift from the groom.

Mr. Irwin Payne, brother of the bride was best man, and to him the groom gave a leather bill-fold.

Following the supper at the Paris Cafe in Peterborough, the happy couple left for a short honeymoon in the east, and for this the bride chose a green wool suit, blue top coat with hat and accessories to match.

On their return they will make their home at 219 Lake street in Peterborough.

Baby Band Work Topic At Meeting

Mrs. W. H. Morton, president of the Local Council of Women, taking as her theme, "The Baby Band", was guest speaker at the October meeting of the George street Baby Band, Monday evening in the ladies' parlors. Explaining the work and opportunities presented to members of the Band, Mrs. Morton said, "It is up to mothers to guide young Canada so they can build a better Christion world."

Members decided to send a bale of used clothing to nother Ontario, and were asked to bring their donations to the next meeting. Mrs. S. E. Sutton, who presided, welcomed new members, and heard the secretary's report, given by Mrs. A. Warlow.

In a short musical interlude, Mrs. L. R. Groombridge, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. S. James, sang "Bless This House", and "My Task". Miss Betty Mather played a piano solo, and Misses Marie Derry and Maralyn Pomeroy played a piano duet. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. R. Hetherington and Mrs. W. H. Frise.

Donates $15 For New Centre

Mrs. J. A. Middleton and Mrs. G. K. Middleton were hostesses at the former's home for the October meeting of the Lily Lake Women's Association, when members decided to send Christmas boxes to boys and girls from the community serving in the armed services in Canada and overseas.

The motion to buy a Victory Bond in the seventh Victory Loan drive was approved, and a donation of $15 was voted to the Memorial Community Centre. Mrs. John Wood, of the Salvation Army, presented an inspirational message from the scripture. Mrs. Ernest Ireland read the scripture, and Mrs. Gordon Hancock led in prayer.

The roll call was answered with articles for the Christmas parcels, and "Something I am Thankful For." An invitation was received from Mrs. William Fisher, formerly Agatha Ireland, of Omemee, to hold the November meeting at her home. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Basic Patterns New Idea For Dressmaking

Newest thing for home dressmakers, experienced and beginners, is the basic pattern idea, which gives each dressmaker a pattern against which other patterns can be measured. It really takes the places of d dressmaker's dummy, and is less fuss and bother, and certainly takes up less room.

The idea of the basic pattern is to simplify home dressmaking and smooth out difficulties, so that the novice can turn out a smart dress or suit, that looks polished and finished, and fits perfectly. The problem of correct fitting generally has been the bugbear under which most would-be needlewomen labor, and now has been eliminated by the use of the basic pattern.

As the first step, milady walks up to the pattern department, and has the saleslady measure for correct blouse and skirt sizes. The patterns are graded according to regular sizes, and are available in short length, for short people, medium, for medium people and long for tall people. After she has gotten her patterns, the seamstress then takes them home, and cuts them out on firm material. Measuring herself, she attaches the waist and the skirt at her exact waistline and then tries it on. Shoulders, shirts, waists and bust, all must be measured exactly, until the garment fits the figure perfectly.

No Trying On

Then, wonder of wonders, the little dress is taken apart, and each section carefully pressed. Allowing five-eighths of an inch for seams, the woman cuts out her basic pattern on cardboard or heavy wrapping paper, and now has a pattern against which all other patterns can be measured and compared so they will fit accurately, without all the fuss and bother of constant "trying on" sessions. If the pattern skirt is fuller than the basic pattern skirt, or is slimmer than the basic skirt, the pattern should not be cut to match, as long as the hipline, seven inches from the waist, matches the basic pattern.

Miss B. Reed, a fashion expert, has been in Peterborough, giving short talks on the basic pattern, and explaining its uses. She also gives valuable tips on dressmaking, and little fashion hints which help give an outfit that "chic" appearance. According to Miss Reed, padding is being stressed for fall, and the square shoulder effect is the latest mode. She says that women tend to cut shoulders in patterns too small and thus spoil the lines and the over-all effect of the dress. The new draped shoulder pads which begin almost at the neckline, gradually gaining in fullness until the end of the shouder, add to the appearance of the dress without being glaringly apparent. "Remember," Miss Reed laughs, "the wider your shoulders, the slimmer your hips."

Speaking of shoulders she asked women to notice the curved line of sleeve and shoulder, and said that it was curved purposely, so that the shoulder would not look too square, spoiling the graceful lines of the dress. Stressing the continuous ine of a dress, Miss Reed urges that the patterns be altered only at the sections clearly marked on an instruction sheet which comes with each pattern.

Mrs. J. Thornton Heads Alumnae

The following slate of officers for the coming year, submitted by Mrs. Hazel Clark, convener of the nominating committee, was approved at the annual meeting of the Nicholls Hospital Alumnae Association: President, Mrs. J. Thornton; first vice-president, Miss Mary Armstrong; second vice-president, Mrs. Gordon Hunt; secretary, Miss Melba Irwin; treasurer, Mrs. E. Conway; flower convener, Miss Shirley Beer; corresponding secretary, Miss Mary Ross; representative to the Local Council of Women, Mrs. W. G. McLaren; editor, Mrs. Hazel Clark.

Miss Fannie Dixon, first president of the Association, was present for the dinner served at the nurses' residence, and the business meetings which followed. Miss L. Ball, president, conducted the meeting which concluded the year's work, and Mrs. Thornton took the chair for the opening meeting of the year. Arrangements were discussed for a bingo early in 1945, and for the annual dance to be held November 29 in the Brock street Arena.

A donation to the Memorial Community Centre was approved. Following the adjourning of the meeting, Christmas boxes were packed for members in the armed forces serving overseas.

FUR TRIMMED COATS — Designers like compensating touches. If a fur-trimmed coat is bereft of a collar, chances are that there is ample compensation in the form of a deep hem border. If there is no hem border then there are huge cuffs of fur. Jaeckel does this handsome coat in gray wool and bands it dramatically in rich beaver, and gives it fur cuffs too. The coat is smart whether worn as a tied tunic coat or as a loose swagger.—By Alice Alden.

Lorne Reynolds President Of Co-Op Group

At the opening meeting of the United Farmers' Young People's Organization in the Co-op. Hall, Lorne Reynolds was named president in a report submitted by the nominating committee.

The slate of officers for the coming year is as follows: Honorary president, Reg Hunter; president, Lorne Reynolds; vice-president, Allan Drummond; secretary, Miss Marion Beatty; treasurer, Charlie Whittington; directors, Misses Doris Savigny, Laura Neals, Ferne Whittington, and Delbert Coward, Douglas Armstrong, Burritt Mann, Bill Robson, Donald Milburn, Gordon Stalker, Alton Clark, Morris Telford, Cliff. Johnston, agricultural committee, Misses Marion Beatty, Opal Sharpe, Anne Reynolds and Braden Mann, Charlie Whittington, Stewart Whittington, Manson Cathcart, Bill Stewart.

Mrs. J. G. Wharry was guest speaker, choosing for her topic, "The Art of Public Speaking". "Speech is the mirror of a man's soul" she began, "As he speaks, so is he". Continuing by outlining the do's and don't's of public speaking, presenting them in an entertaining manner, Mrs. Wharry concluded, "This is a democracy with freedom of speech. Let us defend it to the best of our ability."

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mann, who attended the 100 Centenary of World Co-operatives in Chicago, each gave an account of the trip. Reg. Hunter, who presided, spoke of the public speaking and amateur contests which will soon be conducted, and heard the secretary's and treasurer's reports. Prize winners in a quiz contest were Misses Phyllis Moore and Laura Whittington. Miss Mary Robson sang a solo, and Miss Laura Neals was at the piano.

Nurses Grateful To YWCA Services

Gratitude of the RCAMC Nursing Service for amenities made available to them by the Y.W.C.A. in Italy was expressed by Lieut.-Col. Agnes C. Neill, matron-in-chief, in a letter received to-day by Miss Louise Gates, General Secretary National Council Y.W.C.A., Toronto.

"The Y.W.C.A. establishment at Catania was used, as you no doubt know, by a great many of our nursing sisters and with it, as with your other units in Italy, there has been continual praise and thanks for the comfort supplied", wrote Lieut.-Col. Neill.

Mrs. Winston Churchill's Fund for British Service Women, which has reached a total of $137,000 has helped to make these centres possible.

JUST FOR WOMEN

By CONNIE NICHOLSON
(Society Editor of The Examiner)

Heat Conservation.

Fall housecleaning is well under way, and the housewife is preparing her home for the long winter months, with an eye to conserving precious heat and saving on fuel expenses. Here's a tip for the homemaker whose house has hot water heating, and is fuel conservation conscious.

Authorities say that the amount of heat given out by a hot radiator depends on the type of paint used for the finishing coat. They claim that metallic paints, like bronze and aluminum, have an insulating effect, and cut down the heating qualities of the radiator, even though they themselves are not insulates. Surprisingly enough, plain ordinary paint is much more efficient in the radiator covering job, since with a regular paint covering the radiator gives just as much heat as it would if a whole new section were added, painted with bronze or silver.

Therefore, for the housewife who is thinking of brightening up her room by giving the radiators and woodwork a new coat of paint, here is the method for the former. If the paint already on the radiator is not too thick, it is not necessary to remove before applying another coat. Use a long-handled brush to dust out every corner, and then wash the radiator thoroughly with soapy water, and let dry. When it is dry, the radiator can be coated with a smart finish in any shade desired and can match her color scheme of blend with the walls.

Odds 'n' Ends.

Handy little hints saving time, effort, or money are always making their bow, and here are a few more for the kitchen. The metal inside of an aluminum pressure cooker can be kept shining and bright by adding two tablespoons of vinegar to the water in the cooker, when canning.

Remember to tap the egg beater on the hand, to loosen the last little fluffy bits, since banging it on the bowl knocks out the air you have spent the last five minutes trying to put into the eggs.

People who give their blood to the Red Cross Blood Bank should remember that the body must replace that blood, and needs nourishment to do it effectively. The following foods help keep the blood at a high percentage, and also help the body replace blood: Protein foods, such as cheese, eggs, milk, and meat; and iron foods, liver, molasses, whole grain cereals, bread and leafy vegetables.

Here we are at parsley again. It seems that every few weeks we hear more about parsley and are urged to use it oftener. It is quite true though, since its vitamin A and C and iron content can't be beaten. It is really a tasty addition to many dishes, so don't forget to add some, finely chopped, to egg dishes, salads, fish, and even soups. Adding a fine spicy flavor, it is attractive and tasty as well.

Speaking of tasty additions to salads, and food value, have you ever tried saving some of the flowerets from the cauliflower to be cooked for dinner, and chopping them up raw in a salad? They add a spicy tang to the mixed salad that the family will not be able to definitely distinguish, but will heartily endorse.

Selwyn

Among those attending the funeral of the late Mrs. Harry Seabrook of Fraserville were: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sanderson, Mrs. Stuart Sanderson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Preston and son Harold, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Fitzgerald.

Week-end and Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Elliott were their daughter, Mrs. Lynley Pratt and family of Peterborough, Sgt. Instructor Russel Elliott, R.C.A.F., of Toronto, and Mrs. Elliott and family, also Pte. Harry Font of Calgary, Alta., and now stationed at Camp Borden. Pte. Font is the son the former Mildred Sanderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Sanderson, who at one time lived on the farm now owned by Stuart Sanderson.

Canadian Units Hold Fast For Four Days

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, Oct. 24 —(CP Cable)— Canadians holding a mile-wide bridgehead over the swift-flowing Savio River in the Adriatic sector have brushed off repeated, stinging German counter-attacks during the last 24 hours and early today were holding firmly to their positions.

The bridgehead was thrown across the Savio, which runs northward through captured Cesena into the Adriatic, late Friday night and today, at the beginning of the fourth day of the thrust, the Canadians were in high spirits.

Dry clothes, rations, ammunition and—most important of all in this torrential rain and cold—an issue of rum, cheered the troops lying in their places on the sodden ground.

Canucks Dig In

The situation here remained substantially unchanged during Monday. On the left of the toehold Prairie regiment men strengthened their positions and British Columbia Highlanders on the right dug in more firmly. Both these units command all movement on the main Cesena-Ravenna road.

Enemy shelling, mortaring and machine-gunning continues to be heavy and counter-attacks, supported by tanks and self-propelled artillery, are constantly thrown at our troops.

Counter-thrusts of this kind forced the withdrawal of one company of a Western permanent force unit and others of a Nova Scotia Regiment. Attacked at close quarters by tanks and strong infantry forces, the Canadians were ordered to pull out.

Farther south, another company of Western permanent force men under Maj. Ted Cutbill of Hamilton, Ont., and Montreal held on for the fourth day. Yesterday they had their first hot meal since hitting the bridgehead.

Communication between the bridgehead and Canadian forces on the east bank of the Savio is being maintained by a shuttle service which was set up Saturday evening. The depth of the Savio and the depth of the mud at its approaches make it impossible to erect a bridge and a ferry was the answer.

One hundred prisoners caged on the east bank of the river until it is possible to evacuate them worked all night carrying casualties on the ferry service and from the east bank to the medical posts.

The prisoner total has risen to 285 in the last few days, most of them cocky young boys who should still be at school.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

HAPPINESS MOTHER'S VIRTUE
Generally Most Melancholy People Who Fret Bitterly at Their Lot.

WHY do mothers consider it no part of their duty as mothers to be cheerful?

Taking them by and large, for naturally there are notable exceptions to the rule, they are the most melancholy class of people in the world and the one that complains most bitterly of its lot.

Yet that Mother is no pale, suffering invalid is proven by the fact that she generally outlives her husband and that the whole landscape is cluttered up with widows. A casual glance into 99 per cent of the homes shows that she is not the helpless victim of man's tyranny, but that she wears the pants and they are not slacks, either. Nor is she, except on rare occasions, an overworked slave, for it is only Mother who can spend her afternoons playing bridge and attending the movies. Nor do all children turn out badly. More often they are a crown of glory and pet and coddle her, and never forget her birthday or Mother's Day.

So why the grief? Certainly the business woman works as hard as Mother does, but she doesn't let it get her down. She nails on her face the smile that won't come off, for well she knows that a sour faced saleswoman sells no mink coats, and that no employer is going to spend his days looking at a secretary who resembles a piece of the Wailing Wall.

It is only mothers who act like early Christian martyrs because they have to make homes for their families, and who are always complaining about how they are tied down by their jobs. Other women are glad to have a settled meal ticket. And the irony of the situation is that if anything should happen to deprive these women of the husbands and homes and children that they consider such a burden while they have them, they would spend the balance of their lives weeping on your shoulder over their loss.

Children Flee Gloom Of Some Homes

One of the chief grievances of mothers, for instance, is that they cannot keep their children at home; that just as soon as they can use their wings they fly the home nest, and that even when they are mere babes they want to play at Mamie's and Johnny's house. And Mother never suspects that the reason of this is that the children are fleeing her gloom. They want brightness, good cheer, laughter and fun and they go where they can find it. You never hear of a jolly woman having any trouble of keeping her children at home.

Another wail of Mother's is over her children not being companionable with her. They never want to talk to her. They don't come to see her, or write to her. Well, it takes a lot more unselfishness than most young people possess to leave a gay company of interesting people and go and spend it listening to Mother recount her woes. Nor is it easy to keep an animated correspondence with Mother when they know her letters are going to be full of reproaches for their neglect, and telling them how conscience-smitten they will be when she lies a-moldering in the grave.

Of course, if mothers get a morbid joy out of being unhappy, it is a cruel thing to interfere with their favorite in-door diversion, except that their dark blue attitude towards life brings on them so many of the misfortunes that really give them something to weep about.

Pity, isn't it, that mothers don't oftener realize that cheerfulness is one of the chief virtues of a good mother?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(AP).—The United States' Navy announced yesterday the loss of two submarines in the Pacific, the U.S.S. Herring and the U.S.S. Golet, which carried crews of 65 men each.

No Opposition

GUELPH, Oct. 24 — (CP). — Any province can revert to standard time when it wishes, Hon. Norman McLarty, Secretary of State, said in an interview here yesterday. He said he did not think there would be any opposition from the Federal Government if any province wished to do so.

WINS DECORATION — Flt.-Lieut. Kenneth Johnston, who went overseas in the ground crew and has now worked up to Flight-Lieutenant, has been awarded the D.F.C. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Johnston, 66 Lee street.

Norwegian Flier Describes Life In Underground

Members of the Peterborough Rotary Club were guests of Lieut.-Col. James Turnbull at the Military Training Centre on Monday, had a meal cooked and served by the camp staff in one of the camp buildings, and then with the entire personnel of the Training Centre in attendance held their regular meeting in the drill hall.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Leading Aircraftman "Pierre Land" of the Royal Norwegian Air Force, who substituted for the lieutenant of the same unit who had originally been scheduled to give the address.

Rotarian Ron McGrath, who introduced the speaker, explained that the Norwegian Air Force officer who had promised to visit the club had been the victim of a flying accident the other day, forcing him to bale out of his plane, and was injured in his parachute landing and was now in hospital. Rotarian McGrath explained that the name of the guest speaker was not really Pierre Land, but he preferred to be known by that name because of his connection with the Norwegian underground for several years.

Leading Aircraftman Land said that when the Germans invaded Norway, the Norwegians in his part of the country had only a faint idea of what was going on. They had heard rumors that there was a British Army on the west coast, and that the Norwegian soldiers were resisting, but they had no definite information on either point. Accordingly, the speaker said, 40 Norwegians of which he was one banded themselves together to defend their homeland as best they could.

Ambush Nasis

The speaker told how the little force, wearing no uniforms except a red band on the arm, had ambushed a German column coming through the mountains.

"We shot 181 of them, took nine prisoners, and only lost one man ourselves," said the speaker, adding that the German soldiers were stupid when left on their own initiative.

Leading Aircraftman Land went on to tell some of his own experiences as a member of the Norwegian underground, telling of trips to Germany in the guise of a German officer whose uniform he had obtained by means "which you can probably imagine."

"Yes, I am a murderer, if you will," he said. "I have killed Germans—26 of them."

Quisling, said the speaker, had utterly failed in trying to line up the Norwegians for Germany. Ninety-eight per cent of them had refused to co-operate.

The underground in Norway, he said, was so effectively organized that he did not know for many months that his own father was the leader of the group to which he belonged, and his father, on the other hand, did not know that the son was a member. The speaker told of the work that had been done by the underground in fighting the war against the stupidity and brutality of the Germans. He had learned to hate the latter, he said, when he saw how his father was treated while in a German prison camp.

Underground Everyhere

"There is an underground not only in Norway but everywhere in Europe," Leading Aircraftman Land said. "Even in Russia and in England. The Germans have their agents in England just as we have in Germany, but they are not so successful in getting out."

To the soldiers in the audience he said that the underground could not carry on if it were not for the men in the armed services. Similarly the latter could not carry on without the support of the people on the home front and in this connection he urged whole-hearted support for the Seventh Victory Loan so that the boys could come home and make this a better Canada.

At the beginning of the meeting in the drill hall, Lieut.-Col. Turnbull welcomed the Rotarians to the camp, and referred to the assistance given by the Rotary Club in the work of remodelling the canteen which was the best he had seen in Canada or overseas. He invited the visitors to inspect the camp afterwards.

Get Their Training

"In my opinion the work done in these basic camps is most important," he said, "because we take the boy fresh from home and teach him the duties of a soldier. And in spite of everything you have heard, these boys get the training. We have Bren guns, we have a Piat, we have grenades, and the soldiers get their instruction with those weapons."

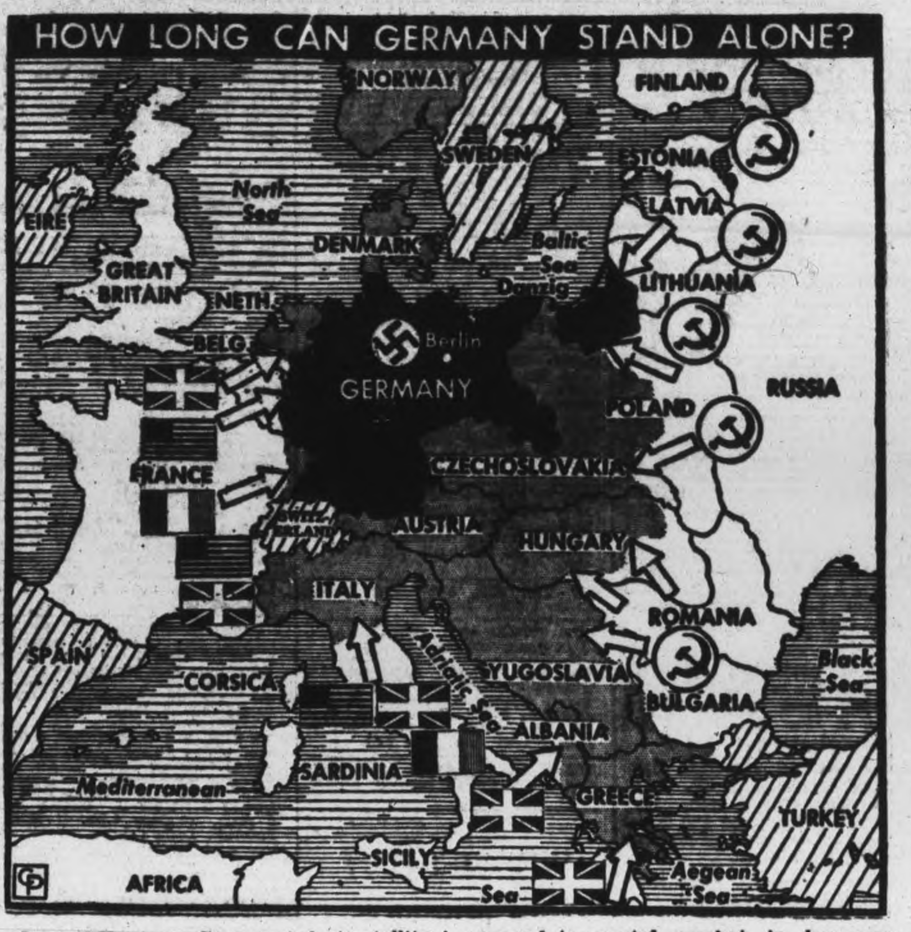
Then the meeting was turned over to Gordon S. Matthews, president of the Rotary Club, and a sing-song led by John Smith, with Harry Northrop at the piano, prefaced the address of the guest speaker.

After the meeting the Rotarians inspected the canteen, the new information room, and other features of the Military Training Centre.

The luncheon was voted one of the most successful the club has held. The luncheon menu, consisting of pea soup, boiled ham, mashed potatoes, carrots, peas, etc., raisin pie, and ice-cream, was thoroughly appreciated and there were many warm words of praise for the good work of the camp kitchen staff and for the hospitality of the Centre.

V.D. Division

TORONTO, Oct. 24.—(CP).—Toronto Board of Health recommended yesterday that a division of venereal disease control be established at once. Dr. L. A. Pequegnat, Deputy Medical Officer of Health, was recommended as director. Cost of the division was placed at $10,000.



Loss of Hungary, Germany's last satellite ally, will force Germany to continue the war alone. Italy, Romania, Finland and Bulgaria have withdrawn from the Axis. Japan, engaged in mortal combat in her own theatre of war, is of no use whatever to the Nazis. This shaded area shows the territory in Europe still under control of the German arms.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP

Below is a recipe that will build any hostess a reputation. Just try it on your family and prove my point. There's a subtle something about this simple sauce that wins for its mild flavor the high praise, 'distinguished." You'll serve this mixture most often on hot, lightly buttered toast.

Supper Club Special

2 cups finely-diced cooked meat or poultry, ⅔ cup cooked vegetables. (peas, diced carrot), 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 3 tablespoons chopped raw celery, 2 tablespoons fine, flavored dripping; ¼ cup flour, 2½ cups hot stock, salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoons finely chopped parsley.

Prepare the meat and cooked vegetables. Cook the onion and celery in dripping until lightly browned. Blend in the flour, then add the hot stock slowly, stirring constantly. Cook until the sauce is smoothly thickened. Add salt to tase, pepper and parsley. Simmer gently, closely covered and with frequent stirrings, for 10 minutes. Add the meat or poultry, and cooked vegetables and heat thoroughly, but do not boil. Serve on slices of toast, or in patty shells.

Chili Meat Pudding.

Mexico has a way with many of the savory foods tand this dish, with its "Tamale" suggestions and its combination of chili and other good but less exotic flavors, will make truly interesting eating. Serve it with a good brown gravy.

¾ pound lean pork, ¾ pound stewing veal, boiling water. 2 tablespoons vinegar, ½ cup diced celery, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 cup corn meal, 3 or 4 slices side bacon, 1 medium onion chopped, ⅔ cup stewed or canned tomatoes, ⅔ cup kernel corn, 2 eggs well beaten, 1 teaspoon chili powder. Dice the meats and cover them with boiling water, add vinegar, celery and salt. Simmer gently, covered, 2 hours. Measure 3 cups of meat stock into a saucepan, bring to a rapid boil and stir in the cornmeal slowly. Cook over direct heat, until thick. Cut the bacon in small pieces and cook lightly in a frying pan. Add onion and cook until browned. Drain the meat and add it to the cooked cornmeal, along with the onions, bacon, tomatoes, corn, beaten eggs and chili powder. Turn into rather large greased baking dish and bake in moderate even about 50 minutes.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, October 25

A DAY OF dramatic and perhaps startling events of far reaching and vital importance is read from the intriguing array of planetary influences of power and significance. Such occurrences may be unprecedented and unpredictable, with elements of the unusual, cryptic and intriguing to challenge sound judgment and traditional tactics and rules. The tendency may be toward drastic uprooting rash changes belligerent-attitudes, led by over-enthusiasm and emotional impulses or excitement rather than reason and logic. Clashes with higher-ups and regrettable entanglements with dubious persons may result. With care there may be romance, adventure, with uplift or aspirational culminations to cherished desires.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of exceptional experiences, adventures and contacts, in which there may be thrills, sensational activities, or dramatic climax to cherished ambitions, with radical change and spectacular performance. Such carried to excess, by over zealous or emotional impulses may beget opposition and defeat from those in power or else unprofitable relations with tricky associates. Sign writings and contracts with great caution and not through pressure hunches or erratic urges. Much pleasant experience is shown, of far reaching signficance, from wise and prudent conduct. Romance and adventure are indicated with change and travel.

A child born on this day should possess unusual or unique talents, with creative ability of a sensational character. Grand success, romance and adventure in its career may be defeated by erratic wayward or impulsive conduct.

Serious Charge

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—(AP).—Edwin P. Banta, 73, was found guilty yesterday on a charge of conspiracy in an attempt to discredit Arthur Derounian, author of "Under Cover," by asking a girl falsely to accuse the writer of raping her. Justice Irving Ben Cooper announced sentence would be imposed November 9 after "a full investigation of this defendant."

Fire Damage

HAMILTON, Oct. 24—(CP).—Fire of undetermined origin caused heavy damage yesterday to the office and paint and dipping departments of the McMaster pottery plant in nearby Dundas. Loss was estimated at "many thousands." The structure was aflame when an alarm was turned in. Dundas firemen fought the blaze for more than five hours.

Junior WA Hears Talk On NorthernEskimos

MILLBROOK, Oct. 24 (ENS) — A good attendance, with interesting information concerning missions among the Eskimos at far northern stations, featured the public gatherings sponsored by the Junior W.A. of St. Thomas' church, and held in the parish hall on Friday evening. E. H. Barnes taking the chair in the absence of the rector, Rev. A. E. Chevis, who is seriously ill.

The slides were in natural colors, and previous to the pictures members of the junior society, under their leader, Miss Isabelle McCorry, presented the following numbers: Piano solos by Irene Trick; duets by Francis Handley and Irene Trick; a song by Lena Marie Lowery, Joan Sanders, F. Handley, Irene and Caroline Harkness.

Charge Is Withdrawn In Radio License Case

The fact that he had obtained a radio license a month prior to the date on which he was charged with not having possession of one resulted in a charge against Fred Eason, Otonabee farmer, being withdrawn in police court this morning.

Radio Inspector M. E. Leslie asked the court to have the charge withdrawn.

"Mr. Eason need not have been here at all if he had answered the first summons which was mailed to him" said the inspector. "If he had replied then that he already had a license the case would have been dropped but when he did not appear last week and we heard nothing from him we had to summons him again through an officer."

Mr. Eason said that he had received the original summons but had forgotten the date on which he was to have appeared.

PRESENT FOR FIGHTERS

Two more veterans of fighting on land and sea, Stan Clarke and L-S Leonard Post, R.C.N.V.R., were remembered at a bingo held by the Peterborough Workers and Unemployed Association. It is their custom that when a man attending has returned from overseas, or active service, he is presented with $5. This is the third such gift this month.

Two Held After Crash Charged With Theft

Following an accident on the [illegible] road, Otonabee, on Monday ni[ght] in which a truck owned by Herb McGee, Bobcaygeon drover, ro[lled] over in a ditch and was damag[ed] to the extent of $700, two you[ths] were arrested by Provincial C[on]stable Price Morris on a charge [of] theft from the person.

The two, Kenneth A. Thomp[son], 19, whose home address is 531 D[ug]las avenue, but who is a memb[er of] the Norwegian Merchant Ma[rine] and Lawrence Dennie, 25, 52 A[l] street, were charged in police [court] this morning with stealing $137 [and] three gasoline ration books [from] McGee.

Both pleaded not guilty, el[ected] summary trial, and at the re[quest] of Crown Attorney V. J. McEld[erry] K.C., were remanded until next [Tues]day with bail in each case fix[ed at] $1,000.

According to police, the tw[o] custo were with McGee in the [truck] at the time of the accident.

The machine left the road [and] plowed into the ditch, turning [over]. The car, radiator and other pa[rts of] the truck were very badly dam[aged]. McGee, who was brought to th[e po]lice station after the crash, wa[s lat]er removed to St. Joseph's Ho[spital] suffering from cuts on the [head] and face and shock. Denni[e] complained of neck injuries, b[ut was] not taken to hospital.

With The Armed Forces

The editor of this column will welcome extracts from letters from boys serving or any other information concerning them.

By JEAN STENTON

German shells are no respecter of persons, and the padres stationed in the front lines suffer under the same attacks as their men, only they lack the opportunity of shooting back—with bullets. The growing lists of decorations for chaplains, for outstanding devotion to duty under fire, shows the stuff they are made of. An average trip to the front lines, described by Capt. V. E R Zufelt, stationed in Italy, but formerly minister of Knox United church, shows that the padres are not sitting in comfort, far behind the fighting zone.

"This morning an officer sent in a message in that my services were required. They are helping out Bud Charlton's outfit (a Peterborough boy) and I was told that due to high water and washed out bridges, I'd never get through except on a motorcycle.

"I borrowed one from a D.R. and struck off. Give him credit, our Regimental Sergeant Major, who knew the lads we were going up to, insisted on going too. If anyone ever introduces you to R.S.M. Russell when he war is done; greet him as a real gentleman. He's seen tough shows, and while he claims this is the worst he's been in, I can assure you, his "putting" engine behind mine was a great comfort.

Concentrated Fire

"We wormed our way up there, I don't quite know how. Our Maple Leaf paper says the Germans have the artillery of six divisions on that front. I know we were so close that when our dive bombers went after them, our dinners bounced on the table.

"Somehow we got our rendezvous mixed and we waited two hours in the wrong place. The Major struck off to find the party, but fell off his motorcycle and came back all skinned up. On the way to our place, an armored vehicle ditched me, just as some "Moaning Minnies" came over. I could not get the machine out of the ditch and because I knew it was a hot spot. I was trying so hard to move it, that I did not notice what was happening about me. When we arrived back an hour ago, I asked the R.S.M. where those mortars landed. He was behind me and saw them. He said they were along about 100 yards to my right. Then he came out with this: 'Didn't you see all the men on their stomachs in the ditch where you were?' I had to think for a minute and then recollected them being there."

"They were not gathering dew worms," the R.S.M. suggested rather tenderly.

Spiritual Help

"When we arrived at our destination, we found the boys taking shelter. I was provoked with myself for being out of breath from trying to get my motorcycle out of the ditch. I was afraid the boys would take my faltering voice as fear. I knew these were the bravest of our men and I wanted no stammering words. To my surprise, when I shook hands with the lads, some were shaking, but the R.S.M. told me the B.S.M. of the unit told him my calm, steady devotional voice did much to pull the men together That's what helps make our work so worthwhile.

Then came the ride back. The hand clutch on the motorcycle was stiff, and I used it so much to negotiate loose gravel, mud and shell holes, that my left hand is swollen. We were all a little jumpy after the trip and the R.S.M., whom I regard as a veteran of such things, tells me if he hadn't seen me go streaking through he would not have gone. I entertained the same idea toward him.

"By the time you get this, I'll be out on rest. Some people seem to think we're cozy and fine way behind the lines, and they're certainly wrong. Just today, a truck drove on a mine, 200 yards from me. The extraordinary thing is, that they did not give the name of the poor American engineer, who was trying to lift the mine, and was killed. I suppose if he had lived, he would have been demoted for monkeying with the thing.

LIEUT. TOM STANLEY

Vimy Memorial in France has been well kept and was absolutely untouched, writes Lieut. Tom Stanley, whose wife lives at 523 Bolivar street. He recently escorted 50 of his men on a trip to the Memorial and while there he found the names inscribed of two of his uncles who died in the last war. He also said he had visited Arras, familiar battle scene of 1914-1916, and wrote that it was a relief to see a place that was not completely flattened. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stanley, also on Bolivar street.

Peterborough Men Meet

Two Peterborough men met unexpectedly in a military hospital in England recently. They were Pte. Clarence Downer, patient and Major R. K. Magee, medical officer.

Pte. Downer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Downer, 172 Lake street, suffered severe lacerations to the left arm during fighting in Italy some months ago. At that time his doctor wrote that he had a bad broken elbow of the left arm, which he felt might end up a disability. The latest report on the casualty is that his arm is in a cast and will be for some time, but that it is improving.

2nd LIEUT. L. A. REID

A former employee of Canada Packers, 2nd Lieut. Leslie Alex Reid, whose wife lives at 315½ Stewart street, recently graduated from Brockville as a second lieutenant. He is the son of Mrs. Reid and the late Robert Reid, 216 Park street north, and has a daughter, age 3. Following his graduation, he went to Western Canada. Enlisting in 1942, 2nd Lieut. Reid has been serving with the Prince of Wales Rangers (CA).

Plans For Demobilization

Although there has been a lot of consideration given to demobilization by civilians in Canada, nothing much has been heard about what the men fighting overseas think. The Maple Leaf paper in Italy recently conducted a poll and the following are some of the ideas suggested by them.

One of the leading ideas given by men who have spent from three to five years overseas is that demobilization should take place according to length of service. The first man in, should be the first out, is their belief. Another suggests that first men in should be the first discharged in this order (1) those married with children; (2) married, and (3) single. Another suggests that married men should be demobilized as soon as possible, irregardless of the length of service and that any man who can step out of khaki into a civilian job, should be freed. In that latter category he includes men who plan to go to university or school and technical men who wish to take brush-up courses.

Came To Life Again

"The man they buried three years ago at Tobruk snapped smartly to attention and saluted his C.O. at a command post of the 8th Army near Rimini. 'I have come back sir,' said the dead man.

"The C.O. almost jumped out of his uniform, because this ghost before him was a very substantial man. He even knew his grave number, 167, and as he gazed stupified, the soldier said 'I am very much alive, I assure you."

The soldier had been a member of a Polish unit facing Rommel's Afrika Corps and a Bren gun carrier in which he had been travelling was hit by a shell, blown up by a mine and burned out. Inside were the bodies of the crew. The remains were laid in a grave at Tobruk, and since there had been four in the crew, four graves were dug.

The force from the mine explosion had hurled this Pole from the carrier and when he recovered consciousness, several days later, he was in an Italian hospital. Many months later, he escaped from a prison camp in northern Italy and finally reached his old unit.

Sees Brother Fight

While Nursing Sister Lieut. Jean Borland, R.C.A.M.C. of Guelph, will have many experiences to talk about when the war is over, the thrill of seeing her brother shoot down a Messerschmitt plane in a dog fight will be one experience she will never forget

Lieut. Borland told the story in a letter received by her parents here. Her brother FO. Alexander (Sandy) Borland was engaged in a dog fight near a casualty clearing station in France where she was working. After caring for the needs of the wounded she watched the battle in the skies.

Curious to know who the airman was who shot down the Nazi plane, Lieut. Borland made enquiries and discovered it was her brother, stationed with the City of Oshawa squadron nearby.

Casualty Improving

Pte. Robert Kent, who was on the seriously ill list, following a wound he received while fighting in France, is improving. It is hoped that the cast will be off his arm and leg at the end of the month, even though he will have to spend another two months in hospital. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kent, 386 Murray street.

Marmora News

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brady spent the week-end with the latter's parents, at Lonsdale.

Mr. N. M. Vian of Lorain, Ohio, has been spending holidays in Marmora and vicinity.

Week-end guests included Miss Marie Freeman of Ajax with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Freeman;

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. LaPlante and daughter, Mary Elizabeth, with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Shannon;

Flt. Sgt. Roy Hadwyn of Mountain View at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Maybee;

Pte. Charles Reynolds of Kingston with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Reynolds;

Miss Isabel Nayler of Peterborough with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Nayler;

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rombough and daughter Carol Ann of Orillia with Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Nayler;

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lavender and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Johnson, son Bobbie and daughter Phyllis of Wellington with Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Lavender and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Lavender.

Mrs. Fred Matthews is quite ill at her home in Deloro.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

DO IT UP RIGHT

WHATEVER you do, do a good job of it. This applies as much to a safety play as to anything else in bridge. If you are able to figure out a plan of play which will protect your contract against a five-two division of seven outstanding cards of a suit, don't be satisfied with one which will save you only if they are divided four-three.

3♣	Pass	5♣

West opened his diamond J against that contract, South winning with the Q. To safeguard himself against losing a heart trick late in the hand, he promptly laid down his A and then ruffed the 5 with the dummy's club 2. Feeling that all was now salubrious, he led the club K, which the A won. West returned the diamond K, which East ruffed with the club 5 for his side's second trick, and the club 10 was fired back, South winning with the Q. The heart K was then scored, and when West failed to follow suit South knew East was destined to take the heart trick which would set the contract.

South could have protected himself against the bad heart break by ruffing two cards of the suit. After trumping the 5 with dummy's club 2, he could have come to his hand with the ruff of a spade and then ruffed the heart 8 with the club 8. Then the club K would have lost one trick to the A, and a second trick would have gone to the defenders when West returned a diamond for East to ruff. That, however, would have been the total extent of the business transacted by the defense.

Post Office May Charge Careless Packer

TORONTO, Oct. 24—(CP)—Postmaster-General Mulock said here today that prosecution may follow the destruction of 150 bags of mail by fire which broke out on a ship scheduled to leave Montreal last week-end with Christmas parcels for servicemen overseas.

Investigation is being made, he stated, and if the fire was caused by matches in an overseas parcel and authorities can learn who put them in the parcel, the Government will take the necessary action.

He said only a small portion of the mail was damaged, and that the Department will get in touch with those concerned so far as they are able to do so. The fire broke out in a hatch of the ship containing 3,200 bags of mail, but was extenguished in 15 minutes.

Argentine Girl Weds Astor Heir

LONDON, Oct. 24—(CP Reuter)—The marriage of Anna Inez, younger daughter of the Argentine ambassador to Britain, Dr. M. A. Carcano, and Maj. John Jacob Astor, third son of the millionaire peer, Viscount Astor, and Viscountess Astor, was solemnized today at Saint Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Chelsea.

The marriage was the sequel to a romance known only to a few people, and the engagement was never announced.

The bride is a vivacious blond, known to her friends as Chiquita. The bridegroom was formerly an officer in the life guards, but transferred to airborne division.

Under the will of his grandfather, the first Viscount Astor, he is understood to have inherited £1,000,000 ($4,500,000), when he came of age. A nephew of Lt.-Col. J. J. Astor, publisher of the Times, he was born in 1918, and educated at Eton. The bride is also the member of a wealthy family.

Neither Lord Astor nor Lady Astor, parents of the bridegroom, were present. It is understood they disapproved of the marriage on religious grounds.

The Argentine ambassador gave his daughter away.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

A good crowd attended the Scouters Club Social last week and best wishes go to the new President Reg. Perks, and his executive officers. He was one of the vice presidents last year and it is good to see him accept the higher office. Past President Earl McNabb has made a good showing during the past year and every Cub and Scout officer is asked to support the new president in the coming year. This can only be done by attending the meetings regularly, and this means Scouters, Akelas and all assistants. The next meeting may be postponed for one week as the Local Association meeting will be held on the second Wednesday.

Local Association Meeting

The annual meeting of the Local Boy Scouts Association has been postponed for two weeks owing to circumstances beyond our control. The Annual meeting and election of officers will be held on Wednesday November 8. Place to be announced later. This gives all groups a better opportunity to get their annual reports ready. There is also a little more time to get your Group committees lined up. It is a good idea to arrange to have the members of your Group committee attend this annual meeting. The Annual meeting of the Peterborough Boy Scouts Association is open to the public.

Registration

Just a reminder to every Cub and Scout Officer in the district that registrations and renewal of Charters should be completed and sent in to the secretary W. G. Shiner as soon as possible. If you can send in the fees at the same time, do so, but do not hold up the registrations because of the fees. They can be sent in later.

St. John's

A well attended Pack meeting was held Friday with five new Chums being accepted into the Pack. This fills up all vacancies and any more boys wishing to join will have to place their names on the waiting list.

The new Chums were Max Sanders, Peter Newman, Stewart Books, Jimmy Heffernan and Tommy Cuff. The games of Box the Ball and Musical Monkeys were played the second game being in keeping with the story of Banderlog which Baloo told at the Red Flower. During the evening, Clarence James and David Bacon passed Leap Frog, Bobby Burgess completed his first Star tests by passing Skipping, Gerry Cousins passed Cleanliness tests, Bobby Martyn completed Tenderpad tests and will be invested on Friday November 3. John Biddle passed Compass for Second Star work.

Several service Stars were pesented one, two, three and one Four Year Star to Drew Buckland who was also promoted to the Rank of Senior Sixer for the balance of his stay in the Pack.

Next Friday the Cubs and Scuts will hold a joint Hallowe'en party at which everyone must be dressed up. The Mother's Auxiliary will serve some refreshments and parents are invited to attend. Fancy costumes are in order.

The Troop: In the absence of Scouter, Jamie Collis assisted by Alex McLeod, Art Dobson and Bruce Shannon took charge of the Troop and First aid work as the main feature of study. The Skipper was invited to the Court of Honor to speak to the P. L's. The main topic was "Prepare Yourself as Leaders, always be several jumps ahead of your boys." A message was also given from Sgt. Gord. Best wishing the Troop good Scouting. The Troop then received it's formal invitation to join the Pack in it's Hallowe'en activities, which was accepted.

St. Luke's

The Cubs, Scouts and newly formed Girl Guide Group attended morning service at St. Luke's on Sunday. A service for children was held with the theme of the sermon by Rev. M. Arthur being, "Fight the Good Fight.

The rector pointed out to the young people the many Giants that have to be faced today, Idleness, Indifference, Greed, Impurity, Selfisness, Pride and asked that each one would fight these things every day. A word of thanks went also to the many parents who were present and voicing his appeal Mr. Arthurs said that it was good to see parents and children together at church for that is what is needed more today than ever, the return of the family pew where Mother, Dad, Sister and Brother will unite in thanks to God.

At the last meeting Harold Burns took the lead in the opening Grand Howl after which inspection was taken with Fur, fangs and paws being the objects of Akela's eagle eye. Games of Scout Tag and "Shere Kaan and Mowgli" were included in the evening's program. One new Chum was accepted into the Pack, Ken Sharpe, while James Cooper was also welcomed back having been absent for some time. Bob Allen passed Signs and Salute, Peter Rose passed Time. The Grand Howl was given by Jack King and the next meeting will be held on Tuesday October 24 and will be a Hallowe'en party. All Cubs must come in costume, homemade or otherwise but do not come in Cub uniform.

329,000 People Members Of Labor Congress

TORONTO, Oct. 24—(CP)—Percy R. Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said today that a brighter future for Canada was more than a dream if the same determination was applied in peacetime that has been shown by the Canadian people during war.

In an address delivered at the opening of the 60th annual convention of the Congress, Mr. Bengough called for a realistic approach to the problems to be faced by Canada after the war.

He congratulated the government on its action in establishing a reconstruction department under Munitions Minister Howe.

"What is in the interests of labor must be in the interests of the majority of the people of Canada," he said.

In the course of his address Mr. Bengough announced that the Trades and Labor Congress now has a total of 2,132 affiliated and chartered unions with a membership of more than 329,000.

Mr. Bengough devoted a major part of his address to the responsibilities of labor and the Canadian people in the future.

"I don't think that in any time in history were the citizens of any country confronted with greater obligations than will be placed upon Canadians in the post-war period in showing those who have fought and worked to bring victory that their suffering have not been in vain," he said.

"If the people are determined, after this war is won, to expend money and effort for construction as they have been compelled to for destruction, full employment can be assured to every citizen able and willing to work in the building and improving of this great country."

Canada has resources, people and ability to meet not only her own needs but also those of other less fortunate countries.

"Artificial bootlenecks of finance or squirrel minded indviduals accumulating far more than they can possibly need in the way of financial wealth, must not be allowed to cause unemployment, want, fear and misery," he said.

Salesmen Donate Bond Commissions

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 24 (CP)—The town of Lucan's Victory Loan total reached 155 per cent on the first morning of the drive today. With a population of 600, the East Middlesex village's objective was set at $51,500.

By noon, 117 residents had subscribed $80,050, and the village council declared a public holiday. It was also announced that all salesmen's commissions were turned over to the recreation fund to provide a skating rink and other sport activities for Lucan children.

MOSCOW, Oct. 24—(AP). —Growing warmth of relations between the Orthodox Church and the Kremlin was emphasized today with the release of a letter from Acting Patriarch Alexeis to Premier Stalin in which the churchman addressed the Marshal as "Our dear supreme leader whom God has sent us." The letter announced the clergy, which previously had raised a considerable sum for tanks for the Red Army, now is raising another fund to aid families of Soviet service men.

Commonwealth Air Chiefs Hold Conference

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, Oct. 24—(CP)—Objectives and procedure of the Commonwealth air conversations were defined in general terms at an opening plenary session today by H. J. Symington, president of Trans-Canada Air Lines.

After welcoming official delegates from several other countries Mr. Symington was unanimously elected chairman of the meeting which he described as "an exploratory and informal exchange of views."

While he hoped agreement would be reached on recommendations to governments concerning air communication in the British Commonwealth he said whatever is agreed on had to fit into the framework of whatever international air arrangement may come out of the forthcoming international conference at Chicago.

The procedure suggested by him and assented to in silence by the visiting delegations from the United Kingdom, India, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, Southern Rhodesia and Newfoundland was that the meeting proceed to review resolutions passed at the Commonwealth air conversations in London a year ago, have a general discussion on them by leading delegates and then establish an agenda and set up committees. All this will take place in camera.

The visiting delegations received an official governmental welcome to Canada from C. P. Edwards, Deputy Minister of Transport, speaking on behalf of Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister in charge of civil aviation.

Sir Arthur Street, head of the British delegation, proposed Mr. Symington's name as chairman and expressed the thanks of the visitors for the welcome.

"We are pleased to find ourselves in this great Dominion whose efforts in the war have been so perfect and so complete and in no direction more so than in the air," said Sir Arthur.

He said Canada's administration of the air training plan and the training of thousands of aircrew for the Commonwealth forces had been an immense contribution to supremacy in the air which had now been achieved.

The only objective of the British Government in the forthcoming discussions was the closest possible measure of co-operation within the Commonwealth and with other nations.

Ontario Accepts Lions' Offer To Make Survey

TORONTO, Oct. 24—(CP)—The Ontario Department of Planning and Development to-day announced it has accepted an offer of Lions International to have its Ontario clubs carry out a survey of national and industrial resources of the province. Co-operation of other service clubs would be enlisted.

The announcement said such a survey would provide a useful basis on which to make preparations for the future, particularly about smaller communities which might support new industrial activity.

The Department added it is arranging for the assistance of local offices of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association, the Association of Municipal Electric Utilities and Boards of Trade and Chamber of Commerce in the survey.

Flame Throwers Start Retreat On 15-Mile Front

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(AP).—British troops, turning flame-throwers against German Bazooka nests, struck through the big Netherlands road junction of 'S Hertogenbosch in mop-up operations to-day, and the Germans fell back in retreat on a 15-mile front north and south of that key city.

'S Hertogenbosch was captured except for isolated enemy pockets, a front dispatch said, and supply roads leading north and south were snipped.

Even as the British 2nd Army pressed in the eastern end of the German box salient in south-western Holland, the 1st Canadian Army bit deeper into the western edge, and made progress in two drives to clear the water approaches to Antwerp.

One Canadian prong hit toward Rosendaal Op Zoom, 22 and 20 miles north of Antwrep, against strong resistance. The enemy was reported making local withdrawals south of Breda and Tilburg, middle strongholds of his line across south-western Holland.

Another Canadian column, striking westward, advanced slightly farther into the tip of South Beveland Island. German guns there and on adjacent Wlacheren Island command the Scheide estuary, lane to Antwerp.

Canadians Gain.

Other Canadians advanced in the diminishing Breskens pocket on the south shore of the estuary opposite Walcheren Island. Fall of Fort Frederik-Hendrik a mile west of captured Breskens port was imminent, Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent, said in a front report.

The Berlin radio reported that the Canadians captured Fort Frederik-Hendrik.

South of Breskens the Canadians reached the edge of Oostburg and cut the Oostburg-Schoondijke road.

The Canadian-British offensives threatened the whole German stand south of the Maas river.

Together the British and Canadian drives threatened both ends of the rail and highway network serving the Germans in southwestern Holland and were pushing the enemy back from his long-distance blockade of Antwerp, needed by the

Armed Forces Take 936,988

OTTAWA, Oct. 25—(CP).—Intake from the nine provinces into the Canadian armed forces since war started up to June 30, 1944, totalled 936,988—an increase of 23,896 over the 913,092 figure issued August 21 and covering the period to March 31, it was disclosed today. Compiled by the Wartime Information Board, figures showed that Canada on June 30 had called on 37.9 per cent. of her available 2,474,000 military age males. This was an increase of one per cent. over the figure given for the period to March 31.

In addition to the new intake total another 15,484 were enlisted outside Canada, bringing the grand total intake to 952,472 compared to the previous total of 938,318.

The intake figure does not take into account discharges and must not be confused with the total strength of the armed forces which is currently given as 764,000.

Accurate Table Impossible.

Prince Edward Island is making the biggest use of her available military manpower in the 18 to 45 age group with a percentage of 46.5, but since the August 21 date when the figures were released for the period to March 31, an unspecified number of enlistments were transferred to this province's credit from Nova Scotia and an accurate comparative table of increases is thus impossible.

Nova Scotia had led the provinces at the last intake survey with a percentage mark of 45.6, but the re-adjustment has put this province in third place with 45.4 behind British Columbia, formerly with 44.4 and now with 45.8. Behind these provinces in order and with their previous percentages in brackets come: New Brunswick 44.6 (43.6); Ontario 44.4 (43.3); Manitoba 44.4 (43.5); Alberta 41.0 (40.1); Saskatchewan 39.7 (38.9) and Quebec 22.8 (22.1).

Putting it in figures Prince Edward Island, at the top, had enlisted 8,832 of its 19,000 military-age population, while Quebec, at the bottom, had enlisted 159,168 of its 699,000 military-age population.

216,040 Volunteers

A study of the army figures showed that in the two biggest provinces, Ontario, with a military age population of 830,000 had 216,040 volunteers while Quebec, with 699,000 eligible males had 82,856.

Quebec took in 49,039 draftees compared to Ontario's 42,679.

The compilation also showed that in the period since Sept. 30, 1943 when a previous survey was dated the percentage of Canadian manhood of military age drawn into but not necessarily remaining in the

Fighting Spreads Across Spain Claim Catholics Oppose Franco

LONDON, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Clashes between Spanish Republican guerillas and forces of Gen. Franco have spread into Southern Spain, besides the guerilla raids into Northern Spain from France, an officer of the anti-Franco National Spanish Union in Paris declared to-day.

Madrid meanwhile said all but a handful of the Republicans striking into Spain's Navarra section from France had been wiped out.

The National Spanish Union was formed to unite all anti-Franco Spaniards in France, and claims affiliation with an underground Junta of Madrid. In Paris a Union official, Colonel Paz, declared that clashes were occurring in Andalusia in Southern Spain, as well as in Catalonia and Asturias in Northern Spain and other parts of the country. Forays from the French border continue, he said, but there is little information on these struggles due to scant communications.

Colonel Paz charged 40,000 Germans from France had taken refuge in Spain, some aiding Franco's forces and others being helped by the Franco Government to go to South America. He also asserted Catholics in Spain now were largely opposed to Franco because of "his dictatorial actions."

Lt.-Gen. Yuan Yague, commander of the Navarro Corps area, in a Madrid dispatch, said that a handful of guerillas remained in hiding in the mountains, but denied any general uprising in the area.

An open call for a new civil war came from underground newspaper Conquest of Spain, organ of the Republican Junta with secret headquarters in Madrid. It urged the Spanish army officers to take up arms against Gen. Franco.

British quarters were silent on reports of the unrest.

German propagandists, however, seized upon the latest reports from Spain to suggest that French troops might be withdrawn from the Western front to man the Spanish-French frontier.

Tank Battle Raging Inside Reich

Kirkenes Port Konigsberg Evacuated By Huns

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP) — The Norwegian port and town of Kirkenes on the Arctic has been evacuated "after destruction of all military installations" at the submarine and air base athwart the Murmansk convoy route, the Berlin radio said today.

The broadcast, implying a Russian invasion across the Norwegian border which they reached on a broad front Sunday, followed by a few hours an enemy announcement of a new Russian offensive along the Narew river in Poland between Warsaw and the southern boundary of East Prussia.

A dispatch from Moscow quoted a Soviet correspondent on the East Prussian front as reporting the Germans were evacuating the provisional capital of Konigsberg, 18th largest German city with 368,433 population, and a major submarine training base.

Flee Into Reich

"Our air reconnaissance reports the evacuation of the main city of East Prussia has been going on for several days," the Russian correspondent said, "crowds of refugees are moving towards the central region of Germany."

The Berlin communique said Russian divisions struck from their bridgeheads at Senock and Rozan behind a drumfire artillery barrage and heavy aerial attacks. The Soviet infantry and tank forces were claimed "checked in heavy fighting in the forests" and subjected to counter-attacks in which numerous Russian tanks were declared destroyed.

Front dispatches said two famous enemy Panzer formations—the Hermann Goering and S.S. Greater Germany, defenders of Warsaw in August—were among four tank divisions committed to battle by the Germans in costly counter-attacks against a Soviet salient some 15 miles from Insterburg and 70 miles from Konigsberg.

The sky over Insterburg was reported black with smoke rising from fires set by repeated Soviet air raids.

Hitler's forces appeared to have steadied before the powerful Russian offensive through East Prussia, but Moscow announced capture of at least 14 additional German towns and disclosed a new thrust toward the province from the southeast.

The new pressure on the home of German militarism was exerted from the region of Augustow, Polish border stronghold, which a Soviet communique claimed was captured.

The 14 East Prussian towns were taken in advances of up to 10 miles

Americans Sink One Carrier Damage 9 Other Warships

14 More Villages Pablo Airfield Taken By Americans

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, PHILIPPINES, Oct. 25—(CP)—Crushing feeble Japanese counter-attacks, American forces liberated 14 more towns and villages and advanced to the outskirts of Tabontabon, eight miles northwest of Dulag, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The advance on Tabontabon is probably the longest made by MacArthur's men since the invasion started. Advances were general along the entire line.

Capture of San Pablo airdrome seven miles west of Dulag was also announced after a field dispatch from Al Dopking, Associated Press War Correspondent, yesterday reported its seizure. It was the third airfield taken on Leyte. The others are at Tacloban and Dulag.

After securing the San Pablo field armored units fanned out northward toward Dagami, important road junction at the western edge of Leyte valley. Other elements advanced to a point nine miles north of Catamon, enveloped Catamon Hill and pushed on to the approaches of Tabontabon.

Capture Hills.

Substantial gains west of Palo and Tacloban were made by units pushing ahead from a line of hills seized from the Japanese which dominate the coast between Palo and Tacloban.

Intermittent attacks by few enemy planes continued. American fighter patrols beat them off. At least five Japanese planes were shot down.

Destruction or damaging of 64 enemy planes October 22 and 23 was disclosed by MacArthur. The damage was done by American planes striking Japanese airfields in the western Visayas and northern Mindanao. Six American planes were lost.

Assisted by 4,000 armed guerrillas liberating Americans advanced through the muck and the rain of Leyte against outnumbered Japanese defenders.

The guerrillas, led by Col. Ruperto Kangelon, a Filipino, with an unidentified former U.S. P.T. boat skipper as second-in-command, aided in preparations for landing of the U.S. forces. They collected detailed military information and transmitted it by secret means to U.S. Headquarters.

Fear Gas Coming

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 25 — (CP-Reuter)—The Germans have increased their production of poison gases during the past few months and now have 500,000 workers manufacturing it in 70 different factories working 24 hours a day, according to reports from Germany to the newspaper Aftonbladet.

Japs Admit Loss Two Cruisers; One U.S. Carrier Sunk

By CHARLES H. McMURTRY
Associated Press War Correspondent

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 25 (AP)—Carrier planes of the U.S. 3rd Fleet have sunk a large Japanese carrier, damaged two other large carriers, five or six battleships, one cruiser and several other unidentified warships in a great three-pronged naval battle which is continuing near the Philippines.

The U.S.S. Princeton, a light carrier, was lost when, already badly crippled, her magazines exploded and she had to be sunk by American ships.

The Tokyo radio has admitted the loss of two cruisers and a destroyer in the action while claiming to have sunk 11 ships and damaged five others.

The Princeton's captain and 1,360 of her officers and men were rescued.

In addition to fleet units sunk or damaged, the Japanese lost 150 planes.

The actions began Monday afternoon (U.S. time), extended throughout Tuesday and general "action is continuing," Nimitz said.

Land Planes Attack.

Nimitz said a strong force of land-based Japanese planes attacked one U.S. task group Monday and succeeded in seriously damaging the Princeton, first American carrier lost since the Liscombe Bay went down in flames off the Marshal Islands in December, 1943.

Approximately 150 enemy planes were shot down during the attack, Nimitz said.

The Japanese — apparently attempting a surprise three-pronged attack which they hoped would catch the 3rd Fleet concentrating on Japanese battleships and cruisers in the Sibuyan and Sulu seas—sent a third force from Formosa.

This group included at least three carriers. However there was no indication in the communique that any Japanese carrier planes were launched.

It was from this carrier force that U.S. carrier planes sank "at least one large carrier and severely damaged two others."

Nimitz said reports of this carrier action south of Formosa are incomplete, indicating the 3rd Fleet may have inflicted additional damage upon the enemy.

British Score Great Gains In North Italy

ROME, Oct. 25 (CP) — The British 8th Army rolled through receding German resistance in the Adriatic end of the Po Valley today while 5th Army troops ground out important gains in the mountainous southern approaches to the communications hub of Bologna.

At the eastern end of the Po Valley virtually all German resistance now has ceased in the triangle formed by the Savio river as it runs northward from Cesena to the Adriatic. British and Canadian troops of the 8th Army, after enlarging separate bridgeheads across the Savio on each side of the Cesena, now are advancing northwestward astride the Bologna highway with tank support.

Directly on the coast 8th Army troops, in an advance of 3½ miles, reached the village of Savio near the river's mouth—only eight miles short of the big coastal city of Revenna—without contact with the Germans.

Along the Adriatic there were indications of a general German withdrawal to a new defence line, while it was reported virtually all enemy resistance east of the Savio—running north from fallen Cesena to the Adriatic—had ceased.

The 5th Army took Monte Belmonte in the mist-shrouded peaks of the Apennines, after what the communique called "the most bitter fighting of the last few days."

The feature was held against counter-attacks.

A similar "important gain" by British troops of the 5th Army was the capture of Monte Spaduro near the Bologna-Rimini highway.

To-day's communique did not mention Canadian units, last reported holding their Savio bridgehead in the face of repeated German counter-attacks.

Bad weather grounded both heavy and medium Allied bombers, but fighter-bombers and fighters supported ground forces in the areas of Bologna and Cesena. From 850 sorties, the M.A.A.F. lost nine aircraft.

Greek Guerillas Decimate Huns

ROME, Oct. 25.—(AP).—British patrols following the German withdrawal from Greece have entered Dhomokos, 30 miles north of Lamia, Allied Headquarters announced to-day. The occupation of Lamia, 93 miles northwest of Athens, was announced yesterday.

Headquarters also disclosed today that the Germans have evacuated the port of Volos, about 45 miles northeast of Lamia and 37 miles from Dhomokos, after suffering severe casualties at the hands of Greek Guerillas.

From Volos the retreating Germans are confronted with a 125-mile trek northward before they reach the Yugoslav frontier.

Headquarters announced that additional Allied troops have been landed at Piraeus, port of Athens.

Arms Inadequate French Claim

PARIS, Oct. 25—(CP-Reuter). — Gen. De Gaulle declared today "there is no question of an administration of Germany without the agreement of France."

Meeting the press for the first time since his arrival in Paris, the French government head added: "It would be inconceivable that the conditions of occupation should be settled without France.

"French troops will occupy the German territory that they capture but there have been no conversations on this question with the Allies," he told newspapermen.

Gen. De Gaulle complained that the French were not receiving enough arms for a large war effort.

The French leader commented that the "government, like everyone else, is satisfied that it now is called by its right name." This was his only reference to Allied recognition.

"France not only is ready but eager to take a larger part in the war against Germany," Gen. De Gaulle said. "Until the time when French factories are able to supply our armies, we hope to obtain equipment from our Allies. Within a few weeks, we would increase France's contributions on the front.

"Since the landings, we have not received equipment with which we could arm any large unit."

He added that Allied supply difficulties and destruction of ports might explain the lack "to some degree."

Victory Loan Spurts Ahead Farmers May Boost Total

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—(CP).—Canadian Seventh Victory Loan buyers rolled up a total of $77,269,800 in subscriptions yesterday to regain all the ground lost in the first day of the loan and put the drive about $14,000,000 ahead of the second day of the Sixth Loan, Headquarters announced here to-day.

The two-day total now stands at $145,530,100 as compared with the second day total in the Sixth Loan of $131,276,000. Monday's subscription in the $1,300,000,000 three-week campaign was $68,260,300 compared to the first day of the Sixth Loan when slightly above $74,276,000 was subscribed.

Officials were particularly encouraged by purchases of individual Canadians which lagged on the first day but which climbed yesterday to $35,627,800. This was a little below the daily average which must be maintained if the individuals are to reach the total of $843,700,000 which they rolled up in the Sixth Victory Loan. That total was an all-time high. The sales to individuals on the first day of the loan were only $19,858,300.

"It is to the individual that we are looking for success in this present loan," an official at Victory Loan Headquarters said.

Loan officials were watching carefully the returns from the rural sections. They explained that they are expecting a definite increase in the buying by farmers and said that this expectation was based on good crops and continuing good prices for farm produce.

Included among large subscriptions reported yesterday were:

Canada Life Assurance Co., Toronto, $12,000,000; Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., of Canada, Ltd., Trail, B.C., $8,000,000; Province of British Columbia, $5,000,000; Steel Co., of Canada, Hamilton and Montreal, $4,500,000; Canadian Car and Foundry Co., Ltd., Montreal, $2,800,000; the Workmen's Compensation Board and Associated Funds of British Columbia, $2,000,000; the Huron and Erie Mortgage Corp., and Canada Trust Co., London, Ont., $2,000,000; Hudson's Bay Company, Winnipeg, $1,000,000; F. W. Woolworth Co., Ltd., Toronto, $1,000,000.

Ottawa Veterans Plan New Legion

OTTAWA Oct. 25.— (CP).— A group of Ottawa district veterans have called a meeting for Nov. 7 to organize a new veterans' welfare organization which they hope will eventually extend across Canada.

The date for the organization meeting was set last night in a resolution read to about 500 service personnel and civilians at a gathering sponsored by the group.

The meeting consisted of a number of prepared speeches and resolutions which were read but not put to a vote.

The meeting ended with the playing of God Save the King while Tim Reid, superintendent of publicity for the Veterans' Affairs Department, was attempting to outline what existing government legislation provided for returned men. He took the platform after he asked if there was to be no discussion on what was said or on the resolutions read to the meeting.

He was invited to the stage, but once there his remarks frequently were interrupted both by persons in the audience and by those on the stage, who asked whether he should be allowed to continue. While he was in the midst of outlining legislation the signal was given for the playing of the National Anthem.

The speakers, in civilian attire and identified by years of service but no by rank, were introduced by John W. Mason, Ottawa, a member of the 1st Division injured on active service, who acted as chairman.

George Collins, who plays for Providence Reds in the American Hockey League, said the group was organized by him.

Mr. Collins, who saw active service overseas, said the group wished to form an organization which would give veterans of this war the help "neither the government nor other organizations are providing at present."

Argentine Attache Snubbed By Allies

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Argentina has recalled Col. Pablo Beretta, its military attache in London, after an invitation to visit the Allies' western front was suddenly withdrawn.

While the Argentine embassy was officially silent, it was reported authentically here that the action occurred several days ago and presumably resulted from lack of co-operation in his country's foreign policy in the war against the Axis.

Similar invitations extended to the military attaches of other South American embassies have not been withdrawn, so far as could be learned today.

Debris Strews Berlin Streets

BRANTFORD, Oct. 25—(CP). — WO. Arthur J. Cockaday, repatriated prisoner of war, who arrived at his home here yesterday, told of passing through the devastated streets of Berlin where he saw Russian and Polish slaves make the V sign to the prisoners.

He said the streets of Berlin were filled with debris. "In suburban and surrounding districts we saw literally mile upon mile of shacks—looking like improvised chicken coops—in which, we were told, lived evacuees from the stricken city," he said.

"The Russians and Poles we saw in the city, employed in removing wreckage, were in miserable condition."

Shot down after a raid on Stuttgart in April, 1942, WO. Cockaday was treated in St. Omer, France, then entered Germany through Aachen.

He received his promotion from sergeant while in prison camp.

New Liquor Board Named

W. T. Nugent Of Lindsay One Of Three

TORONTO, Oct. 25 (CP) — The new Liquor Authority Control Board of Ontario, a three-man board to control and regulate hotels, was today announced by Attorney-General L. E. Blackwell. The board is headed as chairman by Judge Walter T. Robb, Orangeville, and the other members are William T. Nugent, Lindsay, and Frederick Reid of Windsor.

Mr. Blackwell said the province has been divided into districts for the purpose of conducting a judicial system of licensing the sale of beer and wine on premises. The Board will hold hearings for the purpose of granting, transferring, renewing, suspending and cancelling licenses and will have jurisdiction to impose conditions on licensees. The Board will base its decisions on evidence taken at public hearings.

Judge Robb was born at Dunnville in 1898, graduated from University of Toronto in 1911, and was called to the Bar in 1914.

Mr. Nugent is a Hastings County resident, served in the last war as a captain, and was county clerk of Hastings County. Later he was an inspector of liquor stores and hotels.

Mr. Reid is a native of Middlesex county, but has lived in Windsor since childhood. He is one of the most widely known Masons in Canada. He represented Windsor West in the Legislature from 1926 to 1934 as a Conservative.

Butter, Cheese Output Down

Production Of Butter Slumps 11 Per Cent.

TORONTO, Oct. 25 (CP)—Production of creamery butter and cheddar cheese in Ontario during September was down considerably from the same time last year, the Ontario Department of Agriculture said in its monthly dairy report issued today.

The output of butter in September, amounting to 7,194,800 pounds, was down 13 per cent from the 8,270,000-pound total in September, 1943. This brought the cumulative production of creamery butter for the first nine months of 1944 to 60,479,900 pounds as against 68,596,000 pounds in the same period last year, a decrease of 11.8 per cent.

Cheddar cheese production for September this year was 12,767,0[illegible] pounds compared with 14,564,000 [illegible] September last year. Production f[illegible] the first nine months of 1944 w[illegible] 84,557,000 pounds, compared wi[illegible] 86,794,000 last year.

Toronto warehouses had on ha[illegible] at Oct. 1 butter stocks amounting [illegible] 8,420,000 pounds, considerably high[illegible] than the figure a month ago wh[illegible] stocks totalled 7,415,000 pounds, b[illegible] lower than the 8,886,000 pounds [illegible] year ago. Dairy factories through[illegible] out the province had 5,290,[illegible] pounds of creamery butter in st[illegible] at Oct. 1, compared with 5,497,[illegible] pounds at Sept. 1, this year, a[illegible] 6,764,000 pounds at Oct. 1, 1943.

No Bargaining With Enemy Churchill Says

LONDON, Oct. 25 — (CP). — Prime Minister Churchill reiterated to the House of Commons today that "unconditional surrender in the sense of no bargaining with the enemy is still the policy of the government."

He suggested in answer to a question from the floor, that the House should bear in mind also the three-power declaration of last May 12 to Axis satellites, in which they were warned to quit Germany.

The Prime Minister nevertheless declined to engage in a foreign affairs debate, declaring it would be unwise to go into details on delicate international matters "on the spur of the moment." There would be an opportunity for debate after his report Friday on his Moscow mission, he said, but added he hoped it would be short.

He left unanswered questions as to how unconditional surrender was to be reconciled with former enemies becoming "apparent allies" and as to whether Nazis who surrendered unconditionally would be given government posts in Germany. Such matters, he said, would have to be settled among the principal Allies.

No Reason for Alarm

"I do not think there is any reason for alarm," he added.

Earlier, Richard Law, Minister of State, told the House Britain and Russia had made no decision during the recent Moscow talks on respective zones of influence in the Balkans.

Although Bulgaria has declared war on Germany, he said, the country is still technically at war with the Allies in the sense that terms are still being discussed. He added that Bulgaria could not yet be recognized as a co-belligerent.

Italy's status of co-belligerency offers no protection to individual Italians who mistreated British prisoners of war, Mr. Law said in answer to another question.

"A number of them are already in our hands," he reported. "Steps will certainly be taken against them."

The efforts by members to turn today's debate onto foreign affairs came to an end after Mr. Churchill turned aside a question as to whether Germany would be made to pay for the "worthless marks" with which she had flooded occupied countries.

"The issue of currency is only one of the many ways in which Germany has exploited the countries she has occupied," the Prime Minister said. "I cannot at this stage say in what way her various exactions will be dealt with at the final settlement."

Flier's Grave Marked Turns Up Prisoner

BRANTFORD, Oct. 25 — (CP). — After his wife and parents here had been advised he was dead and buried and had also been told where he was buried, FO. Ken Gordon of the R.C.A.F. has turned up as a prisoner of war in Germany, official word from Ottawa said yesterday.

When unofficial reports, weeks after he was reported missing and killed, gave indication that he was a prisoner, the R.C.A.F. made an effort to see whether he had been taken prisoner. Previously he had been reported buried at Maubeuge, France.

Princess Ill

LONDON, Oct. 25 — (CP). — Eighty-seven-year-old Princess Beatrice, last surviving child of Queen Victoria, is seriously ill and "her condition is causing grave anxiety," said a bulletin issued last night by the royal physician. "Her Royal Highness' health has been gradually failing for some time and has shown a marked deterioration during the last week," the brief announcement said.

Canadians Enter Chicago Exhibit

CHICAGO, Oct. 25. — (CP).— First Canadian entries for the Chicago market fat stock and carlot competition to be held at the stockyards here Dec. 2 to 7, were made by W. J. Bordie of Stouffville, Ont. Mr. Brodie will exhibit in the Lincoln, Southdown and Cotswold wether classes and in the carload lot sheep competition. In the latter category, he has exhibited the grand champion load for many years.

The Chicago market show has been held for the last two years during the same week that the International Livestock Exposition formerly took place. The International Show was cancelled in 1941 for the duration.

B. H. Heide, manager of the International Show, is in charge of entries which will be accepted up to Nov. 1 for individual classes and up to Nov. 25 for carload lots.

WARTIME WELCOME

TARAWA — (CP). — The traditional ceremony of welcome was dispensed with when Col. Vivian Fox-Strangways, new resident commissioner in the British colony of the Gilbert and Ellice Islands arrived recently. There was only a handshake from an American Marine officer and the chatter of Jap machine-guns. His bed that night was in a foxhole.

Amphibious Jeep Fails To Appear

The mystery of the missing amphibious jeep, scheduled to make an appearance in Peterborough Tuesday for the big parade, is the current poser puzzling Peterborough Victory Loan officials and military officials alike.

On loan from the United States governmeent, the jeep left Windsor Monday, and according to timetable, should have shown up in Toronto at noon Tuesday. However, when officials in Toronto failed to hear or see of the ingenious jeep that traverses water as easily as land, the alarm went on. It is feared the jeep drivers might have become confused as to directions, and got lost. The drivers are a Cpl. Houstan, and L.Cpl. Whalley.

One theory advanced was that perhaps the machine undertook to take a short-cut somewhere along a river or lake, and lost its bearings. However, several long-distance phone calls between officials in Peterborough and those in Toronto and other places, has as yet, failed to clear up the mystery, and Peterborough citizens who watched the parade Tuesday evening are still asking each other, "Where is the amphibious jeep?" And that, it appears, is something no one knows.

against reinforced German armies—a feat that cut away another 760-square-mile slice of German territory.

Gain in Hungary

The Russians also advanced in Hungary, capturing Kiskunhalas, 70 miles south of Budapest, overwhelmed the big Czechoslovak town of Huszt (Chust) and 10 other centres in the Carpatho-Ukraine district, and with Romanian help broke into Satu-Mare, last big city held by the enemy in Transylvania.

East Prussian fighting, described as the most bitter since Stalingrad, was reported heaviest in the area around Goldap, the point of deepest Russian penetration of East Prussia, and south of Gumbinnen, strategic junction on the direct westward route through the heart of the province. Gumbinnen lies northeast of Goldap.

The Russians were officially placed only six miles southeast of Gumbinnen and 15 miles southeast of Insterburg, the next major junction on the main route west to Konigsberg, East Prussian capital.

(The Germans have reported Red Army vanguards operating near the Angerapp River, 25 miles inside East Prussia and 17 miles west of captured Goldap. Moscow did not confirm this.)

The Germans in East Prussia also faced peril from the north where Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's 1st Army is drawn up along the Niemen River. Bagramian's artillery was said to be shelling the German fortress city of Tilsit on the south side of the stream.

Engineer Hired To Help Plan Special Work

The engagement of Mellis U. Ferguson B. Sc., C. E., of Hespeler as temporary assistant to City Engineer Parsons was authorized by the council Monday night to begin on November 1 at a salary of $3,000 for one year.

Mr. Ferguson is a graduate in civil engineering, Queen's University, member of the Engineering Institute of Canada and of the Professional Engineers of Canada, with extensive experience including the position of City Engineer of Stratford and St. Thomas, more recently employed on airport construction.

The council advertised for a qualified engineer to assist in preparing plans for an outlet for Ashburnham Sewerage to cross the river at McDonald's Point to the trunk sewer on George street and also in preliminary survey of a civic air port. With his help it was felt that Mr. Parsons would be able to proceed with necessary surveys and other details of the projects which the council has been considering for postwar employment, with the approval of the ratepayers. Obviously, surveys and plans are essential first stages of these proposed undertaking, and it was felt that Mr. Ferguson should be assured of at least one year's work, although Mayor Hamilton expressed the opinion that there might not be enough to require his services for more than six months.

However, projects include completion of the sewage disposal plant, additional sewerage and works which the council has been discussing at meetings in a general way.

Canucks Ready For Clean-up

By ROSS MUNRO

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, Oct. 25 — (CP Cable) — Through a murky fog overhanging dikes and flooded fields, the Canadians still are slugging at the Germans in the Schelde pocket and maintaining pressure on all scattered sectors where enemy resistance is being made.

Fort Frederik-Hendrik near Breskens still is held by a garrison of German coastal gunners who are fighting desperately, but its collapse is imminent.

Oostburg, five miles southwest of Breskens, is surrounded, and Canadian infantry is spreading through the last bit of the Schelde pocket.

On the eastern tip of Beveland Island, the 1st Canadian Army has maintained its gains, and now holds positions about the town of Mairie.

Anti-Freeze Explodes Man, Woman Burned

TORONTO, Oct. 24 (CP)—Albert Harker, 38, and his wife Dorothy were severely burned late last night when a gallon can of anti-freeze mixture on a table near a gas stove exploded in their mid-town apartment.

Windows were smashed and the clothing of Mr. and Mrs. Harker was ignited.

The couple was taken to hospital where authorities reported Mrs. Harker was suffering from burns to the body, arms, face and head. Her husband was burned about the face, neck, arms and hands.

WILLIAM CROWLEY.

DOWNEYVILLE, Oct. 25. — (ENS).—Ill only three days with pneumonia, William Crowley, 77, died Tuesday evening at his home in Toronto. He was born in Emily township at Downeyville, the son of the late William Crowley and Catherine Flynn, and lived there all his life, with the exception of the past 10 years, when he made his home in Toronto.

A farmer by trade, his death came as a shock to many friends living here, who knew him well. He leaves to mourn his loss, a sorrowing wife, formerly Polly Scully, three daughters, Mary, Catherine and Margaret, all of Toronto, two brothers, David of Lindsay, and Frank, of Detroit, and four sisters, Mrs. Thomas Perdue of Detroit, Mrs. Catherine Hoskins, of Miami, Mrs. Daniel Winn of Toronto, and Mrs. Arthur Spree, of Lindsay.

The funeral will be Friday morning at Downeyville. The remains will arrive in Downeyville from Toronto, in the morning, and there will be mass at St. Luke's church at 10 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Luke's cemetery.

MRS. FRED MATTHEWS.

MARMORA, Oct. 25—(ENS).—The death occurred at her home in Deloro Tuesday morning of Mrs. Jane Matthews, wife of Fred Matthews. Daughter of Mr. John Cross and the late Mrs. Ada Cross, she was forty years of age, and was born in Deloro, where she had spent all her life.

She was returning alone by train from Toronto to Havelock, and upon arrival at the latter station, went to purchase a ticket to Bonarlaw. She complained of feeling sick, and shortly after the train pulled out of Havelock was taken ill. She was conveyed by ambulance to her home, and died in the early morning hours. She was of a bright and cheery disposition, and had many friends. Mrs. Matthews is survived by her husband and two daughters, Gladys and Barbara, both at home. In addition she is survived by her father and the following brothers and sisters: John (Ted), Port Colborne; James, overseas; William, who is in the Canadian Army at Halifax; Mrs. Fred Vincent, Belleville; Alice, Belleville; Mrs. Harry Pack, Marmora; Mrs. Murray Empey, Marmora; Mrs. Harry Gawley, Niagara Falls, Ont.; Mrs. Clayton Smith, Madoc.

The late Mrs. Matthews was a member of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Marmora. The funeral will leave her late residence at 1.30 p.m. on Friday and proceed to St. Paul's Church for service, which will be conducted by the rector, Rev. J. M. Brownlie. Interment will take place in Maple Grove Cemetery.

Both Navies

today three Japanese warships had been sunk in a raging naval and sea battle off the Philippines, and claimed 11 American warships had been sunk and two damaged by naval gunfire and submarine action.

Tokyo radio asserted "Japanese naval fire sank four aircraft carriers, two large cruisers and one destroyer" in an intensifying sea battle "east of the Philippines on Wednesday (Tokyo time).

"More than four enemy transports," the broadcast asserted, were sunk by Japanese submarines in the same action, which began Tuesday.

An English-language version of the communique, beamed to the United States and recorded by the F.C.C., reiterated early Domei news agency claims that five other ships had been damaged in addition to the 11 asserted to have been sunk. Domei identified the five as two carriers, a battleship and two cruisers.

The Sulu Sea lies in the southwestern corner of the Philippines, separating Mindanao, Palawan, Borneo and the Visayan group. The Sibuyan Sea lies between the Visayan group and Luzon Island.

On the eastern fringe of the Visayans are invaded Leyte Island and Samar, which a front report to Australia said has also been invaded by MacArthur's men.

The actions began on Monday. Carrier search planes discovered two enemy forces heading eastward through the Sibuyan and Sulu Seas ostensibly intending to bombard Gen. MacArthur's ground forces on Leyte Island.

One force consisted of three or four battleships, 10 cruisers and about 13 destroyers. Repeated attacks by carrier aircraft indicate that every battleship was damaged by bombs, that at least one was torpedoed, and one cruiser was torpedoed.

The second force was sighted south-west of Negros Island in the Sulu Sea in the South-western Philippines. It consisted of two battleships, one cruiser and four destroyers. Both battleships were damaged by bombs and the light units were strafed.

There was no hint in the communique whether the Japanese battleships were of the older, slower classes or the new, heavily armed and armored ships which possibly have yet to see action.

Second One Lost.

The Princeton is the second escort carrier lost by the United States, and the sixth flat-top sunk. The carriers Lexington, Yorktown, and Hornet were lost in the Battle of the Coral Sea, Midway and Santa Cruz, respectively. The Wasp went down to submarine torpedoes in the South Pacific. The escort carrier Liscombe Bay was torpedoed by the land-based Japanese aircraft while attacking Wotje and Jaluit Atolls in neutralizing raids six weeks before American amphibious forces captured the Marshall Islands.

The Princeton, a converted 10,000-ton cruiser, carried about 45 combat aircraft, which could have landed on accompanying carriers.

Destruction of 150 Japanese planes increased the aircraft toll exacted of the Japanese by U.S. carrier forces since about September 1 to between 2,425 and 2,455.

From August 1 to date 245 Japanese ships have been sunk, 56 probably sunk, and 298 others damaged a total of 589 exclusive of small craft.

U.S. forces have sunk at least 12 Japanese carriers of all classes and damaged at least eight others. Two enemy flat-tops were destroyed in the Battle of the Coral Sea, six at Midway, one at Santa Cruz, one in the Philippines Sea, one in the current Formosa action, and two by submarines.

Savage Fight

Allies to funnel supplies to the main front facing east toward Germany.

A field dispatch declared that the capture of 'S Hertogenbosch would imperil the entire German force estimated at between 60,000 and 70,000 men in Western Holland.

The Brazzaville radio described the street fighting in 'S Hertogenbosch as bitter and reported British forces had captured the northern half of the key communications hub and cathedral city. The broadcast added that Tommies were slowly closing a trap around the city.

The German radio admitted British infantry had broken into 'S Hertogenbosch but gave no details of the fighting.

'S Hertogenbosch was at the northern end of a 12-mile front along which British troops were advancing westward. The southern wing of Lt.-Gen. Dempsey's powerful assault force captured the bitterly-defended bastion of Brest.

The British units at best and those which took Boxtel, midway on the front were from eight to 13 miles away from the even more important enemy defence centre of Tilburg, a city of 81,000.

Tilburg Next Prize

Tilburg, Breda and Roosendaal are on a highway and rail line linking 'S Hertogenbosch and Bergen Op Zoom. If British and Canadian units drive the enemy from all five Dutch cities the next natural defensive line for the Germans is the lower Maas (Meuse) river, approximately nine miles to the north.

In their northward drive toward Bergen Op Zoom the Canadians took the rail and highway causeway linking South Beveland Island in the Schelde Estuary with the mainland. They also pushed down the causeway 1½ miles inside the island to within a few hundred yards of the town of Mairie.

Westof Antwerp the ferry port of Breskens, across from Vlissingen (Flushing) on largely-flooded Walcheren Island at the entrance to the estuary, was held firmly by the Canadians.

In their drive across the flat canal-laced country British forces were flattening neat Dutch houses and entire villages because the Germans were using each house and barn as a fort.

Standing before the ruins of their homes the Dutch cheered on the British Liberators and offered them their pitifully small treasure of food —apples and milk.

The main Allied front largely was quiet. Near the southern end of the line U.S. 7th Army troops drove the Germans out of the French towns of Mortagne and Biffontaine, in the Vosges mountain foothills southeast of Epinal, yesterday after grim house-to-house fighting.

Aided Landing.

In turn the guerrillas were given a schedule of operations in advance of the landings to enable them to evacuate civilians from threatened areas and forewarn them when to go into action.

MacArthur reported liberation of the following communities since the invasion started:

Tacloban, San Fernando, Sagkahan, San Jose, Marasbaras, Dulga, Palo, Pawing, Guindapunan, Calampanan and Burayan. In addition the three islands of Dinagat, Suluan, and Homonhon adjacent to Leyte were liberated.

The liberated towns are mostly in the vicinity of Tacloban. Dulga, southern anchor of the Leyte front, is the only one in that sector.

Last reports from the southern column indicated the Japanese were in full retreat north-westward from the San Pablo area. To the north U.S. elements advanced three miles north of Tacloban and six miles south of Palo.

Advantage Rests With U.S. In Pacific Fight

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

While details of the sea-air battle off the Philippines between strong Japanese forces and units of the U.S. 3rd Fleet leave much to the imagination, it's clear that a major engagement is under way.

An official communique from Pearl Harbor also indicates that the advantage rests heavily with the American fleet—sweeping Japanese claims notwithstanding.

Whether this may develop into the great naval engagement for which the world has been waiting remains to be seen.

The significance of this battle is that the Mikado's forces were aiming to deal a death blow to Gen. MacArthur's invasion of the heart of the Philippine Archipelago. They hoped to destroy the convoys of supplies and troops which are pouring in, and then to smash the American expedition which already is ashore and getting ahead well with the job of overrunning Leyte, strategic key to the whole archipelago.

A decisive American victory in this battle would vastly expedite the task of reclaiming the Philippines. The corollary to that must be that it would greatly shorten the war with Japan, for loss of this great archipelago will so divide the Mikado's empire and his conquests that his war effort will be crippled.

The Allies have every reason for complete confidence in the fighting forces in the Pacific. Admiral Halsey, upon whose fleet appears to rest the weight of this engagement, is daring but not rash, and is one of the most inspiring leaders of this war.

Actually Halsey's 3rd Fleet has been hunting the Jap fleet—trying to taunt it into coming out to fight—for a long time.

Whether the Japanese war lords have at long last decided to risk a sizeable part of their main fleet, the fact remains that the Pacific war has reached its crisis. It's now or never for Japan.

Kingston Hunter Found In Woods

NORTH BAY, Ont., Oct. 25. — (CP).— Ontario provincial p[illegible] here announced last night tha[illegible]lliam MacDonald, 25, Kingston [illegible], radio station (CKWS) em[illegible]e, was found after being miss[illegible]nce Monday when he left on a hunting excursion. He suffered no ill-effects.

Details were not available.

MacDonald, a former resident here, became lost in Blythe township, 17½ miles north of here. The search for him began after he failed to return to his party who were hunting deer with bows and arrows. He is president of the North Bay Archery Club.

MacDonald's wife was en route to this city from Kingston.

Bountiful Year In Northumberland

COBOURG, Oct. 25 — (ENS). — If anybody knows in this county the general crop returns for the year, it is Ralph C. Banbury, Northumberland County Agricultural Representative. Mr. Banbury feels that many farmers will be in a position to buy bonds and he bases his opinion on the following summary of crops:

"This has been a bountiful year for Northumberland farmers. Cheese, hogs, beef cattle and kindred live stock products have enjoyed a keen demand and fair prices, with feed supplies excellent and very much better than a year ago. Canning crops, particularly tomatoes and cabbage, have done well and some encouraging incomes per acre are reported in all the good producing areas. With the main apple crop finished next week and the rush of fall work well in hand, every farmer should take an evening to review his financial situation and prepare to purchase Victory Bonds with every dollar he can spare from the working capital necessary for him to continue to produce farm food products to the maximum of his economic ability" stated Mr. Banbury.

CCF Will Oppose Move To Conscript Men

REGINA, Oct. 25 — (CP) — In a statement of policy before adoption of the throne speech Monday night, Premier Douglas told the Saskatchewan legislature that winning of the war was the first concern of the C.C.F. But, he warned the party would oppose any federal move to conscript men for service if Ottawa failed to conscript at the same time the resources of corporations and big interests.

During a lively debate in which he took issue with W. J. Patterson, Liberal leader of the opposition, Mr. Douglas said the C.C.F. government wanted legislation to prevent the exploitation of workers and was "not prepared to wait for Ottawa to give it." He said also the provincial government intended to devote its efforts to assist in the development and expansion of the Co-operative movement.

Mr. Patterson had claimed the proposed provincial labor laws were not needed because of labor problems in Saskatchewan but rather to give the C.C.F. a "talking point" in other provinces and to satisfy the C.I.O. "Hence," he said "we have a bill prepared in Toronto and fussed up a bit in Regina.".

The premier replied that the speech mentioned farm security, crop failure legislation, seed grain, health, social welfare and the department of co-operatives, "all vital to farmers."

The speech was adopted by a vote of 41 to five. Earlier, the assembly defeated a Liberal Amendment, by 43 votes to five, deploring what was said to be the failure of the government to take any "effective action" to improve the economic position of the major industry of agriculture.

The debate on the throne speech lasted only two days, the shortest in the history of the province.

Order Inquiry At Stock Yards

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—(CP).—Agriculture Minister Kennedy of Ontario Tuesday directed that an inquiry be made into the situation at Toronto Union Stockyards where 4,300 head of cattle and 4,000 sheep and lambs remained unsold from yesterday. Sales in recent weeks have been slow and the market hold-overs have been reported daily.

While there has been a mild outbreak of pneumonia among the cattle at the yards, officials denied that large numbers were dying daily.

Although the Ontario government is taking over the yards, it has not yet taken actual possession and arbitration proceeds regarding the price now are under way at Osgoode Hall.

Last week the Toronto Livestock Exchange committee appealed to the Federal government to lift the embargo against shipments to the United States in order to r elieve the situation. A statement Saturday by President J. S. McLean of Canada Packers, Ltd., said the principal block in the market is fh feeder cattle which are not suitable for killing. Farmers were not buying lower grades of these and many have been on the market for two or three weeks.

New Brunswick Has Excess Potato Crop

HARTLAND, N.B., Oct. 25—(CP)—Canadian potatoes will be selling for 50 cents a barrel before spring unless the prices board provides export permits for at least 15,000 carloads, H. H. Hatfield, Progressive Conservative Member of Parliament for Victoria-Carleton, said Monday. He was commenting on a Prices Board announcement that export permits would be issued wherever a storage shortage existed.

In view of this year's bumper crop, all the potatoes in the Maritimes could be exported without damage of causing a shortage in Canada. The only hope of growers obtaining a price equal to the cost of production was movement of the largest possible amount of potatoes from the country.

TAMBLYN Features Baby Needs

Without doubt "Baby" is the most important personage in any home so blessed, and Baby's health and general well-being are invariably the first consideration. We all know that proper feeding and care in infancy exert a most powerful influence on a child's general health in after years, and in view of this fact, it ill behooves us to be at all casual as to the selection and quality of the items essential to the promotion of Baby's Good Health and Comfort. Your Tamblyn Drug Store is the depot at all times for a large number of these necessary "Baby Requisites" and this week is again stressing the extreme importance of the acquisition and use of correct and quality products. As an added convenience and as an indication as to the economies which may be effected by their purchase at this time, a number have been included in this list of

83 Yearlings Eligible For Coronation

TORONTO, Oct. 25—A total of 83 yearlings, the property of 48 different owners across Canada, are still eligible for the 1945 running of the rich $5,000 added Coronation Stakes by making the second payment on Aug. 28, 1944.

Heading the list in number nominated is the Parkwood Stable with six, there being by Teddy Wrack, one by Fox Hunter, an English sire, one by Stand Pat, and another by Pont L'Eveque, a French thoroughbred.

The H. C. Hatch Stable of Toronto and F. Kilroy of Winnipeg are next with five each. One of the Hatch youngsters is by Budpath, winner of the 1941 King's Plate, out of Comet III. Another in the Hatch nominations is a chestnut filly by Carrier Pigeon, an American sire.

Others nominating more than one are: Cosgrave Stable, 4; James G. Fair, 3; Garden City Stable, 2; Halton Brook Stables, 2; C. Hemstead, 3; Medway Stable, 4; Mrs. F. W. Merrill, 2; George C. McCullagh, 2; Seagram Stable, 2; John Stuart, 3; Charles Turner, 2; Whittier Park Stock Farm, 4; Harry Giddings, 2.

Among the sires represented are: By Pass II, Sun Power, Khorasan, Archworth, North Wales II, Bunty Lawless, Stand Pat, Brooms, Teddy Wrack, Koenigsmark II, Happy Fox, Kanuck, Pensweep, Sweepster, Budpath, Soleil Du Midi, Carrier Pigeon, Blue Ice, Osiris II, Onslaught II, Glanford, Shoeless Joe, Ladfield, Pont L'Eveque, Fox Hunter and Worthmore.

The $5,000 added Coronation Stakes will, as usual, be run during the fall meeting of the Ontario Jockey Club.

Pittsburgh Signs Two Canadians

TORONTO, Oct. 25—(CP)—Eric Prentice of Schumacher and Kenny Schultz from Preston will play with Pittsburgh Hornets in the American Hockey League this season, it was learned today. Both players were in the A.H.L. last season. Prentice with Providence and Schultz with Hershey, and both were at the Toronto Maple Leafs training camp at Owen Sound this season.

The arrangement to have them play with Hornets was made by Manager Johnny Mitchell and Jim Balmer of the Pittsburgh Club who visited Owen Sound last week.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

With both Peterborough Collegiate squads performing at Riverside Park Saturday afternoon fans do not need do any wondering about how to spend the week-end half holiday. P.C.V.S. juniors play the strong Port Hope team in the opening half of the double-header and the Collegiate senior meet Lindsay in the second game of the day. Both should be good exhibitions of interscholastic football with the odds favoring the junior battle as likely to be the better contest. Port Hope juniors, strong enough for the senior division, are unbeaten for the season and they hope to make their record still more impressive by taking the scalp of the Peterborough youngsters at Riverside Park. Naturally the P.C.V.S. squad have other ideas. They believe that they can stop that powerful Port Hope outfit and hand them their first loss of the season. Their attempt to do so should make the junior battle one of the best of the season. In the senior game P.C.V.S. squad are necessarily favorites for the Lindsay team have yet to win their first victory. However those Scugog kids are always trying and they will be battling here Saturday just the same as if they were right up in the running.

The impression gained in the first few nights of the Ladies' City Five Pin League that none of the teams was likely to find the going easy this season is being confirmed as the schedule unwinds. In Monday night's games for example only one team was able to make a clean sweep, the Beavers managing to turn the trick at the expense of the Five Vs with H. Plews setting the pace with a cross of 683 and A. Johnston contributing 604. In the other four games the winners had a 2 to 1 margin. There is keen competition and none of the clubs seem anxious to take over the roll of pushovers. In this week's games Westclox were top team in point of scoring rolling up 2985 against the Corvettes. The latter, beaten in the first two games, struck back with 1000 for the third game and that more than offset the Big Bens' 980. That is the kind of thing that is going on every week and the teams have to battle for everything they get. For the second week in succession a Westclox player took the individual honors, Aggie Anderson of the Big Bens having a cross of 757 while Marion Timm was second with 740. M. Sanderson 719 and D. McArthur 710 also reaching the coveted 700 class.

The injury to Al Palazarri, Ranger left-winger, who has lost an eye in a training camp accident will be regretted by hockey fans everywhere Doug Vaughan of the Windsor Star refers to the unfortunate episode as follows: "Talk to any hockey player and he'll tell you that he fears an eye injury more than just about anything else that can happen to him. The reason, of course, is that if he loses an eye it not only is a severe handicap but it definitely ruins his chances of being a National Leaguer, which, after all, is the goal of every hockey player. The N.H.L. has a rule prohibiting anyone with the sight of only one eye from playing. The American League has not, and as a matter of fact, the Cleveland Barons have a fellow so handicapped in Tommy Burlington who was still good enough to top the league in scoring last season and probably would have been in the National League this season but for the major circuit's ruling. The reason for mentioning this eye question comes from a story of yesterday out of the Winnipeg training camp of the New York Rangers where Al Palazarri, a 25-year-old left-winger, suffered an injury in practice that resulted in the loss of an eye. Unless the N.H.L. changes a long standing rule, Palazarri is through in the Big Time but, if he cares to, may catch on with some American League club. It is a mighty tough break for a promising hockey player."

* * * * * *

While the N.H.L. rules now bar one-eyed players from participating in league games there have been a number of instances where the loss of an eye did not prove any serious handicap. Tommy Burlington, mentioned by Vaughan is a modern example. Now with Cleveland, Burlington is one of the most prolific scorers in professional hockey. Back in the old days a Peterborough hockey team, the famous 247th Batalion outfit found that the fact that one of the stars of the Hamilton squad they faced in the O.H.A. semi-finals had only one eye did not help them very much. The player was Leo Reese, defence man with Hamilton who played great hockey against the Peterborough Soldiers and was one of the big factors in their defeat. Strangely enough Reese who came from New Liskeard had been a old teammate of "Monty" Montgomery who played defence here for several seasons and who also only had one eye. The two so-called handicapped players were on the defence together and "Monty" used to say that while they only had two good eyes between the pair of them attacking forwards did not find any easy path to the New Liskeard goal.

Cut Down Imports

"The sooner they get back to limiting the number of imports to possibly not more than four for junior 'A' hockey the better it will be for all concerned," was the way in which one man close to the Stratford puck picture expressed himself to this corner yesterday says Chick Appel in the Stratford Beacon-Herald. He was comenting on the unfortunate position sponsors of junior "B" teams may find themselves in this season in the event the C.A.H.A. enforce their prevailing regulation of limiting imports for junior "B" clubs to two. It must be admitted that he advanced some good arguments to back up his contention, the chief one being that only junior "A" teams backed by wealthy firms or major league clubs had any chance of getting any place in the race for the Memorial Cup. He went further and singled out Oshawa Generals and Galt Red Wings as instances of what he meant. "Take Kitchener for instance," he continued, "where they have withdrawn from junior 'A' hockey, because they discovered that they were playing a losing game with practically an entire homebrew team. They couldn't possibly compete against teams like Oshawa Generals and Galt Red Wings, which are composed practically of one hundred per cent imports."

* * * * * *

In the foregoing paragraph the Stratford scribe has put his finger on something that is of merely passing interest to Peterborough at the present moment but that will loom larger and larger as Peterborough's new hockey arena emerges from the blueprint stage into a concrete reality. A modern arena without a contending hockey squad would be like Hamlet with the melancholy Dane omitted and there is a general feeling around town that the division in which Peterborough, once it has its plant ready, should logically enter would be the junior A section. To get anywhere there it is obvious that this city, for a while at least, and probably continuously would have to look elsewhere for its material. That has been Oshawa's experience and there is nothing about the whole junior A setup that the Motor City hockey authorities don't know all about. The question of how many imports should be allowed will eventually, therefore, be a matter of prime importance to Peterborough.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Canadiens announcement that they will have most of last year's stars in line again this season has set the other N.H.L. clubs back on their heels....Now they'l all want to know what's the score....Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa has been championing two 16-year-old boys charged with playing football on the street....His Worship points out that failure to provide adequate recreation facilities is the cause of that kind of thing and he's right...Art Ross of the Boston Bruins is keeping his opening lineup a military secret....However this district is interested knowing that Dit Clapper and Bill Calladine will be with the Boston club....According to press reports the Chin brothers, hockey line, are too little and too early....But it remains for Jim Coleman to pull the worst yet....He intimates the Leafs will be all right if they keep their Chins up....On the other hand, of course, they had better not lead with their Chins.

Aggie Anderson Sets Pace With 757 Triple

Aggie Anderson of the Westclox team was top scorer in Monday night's games in the Ladies' Five-Pin League with the fine three-game score of 757. Marion Timm was second with 730, M. Sanderson had 719, D. McArthur 710, M. Selkirk 693, and H. Plews 683.

M. Goldie had high single with 329 and other good scores were D. McArthur 275, H. Plews 275-253, M. Timm 271-248, A. Anderson 270-260, M. Sanderson 264-264, G. Milliken 259, M. Selkirk 247 and H. Hunt 244.

The blind score was 594 and the blind score prize was won by L. Vincent with 597.

Port Colborne In Junior Series

PORT COLBORNE, Oct. 25 — (CP)—Port Colborne will have a team in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series again this winter, it was announced yesterday by Wray Rubell, who will manage the club. Nels Stewart, former National Hockey League star and former coach of Port Colborne and St. Catharines senior teams, will coach the club. He will be assisted by Gonie McGowan, who coached the junior Ports in the last two seasons.

King Edward Beats Confederation 1-0

King Edward junior soccer team defeated Confederation juniors on Monday afternoon in a game which decides the second play-off position. Both teams started off cautiously, but King Edward gradually opened up and began to carry the ball to the Confederation end of the field. At the end of the first half the teams were still scoreless.

In the second hall King Edward, kicking against the sun and wind, still pressed the play until finally Don Whatley came through on a pass from Bryon Young and scored the only goal of the game, with less than half a minute to go.

For Confederation, B Jones was always dangerous and did some fine work, especially around the goal. Neither side had many shots on goal, due chiefly to the fine work of the full backs. J. Doleman and J. Kimball for Confederation, Ray Harris and G. Bennett for King Edward. The line-ups:

Confederation — B. Morrison, goal; J. Doleman and K. Kimball, full backs; G. Crouter, G. Sutherland, and J. Bryan, half-backs; —. Strickland, K. McCarrell, B. Jones, R. Douglas and K. Floyd; subs, Haslett, Martin, Sargent, Curtis, and Dawson.

Deep-Sea Fishing Club Far From Sea Makes This Organization Strange One

A deep-sea fishing club more than 200 miles from salt-water, and 7,500 feet above sea level, yet which claims a greater area of briny fishing waters than any of its international competitors, is Mexico City's Sailfish and Tarpon club—probably the only fisherman's club in the world to boast two such contradictory distinctions.

Its enthusiastic members, who have managed to hang up fishing records not to be sneezed at by members of old-established sea level clubs, claim for their happy fishing grounds all the coastal waters of the Pacific ocean from just north of Mazatlan to the Guatemalan border, and all of the Mexican waters in the gulf.

Mrs. Roy Dean—Record Holder

The Sailfish and Tarpon club was founded a year ago by its president, Dr. Roy B. Dean, an American resident in Mexico, as a means of bringing together Mexico's deep sea fishing enthusiasts.

Later the club became affiliated with the International Game Fish Association, of which Dr. Dean is international committee-man for Mexico (South), and Harold Steinfeld for the waters north of Mazatlan.

Regular Members

With a roster including Mexicans, British and Americans, the club has 25 members, 21 of whom live in or near Mexico City. Sportsmen join as associates, become active members after they have caught a sailfish, marlin or 5-feet 6-inch tarpon, according to the rules of the club.

Once a month they meet for luncheon at the American club, where they swap fish stories and discuss the possibility of winning the gold, silver and bronze buttons which the club plans to award according to the weight of the fish caught, and the line used.

But week-ends and vacations they are off to the salt waters—to Acapulco, a mere 285 miles — to Vera Cruz, 283 miles—to Tampico, 457 miles—to Tuxpan, fisherman's tarpon heaven on the Gulf between Cruz and Tampico — or even to Mazatlan, west coast harbor, a trifling 717 miles from the capital. Tuxpan, just 55 minutes by plane, is a week-end favorite. Acapulco is popular, too, because r egularda is popular, too, because regular daily planes skim over the mountains to cover the distance in one hour and a half.

Woman Member

Mrs. Roy B. Dean, the club's only woman member, holds the women's world record for Pacific sailfish, using light tackle. She made her record catch in Acapulco, Dec. 30, during the Gulf club tournament.

Her husband is no mean fisherman himself. In August, with 2 3-6 tackle, he bagged four Pacific sailfish in 45 minutes' fishing time, catching the whoppers in the following order: 106-pound weight, 19 minutes; 101 2-10-pound weight, 8 minutes; 94-pound weight, 6 minutes; 95-pound weight, 8 minutes.

"Ethical fishing" is the byword of the Sailfish and Tarpon club. Its members use no nets, harpoons or dynamite.

Player Injured

DETROIT, Oct. 25 — (CP). — Torn muscles in Cully Simon's side have become so inflamed it is doubtful if he will be able to participate with Detroit Red Wing in their opening N.H.L. game against Boston Bruins here Sunday.

A new face appeared in the Wings dressing room yesterday when Jack Hewson, 20, six-foot winger from Brantford, presented himself for a trial. He has just been discharged from the Canadian Army.

Raid Hotels

TORONTO, Oct. 25. — (CP).— Mayor Fred Conboy told Toronto Board of Control yesterday that police squads have been "cleaning up an undesirable situation" in hotels which are believed to cater to persons suffering from venereal disease.

Sports Spice

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP). — The rumor department has it that the Pacific Coast League is threatening to branch out as a third major baseball circuit....From this distance it doesn't look like a serious threat—maybe a big stick to persuade the majors to grant that $15,000 draft price....The Coast League, with a record attendance last summer, averaged under 300,000 per club—hardly a get-rich-quick total....And what would they do about the world series, anyway?

Bouncing Check.

A clipping from an English paper reveals that Barry Nieuenjuys, South African soccer star who has been playing for Liverpool, has been suspended for "asking a league club for payment in excess of the regulation."....The item explains, further: "Nieuwenjuys admitted having done so and expressed his deep regret to the management committee."....And we thought Branch Rickey still was in Brooklyn.

Calling His Shot.

Bobby Hicks, Piedmont League umpire, tells this one about Short stop Tom Brown, who moved up from Newport News to the Dodgers late last season: "You called a second strike on the kid that was pretty close," says Hicks. "He gave me a look, then took a toe hold and faced the pitcher. 'I can spot you one strike and that sore-armed pitcher another and still hit. He groweld....then he blasted the next pitch for a triple."

Rough Wrestling Match Ends In Tie

The popular Irish Jack Kennedy and that Californian public enemy, Dr. Len Hall, belted each other for an hour in the main bout of the Tunney wrestling show at the Brock St. Arena Tuesday night, and at the final bell were still exchanging punches with honors even.

Each took a fall, Kennedy winning the first after 11 minutes and Hall evening things up in 25 minutes. Then they battled the rest of the distance without another fall and the hectic argument ended in a draw.

It was one of two even-Stephen affairs on the card. Joe Maich and Jack Wentworth tussled for 30 minutes in the opener without getting a fall. The only tilt that had a definite ending was the semi-final which saw Tom Collins of Buffalo, N.Y., win quickly over Verne Baxter, the hard-hitter from Oregon.

It was announced that there would be no wrestling next week owing to the fact that a Hallowe'en dance is to be staged on the regular wrestling night.

The Kennedy-Hall engagement was a rugged, rough affair, with no quarter asked or given. The bounding Californian wrestled with a lame shoulder, but there was no indication of the injury for Hall was at his meanest in this bout and carried the battle to the fast-moving Kennedy at every possible opportunity. The Irish grappler was ready to meet the Doc at his own game and the result was a match that had the crowd sitting on the edge of the seats all the way.

The battlers wasted little time in wading into each other after the opening bell. Hall started the fireworks by turning loose a barrage of kicks and Kennedy came right back with a series of punches that had the Californian looking for shelter. There were no dull moments for the gladiators kept up the pressure all the way during the first round and Kennedy finally took the fall after eleven minutes by dropping the Doc five or six times with lusty swings to the jaw and then rolling him over and pinning him for the fall.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 25—(CP). — They aren't worrying around Oshawa about the breakup of last year's Memorial Cup-winning Generals, in fact the tone of reports from the cradle of champs is quite optimistic. They have a nucleus of three stalwarts of last year's team, while new blood has been imported from many points of the compass. Carry-overs from last season are Jack Taggart, rejected by the Armed Services, Al Shewchuk as his defence mate, and Freddie Petsura on the forward line. Imports include Jack Gibson of Winnipeg St. James Canadians, last year's Western junior runners-up, Tommy Love, Barney Sullivan of Stratford, Ron Matthews of Winnipeg and Toronto Marlboros, and a flock of others.

"Oh, yes," says George Campbell of the Oshawa Times-Gazette, "the General will be in the Junior A playoffs again this year."

S.P.C.F.M.:

George Sheppard, manager of Boxer Joey Peralta, reportedly was quite provoked over a remark of Hugh Fullerton, Associated Press sport columnist, who suggested that the Professional Boxing Managers' Association was affiliated with the I.O.U. In reply, Sheppard was quoted by Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson as stating: "We are an independent organization, not affiliated with any rackets, except our own. We know nothing of the I.O.U. because the managers to-day have become so tough that no one will lend another anything, not even a fighter."

"The Managers' Association is a fine thing, especially for the managers who need protection, particularly from each other," he added. Sort of a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Fight Managers.

Odds and ends:

Looking for a rich post-war future, horsemen in Nova Scotia are considering asking the Provincial Government to appoint a racing commissioner, "Gee" Ahern of the Halifax Herald reports. Profits from the mutuel machines should be used to improve "sanitary' conditions at some tracks, he adds. Is he insinooatin' things aren't what they should be?

President E. E. Garnes of the Canadian Lacrosse Association visited his native New Brunswick for the first time in 30 years to spread the gospel of lacrosse in the land of his forefathers. With what success, time will tell.

Westenders Defeat May's School 4-0

In a local Public School soccer game on Monday afternoon, Prince of Wales defeated May's School 4-0 on King Edward Park. The early stages ran from end to end until near the interval, when R. Deck, Prince of Wales, registered. On resuming, the winners set a steady pressure on May's full-backs that ultimately cracked when D. Byers, J. Johnston, and R. Carl increased the count to: Prince of Wales 4, May's School 0. The teams:

Prince of Wales—W. Jones, goal; D. Best and L. Chambers, backs; R. Carl, D. Cooper, and H. Panter, halves; D. Byers, R. Deck, J. Johnston, K. Deck and R. Fowler, forwards; subs, E. Dunn, R. Moffat, and D. Wood.

May's School — S. Botts, goal; D. Hunter and P. Evans, backs; R. Davey, R. Tully, R. Murphy, halves; M. Clark, J. Hargraves, E. Howie, W. Cordery, and C. Boote, forwards; subs, H. Hegadoren and M. Monahan.

Referee—Mr. Drury.

Game Thursday Afternoon.

The play-off game between Central and King Edward was postponed on Tuesday afternoon owing to the weather, which made the field dangerous to play upon. It was decided to play on Thursday afternoon on Nicholls Oval, with Stan McLeod officiating as referee. In the first tussle they scored one goal apiece, which still leaves the three-game series at no count.

Black Hawks Depend On Veteran Players

HIBBING, Minn., Oct. 25—(CP) —The 1944 edition of Chicago Black Hawks is a combination of something old with something new.

Defensively, Hawks are powerful and experienced from Cagey Mike Karakas in goal to the blueline force of Earl Seibert, Joe Cooper, Bill (Red) Mitchell, and Virgil Johnson, veterans of last year's club. Joe Bretto, 226-pound Hibbing product, is the only newcomer on defence.

But the scoring punch of the new, inexperienced forward lines, made necessary by loss of George Allen, Doug Bentley, and Cully Dahlstrom from last year's squad, is so steeped in mystery that even Manager Paul Thompson hesitates to guess at it.

"You can't lost stars like Allen, Bentley, and Dahlstrom without suffering a dent in your scoring strength. Whether we will have a fair measure of success in our efforts to form lines with scoring punch, only time will tell," he said.

The most important question is the possible performance of left-wingers Pete Horeck, Russell Brayshaw and Joe Paike, all newcomers to the team.

Horeck, obtained from Cleveland Barons, was a high scorer in the American Hockey League a year ago. Brayshaw is an amateur from Vancouver, and Paike, from Eveleth, Minn., played last season with Kansas City.

Thompson has three veteran centres: Bill Thoms, apparently recovered from the illness that forced him to the sidelines last winter. Veteran Johnny Gottselig and Clint Smith, obtained from New York Rangers last season.

Another Vancouver amateur, Harvey Fraser, is slated for a right wing berth as are Johnny Harms of Saskatoon and Mush March, both veterans of the 1943 club. Fido Purpur, scrappy little forward, has also been practicing with the team.

Thompson said the club has had the best training session in six years and the players will be in top shape to meet Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League opener at Chicago, on October 29.

He's not optimistic about winning the Stanley Cup—like most other N.H.L. managers he conceded that to Montreal Canadiens on paper—but he feels his team will "put up a good scrap."

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Joe DiMaggio, who's bat earned him the American League batting championship and helped New York Yankees to a fourth straight world series tilt, was voted the most valuable player in the league five years ago today. DiMaggio is now in the U.S. Army.

Walter Pratt Still Keen On Hockey After 10 Years

By FRASER MACDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TORONTO, Oct. 25 — (CP). — Ten years of National Hockey League competition haven't dulled the hockey appetite of towering Walter (Babe) Pratt, defenceman for Toronto Maple Leafs. On the contrary, the 28-year-old native of Stony Mountain, Man., would like to make hockey his life work.

"I just love the game," said Pratt, who won the Hart Trophy last season, first member of a Toronto team ever to do so, and set a new scoring record for defencemen with 17 goals and 40 assists for 57 points. "I'd like to stay with it after my playing days are over. I'd like to coach a club if someone would trust me with one."

But the six-foot-two, 220-pound veteran doesn't expect his playing days to be over for a few years yet. "Bill Cook used to say that a hockey player wasn't at his best until he was 30 or 32, so I guess I've got a few years to go yet."

Pratt began his hockey career in Manitoba where he played with several junior teams around Winnipeg. Later he moved to Kenora, Ont., where he played with the Kenora Thistles in 1935-36. The next season he turned professional and played with Philadelphia Ramblers in the old Canadian-American League for two months before he caught Lester Patrick's eye.

In January, 1936, he was summoned to Rangers with whom he remained until December, 1942, when he came to the Leafs.

Never at a loss for words, Pratt spoke at length of the changes in the style of hockey since he first broke into the N.H.L. nearly 10 years ago. Present-day play made greater physical demands on players and during the war especially a new type of athlete was coming into the game with more youngsters of 18 and 19 moving right up from junior ranks and making good.

A railway switchman, Pratt's home now is in Toronto. Married, he has two children, a boy and a girl, and he "might try" to make a hockey player of the boy.

Red Kennedy Leads Scorers

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Oct. 25 — (CP). — Red (Teeter) Kennedy, with three goals, led the Blues of the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey colony to an 11-5 victory over the Whites in the second three pre-season exhibitions last night. The team played their first exhibition game at Owen Sound, site of this year's training camp, the previous night.

Bill Ezinicki of Winnipeg, who counted three times in the first game, helped the Blues with one goal and three assists last night. Other scorers for the Blues were Elwin Morris, Bob Davidson, Nick Metz, who scored two goals and assisted in a pair, Tommy O'Neil, Jimmy Thomson and Weiler.

Sweeney Schriner, Mel Hill, Lorne Carr, Red Hamilton and Bill Chin, one of the three Chinese players, counted for the Whites.

Frank McCool gave a solid performance in the nets for the Blues with Leo Sargent of St. Catharines minding the other nets.

Training Camp Gossip

By The Canadian Press

Manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings is telling the story of the "missing hockey player." It seems arrangements were made to acquire Gerard Couture of Saskatoon. The 18-year-old winger reported at the Windsor, Ont., training camp but left 10 days ago after telling Adams his mother was ill. Since then he hasn't been heard from.

Boston Bruins wind up their pre-season training camp at Quebec tonight in a game against H.M.C.S. Montcalm, the Quebec division of the Royal Canadian Navy. The Bruins defeated the sailors 10-7 Sunday night in the first of the scheduled two games.

The Bruins will head for Montreal tomorrow where they will go through a few light drills before meeting Canadiens in the season opener on Saturday.

Little Grant Warwick, making a comeback with New York Rangers after fracturing his skull in a game at Detroit a year ago, showed plenty of spunk in an exhibition with a Winnipeg R.C.F. team last night.

Coach Frank Boucher, commenting on Rangers 3-3 tie with Winnipeg R.C.A.F. squad, said "the air force are a powerful team and they were in much better condition than on Saturday." He thought Rangers could do better?

It looks like the Syd Howe hoodoo has been chased — or at least Jack Adams hopes so. Syd, veteran of 14 years professional hockey, has played in the moneyed game for five cities, four of which were bereft of their teams shortly after he linked up with them. He entered professional hockey with Ottawa Senators in 1929-30. They folded up in the 1934-35 season. He also played with St. Louis Eagles, whose life was short; Philadelphia Quakers, another club that distinguished itself by its failure, and Syracuse Stars of the old Canadian-American League. He joined Red Wings in 1932 — and both the club and Mr. Howe have prospered ever since.

Charge Mother In Baby Death

MILTON, Ont., Oct. 25 (CP)—Dr. W. J. Deadman, Hamilton pathologist testified Tuesday that had it not been for injuries received, Mrs. Lois Bell's new-born daughter had a chance to live. He was testifying in the trial of Mrs. Bell of Oakville, charged with the murder of her daughter.

The prosecution completed its case before noon.

Yesterday a grand jury brought in a true bill of murder against the accused charged in connection with the death of her child on June 17. She pleaded not guilty.

Dr. Deadman told the court the child suffered a fractured skull, damage to its brain and hemorrhage of the brain lining seemingly caused by application of force. He said it was bruised and scratched, but was well formed and had its lungs well aired. It had a chance to live, he added.

Dr. J. H. Stead, of Oakville, who attended Mrs. Bell, said he was not told the reason for his call. When he arrived he thought the woman was going to give birth.

Later he discovered she had already given birth and when he asked where the baby was, she said it was in a duffle bag in the bathroom. He said he found it alive, but cold and wearing no clothes.

The infant was taken to hospital at Oakville and Mrs. Bell was sent to hospital at Hamilton.

Young People's Plans Armistice Service

KEENE, Oct. 25 — (ENS). — The Young People Society executive met in the club room of Keene United Church Sunday evening for the initial meeting when the program for the ensuing weeks was discussed and arranged for. A Hallowe'en social will be held November 3, and on Sunday, November 12, a special Armistice young people's service is being prepared. Owing to the anniversary service at Zion United Church the Y.P.S. will not meet next Sunday evening.

"The supreme value of faith in God" was the topic of the sermon Sunday, at the United Church. Quoting the scripture, "The fool has said in his heart there is no God," the Rev. G. Murray said "None but a fool would say that, we have sufficient evidence in nature, in life and in living to convince us that there is a God. Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. Faith is the power by which we tap the unseen but real forces of life and of living." Huxley speaks of "the greater absurdities of the philosophers who try to prove that there is no God." The Mohammendan religion has 99 names for God, but Jesus came to reveal to all who believe in Him that God is our Heavenly Father. When we approach God we must believe that He is and that He is the rewarder of them that diligently seek Him." A mixed quartette sang "The Garden of Prayer."

A DIFFERENT SET-UP

North Monaghan officials are busy preparing a bylaw to arrange for new polling sub-division for the next municipal election. With the switch of most of the suburban area into the city next year, the North Monaghan set-up will be altered materially. Representation on the County Council will, of course, be cut in half, for the smaller North Monaghan of 1945 will not elect a deputy-reeve. The Council will be made up of a reeve and four councillors henceforth.

Premium Refund Assists Christmas Fund

Among the many advantages membership in the Peterborough Horticultural Society brings is the opportunity of securing part of one's seed requirements, there being alternative options for this partcular feature which comes to those who pay the regular annual fee.

During recent years, one of these alternatives has been to leave the value of this premium with the society's secretary, with the understanding that it would be given to the work that the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund carries on, such having appeared in this column about this time of year on previous occasions.

This places the society on the basis of a planned operation, which allows of making a means to assist in the war effort, apart from the productive side of their work, which is also of a beneficial character, being another of those features which have from time to time been evidenced by donations in this column to help the fund.

It is less than two weeks since this column reported a gift from this group, which was raised through a collection at one of their meetings, and a further $20.00 is to-day credited in their name, the result of premiums which were left for that purpose, and more may yet follow when the final returns come in.

Then in connection with this same donation comes another from Mrs. William Goodwin of 298 Edinburgh Street. One of their members who won second prize in the rock garden and lawn competitions of the society this year, who turned over the prize money of $2 to give the fund some assistance, demonstrating again how the members individually are interested in this humanitarian work, as others have acted on former occasions.

Box at Robert Fair Ltd.

The penny box located at the Robert Fair Ltd. ladies' store is one in which the staff has taken particular interest, for the bulk of its contents may really be said to have accrued through their own endeavors to give help to the fund.

In a manner best known to themselves they devise what might be termed the salvage of what used to be considered unsaleable materials in pre-war times, and these in small amounts they have turned into cash, with the result that from time to time a gift has appeared in this column by that means. To-day a further gift of $8.50 is credited through their efforts, and once again they commence on a similar scale to raise further assistance in kind.

LAW. GRACE A. SIMPSON

LAW. Grace Simpson Arrives Overseas

LAW. Grace A. Simpson, R.C.A.F. (W.D.), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Simpson, R.R. No. 4, Peterborough, has arrived in England.

She enlisted July 30, 1943 and trained at Rockcliffe, where she graduated October 13. She then had two weeks' advanced training at T.T.S., Toronto, where she was the honor graduate of her class. Posted to T.T.S., St. Thomas, October 1943, as a telephone operator, she remained there till June, 1944, when she was posted for overseas duty.

Owing to a minor operation she did not leave in July as arranged, but stayed at Lachine, Quebec, until embarkation early in October.

Prior to enlisting LAW. Grace Simpson was a telephone operator at the Bell Telephone Co. for 12 years.

George Patton Dies After Long Illness

Prominently active in municipal affairs of North Monaghan some years ago, George Patton died at his home, 635 Charlotte street, Tuesday evening. He had been ill for months, and friends had given up hope of his regaining health. He was found dead on his bed.

Mr. Patton was born in Manvers township, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patton, and had lived for some time near Bethany, prior to his coming to Peterborough with his wife nineteen years ago. His home was on Charlotte street west, near the turn of No. 28 Highway. In his younger days he had been a farmer in Manvers, and in North Monaghan he became interested in the affairs of the municipality, was elected councillor and deputy-reeve. In the latter position he was a member of the County Council. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. T. E. Miller of Castle Point, Man., and Mrs. N. A. McDonald, Winnipeg.

The funeral will take place Thursday at 2 p.m. from the funeral home of A. Comstock & Sons, to Fallis Cemetery at Bethany. The officiating minister will be Rev. Mr. Henderson.

No Nobel Prize

LONDON, Oct. 25.— (AP).— A Transocean Agency dispatch from Stockholm, broadcast by the German radio, said yesterday the Nobel committee had announced that no Nobel peace prize would be awarded this year.

He Wasted One

PALO BEACHHEAD, Leyte, Philippines, Oct. 25—(AP).— A navy lieutenant who wasn't assigned to killing Japanese knocked two snipers out of a tree, with three shots, and then apologized to a rifleman for wasting his ammunition. Lieut. J. P. Syttong of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., went ashore as a member of a mine explosion investigating unit. He was pinned down by the snipers and borrowed a carbine from the rifleman.

PROUD OF PAPA

An argument between two or three small boys watching the parade Tuesday evening was abruptly ended by an apparently awe-inspiring revelation made by one of the children. The bone of contention seemed to be "which regiment was which." One of them said it was the Battery, and he was answered by an "Oh yeah?" Retorted the youngster, "Yeah, and if yuh wanna know something else, my old man's in the Battery, and I should know!" A chorus of agreements was heard.—D. M.

WARM WELCOME

One woman riding home on a bus at noon, Tuesday, got the thrill of a lifetime, and so did her fellow passengers. A young soldier was sitting in the bus when a woman got on and sat beside him, without glancing his way. The soldier watched her out of the corner of his eye for a few minutes, then leaned over and said quietly, "Hi Mom." His fellow passenger jumped with surprise, threw her arms around him, crying, "Why didn't you tell me you were coming home?" He had just arrived from Western Canada.—J.S.

Small Baby Girl Abandoned On House Steps

A month-old girl baby, wrapped in a blanket, was abandoned on the doorstep of a Murray street home around 10 o'clock Tuesday night and police today are endeavoring to solve the mystery.

Frank G. Wiman, 500 Aylmer street, noticed the infant as he was passing the home of Charles Avery, 260 Murray street. The blanket-wrapped child was lying on the cement step of the Avery house.

Wiman notified the Avery family and the baby was taken inside the house while a call was put in for the police. Constables Gordon Trennum and Reg. McMillan, accompanied by Police Matron Mrs. D. M. Maguire and Miss Rachel Young, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, answered the call and the infant was taken to the Children's Shelter.

Good Care

The child was in excellent condition, attired in good quality baby garments and very clean. There was absolutely nothing to give a clue as to its identity, however. It was snugly wrapped in a blanket and police do not think that it had been on the doorstep very long before it was noticed. The Averys knew nothing of the little visitor outside their home and it is thought their house was selected because that section of Murray street is rather isolated. There are no residences on the south side of the block.

It is argued that the mother wanted to make sure that the baby would soon be picked up; at the same time she did not want to take chances of being seen abandoning the infant.

Wiman told police Tuesday night that a few moments before noticing the baby on the Avery doorstep he had seen a young couple on the bridge over the Jackson Park creek at Stewart street. Police located the couple shortly afterward and they were taken to the police station for questioning. However they were soon allowed to go after it had been decided that they knew nothing about the abandoned baby.

Adjourn Accident Case For 2 Weeks' Period

Two charges against Carman Coons, Smith Township, of reckless and drunken driving, following a recent accident on the Lakefield road in which Coons was injured, were adjourned two weeks by consent when the cases were called before Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court this morning.

W. J. Arthur Fair, who appeared for Coons, and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., both agreed to the long adjournment.

Donald Pinch and William Morgan, two youths who had pleaded not guilty previously to vagrancy charges, still maintained their innocence this morning, and at the request of Inspector J. F. Reid, who said the police had not completed their investigation, there was another adjournment for a week.

Burton Corby, Campbellford, who pleaded guilty to a drunk charge, was fined the usual $10 and costs.

A youth, Thomas I. Smith, Hunter street, who appeared in battle dress, but said that he had been discharged from the Army last week, was charged with vagrancy, and at the request of the police, was remanded until next Monday.

War—4 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press

OCT. 25, 1940—German night raids on Britain heaviest since mid-September; 14 Nazi planes downed. R.A.F. attacked German naval bases and oil targets in Germany and occupied countries Sixty-two thousand children under 14 evacuated from Berlin and 42,000 from Hamburg.

DIES OF WOUNDS—After being reported wounded in Belgium, October 8, Pte. Raymond Foster, M.M., whose wife and son live at 291 Louis street, is now reported to have died of wounds October 18, while in a Belgium hospital.

Pte. Ray Foster Dies Of Wounds In Belgium

Pte. Raymond Foster, M.M., whose wife and three-year-old son Barry live at 291 Louis street, is reported to have "died of wounds" October 18 in a Belgian hospital, according to information reaching his wife today.

Only a few days ago, Mrs. Foster received a letter from the young soldier, in which he said his condition was improving, after being wounded in action in Belgium October 8, by shrapnel from an 88-mm. shell, which struck him in the abdomen, hip, front and back, while fighting with the Royal Canadian Engineers.

Recently announced as a winner of the Military Medal, Pte. Foster is one of twin brothers serving in Canada's armed forces. He left a position at the C.G.E. to enlist in August, 1940, and went overseas in June, 1941. He has been overseas since then, and took part in the invasion of France.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, a son, three-year-old Barry; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Foster, Jackson Park Road; two sisters, Mrs. W. Hope and Mrs. Fred Welch, both of Peterborough, and three brothers, Albert, with the armed forces; Pte. Ralston Douglas, with the armed forces in France, and Reginald, at home.

Two Young Pupils Steal Car For Ride

Two south-end school boys, one 12 and the other nine, had a merry time Monday joy-riding around in a stolen automobile before they finally collided with a fire hydrant on Albert street, damaging the machine and falling into the hands of the police themselves.

The older boy is blamed for the theft of the machine, which was the property of Maurice Mahoney, 494 Bolivar street, and had been left parked outside the C.G.E. where Mahoney works. The car was taken for a trial run in the morning and afterward returned. In the afternoon it disappeared again, and it was discovered later that one of the boys had driven to school in the stolen machine. Constable C. J. McGillen ended the joy-ride by taking the two youngsters in charge after they had been driving around the streets for some time and had wound up by crashing into the hydrant.

Bidding Slow At Auction $29,100 Is Raised

Before a crowd of more than 1,000 people who packed the Training Centre Drill Hall, lent through the courtesy of Lt.-Col. James Turnbull Tuesday evening, $29,100 worth of Victory Bonds in the Seventh War Loan, were sold, in the final Bond Auction to be held in this district during the present campaign. Although Victory Loan officials were pleased at the total amount sold, they noticed a much slower pace of bidding.

The highlight of the auctioning was the three calves offered, and altogether, the animals sold a total of $5,350 worth of bonds. A Holstein calf donated by Silverwoods' Dairies received a $3,750 pledge, the pure bred Jersey calf donated by Charles Doughty, went for a $1,000 pledge, and the Shorthorn Dual-Purpose bull went to the one pledging $600 in bonds. Allan B. Mann donated the bull to the sale.

A "chore-horse", was given the man offering to buy $1,500 in war bonds. However, the man created a mild sensation when he announced he intended to buy that amount in bonds in any event, and patriotically threw the "chore-horse" back into the running. Further bidding on the device finally reached $3,000, making a total of $4,500 worth of war bonds sold by it.

Soldiers stepped out front in many cases, and purchased a good number of bonds. A studio-couch went for $3,750 worth of War bonds, and a quantity of Quaker calf meal went to the one pledging $1,000. A raffle with $50 bonds on a chair brought in no less than $2,500 in sales of Victory bonds.

A case of peas cost $800 in bonds, a horse-blanket netted $450, and an alarm clock sold $500 worth of bonds. A quantity of pig starter and a similar amount of pig grower each sold $500 worth of bonds. Five sacks of dairy ration went for $700, six bushels of registered Ajax oats rang up $400, and a quantity of hog feed received a $400 pledge.

Need Equipment

As the guest speaker, Flight Lieutenant Pat Morse, of Toronto and Ottawa, stressed to the audience the need for the best equipment overseas, and the largest quantities possible. From his own experience of taking part in the bombing attacks on the Nazi warships Scharnhorst and Gneisnau, and later the Tirpitz, he told the crowd that with each war loan, the quality and quantity of equipment improves.

Flight Lieut. Morse enlisted with the R.A.F. in England, in 1939, and has seen action at Dieppe, Dunkirk, and the Battle of Britain. Once during a tour, he was shot down into the Channel, and after reaching the French coast, managed to escape six days later through the underground. He has been a flying instructor since returning to Canada because of a lowered medical category, after contracting pneumonia when shot down into the North Sea on his forty-eighth operational trip.

Flight Lieutenant Morse explained just what the Victory Loan means to those fighting overseas. He told the people he has seen the necessity for newer and better equipment, and also, that this equipment is received by soldiers, sailors and airmen, because of the enthusiastic response to Victory Loan campaigns on the home front.

Introduced by E. Simpson, unit organizer, Flight Lieutenant Morse was thanked by Gordon Matthews.

After the sale, dancing held the spotlight until midnight, with music presented by Jack Marshall and his orchestra.

JAMES A. FIFE

James A. Fife Educationist Dies In Edmonton

EDMONTON, October 25—For a quarter of a century one of Alberta's leading educationists, James Alexander Fife, B. A. M.Sc., 88, of 10343 124 st., died in retirement Saturday after a brief illness. Spending his boyhood days on a farm in Ontario, he set out the hard way to secure an education by returning to his country school at the age of 21, after an absence of 10 years "scratching" a livelihood from the land during the first decade after confederation.

Upon retiring 12 years ago, Mr. Fife was signally honored by the teachers of three inspectorates of Onoway, Westlock and Edmonton rural districts and presented with a purse of gold.

For some years he remained active in community life and at the time of his death was senior elder of First Presbyterian church.

Born near Peterborough, Ont. Mr. Fife graduated from the Peterborough Collegiate Institute and from the University of Toronto in 1888. He was a science master at the Peterborough Collegiate Institute for 19 years before coming to Edmonton in 1905. He received his M.Sc. degree from the University of Alberta in 1912.

Mr. Fife taught in Edmonton high schools for one year before becoming inspector of schools for Edmonton and district. He retired from that position in 1932.

His wife pre-deceased him Jan. 1 last.

Surviving are three sons, Prof. W. M. Fife, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston; Leslie D. Fife, of Calgary, and Dr. J. K. Fife of Edmonton; two daughters, Mrs G. D. Lockerbie and Mrs. F. W. Barclay, of Edmonton; 12 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral was held Tuesday at 2.00 p. m. at the Howard and McBride chapel. D E Cameron officiated and burial was in the Edmonton cemetery.

Five Soldiers Back In Canada

KINGSTON, Oct. 25—(Special to The Examiner)—Five Peterborough and district men arrived in Kingston Tuesday night from overseas and those which are not stretcher cases, are expected home within a day or two.

In the group is Staff Sgt. C. Ray Keating of Cobourg. He was wounded in Italy following commando raids on the east coast. S.-Sgt. Keating was a paratrooper and a member of the Special Service Force, trained in Canada and the United States, and saw action in the Aleutians, England and Italy.

Other casualties home are: Pte. W. B. Glover, 176 Brock street; Pte. W. J. May, 237 Perry street, Cobourg; Pte. J. D. Grose, Detroit, formerly of Peterborough; Pte. R. Lane, Chapel street, Cobourg.

Fall Work On Farms Three Weeks Ahead

Fall work on the farms of eastern Ontario is three weeks ahead of last year, as estimated by the Leeds report in the weekly review of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. A recurrent phrase in the county summaries is "more rain is needed before the freeze-up; many wells and creeks are still dry;" and from York "with the weather continuing very dry it is impossible to do any plowing on heavy soils."

The "melancholy" days are approaching the countryside, but there is still considerable work to be done, and probably favorable weather continuing into November. Late buckwheat and clover are still being cut for seed in Victoria; cattle prices at Glengarry auctions are below the peaks of last year. Renfrew farmers are finding it difficult to market their potatoes in competition with the carload lots from the Maritimes.

Stormont notes that the demand for dairy cattle from outside points has fallen off lately. "It is becoming more apparent all the time that there fill be a distinct shortage of roughage feeds in the district this winter." Most cattle are still on grass in Middlesex. Some red clover yielded 3.5 bushels to the acre in Oxford.

To Eliminate Price Controls

TORONTO, Oct. 25—(CP).—Donald Gordon, Prices Board chairman, said today in an address prepared for delivery to the Trades and Labor Congress that as a permanent arrangement most of the production controls imposed during the war emergency "have no merit at all. They do not constitute a form of planning; they perform no positive function. In some cases the continuance of such controls beyond the emergency would have the effect of restricting competition and production, and of strengthening the position of established businesses."

Such a condition would be undesirable. To create a healthy and prosperous economy, more competition and more freedom for newcomers to start up in business was needed, not less.

"That is one of the principal reasons why such controls have to be eliminated as soon as feasible, and before the emergency is quite gone rather than after," Mr. Gordon said. "Since it takes time for industry to plan for the post-war we want to give industry notice that the time is coming when it will be 'on its own' again and no longer dependent on government for guidance."

In the case of controls which might have a more permanent value, the correct course would be to reintroduce them by the regular procedure of parliamentary government, and not to retain them under emergency wartime powers.

Suggestions had been made that the Prices Board should keep certain production restrictions in force until every firm in an industry was ready to resume civilian production. A company tied up on war work did not like to see its competitors get a head start in returning to civilian business.

"Well, the prices board takes the view that it should not restrict some firms just because others are not ready to resume production," said Mr. Gordon. "Our prime concern is to increase the supply of civilian goods as fast as conditions allow. Controls imposed to meet special war emergencies should be removed as soon as these emergency conditions have passed."

Welcome New Plants

The board had removed the strict control formerly placed on the individual or firm desiring to start up a new business. Now that Canada was reaching the point where many wage-earners will be dependent on new businesses and new lines of production to provide them with employment, and where additional production is necessary and possible, the board had begun to grant permits "quite freely."

It could not be assumed that Canada was out of the woods in respect to civilian supplies or that needed controls over production and distribution would be dropped. For example, the board would continue to supervise the production of clothing and footwear.

The supply situation generally was not likely to improve very quickly even when the demands for war production began to fall.

"It looks as if there will be more hardware, kitchen utensils and small metal items of all kinds," he continued.

"And the food supply will probably be all right. But we are not too confident about the prospects of an immediate increase in textiles, footwear, paper products and some other articles. In fact, there may not even be enough of some of these things if people buy more than they need."

The public still could assist by only buying essentials.

When Germany was defeated the major task would be to devise means of maintaining employment and national income at a level much higher than was known before the war. There should be less atention to artificial conflicts that divided society in pre-war days and more effort to find ways by which all groups could co-operate toward a common objective.

Military Units Vehicles In Bond Parade

Peterborough's Seventh Victory Loan Campaign was given an impressive salute Tuesday evening, when more than 1,000 soldiers, C.W.A.C. members, and Sea and Air Cadets together with five bands marched along the main streets of the city in a parade that took almost 15 minutes to pass one spot. Hundreds of citizens, many of them from out of town places, lined the streets on the parade route.

Under the command of Lieut. Col. James Turnbull, E.D., Marshal of the parade, and Officer Commanding the Training Centre, the parade left the grounds at the Armouries, where it formed, at eight o'clock, and completed a circuit route including George, Aylmer, King, Murray and Charlotte streets, in approximately an hour, returning to the parade grounds, where most units participating were dismissed. The men and women from the Training Centre returned to the Drill Hall where the Bond Auction Sale and dance was held later in the evening.

For more than an hour, the trumpets and drums of the five bands marching, could be heard throughout the city, as the men stepped along the roads, glistening wet from a previous rain.

At the front, the C.M.G.T.C. 48th Highlanders Band from Camp Borden was under the direction of WO.1 Harry Thompson, and this band, active at the Bond Auctions for several days, later presented a concert at the Drill Hall. Then came the men of No. 32 C.A.M. (B) T.C. from the Training Centre, including a group of stretcher-bearers, and No 6 Platoon, 39 Company, C.W.A.C., under the command of C.S.M. McIlhagga.

An army jeep followed, and after the jeep, marched the Salvation Army Silver Temple Band, under the direction of Gerald Routly. Following were the men of the 4th (R) Battery, Heavy Anti-Aircraft, R.C.A., led by Major R. A. Phillips, O.C. Accompanying the men of the Battery were artillery - tractors drawing guns, and several jeeps.

2 Cadet Corps

The band of the 2nd (R) Battalion, Prince of Wales Rangers, under the direction of Capt. W. H. Peryer, followed, and after it the men of the Rangers, led by Major G. Monkman, M.C., E.D., marched.

The band of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets from Peterborough marched, followed by the boys of the cadets, led by Acting Officer Commanding, Charles Huffman. After this, came the band of the Peterborough Air Cadets, 164, with Drum Major Jim Clark in front. The Cadets themselves marched next, led by Flight Lieutenant A. Ward Smith. A lone jeep brought up the rear, and two Universal Gun Carriers with Bren guns, also took part in the parade, from the Prince of Wales Rangers regiment.

Everyone loves a parade according to an old saying, and judging from the record crowds lining the streets Tuesday evening, the popular conception is very true. Parents brought their children out especially for the event, and at all signs, the children had a thrilling time.

The route the parade took from Confederation Square, followed McDonnel street to George street; south on George street to King street, west on King street to Aylmer street, north on Aylmer street to Charlotte street, east on Charlotte to George street, and north on George street to Murray, ending with a march west on Murray to the parade starting-place.

36 Wives Return From England

KINGSTON, Oct. 25 —(Special to The Examiner) — English brides, married to Military District No. 3 members of the Canadian Army overseas, have reached Canada, and are expected to arrive at their new homes today.

Most of the 36 wives and the 35 children arriving in this district are travelling in Canada for the first time, and are here either to make homes for their husbands who are still overseas, or to join the husbands already returned to the Dominion.

Those among the group returning to the Peterborough district are:

Mrs. Mary K. Couper, widow of Lieut. Jack Couper and daughter Penelope; Lieut. Couper, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Couper, 347 Engleburn avenue gave his life in France shortly after D-Day.

Mrs. Ann Rumbelow, wife of Bdr. H. D. Rumbelow and daughter Gloria J. returning to mother-in-law, Mrs. Millicent Behan of Cobourg.

Mrs. Mabel E. Moore, wife of Cpl. E C. Moore and sons Roland and Roy returning to mother-in-law, Mrs. W. G. Moore of Foxboro.

Mrs. Audrey Dafoe, wife of Capt. R. F. Dafoe and son Norman returning to her husband now living in Madoc.

Mrs. Ellen W. Whiteman, wife of Pte. H. Whiteman, returning to mother-in-law, Mrs. J. W. Whiteman of Madoc.

WOUNDED SECOND TIME — Pte. Alfred Bailey, of the S.D. and G. Highlanders, has been reported wounded a second time. His wife lives at 326 Water street, and she has been advised that he became a casualty October 15. Pte. Bailey was wounded about the middle of June, and he returned to action early in September.

Lions Planning Survey To Ensure Jobs

Lions International have volunteered the services of all Ontario Lions Clubs to make a survey of the natural and industrial resources of the province. This offer was made to the Ontario Department of Planning and Development. It includes the enlistment and co-ordination of other service clubs.

The Department of Planning and Development in accepting this offer recognizes that a thorough study of community needs and community resources from every possible aspect is a necessary basis for taking stock for the purpose of planning. Planning is not the sole responsibility of any Government. It is the responsibility of every individual and every group or association of individuals throughout the province. The Department of Planning and Development will find a survey carried out under the Lions Club proposal a very useful basis upon which to make preparations for the future.

The general prosperity of the province as a whole will depend largely upon the continued prosperity of farmers and other primary producers. The development of local markets is always a great advantage to any farm community. The more industries can be distributed throughout the smaller centres of population the more the position of the agricultural communities will be directly improved.

The Department of Planning and Development intends to assist as fa[r] as possible the smaller and more isolated urban communities in the preparation of information as to their industrial advantages. The propose[d] Lions Club survey should be of gre[at] assistance in presenting a gener[al] view of the whole industrial situation, and particularly to provide detailed information about the smaller communities which might well support new industrial activity.

The department is arranging f[or] the assistance of the local offices [of] the Ontario Municipal Electric A[s]sociation and the Association [of] Municipal Electric Utilities throu[gh] Mr. W. R. Strike, president of t[he] O.M.E.A., and Mr. S. W. Caniff, pr[e]sident of the A.M.E.U. It is al[so] arranging for the co-operation [of] the local Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce. Mr. F. D. T[o]chard, the general manager of t[he] Board of Trade of the city of T[o]ronto and acting secretary of t[he] Associated Boards of Trade a[nd] Chambers of Commerce of the pr[ov]ince, is co-operating to this end.

CGE Employees Nearing $500,00[0]

With a big margin over their [ob]jective, employees of C.G.E. [-] Genelco were nearing the half [mil]lion dollar mark this morning [in] their Victory Loan campaigning.

The amount they set up on t[he] horizon was $450,000, last Thur[sday] afternoon, and the shop canvas[sers] went to work Friday morning. T[he] first announcement was around 50 per cent. of their objective. T[o]day swept them within [...] reach of their goal, and the fig[ures] pasted on the big board looking [on] the Park street lawn this mor[ning] told the story that the drive in [the] big plant was the swiftest acc[om]plishment in all the seven loan[s].

Presumably the campaign at C[.G.]E.-Genelco is not yet wound [up]. They still have Thursday and [Fri]day to complete the week menti[oned] by Ian H. McRae, works manage[r], wishing the canvassers every [suc]cess at the Ilsley meeting last Th[urs]day afternoon.

All members of Otonabee Lodge No. 13, I.O.O.F., are requested to meet at Nesbitt's Funeral Parlors on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock to pay the last respects to the late Bro. Isaac McKee, of Little Britain Lodge. All Oddfellows welcome.

1st Day Of Loan Sets New High

COBOURG, Oct. 25 — (ENS). — Response to the Victory Loan campaign in Northumberland County was much better than on the opening day in the previous loan, headquarters announced here yesterday. Sales on Monday were about double those of opening day in the 6th Loan. Figures received up until nine yesterday morning, which do not include several districts not reported in, show the following totals:

Cobourg, $11,400—6.5 per cent of objective; Hamilton Township, $1,150—1.14 per cent; South Monaghan Township, no report; Haldimand Township, $4,000—7.2 per cent; Alnwick Township, no report; Percy Township, no report; Cramahe Township, $6,000—7.1 per cent; Hastings, $300—.66 per cent; Colborne, $30,950 — 41.3 per cent; Brighton village, $2,850 — 2.3 per cent; Murray Township, no report; Campbellford, $21,400—10.5 per cent; Seymour Township, $10,500—7.8 per cent. Total for country, $106,250—7.8 per cent.

Jim Lewis, South Monaghan Township, had a big day on Monday. Besides turning in a nice day's list of sales, Jim also became the father of a bouncing baby boy. Early returns from all county banks are excellent and large amounts of conversions are being handled by the banks. Colborne village is setting the pace with over 40 per cent of their quota obtained by yesterday morning. Opening day of the campaign saw two plants over the top, Cobourg Matting and Cooey Metal Products, the latter a Brighton concern. R. L. MacKay set up a record with 18 sales on the first day in Colborne.

One of the first applications for a bond was received from Mrs. Peter Harrison, manager of the local theatre who placed an order for $2,000 on behalf of the theatre.

ALLIED ENGINEERING FEAT—One of the stupendous engineering feats of this war just recently brought to light was the creation by the Allied forces of two ports on the coast of Normandy for the unloading of supplies for the invasion forces. Ships of the Royal Canadian Navy played their part in this task, towing "portable" concrete jetties across the English Channel and shielding the operation from enemy attack. Scuttling tactics, so popular with the Germans during this war, were put to practical use when freighters were sunk to form breakwaters for the new ports (see top picture). Once the breakwaters were formed, the jetty sections were towed into place. In the Centre picture, one of these sections can be seen in the left foreground. It will be moved around behind the sunken freighters and moored there in such a way that it will rise and fall with the 20-foot Channel tide. In the Lower picture, the work has been completed and trucks are moving along the jetty sections, which are linked by short steel spans. (RCN Photo)

Peterborough's Royal Arch Masons To Celebrate 75th Anniversary

Corinthian Chapter No. 36 Royal Arch Masons will on Friday night observe its 75th anniversary when the Chapter will be privileged to give a reception to Grand First Principal of the Grand Chapter of Canada, R.A.M. Most Excellent Companion John MacDonald Burden of Toronto. Accompanying the First Principal will be other officers of Grand Chapter as well as Most Excellent Companion Edwin Smith, the Grand Scribe E of the Grand Chapter of Canada.

Capitular Masons will formally receive him in their Chapter Room, Masonic Hall, at six o'clock, when presentation of 50-year membership Jewel wil be made to Companion E. J. Cookson and 25-year Past First Principal Jewels to V. Ex-Comp. J. D. Cameron and Ex-Comp. G. W. Haley.

On behalf of Corinthian Chapter, Comp. William B. Bamford of Nelson, B.C., was recently presented with a 50-year membership Jewel by the Chapter in Nelson. Comp. Bamford is one of the oldest surviving members of Corinthian Chapter, having joined on October 200, 1894.

At seven o'clock the Grand First Principal is being tendered a banquet at the Kawartha Club and an invitation has been extended to Companions of all sister Chapters to attend.

Most Excellent Companion Burden was born at Salvage, Newfoundland on December 7, 1890, educated at Bishop Field's College, St. John's, Newfoundland, and Osgoode Hall, Toronto. He graduated from the latter with honors in 1919 and was called to the Bar in 1920.

In 1916 he was commissioned as lieutenant A.C.S.C. Later he was commissioned in command of an infantry unit proceeding overseas, but resigned from the Canadian Army, and enlisted as an artillery gunner in the Imperial Army. He was again commissioned as a lieutenant in 1918 and returned to Canada in 1919. His son Bruce R. Burden, is at present serving as lieutenant in the R.C.A.

Masonic Career.

His Masonic career started in 1912 when he was initiated into the Tasker Lodge, A.F. and A.M., No. 454, St. John's, Newfoundland, affiliated with Shamrock Lodge, No. 533, Toronto, in 1925. In 1931 he was elected their Worshipful Master. In 1914 he was exalted in Occident Chapter, No. 77, Toronto, elected their Excellent First Principal in 1932, served Toronto District 8A with great distinction as Grand Superintendent in 1935, and after serving in 1937 and 1938 as a member of the Grand Executive of the Grand Chapter he was elected the Grand Third Principal in 1939. He became Grand Second Principal in 1941, and Grand First Principal in 1943.

He is also a Past President of the Principals' Association of Toronto and was instrumental in the formation of the R.A.M. Welfare Committee of which he was the first chairman.

M. Ex. Comp. Burden in other fields of social service is a member of the Riverdale Kiwanis Club and was that organization's president in 1935. He was Lieutenant-Governor of Division No. 2 in 1937 and Governor of the Ontario and Eastern District in 1941.

With his wide experience in organization, his sincerity of purpose, his power to inspire and to stimulate the Companions and above all because of his will to serve despite serious personal sacrifices, he is destined, God willing, to write a brilliant chapter of accomplishment in the annals of Royal Arch Masonry in Canada.

Single Centre Be Set Up For Unions

TORONTO, Oct. 25. — (CP).— Delegates to the 60th annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress to-day continued consideration of resolutions covering a wide range of subjects in the fields of labor and social legislation.

Yesterday the convention passed a resolution instructing the Congress executive to give serious study to the possibility of establishing a single trade union centre in Canada.

Some of the delegates criticized the Canadian Congress of Labor for invading territory where workers were already organized in T. L.C. unions.

Anthony Valente, president of the United Textile Workers and fraternal delegate from the American Federation of Labor, said the common interests of Canada and the United States could continue into peacetime.

Ample provision should be made for full employment and adequate security for the post-war period, and the time to make those provisions "should not wait until hostilities cease," Mr. Valente said. The only way to assure a stable post-war economy was full employment at continuously increasing wages.

Differing points were expressed by two Montreal delegates, Paul Fournier and Jack Shaw concerning the resolution calling for full co-operation with other labor organizations.

Mr. Fourier said it was "futile" to ask co-operation with the Canadian Congress of Labor. Mr. Shaw said the organizations could not afford to fight because that is "just what the Drews and Duplessis want us to do.

The convention re-affirmed its "no strike" pledge and went on record as endorsing the principle of family allowances provided they were not used as a substitute for adequate wages.

The convention approved a resolution asking for the maintenance of a deep-sea merchant fleet after the war and the calling of a world conference on shipping.

Air History

TORONTO, Oct. 25.— (CP). — Group Capt. Stefan Sznuk, chief of the Polish air mission to Canada said aviation history was made at nearby Barker Field yesterday when a glider was towed aloft by an Autogyro, released in mid-air and then safely landed.

Canadian Postal Workers Want Five-Day Week

TORONTO, Oct. 25—Postal employees across Canada will immediately commence a campaign for a five-day week and salaries commensurate with those paid in the United States, it was announced last night by Fred Whitehouse, Ottawa, secretary-treasurer, Association of Canadian Postal Employees. He was speaking at the organization's convention banquet here attended by over 200 delegates from coast to coast.

Expressing disappointment at the Federal Government's refusal to grant a $300 increase to postal employees after many months of representations, Mr. Whitehouse declared that the association will continue to fight for this flat sum until it is granted.

About the campaign for the five-day week, he said: "We will not quit our efforts until we get it. On the matter of increased pay and shorter hours, we believe the people of Canada are just as generous as the people of the United States. The Government of Canada must pay what we workers are entitled to."

Branches Now Number 60

Earlier he stated that, with a membership jump of 3,600 from the previous convention's total of 900, the association will not be satisfied until it has representation in every postoffice across Canada. He announced that association branches have increased from 17 to 60.

The claim that Canadian postal workers must be given pay equal to that received across the border was also made by Charles Boyd, president, Toronto branch of the association.

"Salaries paid to postal workers in Canada are not commensurate with the responsibilities involved," declared A. M. Gibson, director of postal service, Toronto district.

Harold Wood, Ottawa, national secretary, Customs and Excise Officers' Association, announced that his organization had affiliated with the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada (AFL) and spoke of the co-operative spirit now established between affiliates of the Civil Service Federation of Canada.

On aims of wages, hours, overtime pay, promotions and superannuation, a working agreement has now been established among the three major postal organizations, it was announced by C. R. Copeland, London, Ont., national president, Railway Mail Clerks' Federation. The triple union now includes the Federated Association of Letter Carriers, according to John J. Reaves, Ottawa, national secretary, and the Association of Postal Employees.

V. C. Phelan, Ottawa, president, Civil Service Federation, of Canada, also spoke.

1,248 Ration Books Issued At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Oct. 25—(ENS)— Ration books were given out Friday and Saturday at the Town Hall, under the direction of Mrs. Franklin Bannister, 1,284 being distributed. This is somewhat under the number given out at the last distribution, and apparently some residents went elsewhere for their books. The recorders who assisted included: Mrs. W. R. Howard, Mrs. J. W. Wright, Mrs. J. W. Thorndyke, Mrs. W. W. Kennedy, Mrs. T A. Campbell, Misses Jean Burnham and Muriel Smith, and Mrs. Edmund Ball.

Neatness Exists Despite Heavy Blitzes

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, ODct. 25.—(CP).— At first glance this is a country of strange contrasts—a country of war and peace, old and new, light and darkness.

I have just arrived from Canada, 13½ hours non-stop from Montreal in one of the four-motored bombers which have made Atlantic crossings by air commonplace. Naval craft were steaming offshore as we swung in toward the vast military air base at Prestwick, Scotland. Aircraft were everywhere.

But sheep and cattle grazed in a bright green pasture beside ancient farm buildings as we glided down to land.

The route we flew from the north to London was mostly over farming districts. Neat straw stacks indicated a bountiful harvest. The land seemed better-kept than that in Canada, the small fields marked out in their irregular shapes by hedges and the buildings mostly bright as though fresh-painted.

One minute we saw an old stone barn and farmhouse; the next we were over a huge army base. We dropped low under a cloud and dots on the wide highway turned into military transport.

Few Private Cars

The United Kingdom is full of contrasts like that.

The streets of London are full of buses, taxis and military vehicles but the private automobile is seldom seen. Casualties from the forces are more numerous than in Canada. Men with a missing arm or leg or eye. Bomb-wrecked buildings are being torn down or repaired here and there, and boards cover the shattered windows in some store fronts. The old scars of the 1940-41 bombings are everywhere, along with the new from the Buzz-bombs.

Lack Variety

The selections on restaurant menus are narrower and meals cost more. Rationing is more stringent and the range of rationed goods much wider. One small tin of third-grade Canadian salmon takes almost all your ration points for a month. On the other hand, while the pub-keepers complain of a shortage of beer and liquor they have enough beer to stay open longer hours than the beverage rooms in Canada; and the movies are the same ones running in Canadian theatres.

The lights were to go on again in England Sept. 17 and they did go on in most places, but finding your way around London at night is still a problem. A glow through thin curtains is permitted now but there can be no direct shaft of light. Shop windows are dark; street lamps are thoroughly shaded; the taxis run about with only a slit in the glass on their headlights.

HIS MAJESTY THE KING VISITS CANADIAN FRONT—Lieut.-Gen. Guy G. Simonds, Kingston, who commanded the First Canadian Army while Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar was temporarily absent through illness, accompanied King George to Canadian Army Headquarters during the visit of His Majesty to the Canadian forces on the Continent. Gen. Crerar is now reported ready to resume his command. (Canadian Army Overseas Photo)

Airman Spends Seven Months Tricking Japs

By RICHARD BERGHOLZ

LEYTE ISLAND, Oct. 25—(AP)—Lieut. Leon Tinnell of the United States Army Air Corps, whose wife lives at St. Louis, Mo., returned recently after spending more than seven months behind Japanese lines on Mindanao Island fighting with the guerrillas and gathering information which played a key part in the drive back to the Philippines.

Tinnell went to Mindanao by submarine. He came out the same way. During those seven months he radioed information back to American headquarters which resulted in the sinking of more than 50 enemy ships.

Tinnell told headquarters when and where Japanese troops were moving; what installations the enemy was building and where. Then he came out weighing only 126 pounds—17 under normal. He was sick with malaria. But the Japanese had never caught up with him or wounded him.

New Tinnell is back in the Philippines again, heading a picked group of reconnaissance troops which landed on Homonhon Island, in the mouth of Leyte Gulf. Instead of the three men he had on Mindanao, Tinnell's particular unit now has 29. They are highly trained in reconnaissance, and demolition, their job is about as hazardous as can be found.

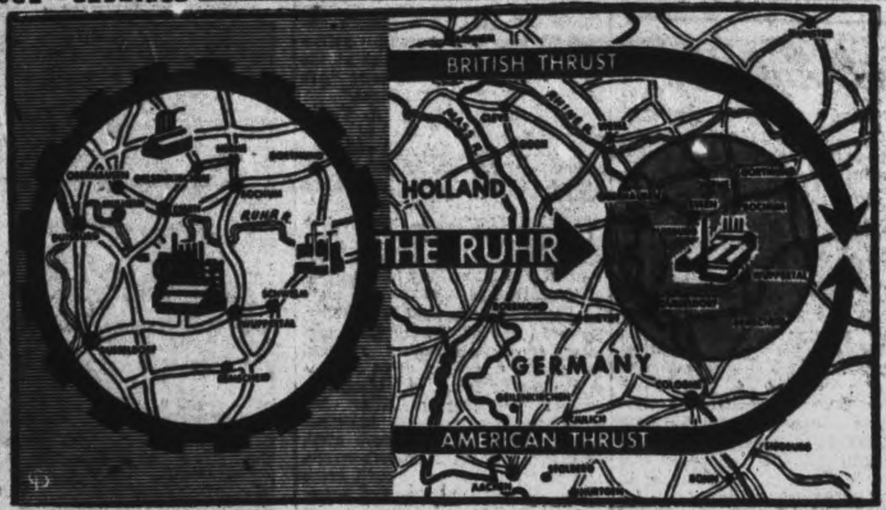
"The close calls I've had scared me. Sure. But at least I have the satisfaction of knowing I helped sink some Jap ships and kill some Jap soldiers," Tinnell said.

"And I've seen Filipinos wage deadly effective guerilla war against the enemy. I've seen how they made the Japs so scared of them that the little ——— no longer dared to leave their camps to move inland except in force.

"When I left, the guerillas controlled a large section of one Philippine island. And I mean controlled it. Sure, the Japs could drive them out of town whenever they wanted to. But they couldn't hold it without diverting strength.

"Sometimes the Japs moved into guerilla villages and ruthlessly killed every one who didn't escape, and then burned the village to the ground.

"This only made the guerillas more deadly."



PREDICT DRIVE FOR RUHR TO GAIN MOMENTUM—With the capture of Aachen by Allied forces, the path is now open for co-ordinated twin drives to envelop the vital Ruhr industrial region. Bounded roughly by Duisburg, Dusseldorf and Dortmund, the area contains mines, factories and plants that are absolutely essential to the Nazi war machine. Germany cannot wage war, state military analysts, without the industries of the Ruhr. Perilling the area are Allied forces reported to be but about 25 miles from the Rhine line running between Duisburg and Cologne. A frontal attack on the region will probaly be co-ordinated with flanking thrusts by British forces in Holland and American units now beyond Aachen. The successful culmination of these assaults will give the Allies possession of the entire Ruhr-Rhine area with its wealth of industries and practically bring the war against the Nazis to a quick conclusion.

COAL EXPORTS UP

CAPE TOWN — (CP). — In the first half of 1944 South Africa shipped 2,500,000 tons of coal as compared with 2,100,000 tons for the whole of 1939 and 3,200,000 tons in 1943.

Mission Band Havelock Studies India

HAVELOCK, Oct. 25—(ENS).—The children of the United Church Mission Band had a happy time at their meeting held in the Sunday School room on Monday afternoon. Betty Post presided and the meeting opened with a short worship service on the theme "Thanksgiving for Food." A story "Hungry People," which told something of farming conditions in India, was read by Bobby J. Hill and Betty Post read "A Litany of Thanks." Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson taught the children a new hymn.

The following program was presented with Joan Page as convener: Readings by Jackie Southward and Helen Anderson; a vocal duet by Eleanor Forsythe and Helen Anderson, and a piano solo by Joan Page. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. J. Kinnaird. Games and lunch were enjoyed.

Trap Starlings

GUELPH, Oct. 25 — (CP). — Prof. John Buchanan of Ontario Agricultural College said in an interview yesterday that large numbers of traps would do much to curb the menace of Starlings, which cause an "alarming" annual loss in Ontario. He heads a committee established by the agriculture department to investigate the Starling problem.

200 Fewer Books Issued By Board

HAVELOCK, Oct. 25 (ENS) — Mrs. D. McMillan of the local ration board reports that a total of 6,498 No. 5 Ration Books were distributed as follows in the seven centres in this district for which she was responsible. Norwood 1,610, Hastings 1,210, Cordova Mines 401, Westwood 332, Trent River 271, Warsaw 732 and Havelock 1,942.

This total is about two hundred less than the number issued of the No. 4 Book. Mrs. Charles Taylor superintended issuing of the books in Havelock with the assistance of twenty-six volunteer helpers.

Japs Agree to Supplies For Canuck Prisoners

OTTAWA, Oct. 25 — (CP). — Canada's 1,600 prisoners-of-war in Japan will share in the consignment of 1,500 tons of relief food, clothing and medical supplies being picked up Oct. 28 at a Siberian port by a Japanese ship.

The Canadian Government had participated with other Allied Governments in trying to arrange for a Japanese ship to pick up the supplies which accumulated at Vladivostok. A despatch from Washington today said the Japanese had agreed to send a freighter for the supplies.

"We are very happy about this arrangement," an External Affairs Department spokesman said, "it will provide badly needed supplies to our prisoners in enemy hands."

English Women Support Soldiers

BORDON, Hampshire, Eng., Oct. 25 (CP)—Many Canadian soldiers live on money they get from English women, a defending officer said today at the court-martial of a Canadian soldier.

One of the charges against the gunner was that of stealing money, and Lieut. G. R. Burke, his defense counsel, cited the evidence of an English girl who said she had lent money frequently to the soldier.

"It is well known that Canadian soldiers do well on the money of English women," Burke said. "In fact, that is how most of them subsist over here."

The president of the court-martial, Lt.-Col. D. L. Redman, asked: "You mean Canadians absent without leave?"

"Others as well," Burke replied. "There are thousands of ways a Canadian can get money in England."

The gunner was acquitted on one charge of stealing and findings on other theft charges will be promulgated.

Prepare For Battle

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(CP-Aneta).—A Netherlands army corps will be trained and equipped in Britain to fight the Japanese in the Far East, it was disclosed yesterday. An official announcement will be made shortly, it was understood.

HELPING OUT—Surgeon-Lieut. J. J. Macneil, R.C.N.V.R., of New Waterford, N.S. (above), had a busy time recently when his ship stayed for several days at an isolated Labrador fishing settlement. The district has been without regular medical aid for several years, and then the news spread that a "navy doc" was in town, most people in the hamlet visited the ship for free, unofficial attention. Dr. Macneil had four to six callers on board each day and went ashore at least once a day to see patients too sick to go out. One woman was about to have a child and the official officer offered to help her but she declined with thanks, explaining that the people of the district have no use for "man-doctors" when it comes to delivering babies. They use midwives—women exclusively.

Peterborough Boy Wed In Toronto

A wedding of interest took place in Holy Rosary Church, Toronto, on Saturday, when Grace Catherine O'Connell, daughter of Mrs. M. J. O'Connell, of Toronto, and the late Michael J. O'Connell, became the bride of Thomas Cupoli, son of Mr. John Cupoli and the late Mrs. Cupoli, Elm street. Rev. M. J. Oliver officiated, in a church decorated with white and yellow 'mums. Mrs. Matheson was at the organ, and Ben Forhan sang "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus."

Given in marriage by A. Teolis, the bride wore a gown of gray crepe, with navy hat and veil, and navy accessories. She carried a nosegay of pink roses. Miss Mary Ellen O'Connell was her sister's only attendant, in turquoise crepe, and black accessories. Michael Vecchio, of Toronto, was best man, and Ronald Martin, nephew of the bride, of Toronto, was usher.

At the reception, held in the King Edward Hotel following the ceremony, the bride's mother received the guests, wearing a gown of American Beauty crepe, with black hat, feather trimming matching her gown, and a corsage of American Beauty roses. The groom's aunt, Mrs. C. Giardino, of Peterborough, also receiving, wore a brown crepe gown, with matching hat and accessories.

After a wedding trip to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Cupoli will live on Elm street. For travelling, the bride donned a powder blue dress, with black hat and coat, with Persian lamb trimming.

Trinity Club Plans Masquerade

Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe was guest speaker at the Trinity Club, Tuesday evening, choosing as his topic, the parable of the five silver talents He stressed that each person is given at least one personal talent, and should make the most of it and develop it, not bury and neglect it. "If everyone did this," he continued." the world would be a more useful place, and we could all be called 'good and faithful servants'."

Mrs. Don Holmes was in charge of the devotional part of the meeting, assisted by Don. Holmes and Miss Elva Elliott. Mrs. Harry Gray was pianist. A period of games and recreation was presented, in charge of Mrs. Gray and Don Holmes, and at the close of the evening Mrs. Dick Clayton and Mrs. William Donaldson served refreshments. It was announced that the meeting next Tuesday evening would take the form of a Hallowe'en masquerade party, with everybody welcome.

Pin Presented To Mrs. W. King

Highlight of the business meeting of the St. Luke's Scout and Cub Auxiliary Tuesday evening, was the presentation of the past-president's pin to Mrs. W. King, in appreciation of her work as president during the past two years. Mrs. A. McIlvena, secretary, read the address and made the presentation.

At the meeting, held at Mrs. King's home, 384 Burnham street, work was continued on afghans for the British Minesweepers' Auxiliary, and money was voted to pay for the expense of the Cub Pack Hallowe'en party. Cigarettes have been sent to 12 St. Luke's Scouts now serving overseas. Suggestion for making money were received and discussed.

Hostesses for the month have been Mrs. J. Miller, Mrs. H. Choate, and Mrs. R. Harvey. Mrs. A. McIlvena, Lift Lock, will be hostess for the next meeting, November 9. At the close of the meeting, the hostess served refreshments.

33 Per Cent. Increase Noted In Peterboro Blind People

The semi-annual meeting of The Peterborough Advisory Board, The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, was held Tuesday night with W. C. Hughes in the chair. Reports submitted by Mrs. R. Whalon, welfare convener, showed that there are now fifty-nine blind persons in Peterborough city and county receiving services through the Institute for the Blind. The treasurer's report, read by T. T. Rodger, showed that during the past six months, direct welfare relief assistance in the form of cash, clothing and radio services, had been issued on behalf of six blind persons, and that glasses and eye service treatment had been provided, during the same period, to six other cases suffering from impairment of vision.

Other reports disclosed the fact that four blind persons are being furnished with regular employment through the Institute for the Blind and one case had been provided with part time employment. Many local blind are taking advantage of services provided through the free lending Braille library operated by the Institute, while others are benefitting by the home training and salesroom services of the Blind Institute.

H. W. Henry, district field secretary, who is himself blind, was present and pointed out that during the past four years, the blind population of Peterborough city and county has increased by thirty-three percent. "This increase in the blind population has brought about a relative increase in the annual financial budget required to carry on the work for our blind folk. We must appeal to the County Council and the Red Cross Community Fund for extra funds needed to meet the heavier demands for Institute services," stated Mr. Henry.

It was revolved that the Board for the Blind should apply for membership on the local Council of Women. Mrs. G. K. Fraser and Mrs. E. V. Morphet were elected to represent the Board on the L.C.W. Mrs. G. K. Fraser referred to the new methods of treatment being discovered in research work in vitamtherapy in connection with slight improvement and expressed the hope that work along this line will be continued in future.

Several members present referred to the activities of certain agents, not employed by The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, who carry on a house to house canvass by telephone for the sale of goods supposedly made by the blind. These canvassers leave the erroneous impression that they are connected with the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, which is not the case. It was pointed out that the Institute for the Blind does not canvass from door to door or by telephone for the sale of their goods, and therefore regular "Blindcraft" customers should be warned against misrepresentation and exploitation by unscrupulous methods. Only goods bearing the trademark, "Blindcraft," are genuinely produced and sold by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Customers when buying "Blindcraft" products would be well advised to look for the "Blindcraft" label stamped on each article.

Y.P.U. Hears Book Review

At the regular meeting of George Street Young People's Union on Monday night Mrs. H. T. Rehill gave an interesting review of Lloyd C. Douglas' famous book "The Robe."

The meeting opened with a singsong led by Miss Hazel Wilson. The Christian fellowship group had charge of the meeting, with Miss Jeanne Kerr as convener and Misses Marion Brennan, Margaret Edmison and Mary Duncan took part in the worship service. In the recreational period at the close of the meeting, in charge of Miss Wilson, a contest was held on Bible names.

Education Week Plans Suggested

"Education for World Co-operation" is the theme of Education Week, which is being observed across Canada from November 5 to November 11. Sub-themes include Education for National Unity, Education for Responsible Citizenship, Education for Physical and Mental Health Education as a Profession, and the Role of Educators in Plans for Reconstruction.

Peterborough's observance of Education Week will open on Sunday, when members of the Home and School Council will attend a special service in Trinity church, Sunday evening. Practically all the schools have some activity planned to mark the week.

Suggestions offered to teachers from the Ontario Teachers' Federation include contacting the church; putting displays in store windows or public libraries; radio and press publicity and contacting various clubs and societies. "Open house" at the schools is suggested as one of the most popular ways of acquainting parents with the school system.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

For Thursday, October 26

THE AUGURIES are for a rather complex and singular state of affairs with ordinary progress made along routine lines, but with tones and under tones of such subjective and interior nature as to make objective success of little interest or consequence. It may be that love, romance, strange aspirations or yearnings, may be at the root of such musings, in which somehow, elders seem to play a part. There may be mystical or intriguing incitements, which could manifest in an exceptional form in art, music or literature. It might be adviseable to succumb to such soul impressions or urges.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year in which it may be difficult or irksome to adhere to the workaday leadings of a practical way of life. The interior feelings, emotions and urges are of a strange subjective nature, in which dreams, illusions and visionary ideas and ideals are emphasized. This, properly cultivated and directed, might beget some exceptional and praiseworthy creation of art, poetry, music or other mystical expressions.

A child born on this day may have exceptional creative skills and urges, which may prove lucrative.

JUST FOR WOMEN

By CONNIE NICHOLSON (Society Editor of The Examiner)

Something New.

The fashion-wise Miss or Mrs. is always on the lookout for something new and different which will set off an ensemble and give it just the right touch of elegance. Here's an idea that will make a welcome addition to any wardrobe.

Practically everyone has a piece of fur around the house. Perhaps it's left over from the last time your fur coat was shortened; perhaps it's the piece on a muff that has been discarded; or perhaps it's just a piece someone found in the household grab-bag. Anyway, it can step out in a new and exciting role with just a little bit of time and effort.

Take the fur, and have it cut into an Ascot tie, and line it with vivid satin, to contrast with the fur and set it off to best advantage. Then wear the Ascot with a fall suit, or with an untrimmed fall or winter coat. The rich, finished effect the bit of fur at the neckline will give will amply repay the trouble, and the warmth is not to be sneezed at, either.

Something Else.

While we are on the subject of Ascots, don't forget the smart effect gained by adding an Ascot, brilliantly patterned with glittering sequins or beads to an afternoon suit or dress. For evening wear, carry the motif through to the gloves, and have sequined gloves. A jewelled clip worn in the hair gives added effect, although the latest fashion in hair styles dictates that ostrich feathers are the newest things to complement milady's coiffure.

Lnucheon Snack.

The problem of what to serve for lunch is ever-present, as harried homemakers will agree. The need is for something tasty, and nourishing, with little fuss as possible, and here's the latest recipe to make it so: Baked onions and cheese on toast. Sounds good, doesn't it?

Well, to make these tasty tit-bits, peel and slice six onions crosswise, and cook in boiling water until nearly tender—about 15 minutes—and drain well. Arrange six slices of toast in a greased, shallow baking dish, and place the onions in it, with three-quarters of a cup of grated cheese. Beat one egg and one cup of milk together; add one-half teaspoon of salt and one-eighth teaspoon of paprika, and pour over the onions. If the ration will allow, put a little butter on top, and oven poach for about 40 minutes at about 50 degrees Fahr. The folks will love it, and probably will ask for a repeat serving.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 — (CP). — An impressive battery of supporters back up Franklin D. Roosevelt and Thomas E. Dewey in their fight for the presidency of the United States, but such is the personality of the two leader-, so potent their punches, their radio delivery, that the electorate sometimes fails to realize that others are in the campaign.

The chief subsidiary campaigners are the vice-presidential nominees: Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri for the Democrats, Gov. John Bricker of Ohio for the Republicans. But neither compares in crowd appeal or has the speaking ability of the main-bout performers. They don't make the headlines; they're semi-finalists.

Only two members of Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet are conducting active speaking tours on his behalf. Vice-president Henry Wallace, rejected at the Chicago Democratic convention in favor of Senator Truman as the president's running-mate, has made a number of important addresses.

Ickes Dangerous

Termed as one of the hardest-working men in Washington, Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior and holder of numerous other positions, has been active in the Hustings. The man who disposed of the late Wendell L. Willkie in 1940 by terming him "the barefoot boy from Wall Street" has been punchy, vigorous, rollicking. He has satirized Mr. Dewey as a "flexible young man who can't make up his mind." He has hit at isolationists "riding comfortably inside Dewey's Trojan horse."

But the Republicans have glamorous representative Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut, she of the famous "globaloney" phraseology. She has hit hard at alleged Communistic influences in the Roosevelt administration.

Silent throughout the campaign has been elderly, courtly Cordell Hull from Tennessee, Secretary of State and member of Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet since his first inauguration.

Mr. Dewey recently offered to retain Mr. Hull in his post if he were elected and this was interpreted in Democratic quarters as a bid for the state secretary's political support. Mr. Hull, however, politely turned aside the offer.

PREFABRICATED HARBORS IN FRANCE ARE REVEALED—Shown in use here by ambulances is one of the pier roadways of the British prefabricated harbor on the Normandy coast. This steel roadway, hundreds of feet long, is a series of small bridges with flexible joints and supported on floats so that it can rise and fall with the 20-foot tides. Existence of these prefabricated harbors was announced only last week.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP

To-day we have a few recipes for scones, fancy breads, and muffins, things that will often take the place of cake and are so much easier on the butter and sugar. Being home-made, they will be very much appreciated by your family and guests.

Lemon Cream Scones.

Two cups sifted cake flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons of sugar, 4 tablespoons butter, or other shortening, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind; two eggs, 1-3 cup light cream (3 tablespoons sugar, ⅛ teaspoon grated lemon rind).

Measure sifted flour and sift together with other dry ingredients. Cut in the shortening and one teaspoon lemon rind. Reserve one-half of one egg white for glaze. Beat remaining eggs, add cream, and add to flour mixture, stirring with a knife. Turn out on a floured board and knead lightly for 30 seconds. Roll ½ inch thick, and cut in triangles. Brush tops lightly with the reserved egg white which has been slightly beaten. Sprinkle with sugar and ⅛ teaspoon grated lemon rind. Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees Fahr.) for 12 to 15 minutes. This makes 12 scones.

Sour Milk Pancake Pocketbooks.

One cup sifted enriched flour, ½ teaspoon soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1¼ cups sour milk or buttermilk, 2 tablespoons melted shortening, cooled.

Measure sifted flour, combine with soda and salt and sift again. Beat egg slightly, add milk and melted shortening. Add to flour mixture, stirring until smooth. Bake as large, thin pancakes, on a preheated griddle, lightly greased with unsalted shortening. Place jam on one-half of each pancake as soon as cooked, fold over other half to form pocketbook. Keep first pancakes hot on glass serving plate in oven, with oven door ajar while baking the rest. Sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar just before serving. For a sophisticated touch add a teaspoon of rum or sherry flavoring to the batter

To "make" sour milk, add one tablespoon lemon juice to 2-3 cup evaporated milk. Allow to stand 15 minutes, add ½ cup water.

Two Special Events Planned At All Saints'

One of the outstanding preachers of the Church of England in Canada, Very Rev. C. E. Riley, M.A., D.D., Dean of St. James' Cathedral in Toronto, will occupy the pulpit Sunday morning in All Saints' church in Peterborough. This is one of two interesting events to be held in the church this week.

Recently arrived home from overseas, Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne will address a congregational social meeting in the Parish Hall of the church Thursday evening at eight o'clock. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Church Women's Year, and a brief devotional period and musical program will be included.

Jolliffe Labels Drew Regime Dangerous One

TORONTO, Oct. 25—Fundamental differences on labor policy between the Liberal and C.C.F., make any coalition of the two parties, either at Ottawa or Queen's Park, "entirely out of the question." This was the flat statement of E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. Leader, before C.C.F. delegates to the Trades and Labor Congress convention here yesterday.

Mr. Jolliffe charged the Drew Government with a campaign of disruption against the neighboring Provinces and declared the C.C.F. will do everything in its power to remove the Drew Administration as soon as possible.

He declared: "We reject entirely the tries of those few in the labor movement who have allied themselves with the reactionaries and are calling for a so-called Liberal-Labor coalition."

Asks Labor Support

He appealed for labor support of the movement with the claim that the C.C.F. had worked "loyally" for the cause of labor.

There was no "middle way to find so-called unity between the Liberals and the C.C.F.," he declared. "Big money in the next Federal election is going to be behind Prime Minister King, because the big interests know Bracken hasn't a chance; that the Progressive Conservative Party outside Ontario is only a shadow."

"We are not entering elections any more for the purpose of electing odd members.

"We intend to contest every possible seat in Canada in the next Federal election and in Ontario will contest every seat in the Province. We are confident of a clear majority," he said.

Minority Administration

"Meanwhile," he went on, "the Province is governed by a minority administration. Recently, the Drew Government showed its hand by embarking on a campaign against Quebec and family allowances. Whatever we may have thought about family allowances and other problems, a Government of any Canadian Province that sets out on a campaign of disruption against the neighboring Provinces and to frustrate legislation approved by the representatives of every Province is a dangerous Government to this country and should be removed as soon as possible."

Differences between the C.C.F. and the Liberal Party, Mr. Jolliffe said, "are not so much partisan differences; of promoting party interests, but of principles of policy. We don't agree on fundamental questions of policy with persons like Mitchell Hepburn, St. Clair Gordon, and Hon. C. D. Howe. Our most acute and bitter conflict has always taken place about questions of labor policy. We cannot unite on questions of labor policy with Mr. King because we don't share his views about the role of organized labor in the community."

"I notice that Premier Drew and Labor Minister Daley have been advising labor to stay out of politics. I am not surprised. Of course they would like labor to stay out of politics. The Bankers' Association and the Manufacturers' Association have always been in politics and — until recently — they have had it all their own way. They led us into disaster once before and they'll do it again if they get the chance."

Labor on this continent is being forced to take political action, he said, because "the minority groups which have dominated the old parties are not capable of solving anything and cannot provide the necessary leadership in the post-war years."

"We should not allow ourselves to be sidetracked by diversions which might help us immediately but deprive us of later successes," he continued.

Enrol 18 Members In Marmora Sodality

MARMORA, Oct. 25—(ENS)—The reception of new members in the Sodality of the Children of Mary was held in Sacred Heart Church Sunday afternon at 3 o'clock when 18 new members were received. Following the enrolment Rev. S. Lesage, P.P., Stirling, gave an inspiring address on Lourdes, the Blessed Virgin and the Rosary. Rev. H. J. Farrell also addressed the members The choir sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," followed by the rosary and benediction given by Rev. Father Farrell. After which the congregation joined in singing "Holy God We Praise Thy Name."

Sneak Thieves

HAMILTON, Oct. 25.— (CP). — Police said yesterday that house-breakers and sneak thieves have stolen more than $2,000 in cash and other valuables from Hamilton homes in the last several days. The loot included $1,212 in cash taken from a lodger's trunk in a Clinton street home.

Acquitted Of Murder

MILTON, Ont., Oct. 25 — (CP). — Mrs. Lois Bell of Oakville was last night acquitted of a charge of murdering her new-born infant but found guilty of concealment of birth and sentenced by Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly to one year in jail dating from the time of her arrest last June 17.

Approves Increase

OTTAWA, Oct. 25 — (CP). — Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Agriculture Minister, said last night the Ontario Milk Control Board was recommending that the Ottawa Valley Milk Producers Association be granted an increase of 30 cents to $2.65 per 100 pounds of milk.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

HUMAN HEARTS CRAVE WEDLOCK

Desire For Happiness, Comfort, Companionship Satisfied by Marriage Bonds.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — You say that young people should marry for love. What do you mean by love? In young people it is just a combination of instinct and romanticism. Real love can only come after years of close acquaintanceship when men and women know each other's faults as well as their virtues. The great American heresy is the idea that marriage is primarily for the happiness of the two individuals who contract it. Nature is not interested in our happiness. What it wants is evolution.

Furthermore, happiness has a way of eluding those who seek her the most earnestly. That is why our young people, especially our girls, rush into marriage. Then, when disillusionment comes, they can't take it, and make a rush to the divorce court. You frequently remark how women stick to drunken and adulterous husbands. They do, but not for love. It is because they want to be pitied. Men want to be envied, but women's passion is to be pitied.

D. O.

Happiness Lures Youth to Altar

ANSWER—If people did not seek happiness in marriage, the wedding bells would be seldom heard. It is the lure that leads them to the altar. And if it is often a will-o'-the-wisp that lands then in the bogs of trouble, instead of a guiding star to the realms of the blest, it still offers the prospect of the comfort, the understanding and companionship, the surcease from loneliness that every human heart craves and that we eternally seek.

If we did not expect to find happiness in marriage, few would be altruistic enough to assume the responsibilities of it just for the sake of keeping the race going and adding to the population. We would say to the humorist: "Posterity has done nothing for me," and let it go at that.

You are right in saying that the chief reason that women stick to drunken or adulterous husbands is because they get so much pleasure out of wallowing in pity. If you have ever tried to get a wife to leave the husband who beat and kicked her and starved her, you have found out that nothing would induce her to give up her source of pleasure, being pitied.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a widower of 37 with a 12-year-old daughter. I have fallen in love with a young girl, but I have information that she runs around with a married man who spends plenty of money on her. She has promised me again and again that she will not see this man again, but she does not keep her promise. In fact, she lies to me all the time. What should I do?

IN A DAZE.

Man Should Ignore This Girl

ANSWER — You must be more than in a daze. You must be in a stupor if you cannot see that your only salvation lies in breaking off with this at once before you fall so deeply in love with her that you marry her regardless of consequences, which, believe me, will bring you plenty of grief if you do.

Everything is against the success of such a marriage. To begin with, she is too young for you. She will not want to settle down. And no girl who runs around with a married man is good wife material. Nor could you ever trust a liar. She would keep you wild with jealousy.

Most important of all, consider your daughter. A widower is not free to marry any woman who takes his fancy, as a bachelor is. He must think of the type of woman he is putting over his children. Surely you cannot want a girl whose own character is not the best to form your daughter's character.

DEAR MISS DIX—Do you think that a mother is right in chastising a child publicly because he broke one of her rules? It seems to me autocratic and bull-headed, as it was a matter of no importance.

E. H.

ANSWER—No, I don't. I think it is cruel to humiliate a child before people, and that it only rouses fury and resentment in the infantile breast. A child's punishment should be a private matter between him and his parents.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Syrup at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make in your own kitchen. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble! (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.)

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16 ounce bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really splendid medicine for bad winter coughs. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you four times as much cough syrup for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is a very effective, dependable, quick-acting cough medicine for the whole family. Quickly, you feel its penetrating effect in the air passages. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You will be delighted with its quick effect in clearing up coughs.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a well known reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

HARTLEY, J. W.—At St. Joseph's Hospital on Tuesday, October 24, 1944, John William Hartley, Campbellford, in his 71st year. Beloved husband of Robena Meiklejohn. Funeral service from the Bennett Funeral Parlours, Campbellford on Thursday, October 26 at 2 p.m. Interment Burnbrae Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

SHANNON—In loving memory of Katherine Shannon, formerly Katherine Willshaw, who passed away Oct. 25, 1941.

Deep in our hearts you are fondly remembered,
Sweet happy memories cling 'round your name,
True hearts that loved you with deepest affection,
Always will love you in death the same.

—Lovingly remembered by mother sisters and brothers.

FREURE—In proud and loving memory of Coder J. Ralph Freure, R.C.N.V.R., died at sea, Oct. 25, 1943, while on convoy duty.

We hold him in our hearts.

—Mother, sister Mrs. J. Adams and brother.

C.P.C. Staff End Loan Drive With $29,400

Employees of Canada Packers rolled past their Victory Loan objective in three hours last Thursday, and although some last minute subscriptions were coming in this morning they declared their campaign closed at 4 p.m Tuesday at 135 per cent of their allotment and 93 per cent of the staff investing.

Packers people began their drive with a half hour's meeting between 1 and 1.30 p.m., Thursday, October 19, in Co-Op Hall with James Goldie as chairman. Lt.-Col. James Turnbull of Peterborough Training Centre was present and also Hon. Captain W. I. D. Smith, Centre Padre, and the 48th Highlanders Band from Camp Borden.

News has come the day before from overseas reporting the death of Private Edward O'Connor who had been an employee of C. P. C. before enlisting. He had worked at the plant two years and a half in the produce and cannery departments, and was known to many of the staff. With that most recent casuality from the ranks of C. P. C. employees, the sentiment of the Victory Loan meeting was deepened with the memory of Private O'Connor, one minute's silence by the gathering and a prayer offered by Captain Smith.

The speaker was James Mellor of Orono whose address matched his previous Victory Loan exhortations in Peterborough, and was apparently the signal for the opening of the subscription drive in the plant. Between 1.45 and 4 o'clock that afternoon C. P. C. employees breezed beyond their $26,000 objective, and called it a day at $29,400.

Their total at 4 p.m. Tuesday was $37,850 or 135 per cent of their quota of Victory Bonds with 93 per cent of the employees investing.

Two Others.

Among other progress reports at headquarters to-day were the staff of Campbell's Dairy, 119 per cent of objective and all hands investing; and the employees of R. Neill Limited 188 per cent of objective and 84 per cent of the staff subscribing.

OBITUARIES

GEORGE P. GRAHAM

A resident of Peterborough for two years, George Parke Graham, 561 Weller street, died early Wednesday morning at his residence, after a brief illness.

Born in Ireland, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Graham, he came to Peterborough from Toronto, where for more than 38 years, he was employed as paymaster with the Consumers' Gas Company. Mr. Graham retired after coming to this city, and was a member of the Gospel Hall, McDonnel street.

He leaves to mourn his loss his sorrowing wife, and one daughter, Amy Madeline, of Peterborough.

The funeral will be Friday at two o'clock, from the Belleghem Funeral Home, 190 Hunter street, west, with interment in Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. C. E. Tatham, of the Gospel Hall, will conduct the service.

ISAAC McKEE

The death occurred Tuesday evening of Isaac McKee at his residence 566 Waterford street, in his 82nd year, after a long illness. He has lived in Peterborough 14 years, previously residing in Little Britain.

Born in Smith Township, the son of the late Andrew McKee and Mary Ann Morrow, Mr. McKee was for more than 40 years, proprietor of a foundry and machine shop in Little Britain, and took an active part in church affairs in that community. Along with being an official of the church, he was a Sunday school teacher, and secretary of the Sunday school, before coming to this city, where he took membership in George street United Church.

Mr. McKee was a member of the Britain Lodge, I.O.O.F., No. 316, and also a past Noble Grand, and past District Deputy Grand Master of that lodge. Enthusiastic in club affairs, he was not only a charter member of Britain Lodge, but also a Veteran Member, with 50 years of membership behind him.

He leaves to mourn his loss a daughter, Mrs. Maurice Rogers (Ethel), of Peterborough, a grandson Harold Rogers, of Peterborough, and a sister, Mrs. C. A. Beatty, of Toronto. His wife, formerly Jennie Stabler predeceased him in 1942.

The funeral will be Friday at two o'clock, from the Nisbett Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street, with interment in Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. Dr. J. R. R. Cooper, of George street United Church, will conduct the service.

Sneak thieves got away with a wheel and tire from the automobile of Bert Austin, 371 William street early this morning.

The car was parked in the laneway and around 4 o'clock this morning occupants of the house were awakened by a noise outside. Mr. Austin looked out in time to see a car start up and drive off along William street.

Investigation of the car showed that the front left wheel had been taken off and carried away.

Police scoured the city after being notified of the theft but failed to find any trace of the thieves.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

Football, rugby and field hockey are being played each Sunday in the liberated Netherlands city of Eindhoven between Dutch and Allied military teams. Receipts go to bombing victims.

The unbeaten Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League are getting their inspiration the way professional athletes like it — in crisp, new $5 bills. The bonus system works like this: for each tackle inside the rival 20-yard line, $10; each pass interception, $5; each pass interception from which the Eagles score without surrendering the ball, $10; each blocked kick, $5; each runback of a punt or kickoff for a touchdown, $5 to every Philadelphia player on the field.

Lorne (Baldy) Northcott, former star forward of Montreal Maroons and Chicago Black Hawks in the National Hockey League, has been appointed coach of Navy in the Winnipeg Inter-Services Hockey League. Northcott coached Winnipeg Rangers when they won the Memorial Cup in 1941.

Decision by officials of the Quebec Senior Hockey League to continue operations this season probably will fit in nicely with the wishes of Montreal Canadiens to keep plenty of players close to home in case emergencies call for reinforcements. With Montreal Royals operating in the Q.S.H.L., the surplus players who have been turned out from the Canadiens' camp will be on call by the club when needed.

Rough Wrestling

Hall Protests

Hall put up a vigorous protest against the decision with the usual result. He was still complaining when he came back to the ring for the second round, claiming that Kennedy had illegally used his fists. The Doc even showed Referee Powers where he had been struck in the mouth but with the referee, Kennedy and the entire crowd against him the Californian was snowed under in the voting. Referee Powers declared that the weapon used by Kennedy was an elbow smash, not a punch and that the fall was perfectly legal. And that was the end of the argument.

Hall was still in an angry mood when the second round got under way and he tore into Kennedy like a wild man. After a round of punches he got the Irish battler trussed up in an arm stretch and he maintained that hold for five minutes, mixing in a kick or two every time he thought Powers was looking at something else. Kennedy finally managed to get out of the jam and came back at the Californian with the same hold. The crowd got a kick out of seeing Hall squirm under the pressure. However the Doc escaped and for the third time during the round the crowd saw the arm stretch used again, this time with Hall in the driver's seat.

However he could not get a fall with that hold and eventually he adopted simpler methods. Getting a chance to land a couple of punches that shook up Kennedy, the Doc followed up with several drop kicks and then tossed the Georgian around three or four times with flying mares, spun him around and dropped on him for the fall.

The third round was hot while it lasted. Soon after it started Kennedy rolled Hall around the ring with a hold that looked very much like Earl McCready's famous rocking chair cradle. However it failed to take the match and from then on in wrestling was thrown to the winds and the battlers began swinging from the floor. They were still exchanging rights and lefts when the bell rang. In fact they kept on punching for a few moments after before Powers could get them separated and announce a draw.

This Was a Quickie

Tom Collins, Buffalo, won a quick victory over Verne Baxter in the semi-final bout. Baxter, always rough and tough, opened up on the fair-haired Collins as if he intended to wind up the affair in a hurry and the Buffalonian did not look like much of an insurance risk in the first few minutes. Baxter gouged and punched him, tossed him around like a medicine ball and the fans were hoping that the massacre would soon end when suddenly Collins caught his opponent off his guard and launched a series of flying tackles that nearly sunk Baxter without a trace. He finally emerged from the storm and started in a punching attack that boomeranged for Collins retaliated with a couple of round-houses that sent the big Oregon mat artist sprawling.

Seeing his opportunity the Buffalo boy followed with two or three devastating drop-kicks and finished up by clamping a Boston crab hold, a back-breaker, and Baxter was more than willing to concede the fall.

Another Draw

In the opener Joe Maich, the speedy Brantford grappler, went 30 minutes to a draw with Jack Wentworth. It was a lively affair. Wentworth started off as the bad man of the party and got a surprise for the usually clean Maich came back at him with the same brand of stuff and the result was a bout full of rugged action. Toward the end Maich was turning on the heat so much that Wentworth repeatedly sought the sanctuary of the ropes and several times scuttled out of the ring. His evasive action earned him the hearty booing of the crowd.

Referee Ernie Powers of Hamilton officiated n the three bouts and got by without much trouble. As usual the timing job was handled by Fred Scates who, also as usual, introduced the battlers.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

LET THE WEAK HAND PLAY

WHEN A WEAK hand with a long suit is laid down on the table as dummy, it is usually worthless to declarer at No Trumps or to one who is playing at his own suit if the dummy has not a decent number of trumps. But with the same two holdings, the pair might be in fine shape if the weak hand with the long suit is declarer and the strong hand is laid face up on the table. That powerful hand is bound to make a good dummy.

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 NT	Pass
Pass	2 ♦	Pass	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	2 NT

Oh what a slaughter! West led the club 6, the K forcing the A. Hoping against hope that he could use the dummy's spade length, South led the K. East won with the A and shot back the club 3, the Q knocking off the J and the 4 coming back to the 10. South cashed the spade Q, which dropped the J, but left the 10 out. Hoping for some return lead that might help him, he led to that spade 10, whereupon West cashed the club 9 and 8.

West returned the heart J. Seeing his cause was hopeless, South took this with the A, scored his diamond A and then led the diamond 9, making the J and K both good, and the heart K got the last trick. He was down three tricks, for a score of 300. If either East or West had doubled the 2-No Trumps, North might have taken out to 3-Spades, which had a good fighting chance to get made in case North played ably.

South should not have bid the 2-No Trumps. When North could not call over the original 1-No Trump, with the side using strong No Trumpers, he screamed about his weakness, and his later suit bid over East's call should have been a definite command to South to cease firing. The 2-Spades would have been unbeatable, even with indifferent play by North.

Plan To Study Tax Treatment Of Co-operatives

OTTAWA, Oct. 25—(CP)—A Royal Commission will be appointed to consider the tax treatment of co-operatives in Canada, Finance Minister Ilsley announced Monday night.

Mr. Ilsley made the announcement while commenting on a statement in which John Bracken, leader of the Progressive Conservative party, opposed the taxation of co-operatives.

(Mr. Bracken in the statement made in Winnipeg Sunday night said that savings effected by a co-operative on behalf of its members are not income and therefore not taxable. When these savings were returned to the members, they were then subject to personal income tax).

"As to the first part of this statement, there has never been any disposition on the part of the taxing authorities to question that general principle, but the real problem is as to its application," Mr. Ilsley said. "For instance, the questions that have arisen relate to such points as what is a co-operative, what are savings, and what constitutes an allocation.

"The second part of the statement would indicate that Mr. Bracken has given no thought to the position of consumers' as distinguished from producers' co-operatives. It is news to me that savings returned to members of consumer co-operatives are subject to personal income tax or should be.

"The statement indicates that Mr. Bracken has little knowledge of the difficulties of definition and otherwise with which this subject bristles. The difficulties and importance of the matter are so great that snap judgments by persons obviously unfamiliar with all the considerations involved are to be regretted."

Mr. Ilsley said he decided a Royal Commission should be set up to consider the tax treatment of co-operatives after he came to the conclusion that only such a body could deal with the problem properly. W. C. Wood, president of the Co-operatives Union of Canada, was notified by letter last week that such a commission would be set up.

It was hoped and expected that the report of the commission would be available in time to allow introduction at the next session of legislation that would clarify existing tax laws relating to co-operatives.

In the meantime, the test case to be taken to the courts by three western wheat pools, seeking certain tax exemptions, will be held in abeyance.

French Paper Raps Censorship

PARIS, Oct. 25—(AP)—The newspaper Combat, criticizing censors' deletions from articles dealing with the Spanish situation, said the Franco regime was seeking to discredit the De Gaulle government by picturing south France as in turmoil. It said some 40,000 armed Germans within Spain remained a menace to France and the Allies.

Combat cited last month's agreement under which the press recognized the legality of military censorship while the government renounced all other types of censorship. Cuts in stories on conditions along the Spanish border violated this agreement, the newspaper contended.

"We place our readers on guard against news from Franco's headquarters," Combat said.

Cossack Cavalry Aiding Germans

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, PARIS, Oct. 25 — (AP). — Fur-bedecked German and Russian cavalry men such as the Americans met and defeated in Normandy are popping up again in the rough country of the Vosges, where terrain is most favorable to their operation.

The latest outfit identified in that sector is the 370th Cossack Regiment, composed of 40 per cent Germans and the rest Soviet political exiles.

They do not ordinarily fight on horseback but the troops are mounted to attain mobility in non-tank, terrain. They gallop up to the attack, but leave their horses behind and go into actual combat action as infantry.

Flies Atlantic In 6 Hrs. 44 Min.

MONTREAL, Oct. 25 — (CP). — A Canadian-built Mosquito fighter-bomber Tuesday made first non-stop Atlantic crossing of a Mosquito aircraft from Gander, Nfld., to the United Kingdom.

Mosquito KG492, just off the production line in Canada, flew from Gander to Prestwick, Scotland — 2,200 statute miles—in 6 hours 44 minutes to establish a transatlantic Mosquito record with an average ground speed of 322 miles an hour.

The aircraft had left Montreal less than four hours before its take-off from Newfoundland. It was piloted by 38-year-old Capt Ernest Gill of Caterhan, England.

His radio navigator on the trip was W. E. Francis of Windsor, Ontario.

WADENA, Ia., Oct. 25 — (AP).—When Johnny Philip heard a shot, he asked his hunting companion, Jerre Murphy, 15: "What did you shoot?" Jerre answered, "Myself, I guess," and fell dead. He had been hit in the breast when his rifle discharged accidentally as he was taking it from a car.

Hunter Missing In North Bay Area

NORTH BAY, Oct. 25 (CP)—Provincial police, soldiers from Fort Chippewa barracks, and volunteer searchers Tuesday combed rain-sodden Blythe township, 17½ miles north of here, in search of William MacDonald of Kingston, formerly of North Bay, who has been missing from a hunting excursion since 3 p.m. Monday.

A light plane has been aiding the ground workers.

Formerly president of the North Bay Archery Club at North Bay, Bill MacDonald was camped in Blythe township with a party of seven other bowmen and the search started after he failed to return from a hunting group.

26,637 Soldiers In Italy Purchased 7th Victory Bonds

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, Oct. 25—(CP Cable)—Canadians in the Mediterranean theatre demonstrating their confidence in the Dominion in a military sense are staking her heavily for the post-war world too by digging deep into their pockets for the purchase of Victory Bonds.

A week-long Victory Bond campaign—the third in this theatre —reached 8? per cent. of its $3,000,000 objective Sunday night and has been extended until Thursday to enable a few more units not yet reached to come in on the money wagon if they want to.

Thus far, 26,627 subscribers have tossed in $2,469,700.

Lt.-Gen. Burns in a message to Canadian troops in Italy recalled that they had fought hard and made great sacrifices in recent weeks. The Canadians intended to go on with the war until it was over, he said: Great sums of money would be needed to provide the means to ensure victory, and it was the duty of every man here, as a loyal citizen as well as a soldier, to lend as much as he could.

The boys agreed. They examined their pay-books, studied their commitments and then signed for whatever they could afford.

Despite the fact that many already had assigned the maximum allowed by regulations, withholding only the monthly $10 personal money as required by the army, they profited by a special exemption order allowing $2.50 of this chargeable to Victory Bonds. They voluntarily cut themselves down to $7.50 a month pin-money.

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

CANADIANS have learned the art of conservation. Through the years of war, things which could not be replaced have had to be protected. The stitch in time has reached a new high in public estimation.

Through the magic of chemistry, improved paints and other finishes have been produced to preserve vulnerable surfaces. Wood and metal have been protected against the hand of time and the effects of the elements. And with this has come new beauty in colour and in surface effects.

Specializing in this field, the Paint and Varnish Division of Canadian Industries Limited has cooperated with various manufacturing groups in evolving for them suitable finishing materials. The best types of paint for ships, for industrial buildings for vehicles, for aircraft and for the exterior and interior of homes have been developed by intensive study and continual experimentation.

In this way the Paint and Varnish Division has made a contribution to the industrial and domestic development of Canada, and the familiar C-I-L trademark has become a recognized symbol of service protection throughout the land.

First In, First Out Program May Be Extended To Army

OTTAWA, Oct. 26 — (CP). — The "first-in-first-out" demobilization plan already announced for the R.C.A.F. probably will be applied to the Army and Navy as well, it was reliably learned today. The first-in-first-out principal will have general application, but will not be mandatory and there will be ample provision made for special cases. A sort of compassionate court likely will be established to deal with cases of married men with urgent responsibilities who might not qualify under the general plan, of farmer's son needed to keep farms operating and of specialists needed by industry.

The plan is closely linked with Canada's Pacific effort, which will be on reduced scale compared with her European war plan. A partial demobilization likely will follow the end of the war against Germany and it is then that the first-in-first-out program will be launched.

Air Minister Power announced the general demobilization program at a recent press conference, but he did not say when it would start. It was suggested, however, that it would be a gradual process as far as the Air Force was concerned, and spread over many months. Great problems of distance and transportation have to be solved.

He emphasized he expected no trouble in raising the re-volunteer squadrons he is going to send to the Pacific.

The British conference has already announced a program of partial demobilization to follow the end of the war in Europe, coupled with special Pacific campaign pay. However, it is believed here that the Canadian Government will not provide any special pay for Pacific service. Canadian service pay already is on the highest scale among Allied fighting powers, whereas British pay is among the lowest.

Seek Permission To Change Time

OTTAWA, Oct. 26 (CP) — State Secretary McLarty said today that he plans to bring before Cabinet "on the first opportunity" the question of whether provinces or municipalities should be allowed to return to standard time for the winter months.

A statement clarifying the situation would be made as soon as the cabinet had discussed the matter.

The order-in-council enforcing daylight time the year around in Canada was passed under the War Measures Act and still was in force, said Mr. McLarty.

Several municipalities had requested permission to revert to standard time Oct. 31 for the winter. Mr. McLarty felt this permission could not be granted until the matter had been discussed by the cabinet.

If some municipalities reverted to standard time and other did not there would be much confusion caused by the two times, Mr. McLarty said.

Crerar Given Polish Award

LONDON, Oct. 26 —(CP Cable)— Lt.-Gen. Crerar, 1st Canadian Army commander, today received the Military Order of Virtuti Militari of the Polish Republic, Poland's highest bravery award, from President Raczkiewicz in recognition of Gen. Crerar's leadership in the field.

The Polish president pinned the medal on the general at the Polish embassy and praised Gen. Crerar's leadership and constant presence in the battle area during joint operations of Canadian and Polish troops at Caen and Falais in Normandy.

The decoration, which the Polish president himself won as a major of horse artillery in the First Great War, is awarded only for bravery in action on the field of battle and the class of the Virtuti Militari pinned on Gen. Crerar's tunic was the highest of this order, created in 1792 by King Stanislas August.

Crerar Wishes To Retire

Mooted As Possible Senate Selectee

OTTAWA, Oct. 26 (CP)—A further Federal Cabinet shuffle before a general election, expected in the next few months, has been forecast on Parliament Hill following lengthy cabinet sittings understood to have considered war problems in detail.

Government spokesmen admit that the progress of the war has a vital bearing on the election date. It also has a bearing on the position of some ministers, who have willingly given their services during the war period but who wish to be relieved of cabinet cares when they can be spared.

Resources Minister Crerar, who became a member of the Privy Council and Minister in 1917, has said he does not propose to seek re-election.

Mr. Crerar mentioned as a possible appointee to one of the 13 vacancies in the Senate, which include two for his home Province of Manitoba. If this was done, Mr. Crerar would vacate his present office before the election and a new minister would be named.

State Secretary McLarty is another possible Senate appointee.

Allies Effect Landing On Walcheren

Pincers Tighten On 11,000 Huns Trapped On Coast

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 26—(AP).—The German high command announced today that Allied forces, striking to clear the last Nazi guns blocking Allied convoys from Antwerp, had landed on the south shore of Beveland Island.

"Counter measures are in progress," the communique said, indicating the amphibious forces already had made good a bridgehead on the north side of the Schelde estuary. Berlin did not identify the forces landing in South Beveland but they were presumed to be Canadian.

Earlier Berlin broadcasts that Walcheren, another island north of the estuary, had been invaded by Allied land and sea forces were not borne out by the communique.

Fog Aids Thrust.

The landing apparently was made under the protection of a dense morning fog which swept in from the North Sea and came as Allied forces, fighting through hip-deep water, forged slowly ahead to clear the sea approaches to Antwerp.

Field Marshal Montgomery's pincers tightened relentlessly on Germans clinging to the water-logged deltas and islands of southwest Holland, with the enemy giving ground all the way from Bergen Op Zoom to 'S Hertogenbosch.

Driving in from the east on 11,000 Germans trapped on Walcheren, the Canadians fought through thick fog and traversed half the length of the two-mile-wide, 10-mile-long neck to the connecting island of South Beveland. They captured Rilland on the way.

The progress was along single roads raised over wastes of water left by the flooding of the islands.

South of the railway the Canadians were fighting in the streets of Oostburg, four miles south-east of Cadzand where the enemy's last guns block the estuary from the south. They also recaptured Fort Frederik-Hendrik and reached the outskirts of Groede, 4½ miles north-east of Cadzand.

Take Village.

Behind the advance into South Beveland they captured the village of Dorp Op Pindorp, four miles east of the enemy coastal anchor of Gergen Op Zoom.

To the east the British 2nd Army was breaking the back of German resistance in the Breda box south of the Maas (Meuse) River with its attack toward the west from the Nijmegen salient.

The British forces captured Fort Orten, a mile north of 'S Hertogenbosch, and cleared the Germans from all the latter hub except the south-west corner.

They were within a mile of Tilburg, in the middle of the box, hav-

Urges Mandatory Union Shops

TORONTO, Oct. 26. — (CP). — The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada at its 60th annual convention to-day gave unanimous approval to a resolution asking amendment of the Federal labor code to provide for mandatory introduction of union shops where they are demanded by a majority of the employees.

The resolution also asked that signing of contracts between employers and employees be made compulsory when a union has been certified as bargaining representative of the workers and that company unions be outlawed.

The resolution accepted the Federal code as "the minimum requirement for employer-employee relations and asked that the Dominion government seek to have all provinces accept it as a permanent measure.

(The code, providing compulsory collective bargaining, became effective last March as a wartime measure).

Percy R. Bengough, president of the Congress, said while the code was not perfect it was good legislation and had resulted in thousands of new members being brought into the Congress.

The Congress approved the sending of congratulatory messages to Prime Minister Churchill, Marshal Stalin and President Roosevelt.

Victory Drive Requires Billion More

OTTAWA, Oct. 26 —(CP) — A total of $70,508,450 was collected yesterday for Canada's $1,300,000,000 Seventh Victory Loan and the accumlated total for the first three days of the three-week campaign stood at $216,038,550.

The amount collected yesterday is just about the daily average which must be maintained if the minimum objective is to be achieved but well below what must be recorded if the all-time high of $1,407,000,000 reached in the sixth loan is to be exceeded. The loan is now about $20,000,000 a head of the third day of selling in the Sixth loan.

Of yesterday's total $37,913,000 came from individual purchasers bringing the amount they have bought to date up to $93,399,100. In the Sixth Loan individual purchased $643,700,000 worth of bonds or an average of about $37,500,000 a day.

Subscriptions Monday amounted to $68,260,300 and on Tuesday $77,269,800 was raised.

Going Good.

"While the loan, at the moment, appears to be going well, it should be remembered that the minimum objective is $100,000,000 higher than the last loan and that canvassing started in the armed forces as early as October 12," a Loan official said. "There are still 15 days of canvassing and still more than $1,000,000,000 in bonds to be sold before this loan can be declared a success. Every salesman and canvasser must continue an all-out effort and every Canadian must buy to the maximum."

First reports were received this morning from Canadian Pacific employees who along with employees of the Canadian National Railways, regularly are big buyers of the bonds. Up to Tuesday night, 24,167 C.P.R. employees had purchased a total of $2,807,450 with second day purchases alone amounting to $809,060. Included in the C. P. R. total was $340,550 from C. P. Air Lines; $74,300 from C. P.

300 Quebec Delegates From New Order Of Independents

QUEBEC, Oct. 26 (CP) — Independent members of parliament and their followers at a closed meeting here last night formed a new political movement to be known as "The Gathering of the Independents" (Le Groupement des Independents.) The meeting has been called by Sasseville Roy, Independent member of parliament for Gaspe, and Frederic Dorion, Independent member for Charlevoix-Saguenay.

More than 300 delegates from 40 counties of the province of Quebec attended.

Mr. Dorion, in an interview said the new movement would ask "all people of good faith in the province of Quebec" to leave the Liberal, Conservative and other parties and to unite in order that the Province of Quebec at the next Federal election would send to Ottawa "a great number of representatives who will think and act as Canadians and Quebecers and not as Liberals and Conservatives."

Fear the Jews

Mr. Dorion added: "In Ottawa, Independents will fight the Jewish influence, not because they are anti-Semite, but because they do not want their national and economic life to remain under Jewish influence. Communist Jews have very important jobs in the Federal administration."

Delegates attending the meeting had accused the Liberal government of attempting to unite with the Communists. Said Mr. Dorion: "I will fight to the death this union of the Liberal party with Tim Buck's Communist party. It is true that there is a secret union now between Mr. Mackenzie King and Mr. Tim Buck."

Delegates said Britain's might was on the decline and because of this, Britain sought to co-operate with Communist Russia. They also said the Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties were using the Union Jack as an Imperialistic banner to cover their own ambitions.

Mr. Dorion said political meetings soon would be held throughout the province of Quebec and electors would be in formed of the new group through radio broadcasts.

A number of resolutions were passed including: Canada should join the Pan-American Union; should have her own flag and a recognized national anthem; the Canadian Government must see that Quebec workers receive the same salaries as their "Ontario brothers."

Norway Port Captured By Russians

Dozen Towns Fall To Russians East Of Vistula

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press War Correspondent

MOSCOW, Oct. 26 (AP)—Russian troops drove deeper into Norway today beyond captured Kirkenes in Arctic storms which tumbled the temperature several degrees below zero, in a supreme effort to annihilate 130,000 Germans being herded before Red and Finnish forces.

In local engagements just north of ravaged Warsaw, the Kremlin at midnight announced the capture of a dozen satellite towns on the east side of the wide and swift Vistula river which bends sharply west northwest just above the ravaged city.

The pace of the Red Army offensive in East Prussia slackened before ferocious German resistance, explained in part by the dependency of Berlin and other Nazi cities on food produced on East Prussian farms.

All northern Transylvania was behind Russian lines in the Balkans and Romania was cleared of hostile Germans. In Czechoslovakia, the Russians practically isolated the big highway town of Mukacevo, pushing within nine miles of the city.

Clearing of the towns on the northern flank of Warsaw increased the threat of capture of the Polish capital.

The Soviet communique described the Warsaw successes as "battles of local importance," but they seemed the first real sign of German weakness in Central Poland since the Red army summer offensive faded out at the end of overstretched supply lines.

(The Germans yesterday reported the Russians had launched a powerful offensive north of Warsaw).

If Rokossovsky has built up a new punch in recent weeks—and there seems good reason to believe he has done so—momentous operations may be developing that will overshadow anything else on the eastern front.

While the capture of Warsaw itself would have only psychological value now, a major breakthrough in the area would represent the double threat of an advance straight at Berlin as well as northward to East Prussia.

Meanwhile, the invasion of East Prussia ran into a storm of fanatical Nazi counter-attacks around Gumbinnen and Goldap, and while the advance continued, it brought gains of less than two miles on a separated front.

Philippine Force Severs Jap Supply Line

By MURLIN SPENCER
Associated Press War Correspondent

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Leyte, Philippines, Oct. 26 (AP)—Mud-caked invaders today slammed shut the southern door of strategic Leyte valley, a potential Japanese death trap, and tightened their stranglehold on enemy communications with adjacent islands.

As naval and air units beat off the Japanese fleet threat, the entire American land front moved forward through mud and rain, beneath the cover of supporting aircraft and growing artillery fire.

The southernmost of three columns driving into Leyte valley, where Japanese defenders are being crowded, captured Burauen, a key road juncture nine miles inland from Dulag. Armor-led infantrymen broke into the town, after taking nearby San Pablo and its cluster of airfields.

On the extreme northern front, another unit completed shore-to-shore movements which seized the southern coast of nearby Samar island and thrust American units to the northern tip of Leyte. The landing on Samar, fifth Philippine island to be invaded, was reported Monday and confirmed in today's communique.

The manoeuvre gave the Americans control of San Juanico Strait, the narrow, crooked waterway dividing Leyte and Samar. The main Japanese supply line for supplies and reinforcements from the north thus has been severed.

Air Assault Fails

Liberation troops have swept 20 miles northward of Tacloban, the communique reported. Apparently they will curve around the northern tip of Leyte to drive a wedge in Japanese communications with Masbate, main island to the northwest.

Japanese forces in this sector "are disintegrating," the announcement added.

Carrier planes turned back a large-scale Japanese daylight assault Tuesday on American shipping in Leyte Gulf. Fifty-three enemy planes were shot down, and anti-aircraft fire destroyed three more.

Ground forces "easily repulsed" a Japanese night counter-attack and have throttled local assaults and infiltration attempts.

The three-pronged drive on Leyte valley is designed to pocket the Japanese without escape or to force them into the hills where, Gen. MacArthur has said, their supply problems would become "acute."

Aircraft continued their comprehensive assaults against other flank islands in the central Philippines, Mindanao and Southwest Pacific targets. In widespread raids 21 small freighters and coastal vessels were sunk or damaged and a 3,000-ton freighter-transport damaged.

American Losses Two Ships Historic Victory

By CHARLES H. McMURTRY,
Associated Press War Correspondent

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 26—(AP) — More than 26 Japanese warships were sunk or heavily damaged in the three-pronged battle of the Philippines, incomplete reports of the most crushing defeat ever administered the modern Nipponese navy disclosed to-day.

Wreckage strewn waters marked the possible end of the Imperial fleet as a major obstacle in the path to the coasts of Japan and China, and probably shortened the Pacific war by months.

Combined reports of Admiral Nimitz and Gen. MacArthur on the three major engagements involving the bulk of the Japanese fleet listed these known results:

Eight Japanese ships sunk— two carriers, one battleship, five cruisers.

Three probably sunk— two battleships, one carrier.

More than 15 damaged— seven battleships, four cruisers, four destroyers, and "several" more destroyers.

Show Heavier Losses.

Both commanders made it clear that their final reports will show heavier Japanese losses, particularly in ships sunk. To-day's combined total compared with Admiral Nimitz' first report of the three way action listing one carrier sunk, two damaged, and five or six battleships and a cruiser torpedoed. All of these, with the possible exception of two battleships, are included in the combined total.

The crushing three-fold defeat stripped Emperor Hirohito's navy of the greater part of its known carrier, battleship and cruiser power, necessary to engage the Allies in another major action or seriously check their further incursions into the Western Pacific.

During the three-day battles, the fate of Gen. MacArthur's invasion hung in the balance. This was the touchstone that brought the Japanese fleet out of hiding and precipitated one of the greatest engagements in naval history, involving almost every type of warship from PRELATE DIES — Most Rev. William Temple, Archbishop of Canterbury, died today. He was 63.

Anglican Church Prelate Dies In London

LONDON, Oct. 26 — (CP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. William Temple, died today after a heart attack. The primate of all England was 63 and had been enthroned in bomb-pocked old Canterbury Cathedral since April 23, 1942.

Formerly Archbishop of York, Dr. Temple was elevated to Archbishop of Canterbury in 1942, succeeding Dr. Cosmo Gordon Lang, who retired to make way for a younger man to carry on in preparation for the post-war period.

Dr. Temple was considered by many churchmen as a philosopher more than a theologian and with an intellect alive to new ideas.

The Archbishop was confined to his bed in September with a gout attack. Later it was anounced that on medical advice he had cancelled all his engagements until the end of November. It was said then he was suffering from an infection which was slow in responding to treatment.

Dr. Temple, enthroned April 23 1942, at Canterbury Cathedral, became the 98th Archbishop of Canterbury and primate of all England. The new primate dedicated himself then in the words spoken by his father when he was enthroned 48 years before:

"I would rather that my intimate friends knew me as one who thought nothing of himself in comparison with the work he had to do, rather than that they knew me as a great scholar or a great saint."

The official announcement of the primate's death said:

Germans Cleared From Savio Area

ROME, Oct. 26.—(AP).— British 8th Army troops have cleared the Germans from the Savio river line in the Eastern Po Valley and, thrusting from bridgeheads west and north of Cesena, have advanced northwestward to within five miles of Forli along the highway to Bologna, Allied Headquarters announced to-day.

Canadian troops striking out from their bridgeheads across the Savio river north of Cesena have reached a point more than four miles to the northwest.

South of the Po Valley highway British, Indian and Polish troops were clearing mountainous terrain of Germans.

The 8th Army advanced at least 11 miles in a thrust that placed it only 37 miles from Bologna.

"The enemy having withdrawn, 8th Army troops have advanced rapidly from their Cesena bridgehead, have beaten in enemy rear-guards and crossed the river Bevano," the communique said.

West of the Bevana, the Allied forces captured the town of Forlimpopoli, directly on the Bologna highway, and reached the Ronco river, three miles beyond. The lack of resistance indicated the advance would continue to Forli itself.

MUKACEVO CAPTURED

LONDON — The Czechoslovak communications centre of Mukacevo was captured today in a nine-mile Russian advance through the Carpatho-Ukraine, Marshal Stalin announced tonight in an order of the day.

Gestapo Turns On Danish Leaders

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 26 — (AP). — A German wave of terror aimed at smashing the Danish underground was reported today to be sweeping through Denmark.

The Nazis in two weeks of intensive raids were said to have bagged a number of prominent resistance leaders, including Professor Mogens Fog, leader of the Danish Freedom Council, who is believed to have been slain.

Hun Tank Expert Opposes Reds

LONDON, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Col. Gen. Heinz Guderian, tank expert and chief of the German Army General Staff, has taken charge of the Russian front as commander-in-chief of Nazi armies in the east, the German Foreign Office said today in a broadcast.

The Foreign Office also confirmed that Field Marshal von Rundstedt is commander in chief in the west. He held that position at the time of invasion, but was deposed by Hitler, presumably because of failure to throw Gen. Eisenhower's armies back into the sea.

He reappeared at the western front nearly a month ago and recently attended the funeral of his former western front field commander, Marshal Rommel, an officer with whom he frequently was said to have quarreled.

Appointment of Guderian as commander of German divisions fighting from the Arctic to the Balkans, estimated at from 144 to 150, was believed to be the first time the assignment has been entrusted to a single commander. Usually the command has been split among three commanders for the north, south and centre, although on occasion, Hitler has assumed personal command.

Canadians In Tough Spot

British Writer Lauds 1st Army

LONDON, Oct. 26 —(CP Cable)— "Britain should be as proud of the Canadians fighting for the Schelde estuary as of her own sons," War Correspondent Noel Monks wrote today in the London Daily Mail.

"I don't think the people of Britain or of the Empire for that matter fully realize the magnificent job the Canadians have done and are doing in France, Belgium and Holland," said Monks, who has recently been assigned to the 1st Canadian Army.

"There will be no Berlin for us this winter, militarily speaking, if the Canadians' present operations are not successful. It is a great tribute to the Dominion of Canada that her sons should be given the key role in this operation.

"From the day the first convoy sails into Antwerp, I believe you can really start reckoning when the war will end. That is how the operation in which the Canadians are committed can be assessed."

Monks said he was in New Guinea, Salerno and Normandy and nowhere has there been tougher fighting than in the Schelde estuary. Canadians, he added, "are dying every minute of every hour in the Schelde pocket."

George S. White Candidate For Election

MARMORA, Oct. 26—(ENS)—The unanimous selection of George S. White, M.P., as the candidate for the next Federal election and a rousing sixty-six minute speech by the Hon. John Bracken, leader of the National Progressive Conservative party, were highlights of the convention of Hastings-Peterborough Association held in Marmora Wednesday afternoon.

Prior to the convention the annual meeting was held. Due to indisposition of the president, Richard Dean of Norwood, Past President George West of Madoc acted as chairman. Reeve Linn welcomed the convention, after which George White, M.P.; Gordon Fraser, M.P.; George Stokes, M.P.; Earl Desmond, M.P.; W. E. Tummon, ex-M.P.; R. D. Arnott, M.P.P.; Harold Scott, M.P.P., and Richard Bell, national director for the Progressive Conservative Association, were given seats on the platform.

A minute's silence was observed after mention had been made by the chairman of the loss to the association through death since the last convention of John Sexsmith, ex-M.P.; George Bailey, past president, and R. A. Elliott, past secretary. C. H. Buskard, acting secretary since the death of the latter, gave his report to be followed by the presentation of the treasurer's report by James Moore. Gordon Fraser, M.P., introduced the speakers, who included Hon. John Bracken and his son, Flight-Lieut. Gordon Bracken, D.F.C. Two delegates were then named for the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association's convention—C. H. Buskard and the incoming president.

Elect Officers.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Dr. S. S. Lumb, Bancroft; 1st Vice-President, Isaac Anderson, Belmont township; 2nd Vice-President, Wilfred Spencer, Springbrook; 3rd Vice-President, Donald Robertson, Marmora; Secretary, C. H. Buskard, Deloro; Treasurer, James Moore, Queensboro.

R. D. Arnott, M.P.P., deplored the fact that the Prime Minister of Canada had not seen fit to call together a conference of provincial representatives on the matter of rehabilitation. "We are not going to be ready to deal with the problem and will be in one awful mess," he declared. "In order to deal with it properly we are in our right to ask for this conference."

Harold Scott, M.P.P., urged voters to get out at the next election whether Provincial or Federal and vote. George Stokes, M.P., referred to the creditable representation of the men of Hastings-Peterborough in the armed forces, and expressed his approval of the choice of Hon. John Bracken as leader of the party.

Named Candidate.

The convention then opened nomination papers for George S. White, M.P. They were five-fold: Proposer C. Watts, seconder Stewart Clysdale; proposer Floyd Post, seconder Allan Caldwell proposer Walter Whytock, seconder Fred Curry; proposer C. H. Buskard, seconder James Moore; proposer R. A. Dean, seconder George West.

Mr. White referred to the meeting in the same hall six years ago when he received the nomination. He appreciated the confidence and trust imposed in him, and said it was an honor to represent the riding of Hastings-Peterborough. At that convention of six years ago he made no promise except one, and he would renew it now: "I will endeavor to serve you all to the best of my ability in what I consider is in the best interests of the country as a whole."

Mr. White said he would be happy to serve in the next Parliament under the able leadership of the Hon. John Bracken, who offered a new deal and a new plan whereby agriculture could be best served. He had three sons in the Forces, so matters relating to the men of the Armed Forces were of considerable interest to him. The speaker felt it his duty as a soldier member to raise his voice in the House on behalf of soldier comrades. He then asserted that there was no equality of service and sacrifice in this country while Quebec still stood by its isolationism and the Government continued its attitude of appeasement towards that province.

"In Canada we believe in the democratic way of life, then why not let the will of eight provinces prevail and not the minority of Quebec. The boys who return from overseas will refuse to be dictated to by the isolationists of Quebec."

He also mentioned that there had been lack of reinforcements and lack of training as instanced in the troops sent to Hong Kong, and even more recently young men had been sent to the front without proper training as well as soldiers who had been wounded two or three times being sent back to the fighting areas.

Odd Existence

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26 — (AP). — John and Catherine Young, who never saw each other nor any of their six children, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary yesterday. Both lost their sight through childhood diseases.

THEY TAKE TIME OUT FOR A DUTCH APPLE—Two British Tommies of the Second Army of Gen. Sir Miles Dempsey munch on a couple of apples as they keep a watchful eye on enemy positions near Venraij, Holland. The Second Army is waging a new offensive in this area and are steadily advancing.

Wants Teeth In Truancy Law

TORONTO, Oct. 26 — A demand for action on the part of Toronto school teachers to press for "truancy legislation with teeth in it" was voiced yesterday by E. W. Kirk, principal of Jesse Ketchum School in a discussion at the concluding session of the forum on juvenile delinquency sponsored by the Toronto Board of Education and the Toronto Teachers' Council. The penal clauses of the school attendance regulations had been criticized earlier by Judge Hawley S. Mott of the Toronto Family Court, guest speaker.

A request for a resolution favoring a radical revision of truancy legislation was set aside by the chairman, Keith Fraser, principal of Bowmore School, who explained that the forum was not formally organized with the machinery for recording such a resolution, but that the sentiments of the teachers present, signified by applause following Mr. Kirk's demand, would be borne in mind by the organizing committee.

Judge Mott explained that in most truancy cases the court's hands were tied by technicalities, and that when a case was proved against a parent it was frequently impossible to fine him, since the fine, in the case of a poor family, would mean hardship for the children, whose welfare the court sought. In the penal clauses of the School Attendance Act fines alone are provided for, where in the Criminal Code the usual practice is to provide the alternative of a jail sentence.

ing captured Zorgen, 12 miles to the south-west of 'S Hertogenbosch.

The flanking thrust by an armored column north of 'S Hertogenbosch cut the Nazi escape route over one of the three bridges leading over the Maas from the battle zone.

Southwest of 'S Hertogenbosch, Allied troops reached Moergestel, less than four miles southeast of the rail and highway junction of Tilburg, and the communique reported "general progress northward" in the area east of the Antwerp-Breda road.

In addition to the enemy forces already cut off on South Beveland and Walcheren Islands, as many as 50,000 German troops may be in the narrowing wedge of the mainland between the battle line and the Maas. Their mounting peril is fully recognized by the enemy, and a late German radio report last night speculated that the Allied air attacks on Dordrecht were aimed at smashing the great Moerdijk bridges.

These are a railroad bridge and parallel highway span, among the longest in Europe, carrying the main traffic stream between Breda and Rotterdam. Only one other bridge spans the river from the battle area, at Geertruidenberg, 18 miles west of 'S Hertogenbosch.

In the Scheldt pocket, the communique announced the capture of Fort Frederik-Hendrik and general progress on the entire line, with Canadian forces reaching the outskirts of Groede and gaining ground west and northwest of Schoondijke.

The rest of the long west front from the North Sea to the Swiss Alps was relatively quiet.

700-Bed Hospital

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 26 — (CP). — A 700-bed hospital with complete facilities for an active treatment centre has been established near here by the medical branch of the R.C.A.F. to handle its returning casualties as well as those of the other services by taking "some of the strain which cannot help occurring from time to time in other hospitals."

INVEST IN VICTORY

By ALENE HOLT
Victory Loan Headquarters

A young lad who takes the slogan of the 7th Victory Loan "Invest in Victory—Buy One More Than Before" to heart, is Herbert Bryan, 264 Lansdowne street.

His mother phoned Victory Loan Headquarters last week and asked that C. A. McFadgen call on her son, as he wanted to be sure that he bought a Victory Bond. During the 6th Victory Loan he had purchased a $100 bond. Mr. McFadgen who is unable to canvass this Loan has been replaced by J. Londerville who reports a $150 Victory Bond was bought this time.

This lad of 15 years attends school and works after school and on Saturdays. His salary is not large, just $30 a month. Out of this amount will come $27 a month for his $150 Bond. Couldn't this be called "Future Unlimited?"

Husband Getter

A humorous story is the one related by Jack Sinclair who is on the Group Pay-Roll canvass. He called on a young woman in his territory who had already purchased one bond on this loan. However, during their conversation, she had been pondering something in her mind, because just as Mr. Sinclair was finishing writing out the application she said "You know, I think I will double that Bond! Men may be scarce after this war is over and possibly the girl who has been sensible enough to have a lot of Victory Bonds will stand a better chance of getting her man."

"Silver Threads Among the Gold"

A story in a more serious vein is the one told by one of the Victory Loan speakers. He isn't from this district and prefers to remain anonymous but his tale is one that shows the true patriotism and freedom from hypocrisy of some people.

An old man of some eighty years came up to a canvasser on the street and said "I want to buy a Victory Bond!" He had not been canvassed heretofore because it was known that he was just on a small pension, and his wife was very sick at home and there is just the possibility that she will not be living when another Victory Loan rolls around.

The canvasser felt this man shouldn't buy a Victory Bond and as unusual as it seems, tried to talk him into not buying. But, he was firm and had his mind made up and bought his $50 share in victory.

Later on it was learned that the purchaser had two thoughts in mind. He wanted to help the Victory Loan Drive and secondly, as he expressed it "he didn't want to be buried on charity." While he was waiting for time time to come, his savings could be helping our boys over there.

"Swinging On A Star"

James Juby, who is back on this Loan canvassing, has just put over a fine bit of salesmanship. He reports calling on a woman bright and early Monday a.m. and she was all ready to buy a $900 Victory Bond.

As far as he was concerned, this in itself was "The Goose that laid the Golden Egg," but do you think he was satisfied? Not he! He remembered the many hours he spent in sales training and decided to try and benefit by it, and so he asked this buyer "Now, Mrs. So and So, now that you are going to buy a $900 Bond—don't you think it would be just as easy for me to write out your application for $1,000?" The $1,000 Bond came through!

A progress report of the Victory Loan, is being broadcast daily over CHEX at 3:30 p.m. by Don Nairn.

Greeks Occupy City Of Larissa

ROME, Oct. 26 — (AP). — Greek guerilla forces have occupied the important communications centre of Larissa on the main railway running to the port of Salonika, 75 miles to the north, Allied Headquarters announced to-day.

(Istanbul dispatches reported that the Germans already have begun evacuating Salonika.)

At the same time, the announcement said, troops landed from the British destroyer Teazer and the Greek destroyer Navarino have occupied the Island of Skopelos in the Northern Sporades group east of the port of Volos. There was no opposition.

German evacuation of Volos, which is 25 miles south-east of Larissa, was announced yesterday.

The communique said British forces were working in close cooperation with Patriots and had made progress northward in pursuit of the withdrawing Germans.

Larissa is less than 100 air line miles from Greece's northern frontier. With its evacuation the enemy lost the only remaining air base within 300 miles of Crete and with that the last hope of evacuating any substantial part of Crete's garrison by air.

Between 12,000 and 15,000 German troops are believed marooned on Crete. Some of the garrison were evacuated to the Greek mainland a few weeks ago.

MacDonald Has Alibi In Liquor Theft

TORONTO, Oct. 26—Kay Donovan, who testified she had lived with Donald (Mickey) MacDonald for two years in a Yonge street apartment, where MacDonald carried on a bootlegging business and card and dice games, told a jury yesterday that MacDonald was ill in bed on the day of the $35,000 liquor hijacking last Dec. 13.

Earlier, Dr. Howard Jones, Dundas St. E., testified that at 1 a.m. of Dec. 13—some six hours before George Butcher, driver of a transport truck, was held up, his truckload of liquor hijacked — he had given MacDonald sleeping pills and medicine for influenza.

"Mickey" MacDonald will be called by the defense this morning.

On trial for armed robbery, hijacking the liquor and kidnapping Butcher, are "Mickey" MacDonald, his brother, Edwin, Sam Mancuso, William Baskett and Benedetto Zanelli, who is also charged with receiving the liquor.

Tells of Police Visit

All but Zanelli, who, Kay Donovan said, she had never seen before his court appearance, were found at the MacDonald apartment when Det. Sgt. Nimmo and Det. Tong visited it in the afternoon of Dec. 13, both Crown witnesses and Kay Donovan testified.

Baskett, a brother-in-law of Kay, arrived shortly before the police, she said. Baskett is alleged to be the driver of the kidnap car, the license number of which, a Crown witness testified, was the same as that of a car owned by Baskett's father-in-law in Hamilton.

Edwin arrived about 9 o'clock for an electric pad for his mother and Mancuso came later to collect some money owed him by MacDonald, she testified.

Under examination by G. C. Elgie, counsel for "Mickey" MacDonald, she said that whenever a major crime is committed in Toronto, the MacDonald apartment is the first place visited by police.

"If you knew the truck and liquor had been stolen, would you have expected the police?" asked Mr. Elgie.

"Yes," she replied.

Arranged for Storage

Earlier, Sam Mancuso, who said he was in an all night bridge session on the morning of the robbery, testified he had arranged for storage at the Lazy L Ranch, owned by James Shorting, of 50 or 60 cases of liquor expected from a Quebec bootlegger.

Refusing to give the name in open court of the Montreal bootlegger, Mancuso, who said he knew nothing of the hijacking until he read of it, told Crown Counsel Gibson he was "asking a little too much" when he requested the bootlegger's name.

"Why don't you give his name?" Mr. Gibson persisted.

"Because I don't want a bullet in me," Mancuso replied.

Doris Hannon First In Public Speaking

NORWOOD, Oct. 26 (ENS)—The oratorical contest was sponsored by the Women's Institute Tuesday evening in the Institute room. There were four contestants and musical numbers were supplied by Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Tully. Reeve Ferguson acted as chairman, and Miss T. Engisch, Miss B. Borland and H. Casky were judges.

The subjects chosen by the pupils were: "A Deserved Honor," "My Trip to Camp," "Florence Nightingale," and "Roseneath Fair." The prize winners were: 1st Doris Hannon, 2nd Betty Baker, 3rd Gladys Chamberlain, and consolation Janet Giffen. The first prize was six war savings stamps, 2nd four stamps, 3rd four stamps, and consolation two stamps. The three leading contestants may compete in Peterborough, Friday.

American Losses

battleships to motor torpedo boats and submarines, and sea-borne and land-based planes.

By comparison, in the greatest previous Nipponese defeat, 11 Japanese ships were sunk and 9 sunk or damaged in the battle of Midway in June, 1942. Five of these were transports.

American Losses

Known American losses in the running battles around the Philippines were two small carriers and a number of torpedo boats sunk, plus an unannounced number damaged.

Adm. Nimitz' report today was limited to two engagements — an overwhelmingly one-sided victory over the largest Japanese task force, trapped south of Formosa by U. S. carrier planes, warships and submarines; and a crucial air-sea engagement fought northeast of Leyte off Samar Island and in the Sibuyan Sea.

Gen. MacArthur previously reported on the third action at the southern entrance to Leyte Gulf.

Japanese naval communiques admitted the loss of one battleship, two cruisers, one destroyer and substantial damage to another battleship.

Most of the destruction was inflicted on a Japanese task force caught south of Formosa, Nimitz said, "with no damage to our ships."

Previously Nimitz had reported the loss of the light carrier U.S.S. Princeton and MacArthur announced the sinking of an escort carrier from the U.S. 7th Fleet covering his amphibious landings on Leyte.

The Imperial task force caught near Formosa in the Philippine Sea "was attacked by a concentration of aircraft, surface ships and submarines" for a day and a night. Enemy aircraft flew out from the Philippines in a futile attempt to rescue the trapped Japanese task force. The Japanese finally escaped under cover of a black night.

Some Duplication

Nimitz's communique amplified his earlier report yesterday so that much of the damage announced today duplicates his earlier figures.

However, he said this report still is incomplete and will be amplified as further details become available. Thus there is the possibility that even greater destruction may have been wrought on the Imperial Fleet which dared—at long last—to leave its own quarters and engage the U.S. 3rd and 7th fleets and a squadron of the Royal Australian Navy.

The greatest of the three naval engagements was fought southeast of Formosa where carrier pilots routed a major force of the Imperial Navy with these losses.

One large carrier exploded and sunk (previously reported).

On large carrier severely damaged by bombs and torpedoes and believed sunk (previously reported damaged).

One light carrier definitely sunk (previously reported damaged).

Two battleships probably sunk (previously unreported).

Two light cruisers definitely sunk (previously unreported).

Two battleships, three cruisers, and a number of destroyers which withdrew northward in a damaged condition (previously unreported).

Additional details of the Monday-Tuesday battle of the Sibuyan Sea gave these figures:

One heavy cruiser sunk (previously reported damaged).

Four battleships heavily damaged by bombs and left the scene at low speed trailing oil (previously reported damaged).

One cruiser sunk by naval gunfire (previously reported damaged under general statement regarding light units).

Sinking of these two cruisers and damaging of four battleships and a destroyer was believed to duplicate damage reported a few hours earlier in a MacArthur communique.

Nothing further was reported regarding the Sulu Sea engagements in which Nimitz previously said two battleships were damaged and one cruiser and four destroyers were strafed.

All of these figures would give the combined 3rd Fleet under Admirals Halsey and Mitscher and the 7th Fleet under Admiral Kinkaid a three-day toll of six vital warships sunk, three probably sunk and 17 plus "several" destroyers damaged.

14th Carrier

Sinking of these light Japanese carriers increased to 14 the number of enemy flat-tops sent to the bottom in this war against seven lost by the United States. That includes the escort carrier previously announced by McArthur as sunk.

The three-day series of engagements began late Monday afternoon and continued into Wednesday morning until every Japanese ship still afloat had turned its stern toward its conquerors and was fleeing in a crippled condition.

Yesterday in Washington Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief said "practically all the Japanese fleet" was taken on in the engagements.

Though it is an historic victory, for one hour Wednesday morning as two enemy battleship-led groups emerged on the east side of the Philippines and approached Leyte gulf, the fate of Gen. MacArthur and his men hung in the balance.

Then it was that Vice-Admiral Kinkaid, despite numerical inferiority as a group, boldly divided his 7th Fleet and a Royal Australian naval squadron, sent them in different directions and won both battles.

War Reporter Killed

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26 — (AP). — Asahel (Ace) Bush, 31, Associated Press war correspondent, was killed in the line of duty yesterday when Japanese planes bombed Tacloban, American-occupied hospital of Leyte Island. Bush had just reported the epochal naval battle off Leyte. He was killed outright.

He was the 10th civilian news writer killed covering the Pacific war and the 40th killed in all theatres since the beginning of the war.

Packing House Labor Dispute Being Probed

TORONTO, Oct. 26 — Inquiry into labor disputes which brought about a strike threat affecting major Canadian packing houses began yesterday. Mr. Justice S. Elswood Richards of Winnipeg, appointed commissioner by the Federal Department of Labor, is presiding at the inquiry which is being held in the offices of the Industrial Labor Branch. Sessions are expected to continue well into next week. Later, hearings will be held in Montreal, Winnipeg, Calgary and probably Vancouver.

At yesterday's session, lasting nearly three hours, officials of the three major packing firms concerned and local and international officials of the United Packing house Workers of America (C.I.O.) exchanged general views on the dispute. The C.I.O. union seeks a master contract including a national wage scale in the plants of Canada Packers Ltd., Swift Canadian Co. and P. Burns & Co. The union claims to represent all workers in these companies' plants.

E. B. Jolliffe, C.C.C. Opposition Leader in the Ontario Legislature, was present as union counsel. Other union officials attending include F. W. Dowling, Canadian director of the Packinghouse Workers; Ralph Helstine of Chicago, general counsel, and Edward F. Roche, Chicago, international secretary-treasurer.

Canada Packers is represented by J. S. McLean, president; J. S. Willis and W. R. Carroll, with L. A. Forsyth, Montreal, counsel; Swift Canadian Co. by J. I. Tapley, president, and G. R. Castle, manager, and Burns & Co. by R. B. Mayna[rd], R. Summerfield, Fred Gilbert and James Henderson are acting for the plant unions. The inquiry will continue this morning.

Major Disaster Hits Japs As Fleets Meet

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

It looks as though the Japanese have just-about succeeded in committing hara-kiri in the great sea-battle off the Philippines.

They have suffered a major disaster. Indeed, it may prove to be a decisive defeat which has smashed the mainspring of Japan's sea-power and so will hasten the end of the Pacific war. However, we can't appraise the situation fully until the complete report is at hand. This is a moment for exultation but not for loose superlative.

While details are lacking it's clear that the Allied forces — an Australian squadron participated — has dealt a devastating blow to Japan's first line-ships. They may have crippled the Mikado's navy permanently.

This column yesterday called the developing battle of the Philippines the crisis of the war in the Orient. Clearly the magnitude of the Japanese naval effort is recognition of this. But the Japs aren't the only ones to see the emergency. There are signs on every hand that this thought of crisis is in the minds of the Allied high command.

There's a gathering of the United Nations clans in the Orient for the kill. It isn't coincidence that this comes as MacArthur strikes to redeem his pledge to free the Philippines. The method and concerted action are recognition that this is the crucial moment.

Australia is making big preparations to accommodate British forces. The vast Indian base is seething with activity. The Royal Air Force already has completed plans to move a steady stream of planes to the Far East the moment Hitler yells quits — or somebody yells it for him. British authorities are moving a great naval fleet into the Orient.

Gen. Stilwell in China is rushing operations for the reopening of the Burma Road to expedite the movement of supplies to the hard-pressed Chinese and to the 14th Air Force. British units are attacking again in Burma, with the ending of the Monsoon deluge. Lord Mountbatten's command is wielding the spade in work preliminary to assaults against Japan's key positions in Indonesia.

So the steel ring tightens about the Mikado's forces. But there's another element present in the Allied set-up which isn't so obvious. That's the vast aid which Gen. MacArthur is receiving, and will receive increasingly, from the Philippino population of some 17,000,000 in defeating the Japanese.

Colborne Subscribes Half Loan Objective

COBOURG, Oct. 26 — (ENS). — Colborne village has subscribed over half its quota according to figures compiled Wednesday at the headquarters of the Northumberland County Victory Loan campaign. Colborne, with an objective of $75,000, has subscribed $40,000 or a percentage of 53.3 of its objective. The other districts are far to the rear, the next highest being Campbellford with 15.3 per cent subscribed. However, apart from comparison with Colborne, the districts are doing well. The total for the whole county yesterday was $168,00 or 10.34 per cent of the objective.

Last minute report from the Payroll Savings Section shows the following results in those plants which have started their canvass:

Campbellford Cloth Co., $10,500 subscribed out of its $15,000 quota; Cobourg Matting, $4,700 subscribed, the quota being $3,700; Cooey Metal Products, Brighton, $250 over the objective of $9,000; Douglas Pectin, Cobourg, $2,300 of the objective of $3,500 subscribed.

Plan To Fix Pavilion

COBOURG, Oct. 26 — (ENS). — Due to excessive cost and scarcity of materials, the dance pavilion in Victoria Park, which is owned by the Parks Commission, will be enlarged by Stan Williams, the lessee, instead of being torn down and replaced by a new building. Mr. Williams and the Commission have conferred a number of times on the matter and as the cost of a new building was prohibitive, it was decided to see what could be done in the way of alterations and construction of a new section at a cost of around $5,000.

24,110 Pounds Salvage

COBOURG, Oct. 26 — (ENS). — Cobourg's salvage collection, which was undertaken last Saturday by the local boy scouts, resulted in 24,110 pounds of paper and rags being picked up. Of this amount 936 pounds consisted of rags. The scouts realized a net of $122.35 from the salvave collected. It is contemplated holding a similar collection once each month.

Obituary

NEWMAN LEAN.

ROSENEATH, Oct. 26.—(ENS).—The death occurred of Newman Lean at the family residence, Alnwick township, from pneumonia, after a short illness.

Mr. Lean, who was in his 65th year, was born in Roseneath village, the youngest son of the late Dr. Thomas Lean and Mrs. Lean. He lived his entire life in Alnwick, one of the prominent farmers of the township. In politics he was a Liberal and he attended the United church.

Surviving are his widow, formerly Miss Effie Edington, two sons, Thomas and Walton of Alnwick, and one daughter, Mrs. Lawson Taylor of Haldimand township. A sister, Mrs. Mary Stevenson, of Harwood, also survives.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2.30 in Centenary United church here. Rev. R. C. White, pastor, will officiate. Interment will be made at Centenary cemetery.

Hundred Million Pounds Of Food Go To Prisoners

OTTAWA, Oct. 26—(CP).—More than 100,000,000 pounds of Canadian food have given heart to thousands of Canadian and Allied prisoners of war in the hands of the enemy, authorities said today.

Supply officials said that food products needed for the carefully selected Red Cross parcels represented a substantial drain on Canadian food supplies, but the Dominion was in a good position to provide the prisoners' needs compared with others of the United Nations.

The Wartime Information Board said that by arrangement with the British Red Cross the Canadian Red Cross furnishes two-thirds of all food parcels sent to Allied prisoners, except those from the United States, and the British Red Cross provides clothing and medical supplies.

A Huge Task.

A new Red Cross program calls for the packing of 190,000 food parcels a week in Canada in an attempt to send one parcel a man a week, an increase of 90,000. The cost of these parcels in 1944 will be $24,700,000, covering 80,000 parcels a week for British, including Canadian, prisoners in Europe, 80,000 a week for other Allied prisoners in Europe, and 30,000 for British prisoners and civilians in the Far East.

The Canadian Red Cross is budgeting to pay $5,500,000 of the total, while the British Red Cross pays $5,395,000 and the Australian Red Cross contributes $1,105,000. Payment of the balance is under consideration.

The parcels, which are not sent individually to prisoners, are distributed by the International Red Cross committee in Geneva.

The parcels are standardized, with a maximum weight of 11 pounds each.

The contents: 16 ounces of whole milk powder; 16 ounces of butter; four ounces cheese; 16 ounces jam or marmalade; 16 ounces pork luncheon meat; eight ounces salmon; four ounces sardines or kippers; eight ounces raisins; eight ounces dried prunes; eight ounces sugar; 12 ounces corned beef or other meat; 16 ounces pilot biscuits; one ounce salt and pepper; four ounces tea; two ounces soap, and eight ounces eating chocolate.

Few Changes Seen In Security Plan

LONDON, Oct. 26 —(CP)—First parliamentary reaction to the government's social security scheme does not foreshadow any solid opposition when the white paper is debated in the House of Commons.

Comparisons between the government's proposals and those set forward by Sir William Beveridge have for the most part been favorable and Sir William, whose plan was the basis for the new scheme, described it as "a very great step forward."

Sir William now is a Liberal M.P. and will probably support his party's criticism of some of the plan's details. One point the Liberals will press is that the five shillings a week children's allowance proposed by the government be increased to Sir William's figure of eight shillings.

Labor members will join with the Liberals in criticising the government for not working out benefits on a subsistence basis which would take into account variations in the cost of living.

Conservative reaction is favorable. The scheme provides for a minister of social security for which the Tory reform group has pressed insistently.

Back-room boys: Sir Thomas Sheepshanks, co-author of the security plan is one of the government's "back room boys." Aged 49, this unobtrusive civil servant has been engaged in the past largely with seeing that much of Britain's social structure did not break down under wartime conditions.

In 1937, after many years at the ministry of health, Sir Thomas went to the air raid precautions department of the home office, to be appointed later under-secretary of state and afterwards assistant secretary to the ministry of home security.

A "family man," Sir Thomas did much of his work on the security plan at home during the evenings.

"My children are protected with all the Vitamins and Minerals they need"

What a comfort for a mother to be able to say that! She just follows the simple rule of serving 3 average-good meals a day and Ovaltine night and morning.

Authorities say 3 out of 4 people are under-par—undernourished—for lack of enough Vitamins and Minerals. But experts agree with 3 average-good meals a day and Ovaltine you are getting all the extra vitamins and minerals you can profitably use—except Vitamin C which is plentiful in fruit juices.

Ovaltine is recognized not only as a rich source of vitamins and minerals but, equally important, as a well-balanced dietary food supplement prescribed by doctors the world over for those who are thin, nervous or under-par.

So don't worry about vitamins and minerals. Rely on Ovaltine to give you all the extra ones you can use—in addition to its other well-known benefits. Just follow this recipe for better health—

3 MEALS A DAY + OVALTINE
NIGHT AND MORNING

TWO GLASSES* OF OVALTINE ARE EQUAL TO
VITAMIN A in 4 oz. average butter
VITAMIN B1 in 6 slices whole wheat bread
VITAMIN D in 1 teaspoon standard Cod Liver Oil
VITAMIN G in 3/4 oz. dried brewers yeast
IRON in 3 oz. liver
CALCIUM in 2½ oz. Cheddar Cheese
PHOSPHORUS in 2½ oz. Cheddar Cheese
*Made as directed with average milk

Campaign Against Venereal Disease

Our country has decided to take strong action against venereal disease, acting through municipal and provincial health authorities; we feel that this campaign deserves the full support of every organization and newspaper in Canada. But primarily it deserves—and must have—the support of every individual citizen. Venereal diseases are not contracted by clubs and committees, but by individuals; they are suffered by individuals; the price which they exact is paid by individuals. Only when every individual knows what venereal disease is, and what it does, will we be able to control it in Canada. Our national ignorance on this subject is the greatest threat to our national health.

• • •

A vast amount of half-knowledge and misapprehension is current everywhere about venereal disease. In many cases it is contracted by men and women who are "innocent"—a word which we use as a delicate synonym for "ignorant". In many other cases it is contracted by men and women who take insufficient preventive measures against it, because they do not know how it spreads, what its symptoms may be and how to guard against it. And we must not discount the small but dangerous element in the population which passes on infection with a cynical disregard for the harm which may result. The treatment of syphilis and gonorrhoea in the past has been slow, though sure, and it has been hard to make many patients continue with treatment until all infection was destroyed. It may be that new discoveries in treating these diseases will shorten the period of treatment considerably; if so, a greater number of complete cures may be looked for.

• • •

Our tendency during the past fifty years has been to treat venereal disease primarily as a moral problem. This was probably unwise, because men and women are notoriously reluctant to face moral problems, and consequently the problem of venereal disease was driven underground. If we now treat it as a medical problem, without moral strings attached, we stand a good chance of getting it under control. But as long as venereal disease carries with it special connotations of shame it will be impossible to beat it. Venereal disease is usually contracted during illicit intercourse; this is true, and doubtless regrettable. But moralists might as well face the fact that stamping out venereal disease simply removes one more barrier to illicit intercourse for people whose inclinations lead them in that direction. Disease and illicit intercourse, which have been linked for so long, are actually two distinct problems, and must be treated as such. Let the doctors clear up the disease, and let the moralists use their strength against promiscuity.

• • •

We shall fight venereal disease most effectively by spreading accurate knowledge concerning it. It is a problem of national health, and we should face it without foolish squeamishness. In particular we must not make the mistake of keeping the necessary information from young people. A boy or girl who is old enough to go to high school is old enough to know all there is to know about V.D. from the layman's standpoint. Armed with that knowledge, decent youth and sensible and happy marriage lie within their grasp. The fight is too serious for us to pull our punches or be mealy-mouthed in spreading information. We have done great things in the control of tuberculosis by educating the public against it; we can do the same with the equally virulent group of diseases known as V.D.

The university of New Brunswick has enrolled a young woman in its forestry course. Perhaps she will be able to help some of the young men who want to make a special study of limbs.

Censorship For Children

We are in complete agreement with the Brantford Expositor in the opinion which it expresses about the resolution passed by the Provincial Chapter of the I.O.D.E. which recommended that a child psychologist be appointed to the Ontario Motion Picture Censorship. Child psychologists, our contemporary points out, do not agree among themselves as to what is best for children, and it would need more wisdom than is to be found in any one head to decide what is fit for children to see.

As we have pointed out before, there is only one form of censorship which is effective for children, and that is the censorship of the home. Parents who take their responsibilities seriously, and who understand their children, can decide what books they may read, what food they may eat, what words they may use, what movies they may see, when they shall go to bed, and what portions of the newspapers they may read. This home censorship is the only one which has any hope of success, and even it cannot extend into every corner of the child's life. As the Brantford paper says "children are people", and what is good for one may be bad for another; blanket censorship is always an unwarrantable curtailment of liberty.

It is not a good thing to coddle children too much. William James, many years ago, divided the world into the tough-minded and the tender-minded; the tough-minded were the people who were realistic, vigorous and resilient in their approach to the problems of life: the tender-minded were those who shrank from whatever seemed "unpleasant", took refuge in pretences, and frequently lost their balance when faced with inescapable problems. We want our children to be tough-minded, and they will never achieve that condition unless they are introduced, gradually, to life as we know it; this life, which includes the robot bomb, the flame-thrower, and mass murder, is decidedly not for the tender-minded.

We seriously doubt if exposure to genuine works of art ever does a child harm, and it is always likely to do good. The great literature of the world is full of passages which are not for the tender-minded; great drama invariably deals with themes which are not common knowledge in the nursery; great music is not for the psychologically puny. The child mind is usually able to protect itself against what it is not yet ready to absorb; as soon as it is ready to face life fearlessly it should be allowed to do so.

Fruit In The Word War

In his recent address to the citizens of Peterborough the Hon. J. L. Ilsley spoke of the hordes of Nazi prisoners in Moscow as "the fruition of years of terrible Russian campaigns". And in a radio address on Sunday night Matthew Halton, an overseas correspondent of the CBC, spoke of soldiers who would die "without fruition"—meaning without children.

Both these gentlemen seem to think that the word 'fruition' is connected with 'fruit'. It is not. It comes from the Latin word frui, which means 'to enjoy', and the English word fruition means "The action of enjoying; enjoyment; pleasureable possession; the pleasure arising from possession". The association with fruit and fruitfulness is erroneous.

We point this out because the word is becoming popular in a dubious way, and also because we think that a cabinet minister and a reporter for a national broadcasting corporation ought to be more careful in their treatment of the English tongue.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Hon. Harry C. Nixon recently celebrated his twenty-fifth anniversary in political life, and as the Kingston Whig-Standard says, he has always been consistent in seeking to advance the interests of the farmers, even though he has been elected under four different political labels.

Vancouver has established a penalty of $100 for hitch-hiking. The hitch-hikers themselves are to blame for this action; there is nothing unusual about giving a traveller a lift, but impudent hikers with luggage, babies and an undammed flow of conversation have spoiled the good-nature of motorists.

A report from Montreal tells us that a negro member of the Veterans' Guard was removed from duty at two internment camps last year, because the German prisoners refused to be guarded by a man not of the white race. If this is true, it is as offensive a piece of truckling to Nazi race prejudice as we have heard of in months. It reminds us, too, that Fascism is founded on forms of human cruelty and ignorance which are to be found everywhere, and not merely in the Axis countries.

The Flowering Of Canadian Science

By B. T. RICHARDSON

OTTAWA: What is the value to Canada of a brand new industry that would employ hundreds or thousands of persons and utilize power and raw materials of which Canada posseses an abundance? That it would be priceless, no one would deny. It was this question I had in mind in going to see President C. J. Mackenzie of the National Research Council the other day, in his office at the Council's headquarters on Sussex Street. The former dean of engineering at the University of Saskatchewan had just been appointed president of the National Research, after acting for General A. G. L. McNaughton since 1939.

At a press conference, Prime Minister King had announced the National Research Council would be linked with the new department of reconstruction. "Research," Mr. King had said, "will inevitably play a large part in creating opportunities for employment in new fields of activity after the war.", Learning the question I had brought to him, Dean Mackenzie—I suppose he will always be called "Dean," though now "President" would be appropriate—hooked his leg over the arm of chair, leaned back and began to talk on the subject closest to his heart. National Research will be the co-ordinating agency of a national plan of industrial research, a strong arm of a new industrial nation.

IN correlating scientific research with reconstruction after the war, Canada will seek to consolidate the industrial advances it has made in this war. Mr. Mackenzie had spoken of this in recent speeches he has made. "....The nation that does not build its industrial life on science and research will slowly but inevitably tread the path to stagnation and ultimate bankruptcy."

But this is not all. A scientist like Mr. Mackenzie knows that research in the pure sciences is the source of new ideas and methods which then become available to be applied to industry. "We must get pure science back to the universities," he said. During the war, the mobilization of Canada's scientific brains under the National Research Council has drawn men out of university laboratories everywhere.

The whole process of research in pure science, through applied science, to the industrial refinement that turns out a better weapon or a new weapon for use by a soldier, has been telescoped in time of war into almost a single process. Canada must stimulate research in pure science, and it is a job in which the universities, the government and industries must all furnish support.

There are two things to show that Canada has hitherto had no real claim to place among the world's scientific and industrial leaders. One is that industry in Canada has, in the past, made virtually no contribution to scientific progress. Canadian industry, with a few exceptions, has spent little money and paid little attention to the research which would keep it abreast of industrial progress. The other is that Canadian industry has, so far, been little more than an industrial colony of American and British industry. It has imported scientific ideas and talent, and it has used methods and processes evolved elsewhere. Now Canada must create its own scientific research.

Fortunately, the war has opened up the way for this. No longer is it necessary for a young scientist to leave Canada to find employment. There is no longer any need for this sort of thing, that is, if a broad program of scientific research, linking the laboratories of universities, the laboratories and projects of governments, and the efforts of industry, is undertaken. That is Mr. Mackenzie's chief concern at present.

ONE of the most important developments in scientific research in Canada is not the National Research project which developed radar, nor the research which has created a whole new industry in the field of radio, not the multitude of refinement that Canadain brains have woven into the equipment of warfare and the efficiency of industrial plants. All of these things are dramatic and they bring to Canada's horizon new elements of industrial achievement.

Aside from these, the important development has been an obscure clause in the 1944 budget which is designed to divert millions of dollars into Canadian scientific research. It is the provision which allows expenditures on research as an operating charge before income tax. The finance department now allows all expenditures on research in the year of the expenditure, and all capital research expenditures, such as laboratories, pilot plants, etc., to be written off in three years.

There may well be more money for research than there are scientific brains for it. Mr. Mackenzie estimated that, with the wartime full employment of research talent and facilities, Canada is now spending $10,000,000 annually. This is three times research expenditures before the war. But it is still too small. Before the war Russia spent between $300,000,000 and $500,000,000 in scientific research. The United States spent $300,000,000, and Great Britain $30,000,000. With budget concessions in Britain, the objective sought there will maintain expenditures at $30,000,000 after the war. For Canada, the figure should be, in Mr. Mackenzie's opinion, between $50,000,000 and $65,000,000.

A Poe Manuscript

When Edgar Allan Poe died ninety-five years ago he was suffering, among other things, from poverty. There are letters extant which show that at times $10 would have seemed a fortune to him. So one wonders what he would have thought if he could have foreseen that in October, 1944, the sum of $34,000 would be paid for the original manuscript of his "Murders in the Rue Morgue" and $2,500 for a letter scribbled when he was only 20 years old.

But Poe's is the fate of many a literary man, and of other sorts of men, too. The rush of beautiful words came first, the reward was late, and only after the writer's death was it generally realized that he was unique. Indeed, he had to die under dreary and tragic circumstances before the slow appreciation in the value of his books and his manuscripts began. If he had lived to a mellow and affluent old age, writing steadily, growing sunnier in his disposition every year, the unit value of the product would have diminished. What signature among the signers of the Declaration of Independence is worth the most? Not Adams' or Franklin's but that of Button Gwinnett, an otherwise obscure Georgia merchant who died in 1777 and omitted to preserve his papers.

One can't say that $34,000 is too high a price for the Poe manuscript or $2,500 for the letter. Such prices are paid by persons who have expert knowledge of values. And they do testify that creative genius, though sometimes undervalued during all or a part of its life on earth, nevertheless finds a rising market at last.—New York Times.

"Geordie," The Doctor's Horse

(AS TOLD TO A.F.T. by DR. W. D. SCOTT)

ONCE upon a time there were no motor cars. Before 1890 there were few horses in town except these for hire in liveries, those used for delivery waggons and by the doctors. For twenty years I drove horses in my medical practice before I obtained a car in 1910. Horses came and went and were forgotten, but I still chuckle about the peculiarities of one which I drove for ten years. Every now and then, during the last forty years, with a sudden rush, memories of Geordie will come at the sound of a horse's hoofs on the street. He was a tall, angular, bay horse, far from handsome. He was aptly described as a rat-tailed, goose-necked horse. But he had personality, with an accent.

When six o'clock or twelve o'clock came, Geordie believed in keeping in touch with me, by all the known means within his power. He needed no timepiece. He knew it was time for his oats. He would be tied to a fence post outside a patient's home while I would be concentrating on the case, oblivious of the time. Geordie would begin to neigh and to paw the ground, and become restive. And, much to my embarrassment would continue neighing frantically until I had finished my call.

GEORDIE was probably more carnal-minded than most horses. His main aim in life was eating. When in stable he ate his oats, his hay, his straw bedding. You would think when he was tied to a post, with an over-draw check, that it would be impossible for a horse to eat grass. No so with Geordie. He would get down on one knee and twist that head of his until he could reach the grass. What else was a goose-neck for! He did not let the grass grow under his feet without eating it.

When I tied him to a hitching-post I was never sure he'd be there when I returned. The pangs of hunger had called again! He seemed to know how to untie all the knots I knew how to tie. Being stranded, I would begin searching and inquiring for him, and presently would start walking the two miles home. When about half way, I heard Geordie's footsteps. He had a heavy tread which I had learned to know through the years of riding behind him during both sleeping and waking hours. A man—a stranger to me—had found him eating grass on a vacant lot and, knowing him to be my horse, was driving him to my home. You see at that time everybody knew the doctors' horses.

I REMEMBER one time, after the first light snowfall, it was especially easy to follow his track. He had eaten grass on one side of the street, crossed to the other side and so meandered at his own pleasure. Along another street I lost his trail and so I turned to walk the mile home. Before long I heard his heavy tread and turned to find the vagabond being driven home.

One winter's day when the streets were icy Geordie performed his most fantastic feat. When going down a slight grade he stumbled, and I pulled sharply on the reins with the most unexpected results. As quick as a flash he stood facing me between the shafts. He had turned a complete somersault. But he was none the worse for it after I untangled the harness.

On long homeward night trips of twenty miles, being weary from lack of sleep, I would tie the reins around the dashboard, and let Geordie have his head, while I slumped down in the seat. He would tramp steadily up hill and down. All would go well until a farmer's dog dashed out and frightened him, when both animals had a gay notion of entangling me in the spokes of the wheels and leaving me bruised in the ditch. From such long trips I have known Geordie to be dragging wearily along the street nearing home when another horse would overtake him. Up would go his tail and his head; he would race down the street, disdaining his fatigue and defying any horse to pass him. He was game to the last lap.

A Salem Dinner Party

ONCE or twice a year my father gave a dinner party to his gentlemen friends, and then all the resources of our house (and sometimes of the houses of our friends) were called into action. The old mahogany dinner-table was rubbed with a brush and beeswax until one could see one's face in it. The large table-cloth of finest damask, representing a landscape with trees and flowers and impossible lambs frisking among them, was ironed until its polished surface was almost as bright as that of the table. And it was never allowed to be folded. No crease must dim its brilliant smoothness, so it was hung over chairs in the spare-room until the day of the dinner party arrived. For a week before this important day the old house resounded with the preparations which were being made in the kitchen, greatly to the delectation of the more youthful members of the family.... Would you like to hear the menu of one of those old-time dinners?

Imagine the Lamb Tablecloth bravely set out with sparkling glass and shining silver, and gay with my mother's best set of red and white India china. A very large and handsome silver castor with cut-glass bottles for every variety of condiment, decorates the centre of the table, while moulds of cranberry and currant jellies stand at the corners, and tall glasses of celery always with the green tops left on, are at either end. The Russian style of service had never been heard of then. Everything was put upon the table and carved there by the host. Sometimes the first course was a very rich calf's head soup, thickened with forced-meat balls, but more frequently the feast began with a chicken pie, crowned with light and flaky puff paste, which was ornamented with small circles and diamonds cut out from the paste, and put on in patterns by my mother's own hands....

Then followed the piece de resistance, a haunch of venison. .partly cooked only, for each guest had a plated silver chafing dish standing before him, on which he was expected to cook his slice or slices according to his own taste. These chafing dishes were really a handsome decoration to the table. They were round, about the size of a large dinner plate, with pretty open work rims and with lion's head handles. They were warmed by iron heaters which fitted into the inside....Then came ducks and partridge or quail according to season, with dressed celery, and finally the rich dessert of Marlborough puddings, mince, apple and cranberry pies, creamy custards in pretty little India custard cups....Then the cloth was removed and the fruits were placed on the shining mahogany, which was covered with bowls of oranges, and of a large light yellow orange which were called shaddocks then, but which are the grapefruit of today, dishes of walnuts all halves, from which the shells had been removed, blanched almonds, great purple raisins with the bloom of the plum still on them, Malaga grapes, and large and juicy figs which came in drums.—From "When I Lived in Salem, 1822-1866", by Caroline H. King.

Letter To The Editor

DISGRACEFUL CONDITION AT LIQUOR STORE

Sir,—I write to protest against the disgraceful conditions under which the Ontario Liquor Board supply wine to Peterborough.

To obtain a bottle of native wine, a person must stand outside in the street for half-an-hour, and then queue up inside the store for another half-hour, in a pushing throng of people, all of whom are wasting their morning in the same way. I wonder that any self-respecting people are willing to go through the experience. But the wine is only on sale for a few hours on one day in the week, and then is "sold out" until the same morning in the following week.

If the supply is really so short as this implies, the remedy is to reduce the ration to one bottle a month, or one bottle in two months if necessary, and have the limited quantity on sale all week, in a civilized manner.

But the same shortage is not noticeable in Toronto. Why, then, does this condition prevail here? Is it that the Ontario Liquor Board is discriminating against the general public of Peterborough?

Whatever the explanation may be, it should be remedied.

A Bible Message

And when he had spent all, there arose a mighty famine in that land; and he began to be in want. And he went and joined himself to a citizen of that country; and he sent him into his fields to feed swine. And he would fain have filled his belly with the husks that the swine did eat: and no man gave unto him. (Luke 15: 14-16.)

SMALL BUSINESS THRIVES

The legend, sedulously propagated by socialists and similar reformers, that big business is extinguishing small business in all countries of private enterprise, is not supported in Canada by the actual figures of the Bank of Canada.

On the contrary, an analysis recently completed by the bank shows that the small companies of Canada have grown more rapidly than the larger companies between 1936 and 1942.—Winnipeg Free Press.

IRONS AND CUFFS

Not long ago members of an American military organization stationed somewhere in Russia found that the facilities of the local village, or populated place, didn't extend to pressing and cleaning service, so they sent a requisition through military channels for some flatirons. The requisition specified hand irons, because the boys didn't want to get mixed up with professional tailor-shop equipment, but this led to a pretty bad mixup. The requisition was handled in England, and the Americans received a shipment of what the English call hand irons: handcuffs.—New Yorker.

VICTORY PAY-OFF

A few United States senators have the idea that they can set up a sort of collection agency at the peace table. In return for lend-lease they think that Great Britain should surrender its colonies in the West Indies, its possessions in the Pacific, or anything else of value which might be within reach.

To them it is a pure question of dollars and cents; the repayment for goods received. They have no conception of the intangibles. Not a mention is made of the suffering and slaughter of British civilians. There is no credit for the two years of precious time for the preparation of American defence which the British resistance permitted in the war's worst days.

If it is argued that the West Indies, for instance, are required as bases for U.S. security the claimants might as well go right down the line. The British Isles themselves were the finest bastion of defence at the start of the war.—Vancouver Sun.

Unconsidered Trifles

The paper Marine tells the following story:

In a Brussels tram a German officer sat opposite a Belgian mother with a five-year-old boy on her knees. Noticing the child's interest in his belt, he took it off and showed it to him. "What is written on there?" the officer asked. "Gott mit uns," the child read, and asked what it meant.

The mother, suspecting where the conversation might lead, looked out of the window, but the child persisted. At last she whispered: "It means 'God is with us.'"

The child thought it over, then turned to the German. "Maybe," he said, "but the English are with us."

4 Subs Supply Guerillas In Philippines

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Oct. 26—(AP)—A weak signal from a radio set on the Island of Panay heard in the late fall of 1942 set in motion machinery to aid the guerillas—aid which culminated in a full scale invasion of the Philippines, Gen. MacArthur disclosed today.

In a special communique issued from his headquarters the General said the inadequately armed patriots, some of them Americans who never surrendered, others who escaped from prison camps and men sent in to carry out specific missions, have fought the Japanese for two years.

"Following the disaster which, in the face of overwhelming superior enemy power, overtook our gallant forces, a deep and impenetrable silence engulfed the Philippines," the General said. "Through that silence, no news concerning the fate of the Filipino people reached the outside world, until broken by a weak signal from a radio set in the Island of Panay, which was picked up in the late fall of the same fateful year by a listening post of the War Department and flashed to my headquarters.

"The signal, weak and spotty as it was, lifted the curtain of silence and uncertainty and disclosed the start of a human drama with few parallels in military history. In it I recognized the spontaneous movement of the Filipino people to resist the shackles with which the enemy sought to bind them, both physically and spiritually....I gave this movement all spiritual and material support that my limited resources would permit.

"Through the understanding assistance of our navy I was able to send in by submarines, in driblets at first, arms, ammunition and medical supplies. The news of the first shipment spread rapidly throughout the Philippines to electrify the people into full returning consciousness that America had neither abandoned nor forgotten them." Eventually, he said, four submarines were committed exclusively to taking on supplies.

Canadian-Russian Congress Planned

TORONTO, Oct. 26 — (CP) — The national office of the Federation of Russian-Canadians today announced that the second congress of Russian-Canadians will be held in Toronto Nov. 9-12 with the Metropolitan Benjamin, head of the Moscow Orthodox Church in North America, and representatives of the Russian Embassy in Ottawa among those in attendance.

The Congress will discuss plans to further Canadian-Russian friendship, special events in Canada to acquaint Canadians with Russian culture and help to war-ravaged areas of the Soviet Union.

Earl Of Dudley Faces Barrage

LONDON, Oct. 26 (CP)—The Earl of Dudley didn't know what he started when he said in the House of Lords that he'd like to see newly-married couples having a baby every year of the first five years of their married lives.

The "Letters to the Editors" started flowing in thick and fast when that remark got into the newspapers. One indignant reader wanted to know: "What does the Earl of Dudley think we women are—machines, rabbits?"

Another, just as huffy, commented: "If child-bearing could be switched over to some men, the Earl of Dudley would not be so keen about a baby each year for five years."

More than one "indignant typist" pointed out that according to medical advice women should have babies not oftener than once in two years and someone else suggested the Earl should be "sentenced to washing diapers for 2,191 or more consecutive days."

Miss L. Thomas, a postwar bride-to-be of Pontypool, Wales, wrote at length, but this was the highlight of her letter:

"I want a family—but I want it in decent time.

"There are many, many young women who have not known a real courtship. Their men have been overseas.

"Like me, they are planning to make up for this separation when they are able to marry. We want to recapture all we have missed—and to stay young—not to become harassed mothers almost straight away.

"Think again, Lord Dudley."

Jobs Must Be Ready For Soldiers Before Discharge, Says John Bracken At Marmora

By W. J. COTTRELL

MARMORA, Oct. 26—(ENS). — In support of the Canadian troops fighting overseas, Hon. John Bracken warned there must be no forced demobilization of returned men after the war until jobs have been procured for them, and recompense made for disability cases, at Marmora, where he addressed the Hastings Peterborough Progressive Conservative convention.

Mr. Bracken declared that Canadians were facing a three-fold challenge. The greatest war of all has to be won; the peace to follow must be made enduring, and our world is to be made more acceptable. We are in the most challenging period in the long history of the human race," he said. "I would speak to you on the position this party takes on the vital public issues of the day. There are five different groups who together make up our population.

The Armed Services.

There must be no forced demobilization of returned men until they are assured of a job. Those who have suffered physical handicaps have the right to expect from the state the fullest measure of restoration to health that medical science can give—and for any permanent impairment in health such monetary compensation by way of pension as will make up for any handicap resulting from war service. Those whose education or training has been interrupted must have the opportunity to resume it with generous assistance from the state; and those who are capable of taking on their old jobs must have the opportunity to do so."

Referring to wage earners he said: "We stand for full time employment for all—every man a job and fair pay. We stand for the legal right to collective bargaining and the machinery by which that right can be enforced." He then referred to farmers, saying: "Our objective for them is a square deal, not just what is left over, a fair share of the nations income—nothr ; less, nothing more. To reach this objective and to realize our basic aims, we propose a guaranteed price announced in advance, and sufficient to give farmers as a class their proportionate share of the nation's income. As the farmer's costs increase through higher costs of his labor, his equipment and other necessities, the price of his products must increase also.

Business Men.

"The proposition we have for them is the preservation of the right to enterprise, the right to make a legitimate profit in fair competition and the accordance of fair treatment which excludes the threat of expropriation and slow destruction by excessive taxation."

Referring to dependents, Mr. Bracken promised old-age pensions at 65 instead of 70 and the rate increased. For the young—maximum provision for health, nutrition, education and training regardless of the finances of the parents and opportunity for employment when of age to work. There will be adequate attention for the sick and disabled to meet the need, regardless of ability to pay, and Government co-operation with employers to ensure maximum employment."

The speaker referred to the general economy, saying: "We stand for an expanding economy, not a restrictive economy. We do not owe every man a living but rather we owe every man the right to make a living."

Home Army Problem.

Coming to the matter of the home army, he said: "I ask the government again, as I have asked many times before, "is this army of 70,000 men to be sent where the fighting is to be done or is it to be demobilized and take the jobs that fighting men deserve? Or is it to be left here at home doing nothing at a cost to the taxpayers exceeding $150,000,000 a year. The time for equivocation and political manouevring is past. The people of Canada are demanding a straightfor-

Grove-P.C.V.S. Seconds In Tie Game

In a game in which both teams played well defensively but showed little on the attack P.C.V.S. Seconds and Grove School, Lakefield, played a 1-1 tie in an exhibition fixture at Riverside Park Wednesday afternoon.

So far as territorial play went the Peterborough students had the edge for three quarters of the battle but their attack bogged down whenever they struck pay dirt territory and good tackling but the Grove wings and fine defensive work by Reeves, the Lakefield flying wing, kept them off the score sheet until well into the third period. Al Menzies then booted to the dead line for the first point of the game.

In the fourth quarter Lakefield after being on the defensive most of the way up to then got their chance and Reeves evened up the count with a rolling punt to the deadline.

P.C.V.S. did most of the pressing in the first half and had a number of scoring opportunities. However something slipped each time and the the threatened touchdowns failed to materialize. The Lakefield defence was so tight that the Peterborough students could not even kick for singles, Reeves running out several kicks by Menzies in the first quarter. The second session was a repitition of the first with P.C.V.S. in the driver's seat but unable to cash in. Once again Reeves saved brilliantly several times when the ball was booted over his goal-line. On the last occasion he got a kick away with P.C.V.S. wings all around him and the ball rolled to midfield, relieving the pressure.

In the third quarter P.C.V.S. started a march that looked promising but it was finally halted on the Lakefield 20-yard line. Here Menzies tried a field goal but it was blocked and P.C.V.S. were lucky to recover the loose ball. This time they took no chances and Menzies hoisted a long punt to the dead line for a point.

Grove Tie It Up

Early in the final quarter Grove started to press, aided by a couple of 15-yard penalties against P.C.V.S. and finally Reeves kicked to the deadline for a single to sew up the game. A long forward pass tossed by Smart and beautifully caught by Diesbecker put the Lakefield team in a menacing position again but Reeves' kick was just short of the goal line and on the next occasion Borland saved nicely by returning the kick and P.C.V.S. recovered the ball on a fumble near midfield to save the day.

Reeves was the outstanding Grove star, kicking well and running back punts in fine style. Smart did some excellent forward passing and the front line tackled well. For P.C.V.S, Menzies was always prominent doing the kicking and forward passing in stellar fashion. Borland, McDougall and Doughty also earned brackets.

The teams:

Grove — Flying wing, Reeves; halves, Roy, Smart, Sinclair; quarter, Ker; snap, Preethy; inside wings, Preston, Shanley; middles, McDonnell, Clare; outsides, Langmuir, Diesbecker; alternates, Alston, Jones, Widdifield, Hutchings, Nears.

P.C.V.S.—Flying wing, McKee; halves, Doughty, Menzies, B. Thompson; quarter, Green; snap, Clarke; inside wings, Frise, Addyman; middles, Bond, Rush; outsides, McDougall, Martin; alternates, G. Braund, B. Braund, McIntyre, Lech, Moyles. Borland, Beavis.

Referee, Brown; umpire, Mavis.

WHAT ABOUT HIM? — Paul Bibeault, star goalie, for whom the Toronto Maple Leafs have been dickering with the Montreal Canadiens. "It is up to the Canadiens," says Frank Selke, Leafs' public relations officer, who implies the Leafs aren't going to make any further offers for Bibeault.

Fast Gus Bodnar Ready For Great Season

By FRASER MACDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Of the five children in the Bodnar family of Fort William, Ont., only the one bearing the name of Gus ever learned to skate but he became so proficient at that and at handling a hockey stick that he was named last season as the outstanding rookie in the National Hockey League and is a key figure in the Toronto Maple Leafs lineup for the 1944-45 campaign.

The frail centre-ice player says he is looking forward this year to an even better season than last when he scored 22 goals and had 40 assists for 62 points, ranking 10th among league point-getters and second among Toronto marksmen.

The experience he gained in his first N.H.L. season an additional 10 pounds in weight — he now tips the scales at 150 — are among the factors Gus expects will enable him to play better hockey.

His playing assignment this season puts him at centre ice between two of the league's veteran goal-getters, right wing Lorne Carr who was third in scoring last season, and left wing Dave (Sweeney) Schriner, returning to N.H.L. company after one year of retirement.

The 21-year-old player made his N.H.L. bow last year by attaining star rating in his first game. Not only did he get two goals and one assist in the first game of the season but his first goal was scored in the first 15 seconds of play. That first night provided him with the greatest thrill he ever had in hockey.

He started hockey in bantam ranks, first as a centre and then as a right wing and then moved up into junior company with the Fort William Hurricane Rangers with whom he played for four years.

Willie Pep Wins Over Leamus

MONTREAL, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Willie Pep of Hartford, Conn., recognized in some quarters as the world's featherweight titleholder, tonight scored an easy verdict over Jack Leamus, Baltimore, in a 10-round, non-title bout here. Pep weighed 127¾ to Leamus' 132½.

Displaying too much ring craft for his colored opponent, Pep was awarded the unanimous decision of the judges. The Canadian Press score card gave the Hartford battler five rounds, Leamus three and two even. An estimated crowd of 5,000 saw the fast action affair. There were no knockdowns.

Holding a decision victory over Leamus in their last meeting some months back, Pep again proved he is too polished a fighter for the Baltimore youngster. He wasted few blows in piling up the verdict, and his hard flailing left hand repeatedly landed on the head and stomach of the game Leamus.

Willie Pep, 127¾, Hartford, Conn., beat Jackie Leamus, 132½, Baltimore (10).

Sammy Daniels, 140½, Baltimore, drew with Genaro Rojos, Los Angeles (8).

Lou Alter, 124½, Montreal, knocked out Lee Q. Murray Jr., 125, Baltimore, 2.01 first round (6).

Rajah Sabu, 145, Calcutta, India, beat Jean Paul Greene, 150½ Montreal (6).

Henri Murray, 126¾, Montreal, beat Jerry Lavigne, 116¾. Montreal (4).

SPORTS - Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

P.C.V.S. juniors who meet Port Hope here Saturday in a crucial junior interscholastic fixture, tuned up for the big test with a game with the Grove School, Lakefield, yesterday, the two teams playing a 1-1 tie after a battle in which the accent was distinctly on the defence. It was a most valuable workout for the Peterborough youngsters and should put them on edge for Saturday's game against a team that hasn't been beaten this season. Port Hope are riding far out in front of the parade but P.C.V.S. hope to turn them back Saturday. The junior battle starting at 1:30 o'clock will be the curtain-raiser on an interscholastic double-header that will undoubtedly attract a big crowd to Riverside Park. In the second game the Collegiate seniors, now in a three-cornered tie for first place in the senior group will play hosts to the Lindsay team and while the latter are still searching for their first win. They are a battling crowd and P.C.V.S. are not making the mistake of treating them lightly knowing that a few breaks can change the whole complexion of a game. The two fixtures should build up into an enjoyable afternoon of football.

Earl Hancock, who writes school football for the Oshawa Times- Gazette in his report of the battle in the Motor City Saturday in which Oshawa defeated the Peterborough students 13 to 6 declared that "In all, the locals (Oshawa) were far the better looking squad and certainly deserved their win." The P.C.V.S. boys may give him an argument on that but anyway here is what Bre'er Hancock says about some of the players: "For the visitors, Sisson, at quarterback, played a great game, and Matthews, Outram and Robinson in the backfield were outstanding. Lech and Smith were also prominent with their great tackling. Oshawa's forward wall, composed of Brown, Chant, Hanna, Wales, Joyce, Lindsay and McColm at snap was tops. These boys were outstanding with their tackling and blocking and were mucking in there right to the final whistle. Bill Dell's kicking and his two touchdowns made him one of the prominent stars. Of course, Seeley, Wallace and Reddock were great in the backfield with their running, passing and receiving. Fleming, who filled in for Seeley in the last half, did some great plunging and Captain "Doc" Bird handled the team capably as quarterback."

A Forgotten Art

Watching yesterday's P.C.V.S. Seconds-Grove exhibition football game at Riverside Park and recalling many other battles of the last few years, this column arrived at the conclusion that dribbling, once a prominent feature of Canadian football is a forgotten art. In case the word does not convey anything to you "dribbling" means booting a loose ball down the field in the general direction of the enemy's goal line. In earlier football days most players used it instead of trying to drop on the ball when the opposition fumbled. It was the customary thing after a fumble to see the oval kicked perhaps two or three times with the defending side frantically trying to get back to recover. If the safety man happened to muff a kick he could be almost sure that the first player of the other side to get down the field would dribble the ball past him and start a wild race for the goal line. Many a touchdown was scored in that way Nowadays the players prefer trying to drop on the loose ball and incidentally they don't do that any too well, either. In yesterday's game, after a Collegiate fumble, we watched four different players try to fall on the pigskin and miss before a fifth man finally nailed it.

There are three lucky boys in Peterborough who are going to get a full menu of first-class sport on Saturday. They are Ted and Ron McEwen and Robert Able, the three youngsters who won the recent membership contest conducted by the boys' department of the local Y.M.C.A. and in reward for their success in that competition the three winners are to be taken to Toronto Saturday. Thanks to the kindness of Lieut. White, sports officer at H.M.C.S. York the boys will be guests at the Balmy Beach-Ottawa Trojans football game in the afternoon. At night they will enjoy the hospitality of Frank Selke, business manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs and Coach Hap Day of the same club at the opening N.H.L. battle at Maple Leaf Gardens when the Toronto club pries the lid off the season in a game with Lester Patrick's New York Rangers. And the crowning feature is an invitation from Day to the Peterborough boys to drop into the Toronto dressing-room Saturday night and meet the Maple Leaf players. Y.M.C.A. officials say the trio have really earned this exciting program for between them they added between 70 and 80 new junior members to the association's roll this fall.

An injury to his ankle sustained while he was overseas with the R.C.A.F. may cost Jack Jopling, former Peterborough forward, a contract with the Pittsburg Hornets of the American League. The Bridgenorth boy went down to Pittsburg to try out with Max Kaminsky's squad and got along so well that he was one of the two rookies — the other was Bob Campbell, Toronto—who were offered contracts. However Jopling found after three practices that the ankle he hurt while in England was beginning to act up on him and the upshot was that he was finally compelled to come home. The door is not closed against him in Pittsburg. The Hornets management told him that if the injury responds to treatment and the ankle comes around all right he is to report to them by wire at once. Jopling, fast and rugged, played fine hockey for the Petes and also with the R.C.A.F. and it is to be hoped that he will be able to get back in shape. Roy Covert, the Oshawa smoothie, who played outfield for Oshawa Main Office against Plasms in the softball playoffs went down to Pittsburg with Jopling and the latter informs this column that Covert and Ron Horton, former Peterborough junior, are headed California way.

* * * * * *

George Campbell, Oshawa sports scribe, has discovered a new sport "beagling." We have often heard George in full cry so that his reference to the baying of the hounds strikes a familiar note. Anyway here is what he says: We saw our first "beagle trials" this past week-end out at Caesarea, as a member of the "gallery" and a guest of the Oshawa Beagle Club. There is a truly "amateur sport." These beaglers travel miles—they were here from London, Hamilton and points in between and U.S. boys would have been here too, except that American dogs are banned from Canada this year, and they come all that way, bring along as many dogs as they wish, sometimes ten or a dozen, and they come to compete for points. There is no cash prize, no handsome silver trophy and no "expenses." There are expenses but each man pays his own. Even in our complete lack of experience and former interest, we got a real thrill from hearing the cry of a pack of hounds; they had as many as 16 in one class, as they gave tongue in the chase of an elusive hare. To a "beagler" or one who has done any kind of hunting with dogs, whether it be rabbits, fox or deer, that sound must be actually a symphony of beautiful music. For two days the trials continued and each morning and afternoon these beaglers are out handling their dogs, running and crashing through thick brush, swamp and dense undergrowth, for two or three hours. It's interesting, it's thrilling, it gets in your blood and makes the pulse beat faster. There's no wonder these dog-lovers get a real kick out of it. They have to work, they have to sweat in that sport, and they do it all for the love of their dogs and the love of the sport. They are really and truly "amateurs."

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Our old friend John Adams of the Detroit Red Wings still hasn't succeeded in getting his crack line of last season Syd Howe, Carl Liscombe and Mud Bruneteau to sign their contracts.... The Leafs' practice game last night was attended by 12,100 customers, an attendance that shows there are a lot of folk these days with money to spend and not too careful about the value they get for it.... Female Crashes In For Interview With Les Patrick

By ENID NEMY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Sports writers are having women trouble. Invasion of sports press boxes — the male sanctuary — was bad enough but when a woman reporter broke in on one of the famous Patrick hockey interviews in his Winnipeg hotel suite that was the pay-off.

I was the reporter but I found Lester Patrick, general manager of New York Rangers, my idea of a real hockey mogul. Mr. Patrick admits he isn't a very patient man nor does he keep regular hours, but during our interview he was both patient and charming.

Woefully, Mr. Patrick says he is in "a crazy business". He smokes from 10 to 40 cigarets a day, depending on the work he is doing, and during his vacation cuts out smoking entirely for three weeks "just to show I can do it."

His outside interests are "low-brow". "I like crooners and popular melodies of all generations but I'm not keen on grand opera."

Hockey players have the same temperament as artists in the Metropolitan Opera, he says. A happily married hockey player with a family is usually a better player than a bachelor although "some bachelors are very easy to handle."

There is one point on which Mr. Patrick is emphatic — hockey wives. "Their business is to stay at home. Women do not mix in sport.

Central Blanked By Queen Mary

In a junior Public School Soccer League game on Wednesday afternoon Queen Mary defeated Central by four goals to nothing. In the first half both teams played well and fast but in the second half they seemed to tire quickly. Outstanding for Queen Mary were Ken Woodgate and Roger Wilson who made many of the plays and kept the Central aggregation in no end of trouble. The scoring was divided evenly with one goal each being scored by K. Woodgate, D. Sloan, R. Wilfong, R. Lester.

Hollywood and HERE

By HYE BOSSIN

Disarmament?

The Hays Office, conscience of the motion picture industry, has ruled that each Western film is now limited to eight corpses. Does that apply to Indians also? The Redskins have been biting the dust six to a bullet and dozens to the reel ever since films were invented.

This Indian business is being debunked these days and even the Indians don't take it quietly anymore. For years Hollywood has been presenting Indians as vengeful folk, forever unsmiling, who lived to kill or be killed. Yet the reports of explorers, writers and artists who lived with the Indians and were welcome during the time when America's original inhabitants were still strong show that they lived a fine communal life.

The Indians had their own games, among them lacrosse, and they loved fun. It is now generally agreed that it was the conduct of white men that caused most of the Indian trouble.

Backbones Up

Today's Indians are getting tired of seeing their ancestors pictured as inevitably defeated. An itinerant movie operator penetrated deep in the bush to provide inhabitants of a remote village with one of their infrequent movie shows. It was near an Indian community.

After the show the operator asked the patrons what type of films they preferred. "We want more films," said one Indian boy, "in which Indians kill cowboys."

A film salesman got quite a shock when he dropped into a theatre in a Northern Ontario town. Most of the patrons were Indians. The film, "The Deerslayer," opened with an Indian bringing down a white man with a bow and arrow.

The Indians cheered wildly!

Secret Weapon?

Western film are wonderful things and the Hays Office rule about the eight corpses, which amounts to disarmament, won't hinder the excitement.

For instance, in most horse operas a posse of 40 law-abiding citizens chases an equal number of rustlers and during this running gun battle a continuous hail of bullets tears into each group. Dozens from both sides hit the ground before the good guys capture the hustlers.

Yet there are about 36 good guys left and maybe 35 bad guys. That's Hollywood arithmetic. Maybe they think we can't count.

Have you ever noticed that Hollywood horses are also bullet proof? Thousands of bullets will tear into a solid mass of men and horses and no horses will drop. Well, maybe one.

That secret should be worth something to the Allies.

Films Down Under

Hallywood's nine leading studios cut production in half for the 1943-44 season. Yet, because of longer runs and reissues of old films, there were enough pictures to go around.

The country where films occupy the same theatre for the longest periods of time is Australia. A ten-week run is common there. "The Man in Grey," a British film, lasted 15 weeks. Both "The Sullivans" and "Jane Eyre," each of which stayed for one week in its initial Toronto run, ran for ten weeks in their Australian openings.

"Going My Way," now in its eighth week in Toronto, will probably run forever in Australia.

Training Camp Gossip

By The Canadian Press

Pre-season training camps have broken up and according to reports club officials are quite satisfied with their rosters.

Dick Irvin of Montreal Canadiens once again will ice the high-scoring Blake-Lach-Richard line, which ran up 82 goals during regular season play last year and followed that with a record of 21 goals in play-offs.

If Manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings can convince his top line of Howe-Bruneteau-Liscombe, which banged in 103 goals last season, to sign contracts, he should have a good match for Irvin's trio. So far the Wings' trio haven't signed on the dotted line.

Steve Wochy, the Fort William rookie bidding for a spot with Red Wings, has been assigned to Indianapolis Capitals, Detroit's foremost farm team, although he'll be in Detroit for the N.H.L. opener between Wings and Boston Bruins Sunday night.

All is reported in "tip-top" shape in Red Wings camp except for Cully Simon's wrenched side. His substitute, Hymie Buller of Saskatoon, also is complaining of a sprained ankle.

Little Known

Reports from Hibbing, Minn., state Paul Thompson's Chicago Black Hawks are powerful defensively, have Mike Karakas in goal but mystery surrounds the scoring punch of the new inexperienced forward lines. Paul lost Doug Bentley, George Allen and Cully Dahlstrom, a high-scoring line.

Lester Patrick expressed satisfaction with his team as the New York Rangers broke camp Wednesday night and headed for Toronto for their season opener against Toronto where Rangers would finish in the league this year, but Coach Frank Boucher said he expects the club to end up at least fourth. Rangers finished last a year ago.

There's talk around Canadiens camp that Lude Check, a member of the Allan Cup holders, Quebec Aces, may go to Chicago Hawks. Hawks are looking for a winger. Check played on the same line with Bill Mosienko when both were with the Quebec team two years ago.

Canadiens Look Formidable With Durnan

Gy OWEN CHANNON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

MONTREAL, Oct. 26 — (CP).— Most managers of National Hockey League clubs, including Art Ross of the Boston Bruins, have admitted that Montreal Canadiens are the best N.H.L. team "on paper." Few people will contradict this, but Dick Irvin, who has been preening the Habitants for the season opener on Saturday night, is not content to let it remain that way.

He's all set to show that the Canucks are not only the best team "on paper," but also the best team on the ice.

Now that most of the contract difficulties appear to have been settled, there is nothing to stop the Canadiens from taking up where they left off last spring—at the top of the league.

There's a happy twinkle in Irvin's eyes these days as he watches the Canucks in their drills and that can be taken as sufficient indication that his 1944-45 team is as good, if not better than last year.

Bill Durnan, who vaulted to prominence last year when he was called as goal-tender by the Canadiens to replace Paul Bibeault, has recovered from a shoulder injury suffered earlier in the training period and once more is showing the cool skill which won him the Vezina Trophy last season.

Durnan bids well to hold on to his claim to the title as the best goaler in the N.H.L. But he is being hotly pursued in this respect by Paul Bibeault. Bibeault—discharged last year from the Canadian Army—also is being retained by Canadiens.

There's a wealth of talent lined up to patrol the defence zone, including Leo Lamoureux, Glen Harmon and Emile Bouchard of last year's Stanley Cup team. Wilf Field, taken up by Montreal when the New York Americans were disbanded a few years back, and Frank Eddolls will complete the initial defence line.

Discharged.

Eddolls has been on the Montreal list for a number of years and now with a discharge from the R.C.A.F. has his first opportunity to climb into the major league game.

Frank (Butch) Stahan with the Quebec Aces, of Allan Cup fame, last year, and Larry Reardon will be farmed out to teams in the Quebec Senior Hockey League where they will be available if vacancies crop up in the Canadiens' line-up. Both defencemen, Stahan will be sent to Montreal Royals and Reardon to Ottawa Commandos.

Elmer Lach is slated for the opening face-off with Toe Blake and Maurice Richard covering the wings. This line was responsible for most of the club's scoring power last year and indications from the training camp are that none of their skill has been lost.

A second line will put Buddy O'Connor at centre flanked by Dutch Hiller and Roland Rosignol. Rossignol, also a member of last year's senior amateur champion Quebec Aces, may be the only rookie on the starting team.

The third line has not yet been completed although Ray Getliffe and Murph Chamberlain are assured of posts. The third man is a bit of problem with Irvin still to choose between Fernand Gauthier and Tod Campeau. Gauthier was with New York Rangers last year, while Campeau is a graduate of the Montreal Royals' junior team.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

TORONTO, Oct. 26 — (CP). — There is still room for sentiment in hockey, and an example has just turned up in a story by Bill Southeran in the Niagara Falls Evening Review. It concerns Art Ross the manager of Boston Bruins, who is considered by many as a very rough chappie indeed, and Bill Cupolo, a young Falls hockey player who just signed a contract with the Bruins.

Two years ago, Ross was negotiating with Cupolo when the youngster came down with tuberculosis. Instead of dropping him there and then, Ross financed Cupolo's recovery and told him the contract would be waiting when he got better. Cupolo spent eight months in bed and many more long months convalescing, but finally made the grade, justifying the faith placed in him by a supposedly hard-boiled guy. Cupolo shows every sign of sticking in the N.H.L. too, so they say.

Try again:

Last year a powerful Halifax Navy football squad had ambition to challenge for the Grey Cup, but filed its entry too late and was left in the cold after trouncing Toronto Navy and Montreal Navy squads.

This year Navy has two good teams in Halifax, H.M.C.S. Peregrines Combines and H.M.C.S. Stadacona and both are looking for games with other teams in Eastern Canada—either at home or abroad. Service regulations prevent them entering any inter-sectional play-offs, but it would be interesting to see how they would stack up against the big fellows in Ontario and Quebec, in the way of promoting friendly inter-provincial relations.

Incidentals:

He got aronud plenty on the football field when playing with Calgary's football Bronks, but PO. Larry Haynes of the R.C.A.F. has done some travelling since. Home on leave, Larry produced a roll of short snorter bills bearing signatures from all over South America and Africa. He's with the Ferry Command, in case you were wondering......Halifax had hoped to scalp a few good civilian hockey players from Montreal when prospects of a senior loop there were dim. Revival of the Q.S.H.L. scalped the Eastern port's hopes for a strong civvie team, however ....Dame Rumor says the champion Service football squad of Western Canada will come east late next month to play the Eastern winners ....Johnny Kumornik from Hamilton, Ont., says the brand of ball turned out this year by H.M.C.S. Cornwallis and other teams down Halifax way was about as good as any in the country.

NEW YOYRK, Oct. 26—(AP)—In a high school football game at Chippewa Falls, Wis., recently the two teams lined facing up facing the wrong goals after a score and didn't discover it until Bloomer High School carried the winning touchdown over the wrong line...Then the hollering began but officials decided to allow the tally and to finish the game the wrong way...And in Ohio a Youngstown Ursuline hafback was going for a touchdown when a Scienceville sub, ready to go into the game, dashed out from the sidelines and tackled him...Also in Ohio Ted Himes of Mt. Blanchard insisted on kicking the extra points bare footed. "I get a better feel of things with 'em off," he explained. He made three out of four tries.

Hal Chase and George Sisler, conceded to be two of the best fielding first basemen in baseball, each made four errors in one contest while Zeke Bonura, noted for his stationary fielding, held the record for double plays by a first sacker—150—until Lou Gehrig broke it.

When time comes for Australia to defend the Davis Cup, look for Dinny Pails, a youngster who has been giving Jack Bromwich and Andrian Quist trouble in exhibitions, to play an important role.

Hornets Beat Providence 6-3

By The Canadian Press

Pittsburg Hornets continued their winning sweep in the American Hockey League last night when they carried off a 6-3 triumph from Providence Reds while in the second A. H. L. game. Jud McAtee of St. Catharines, Ont., scored four goals to lead Indianapolis Caps to a 7-3 victory over Hershey Bears at Hershey.

The Hornets' victory was their fourth in five starts and their second over the Reds. On Sunday Pittsburg won 8-4. Klein with two and Hemmerling, Jamieson, Roubell and Max Kaminsky withone each ran up the Pittsburg score with Lauzon, Forget and Courteau scoring for Providence. Courteau's goal came while Howard Mackie was serving a 10 minute misconduct penalty for arguing with Referee Norval Fitzgerald.

McAtee was on loan to the Caps from Detroit Red Wings of the National League and scored twice unassisted. Bill Thomson, Dick Kowcinak and Steve Woochy added the others. Hand Hilliard scored twice for Hershey with Bill Goudden adding the third goal.

Crosby's Crooning Overshadows Sinatra Deadly Jungle Snake Paralyzed By Song

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 26—(AP)— An army officer in New Guinea has written to thank Bing Crosby for saving his life—with crooning.

"Several night ago, I was sitting in my tent listening to one of your programs," Lt. Col. Earle O. Thornton, related in a letter to Crosby. Thornton left the tent briefly, he continued, then—

"On returning, I raised my foot to step into my tent, but suddenly I was paralyzed. Right where I would place my foot was a four-foot death adder.

"He was in a coil and had his head slightly raised and was facing the radio, as if he were listening. There we were, the snake hypnotized and me paralyzed.

"Finally I jerked away and borrowed a machete from another tent and whacked him in two. Imagine—the whole thing lasted three or four minutes, and in all that time that snake evidently hadn't moved a muscle.

"So the next time they throw Sinatra up to you, tell them: "Hell, I even hypnotize snakes 10,000 miles away."

Ian Macdonald To Quit Political Field

OTTAWA, Oct. 26.—(CP).—Navy Minister Macdonald has told Liberal organizers in his Kingston, Ont., constituency he will not run in that riding again and the likelihood is that he will leave the Federal field altogether and either return to Nova Scotia politics or accept an important government post—possibly a Judgeship—it was reliably learned here to-day.

It was understood that Mr. Macdonald, former Premier of Nova Scotia, feels that his work in Ottawa is just about finished and it is known he is anxious to get back to his native province.

When Prime Minister Mackenzie King was re-organizing his war cabinet in 1940, he called on the slim, deep-voiced Maritimer to take the new naval portfolio. The lawyer-college professor resigned his premiership and ran in a Kingston by-election resulting from the death in an airplane crash of Hon. Norman McL. Rogers, then Minister of National Defence.

Mr. MacDonald has given a guiding hand in the development of the Canadian Navy from a small force of a few ships and 1,700 men to its present strength of nearly 800 ships and 90,000 men and women.

With the possibility of the Federal election being held in the spring, Mr. MacDonald is said to feel that the Navy's role will be clearly defined and of diminishing importance by then and a demobilization plan will be well advanced. Hence he feels he can leave his post without adding any weighty responsibility to a successor or his war cabinet colleagues.

Millbrook Boy Hurt Overseas

MILLBROOK, Oct. 26—(ENS).—Mrs. Elsie Brooks has received word this week that her eldest son, Pte. Alfred Brooks, has been injured in the left forearm and the right side. Other particulars were lacking, except that the injuries were received on September 18, but whether in France, Italy or England is not known. Pte. Brooks has been overseas more than three years, enlisting with the Midland Regiment here.

GENEROUS GIFT.

The largest contribution to the Memorial Centre made by a women's organization, a cheque for $50 from the Local Council of Women, has been received, according to an announcement by John Keyes chairman of the Finance Committee, to-day.

FOR DEER HUNTERS.

Stanley Windsor, game and fisheries overseer, reported to-day that it is unlawful to shoot from, or across the King's Highway, and thus, this regulation will affect all hunters who have been hunting along Highway 28, north of Peterborough, endangering motorists using the route. The deer hunting season is from November 6 to November 21, both days inclusive, for a total of 16 days.

WILD GEESE

Honking merrily, probably attracted by the city lights, a large flight of wild geese was seen close to 10 o'clock Wednesday evening, flying over the city heading south.

Loan Officials Deny Jeep "Gyp Enacted" Missing Duck Not Lost, Just Slow Moving

The mystery of the missing amphibious jeep, current puzzler to the Peterborough Victory Loan office, has been solved, and city residents still talking about the "gyp of the jeep" in Tuesday evening's parade, can sit back now, and expect to see the remarkable machine here at some time during the present Victory Loan campaign. This is the information received today by local officials, who it appears, would not rest until the whereabouts of the jeep had been ascertained.

On loan from the United States government, the versatile vehicle had its first airing in Toronto, Wednesday. The original schedule called for the Peterborough engagement Tuesday, but as the jeep travels so slowly along land, the drivers, leaving Windsor Monday, saw no prospect of arriving here on time, so they stopped somewhere along the route when night fell, and poked their way into Toronto Wednesday in time for that show. The drivers didn't get lost as previously thought, but merely took a long-range view of the circumstances, and decided Peterborough would have to wait! However, it will be here, and the date will be announced later.

The machine has rendered invaluable services in the invasions of Sicily, Italy and Normandy. Its correct name is "Duck," and it is as much at home on water as on land. They are used by the Canadian Army overseas for transporting munitions and equipment from ships to inland bases, and wounded men from inland field hospitals to hospital ships.

Trucker Pays Traffic Fine

"I am surprised that you were not charged with dangerous driving under the circumstances," remarked Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning after he had heard some of the particulars in a case in which C. D. Ferguson, Baltimore, Ont., had pleaded guilty to careless driving.

Ferguson was the driver of a truck which was involved in a collision with a passenger automobile at Park and Lansdowne streets on Saturday afternoon, October 14, in which three persons were injured.

After pleading guilty to the charge Ferguson told the court that he had not driven on that street before and did not see the stop sign at the intersection. He had been driving south on Park street.

"You should be all the more careful when you are in a strange city," said Magistrate Langley. "You must have entered that intersection pretty fast to cause that much damage."

"The truck skidded after I put on my brakes," said Ferguson. "It was raining hard."

"All the more reason for being careful," said His Worship, imposing a fine of $40 and $2.50 costs on the Baltimore man, with the alternative of a month in jail. The fine was paid.

Charge Follows Road Mishap

A charge of careless driving against J. F. Leveck, driver for the Fitzgerald Coal Company, following an accident in which 12-year-old John Brennan received a fractured collar bone was heard before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning.

Leveck was defended by J. F. Strickland, K.C. and pleaded not guilty.

John Brennan testified that he was a student at St. Peter's High school and on October 13 after school he was riding his bicycle east on Hunter street, coasting down the hill. The boy said that as he approached Bethune street he noticed a coal truck proceeding westerly on Hunter street and start to turn into the Fitzgerald coal yard.

"As I got nearer I saw the truck wasn't going to stop," said the boy. "I applied my brakes and my rear wheel skidded and threw me off. My shoulder struck the bumper of the truck."

Brennan said the truck driver did not give any sign that he was about to make a turn.

George Clark, 15, said that he had been riding his bicycle east on Hunter street in front of Brennan but that the latter had passed him at the railway tracks. Clark said that he saw the truck turn into Hunter street off Aylmer street and watched it all the way, as it turned into the coal yard. He testified that the truck driver did not signal a turn.

He himself managed to get off his bicycle without trouble before reaching the truck, he said.

The case is proceeding.

Traffic Cases Engage Police Court

Following an accident in Lakefield Wednesday night in which a car collided with a culvert on Strickland street and was badly damaged, Trooper Kenneth Reid, Canadian Armoured Corps, Camp Borden, his head swathed in bandages, appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. in police court this morning on a charge of reckless driving.

"For reasons that are doubtless apparent to you I do not propose to try this case," said Magistrate Langley, adding that Reid was a neighbor of his.

The case was adjourned until Saturday when Magistrate E. A. Gee will be on hand.

Reid sustained a cut on the top of his head in the accident but was not seriously hurt.

On a charge of speeding to which he entered a written plea of guilty Reginald Harran was fined $7.50 and $2.50 costs.

"He was doing 40 miles an hour," said Inspector James F. Reid. "There was no accident."

Mrs. Mary Freeburn on a written plea of guilty to not obeying the traffic lights was fined $5 and $2.50 costs. The court was informed that there had been no accident in that case, either.

Charles Cromie, 18, pleaded guilty to carrying a passenger on his bicycle and was fined $2 and $1 costs and Fred Blaby paid $1 fine and $1 costs for riding his bicycle on a sidewalk.

Harry Castle, who entered a written plea of guilty, to driving with inadequate brakes was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

"He was following another car down George street and couldn't stop in time to avoid hitting it when it stopped suddenly," explained Inspector J. F. Reid.

Illegal parking cost Isaac Hetherington a fine of $2 and $1 costs on a written plea of guilty.

First School Finishes Victory Loan Canvass

The staff of Queen Alexandra School has wound up its Seventh Victory Loan investing with a 100 per cent response for 108 per cent of their objective. They are the first of the city schools completing their subscriptions in the group payroll division.

Employees of Canada Bread have also turned in a perfect score, 100 per cent investing for 107 per cent of their quota of the Loan. Frank Beatty was in charge of the shop canvass.

And in that same category is the staff of A. Comstock & Sons—100 per cent subscribing for 116 per cent of their objective.

In the payroll savings section Peterborough Examiner employees have passed their objective with all but two members subscribing. The shop total of subscriptions today was $6,650.

KILLED OVERSEAS—Pte. Harold Ephgrave, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ephgrave, 854 George street, was killed while fighting with the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry in Belgium.

Pte. H. Ephgrave Reported Killed

Pte. Harold Ephgrave, who has served in southern and northern France and Belgium, since the invasion in June, has been killed in action, October 16. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ephgrave, 854 George street.

Enlisting with the Prince of Wales Rangers (CA) he had been in the Army three years, and has transferred several times. Prior to going overseas with the London Fusiliers, he was a sergeant instructor in mountain warfare and skiing, but had to revert to private in order to leave Canada.

Since he landed in France, he has been fighting with the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry, and he was in Bruges, when the first Belgian flag was run up, replacing the Swastika. A brother, Ross, is at the R.C.A. trade school in Kingston, and two cousins, Lawrence Snider and D. L. M. Halliburton, are serving in the Navy.

Drunk Offence Brings 3 Months

Three months in jail was the sentence imposed by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning on Lyall Brooks after the latter had pleaded guilty as a third offender to having been drunk.

"Couldn't I get an adjournment," asked the accused. "I have some tools scattered around the bush."

"You had better get some one to look after them for you," advised the court.

Max Redmond, charged as a second offender, with having been drunk asked for a delay and was remanded for a week on bail of $200.

Boy Pleads Guilty To Recent Break-in

William David Forbes, 16, who told the court that he had been discharged from the Army, although still wearing the uniform, pleaded guilty before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. in police court this morning to breaking and entering the store of Louis Yeotes and committing theft.

At the request of Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., the youth was remanded until Wednesday next for sentence.

A charge against C. M. Rishor of stealing household linens, furniture and other articles from his wife and a similar charge against Mrs. Rishor of stealing furniture, electrical appliances, etc. from her husband, were both adjourned until November 2.

SERVES OVERSEAS—A gun armourer with the R.C.A.F., Cpl. Roy Locke, whose wife, the former Isobel Mitchell, lives at 368 Downie street, is serving overseas. A former employee of National Grocers, he enlisted in December, 1941, and has two brothers serving in Canada's armed forces, Flying Officer L. Locke, who has just completed a tour of operations with the R.C.A.F. overseas, and Pte. Charles Locke, stationed in Toronto.

Christmas Fund Receives Aid From Hunt Club

In the neighboring province of Quebec, the hunting season gets away to an earlier start than it does in these parts, from out of which has come a thought for the welfare of others, that might very well find a reflex that is suggestive to those who are now planning their annual pleasure trips of this nature, for pleasure that can also be made the means of giving comfort and pleasure to others in distress and need, must surely have a double value which precludes the idea of being indifferent to such in a world where pain and suffering abounds at the moment.

The approach of the Christmas season should remind particularly those who thus come into contact with the works of a Great Creator for man's benefit, of just how much humanity is dependent on this goodness, and stir their minds and hearts to yield something for those much less fortunate at this moment, in tribute to Him who came to earth as a Child, to become the Redeemer and Saviour of mankind.

Many and varied are the means by which money could be raised in these hunting camps, among which a penalty for exaggeration of ones own prowess as a huntsman, or the losing of ones grip to become profane at disappointments that inevitably occur might find a place, while long evenings under cover suggest other attractions to while away many a pleasant hour, in which some though for others besides themselves might also play its part.

To say which of the foregoing (if any) formed the basis of the contribution of $6.62 credited in today's receipts for the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund from the Wedgewood Hunt Club, would perhaps serve little purpose with the uninitiate in such circles, suffice it to say that the local and district fund happens to get this donation from this far away point in the Province of Quebec, because Fred L. Roy of this city is a member of the club, and was present at their recent meet.

Among the many penny boxes that are working so well on behalf of the fund, those located in the Canadian Bank of Commerce are playing their full share in the good work, another $5.50 being listed to their credit today from a collection that the secretary of the fund made of their contents on Wednesday of this week, among which was a fifty-cent piece, a none too frequent occurrence in this type of fund endeavor.

Personal Gifts List

For some time now, it has been a custom to allow all gifts of a personal nature to accumulate, so that an entire list of same may be acknowledged in one report. Since July 11th of this year some fifteen lists of such have appeared in this column, and now another is on the way, there being four contributions of this higher type of assistance on hand at the moment, awaiting further ones of a similar nature, which it is surely felt many people will wish at this time to participate in, specially when one considers the objective of the fund at this time.

Previously acknowledged	$62,491.82
Wedgewood Hunt Club....	6.62
Penny boxes at Canadian Bank of Commerce	5.50
Total to date	$62,503.94

Planning Committee Carries On Arena Job

Just as another example of the manner in which members of the committee of the Memorial Centre apply themselves to the details of their responsibility to the people of Peterborough who have been subscribers to the Memorial Fund, a group of them met this morning at 10 o'clock for what they expected to be half an hour session. They didn't adjourn until ten minutes to twelve.

The main point before them was the question of operating finances which was referred back to this committee by the City Council Monday night. This morning's session was held in the office of Clarence Neal at Johnson Motors. Possibly that fact should be omitted in this brief report, but only a major subject of community interest could break into the affairs of a busy morning, bringing together a group of men from their work to delve into a future phase of the Peterborough Memorial Centre and its financing.

Why Not Churches

BRANTFORD, Oct. 26—(CP)—Judge Ian Macdonell, royal commissioner inquiring into fire safety regulation in Ontario, said yesterday he would draw to the attention of the government the question why fire regulations respecting safety in places of public assembly excluded churches.

SERVING IN FRANCE — Dvr. Wilfred J. Boyler, son of Mrs. Leonard Keetch, 166 Stewart street, is with the American forces in France. Born at Campbellford, he has been living in the United States since 1922, and his father, William Charles Boyler, died in 1914. A cousin, Pte. Thomas Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Rogers, R.R. 9, Douro, was wounded recently in France.

Potato Grower Wins Gold Watch

Paul Legault of Chelmsford was the winner of a valuable gold watch donated by the Sudbury Rotary Club for his record yield amounting to 628 bushels of potatoes produced from one acre this season. The presentation was made at a potato growers' show and banquet tendered by the Rotary Club, at which R. E. Goodin, fieldman, crops, seeds and weeds branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto, was guest speaker.

As a member of the Sudbury 500 Bushel Potato Club, Mr. Legault grew the Chippewa variety, and his outstanding crop is the highest official record of yield per acre which has been taken by officials of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Five other members of the club obtained individual yields of more than 400 bushels per acre, while the average for the twenty-five contestants was 246 bushels per acre. The average yield of potatoes for Ontario last year was 108 bushels per acre.

The club was organized last spring by the Sudbury branch of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association in co-operation with the Sudbury Rotary Club. Seven other Crop Improvement Associations in as many counties and districts throughout the province have 500 Bushels Per Acre Potato Clubs this year. Judging of the other competitions is now under way and results will be watched with keen interest.

Snipers Ruthless Wounded Man Says

After being wounded by a sniper, A.-Cpl. Arthur G. Henwood, now in the Kingston Military Hospital, lay helpless for several hours, when one of his stretcher bearers was killed and the other forced to take shelter. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Henwood, Lansdowne street, and his wife lives at 469 Albert street.

A.-Cpl. Henwood was wounded July 24, one day before his regiment, the Black Watch was wiped out. For 24 hours, he and his pals were in a slit trench facing the enemy. A.-Cpl. Henwood was sent on a mission to bring provisions and it was on this job, that he was wounded. He sustained machine gun wounds in the right leg and a compound fracture of the left leg.

It was while two stretcher bearers were bandaging his wounds that the sniper fired at the defenceless man, killing one and forcing the other to seek shelter. Although badly wounded, A.-Cpl. Henwood managed to roll himself on the ground, out of danger. Later the stretcher bearer returned and he was taken to a field hospital.

PeterboroAhead Of Total In Sixth Loan

Peterborough subscriptions to the Seventh Victory Loan totalled $906,500 up to Wednesday night as compared with $597,000 for the corresponding period of the Sixth Loan.

The percentage of the objective of $600,000 was 19.7 as against 13.3 per cent last spring when Peterborough was asked for $4,500,000.

Contrasted with that 19.7 per cent of accomplishment for three days was the required percentage of 16.7 per cent on the campaign's time and performance basis.

The men of the Armed Forces were leading the entire Peterborough filed with a percentage of 16.7 of their objective; Payroll Savings section, including Civil Servants, was second with 55.8 per cent.

General canvass in the city was in third spot with 15.3 per cent, and the rural canvass 9.8 per cent. And with $50,000 of their $1,400,000 objective, special names was credited with 3.6 per cent.

Havelock in Lead

In the general canvass throughout the county, Havelock was leading this morning with 25.6 per cent of their objective; the northern townships, Harvey, Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos were second with 23.9; Asphodel was in third position with 15.3; Belmont-Methuen with 14.8 per cent were fourth, and North Monaghan was fifth, showing 14 per cent of their objective.

The other percentages are: Dummer 8.7; Otonabee 8.4; Ennismore 6.7; Smith 5.1; Douro 4.1; Norwood 3.1; Lakefield 1.6.

Still Soaring

C.G.E.-Genelco canvassers had turned in subscriptions adding up to more than half a million dollars in the figures mentioned this morning. The total at that time was $507,000, and the plant's objective is $450,000. For the rest of the way the score will be increasing the margin above 100 per cent. It was expected this morning that the shop drive might be completed by Friday. Otherwise it continues until every last employee has looked a Victory Bond of the Seventh Loan in the eye.

Hit Objective

De Laval employees made their objective late Wednesday afternoon, just a day and a half after they began their shop canvass. With the 100 per cent mark behind them they were going on this morning into the excess percentage brackets.

83 Registered In So-Ed Course

Eighty-three registered at the opening meeting of the Social Education Program Wednesday evening at the Y.W.C.A., and it is expected that this will exceed the 100 mark before the course begins.

One of Canada's outstanding recreation leaders, Arnold Ward, general-secretary of High Park Y.M.C.A., Toronto, was a special guest of the evening and he led in various recreation activities, including both round and square dancing. Refreshments were served later in the evening.

Peterborough is reminded that registrations for So-Ed will be accepted at either the Y.M.C.A. or the Y.W.C.A. during the next week, and at the next meeting Wednesday, November 1.

The following are the leaders in the various courses: "Effective Presiding", Mrs. M. E. Holt; "Things to Come", L. W. Copp, Dr. G. H. Roper; "Reading For Pleasure", Robertson Davies, B. Litt., (Oxon.), "Stretching Your Dollar", M. E. Holt, A. J. Boorne; "Marriage", Rev. H. J. Mahoney; "Art Appreciation", Miss Earla M. MacVannel; "Talking of the Theatre", Brenda and Robertson Davies; "Recreation Leadership", Rev. G. F. Kelly; "Music Appreciation", Miss Isobel Weddell; "Bridge", Mr. and Mrs. H. Barker, Mrs. R. F. Nott, and E. W. Jones.

WOUNDED IN BELGIUM—Pte. William Harvey Cook, son of Mrs. Etta Cook, Campbellford, has been wounded while fighting in Belgium. He was formerly employed with the Campbellford Cloth Company.

Narrow Escape

WATERLOO, Ont., Oct. 26—(CP).—Two girls, each two years old, narrowly escaped drowning today when they fell into a fish pond two and a half feet deep, and became tangled in lily roots. They were rescued by Mrs. J. A. Taylor, mother of one of the girls, Judy. The other is Patsy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mullen.

HARDWICK Electric Wiring and Contracting

Mr. Fred Hardwick is a comparatively newcomer to Peterborough. Fifteen years ago he came to Canada from Scotland and just recently has settled in Peterborough.

When quite young he received a military training, having joined His Majes'e's Forces at the age of 15 and served for three years with the 2nd Battalion of the Gordon Highlanders.

At the outbreak of this war he offered his services to the navy and the Air Force and was accepted by the Air Force as an electrician, where he took a six months course and was posted to various parts of Canada. After two years service he was discharged with an E category and spent four months in a Halifax hospital and two months in Christie Street, from which he was finally discharged.

Most of Mr. Hardwick's life has been spent in the electrical trade. The last 15 years he has worked in Ontario and in the Maritimes on construction, power and lighting also six years with the Hydro Electric Power Commission, also during that time he has had considerable experience in wiring, trouble shooting and pipe work. He holds an electrical contractors license and master electricians ticket and is also a member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers No. 353 Toronto and is an A.F. & A.M. No. 75 Toronto.

Just recently he has worked on jobs with leading contractors: Canadian Electric, Ontario Electric, Comstock Electric, John Inglis, Research Limited, Masterfeeds, Halifax Navy Yard and Knox College, and was foreman for Miller & Powell.

He is temporarily located at 211 Park Street South. His experience is your assurance of an efficient and workmanlike job on all wiring and repairs. He guarantees all of his work. To contact him phone 5846 for 24 hr. service.

Living Index Incorrect Labor Congress Charges

By JACK WILLIAMS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 26.—(CP).—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada at its 60th annual convention yesterday called for mandatory legislation providing two weeks' annual holiday with pay and pay for all statutory holidays.

Subsidies to assist in the construction of homes for workers in low-income groups was urged in a resolution dealing with housing. An adequate building code and inspection plan was also advocated.

The convention went on record with criticism of the government's cost-of-living index which it described as "not a true and accurate index of the cost-of-living for the vast majority of Canadian workers."

The resolution said inaccuracies of the index were reflected in wage rates and asked that the index be revised and that regional indices be established to reflect differences in living costs in various parts of the country.

Collective bargaining rights and payment of time and one-half for overtime to all government employees was proposed. Two resolutions dealt with postal workers, one asking that postal employees who qualified prior to the war be given permanent status.

The second asked that Grade 2b post offices be put under the Civil Service Commission. The resolution was introduced by the Kenora, Ont., Trade Council which was reprimanded by the Resolution committee on the ground that the Council had made itself "a tool" for a union affiliated with another Congress. The resolution was adopted, however.

Protest was expressed at the conditions under which the prices board is granting licenses to individuals operating as private contractors. The resolution said some men needed for high priority jobs were able to get licenses which exempted them from Selective Service regulations.

In another resolution asking abolition of Selective Service as soon as possible and its replacement by a government employment service was sent back to the resolutions committee for further consideration after some delegates said the preservation of price ceilings should be included in the recommendations.

The convention asked the government to take steps to make available adequate supplies of beer and requested the Ontario Liquor Control Board to allow beverage rooms to remain open from 6.30 to 7.30 p.m.

A Fearless Woman

VICTORIA, Oct. 26—(CP).—A full grown golden eagle with a six-foot wing spread alighted in the chicken run of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Parham's poultry farm near here. Mrs. Parham grabbed the eagle and threw it in a covered vacant chicken run nearby. The eagle, shrieking as it ran up and down the run, was shot by Mr. Parham.

Casualty List Of Services Totals 61,295

OTTAWA, Oct. 26 — (CP) — Casualties for Canada's three armed services at Aug. 31 had increased to 61,295, or 10,267 over the July 31 total of 51,038, according to official figures released today by Wartime Information Board.

The July 31 total was 4,644 above the previously announced total of 46,349 which included figures for all theatres up to June 30 and the Normandy campaign up to July 20.

Under the new figures, the navy showed casualty increase of 144, the army 9,388 and the air force 785.

The latest navy figure of 1,982 showed an increase of 19 dead, 80 missing, prisoner or interned and 46 wounded; the army figure of 42,877 an increase of 2,359 dead, 665 missing, prisoner or interned, and 6,314 wounded; the air force figure of 16,736 an increase of 419 dead, 322 missing, prisoner or interned and 44 wounded.

The three-service total of 61,295 was made up of 23,617 dead, 11,743 missing, prisoners or interned and 25,935 wounded.

The navy total was made up of 1,203 dead, 431 missing, prisoner or interned and 348 wounded; the army 12,147 dead, 5,773 missing, prisoner or interned and 24,657 wounded, and the air force 10,267 dead, 5,539 missing, prisoner or interned and 930 wounded.

In the 4½ years of the First Great War 628,642 Canadians served and casualties totalled 190,092, including 62,817 dead.

After five years of war the present strength of the armed forces is estimated at 764,000 and the 61,295 casualites up to August 31 do not take into account merchant navy casualties which were 1,200 up to February 22.

Latest table for the three armed forces.

Worthwhile Venture

TORONTO, Oct. 26—(AP).—The Toronto active service canteen which has served nearly 3,000,000 men in the armed forces since its establishment November 11, 1939, last night announced plans for a week-long celebration of its fifth anniversary. The canteen now caters to an average of 70,000 to 85,000 men a month, the 2,781 volunteer workers working in shifts from eight a.m. to midnight.

Knowles Lashes La Fleche On Radio Stand

WINNIPEG, Oct. 26—(CP).—Stanley Knowles, C.C.F. member of parliament for Winnipeg North Centre, said here Tuesday night that War Services Minister LaFleche is "sabotaging" Canada's government-controlled radio.

Addressing the Manitoba C.C.F. convention, he asked the replacement of Gen. LaFleche in the Dominion Cabinet.

Mr. Knowles said the Minister favored privately-owned radio stations and said he had delayed the opening of a CBC station in Halifax. Mr. Knowles said he had discovered the opening had been postponed because a group of Liberal supporters sponsored a privately-owned station in Halifax.

"My own suspicions are that the Minister in charge of the War Services Department, which includes the CBC, is trying to hinder the advancement of government-owned radio networks," Mr. Knowles said. "As soon as the Liberals get rid of that Minister they will be doing a good work."

Gen. LaFleche, commenting on Mr. Knowles' statement, said in Ottawa that he was giving "fair treatment" to both government-controlled and privately-owned radio stations.

"They have special fields to serve," he said, "and they are well distributed between them."

He said a licence had been granted a CBC station in Halifax and it had been operating for some time.

Unveil Honor Roll At Fairview Church

FAIRVIEW, Oct. 26.—(ENS). — The regular rally day service was held Sunday at Fairview with a splendid attendance. The rally day programs were used with the S.S. superintendent Harold Lewis in charge.

Little Misses Gwennyth McKee, Mary Cockburn and Jean Patton, delighted their audience with a trio, 'God Sees a Sparrow Fall.' Scriptures were read by Douglas Beatty and Robert Weaver and the stories were read by Jean Heard and Robert Cockburn.

A special feature of the service was the unveiling of the honor roll. Two beautiful satin flags were purchased by the Women's Association, which also was responsible for securing the honor roll. Elders Fred Bell and Wilbert Rosborough unveiled and made the presentation and the honor roll was accepted on behalf of the church by Rev. H. H. Mutton.

Rev. Mutton also gave the address, while Kenneth Patton and John Lewis sang a duet, 'America the Beautiful.' Miss Olive Bell was pianist.

Retirement Age

OTTAWA, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Navy Minister Macdonald last night announced establishment of an automatic retirement age of 60 years for permanent force and reserve officers of the Royal Canadian Navy. Previously there was no definite retirement age.

"...over and above the call of duty"

Wounded, burned and temporarily blinded, Able Seaman Michael Kerwin dashed back into the blazing gun turret from which he had escaped . . .

AB. Michael Kerwin of Billings Bridge, Ont., who has served on H.M.C.S. HAIDA since this famed Canadian destroyer was commissioned.

THE night of August 6th, Canadian and British destroyers patrolling the coast of France, opened fire on a seven-ship German convoy escaping from St. Nazaire.

All seven German ships were sunk, but a gun turret on H.M.C.S. HAIDA suffered a direct hit. Through searing flame and blinding smoke, Able Seaman Michael Kerwin staggered to safety. Then, though wounded and burned, fought his way back through the blazing inferno to rescue a shipmate.

Who can read of such heroism without quickened heartbeat, a feeling of pride, that this is a man of Canada . . . one of the hundreds of thousands who are daily risking their lives . . . on sea, on land, and in the air?

These fighting men of Canada, and thousands of women too, look to us at home to support their efforts until the very last shot is fired. Though the part we play is small in comparison, can any one of us turn our backs on them and say, "I've done my share—you don't need my help."

They do need your help—and the more you help, the quicker they can get their dangerous part of the job over with and be back home again.

Every dollar you invest in Victory Bonds is helping a fighting man. At the same time, every dollar you invest in Victory Bonds is helping you to create a nest-egg of savings for the future.

Lights Reveal Opposition To Nazi Regime

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(AP)—The lighting of Cologne and Duesseldrof, which surprised and amazed Allied reconnaissance fliers on the nights of Oct. 18 and 19, may well be the sign of far-going rebellion within Germany against the regime of Adolf Hitler.

I can at least assert that the plan for turning on the lights as a sign that revolutionary elements are in control was considered seriously by the German Underground of 1941 as I then knew it.

Late in October, 1941, I, as chief of the Berlin Bureau of The Associated Press, was invited to the home of a Bavarian attorney living in Berlin. He had been certified to me by various reliable German democrats as a bitter anti-Nazi.

This man had been one of the earliest followers of Adolf Hitler, as well as one of the first to leave him—at least seven years before Hitler became chancellor. He was the father of a plan then being developed for turning on the lights as city after city turned against the Nazis.

A Popular Plan

He pointed out how nothing could be so dangerous as a premature attempt at revolution, for then Gestapo oppression would become all the more severe.

"If and when we are ready to strike, we must do it in a manner that will capture the popular imagination," he contended.

"What our country needs is light—the light of freedom of expression, the light of free interchange of information with the outside world, the light of untrammelled inquiry. 'Let there be a light' should be a catching slogan for our Underground, a slogan that will seize popular imagination.

"What better evidence could we give to our adversaries that Adolf Hitler and his clique do not speak for the German people, than that of lighting the streets of the cities which we wrest from the Nazis ... Our present adversaries will then know in what direction we move, and where they may count upon collaboration in their effort to cleanse the earth of the scourge of Naziism."

Jobs Must Be Ready

ward answer to straightforward questions.

Continuing, Jim Bracken touched upon Dominion-Provincial relations. He said that one of the first actions of the new government, if he should be its leader, would be to call a Dominion-Provincial conference where a rational readjustment of Dominion-Provincial relations could be brought about. The attitude of the party toward co-operatives, international trade and peace and agriculture were outlined by the speaker.

Gordon Fraser, M.P., introduced the speaker and said: "The more you know him the more you'll like him. He weighs each question well, was the premier of Manitoba for twenty years and is a man who is a statesman and not a petty politician."

Good Sense.

Mrs. F. E. Birdsall extended greetings to Mrs. Bracken on behalf of the women as the presentation of a basket of roses was made by Miss Ann Nickle of Madoc. W. E. Tummon, ex-M.P., extended the sincere appreciation of the convention which had admired the manner in which Mr. Bracken had put before them the issues of the day. Mr. Bracken has the ability to think clearly and to say what he thinks clearly and courgeously. He then read the following resolution: "Be it therefore resolved, that the Hastings-Peterborough Progressive Conservative Association here assembled, declare and affirm their approval of the policies of the Honorable John Bracken and the Honorable George Drew."

Earl Desmond, M.P. spoke of one quality possessed by the candidate, namely horsesense. He said he had noted that George White had battle dfor every group of his constituents. He is the spearhead of the group of soldier M.P.'s who are standing for the rights of veterans of the last war and the boys and girls who are over there now.

Richard Bell, the final speaker, said there were three things which called for careful attention: Poll organization; organization among men on active service, and women's organizations.

PINS ON SIGN OF LIBERATION — While an armed patriot and civilians look on, a British parachutist pins the Union Jack on the arm of a small boy, who looks bewildered. The climax of the British flight in the Mediterranean came when they landed parachutists from American C-47's over Megara airfield in Greece.

Compensation Costs Growing

TORONTO, Oct. 26—At a meeting of directors of the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations at the Royal York Hotel yesterday, F. J. Overend, The Peterborough Lumber Co., Ltd., chairman of the Woodworkers Accident Prevention Association; H. A. Cranfield, Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., chairman of the Central Ontario division of the Associations; and L. H. Ingram, The Quaker Oats Co. of Canada Ltd., chairman of the Millers and Feed Manufacturers Accident Prevention Association; attended. Mr. Overend presented the report for the Woodworkers.

Addressing the meeting, William Morrison, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board, told the executives that in 1943 the Board paid out over $1,800,000 for medical aid and hospital services, roughly 20 per cent of the total awards for the year. He pointed out that in 1915 there was no allowance for hospitalization or medical aid, while at present it is unlimited.

Speaking of compensation for the injured worker, Mr. Morrison again compared 1915 with the present. He said in 1915 compensation was 55 per cent of the workers earnings, now he gets 66 and two-thirds per cent. In 1915 the maximum earnings on which compensation was paid was $2,000 per annum, now it is on earnings up to $2,500.

Reviewing the achievement of increased benefits for workers. Mr Morrison said the overall average cost of compensation per $100 per payroll was $1.28 in 1915. At present the rate is $1.04 per $100 of payroll. In 1915 widows received $20 a month, now they get $45 with increased benefits for children.

J. P. Cauley, commissioner of the Workmen's Compensation Board, also spoke. E. O. Morgan, president of the I.A.P.A., was in the chair.

The Story Told

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 — (AP). — Captured records of telephone conversations between Field Marshal Von Kluge, German commander-in-chief in the west, and three German field generals were made public last night by the war department which said they showed what brought about the defeat of the German 7th Army in northern France. In the conversations, which took place July 31, Von Kluge complained repeatedly of heavy losses from the operations of Allied fighter-bomber planes.

Brigadier Lewis Found Dead In Belgium

WITH THE CANADIANS IN HOLLAND, Oct. 26.—(CP Cable.)—The body of Brig. Tom Lewis of Montreal, one of the most popular commanders in the Canadian Army, has been found on the battlefield in the Scheldt pocket.

Here the Montreal brigadier, who formerly commanded the 17th Duke of York's Royal Canadian Hussars, a reconnaissance unit which was among the forces to land on D-Day, led his men in some of western Europe's bitterest fighting.

He was the first Canadian brigadier killed in action in this theatre.

A Lieutenant-Colonel and Acting Brigadier, Brig. Lewis left his headquarters a week ago in a jeep to visit one of his forward units. En route, he met machine-gun fire from an enemy position and with his driver scrambled into a ditch, after which artillery fire came down on the German positions. When the artillery lifted, the driver scrambled from the ditch wounded and Brig. Lewis was dead.

YPU Hears Address On Christian Culture

HAVELOCK, Oct. 26 — (ENS) — The Christian Culture convener, Lorraine Page, was in charge of the program at the regular meeting of the Young Peoples' Society of the United church, Monday evening, when Mrs. R. W. Goheen was guest speaker on the topic "Christian Culture." She pointed out a few instances in the German and Japanest culture and compared them with our own Christian culture.

During the devotional period the Scripture lesson, taken from Psalm 119, was read by Robert Jack. A quiz of "Common Sayings" was conducted by Miss Page, after which games were enjoyed.

"Never mind, Elmer, we're saving enough for an extra Victory Bond"

"Confound this old sink, anyhow!" complained Elmer, "Why don't we get a new one?"

"That would be nice," answered Elsie, the Borden Cow. "But we can get along with this one if you'll just be patient. Besides, we can use the money to buy a Victory Bond."

"I've already planned for our Victory Bond purchases," announced Elmer.

"Silly!" laughed Elsie. "We can always buy an extra one, can't we? In fact, now is the time when we should give our fighting forces greatest support!"

"But Mamma," said Beulah, "isn't the war nearly over?"

"Things do look bright," replied Elsie. "But we mustn't let down our effort on the home front one little bit!"

Civil Servants Urged To Stand Together

A need for wholehearted organization among civil servants now, so that difficult years in the post-war era may be faced with a unified voice was one of the chief points stressed by V. C. Phelan, president of the Civil Service Federation of Canada, speaking before a meeting of the Peterborough and district civil servants Wednesday evening in the City Council Chamber.

Mr. Phelan warned the audience that civil servants can lose out sadly unless they stand together, in the number of years following the end of hostilities when economic conditions will be somewhat confused, and changes and adjustments made.

He said that in Peterborough, he could see an example of good organization, and that it is entirely unnecessary to dwell at length on the many advantages of such organization.

Mr. Phelan said in his opinion, nothing can give as much vitality to an organization as that of having official representatives from the headquarters make personal contacts with individual groups. Although the vastness of the Federation does not permit this frequently, it is hoped, he said, to make improvements along this line shortly.

He outlined to the members a comprehensive study of the progress made during the past year, and pointed out the policies on more important items of policy for the near future. Specific subjects such as superannuation and salaries came in for a detailed treatment by Mr. Phelan, and at an informal discussion period, questions unanswered in the members' minds, were brought into focus, with a clear explanation wiping away any doubt about the issue.

Held under the auspices of the Peterborough District Council of the Civil Service Federation, representatives of all branches of the civil service were present.

Mr. Phelan explained that the C.S.F., with a growing membership list of 35,000, is for the purpose in part, of bringing all affiliated organizations onto a common ground, and for dealing with general problems and questions.

For 16 years a crusader for the rights of the civil servant body, Mr. Phelan is credited with being to a considerable extent responsible for the high standard of civil service working conditions, rates of pay, pensions, and other present benefits. Along with his work in that connection, the 45-year-old civil servant is also information director for the Department of Labor.

WOULD WORK ON

The chief point in Mr. Phelan's discussion of superannuation problems, which, he said, has always been a matter of concern to the Federation, is that in the opinion of the Federation's president, the retiring age will not be reduced from 65 to 60 within any measureable length of time. He observed humorously that experience has shown the majority of civil servants wish a lowered retiring age when around 30 or 40 years of age themselves, but when the 60 year deadline rolls around, they invariably express their desire to remain for more years of service.

On the question of salaries, he hinted that some adjustments may be made in connection with increases for employees in the lower brackets. Already during the past year or so, he said, some progress has been made.

Whenever a major wage adjustment in a particular group is made, he said . . . floods of requests are received by the Federation from other groups wishing concessions.

"It isn't as easy as that", Mr. Phelan observed, pointing out that the fact the lid of the treasury is lifted a few inches does not mean the door is open, and adjustments and concessions are free for the asking. The wisest course to follow, he said, is that of "waiting a few days, then coming back to collect the rest". It is a policy of take what you can get now, then return for the rest later, he commented.

At the conclusion of his address, he said, "I feel there will be a definite need for organization now for the post-war period". Several rounds of applause followed Mr. Phelan's address.

He was introduced by A. E. Borland, president of the Peterborough District Council, of the C.S.F.

The Civil Service Federation of Canada was founded in 1909, solely for the bettering of working conditions in the Dominion Government service. During the past 35 years, it has been marked with a steady progess and success.

The thousands of members of the Federation comprise about four fifths of all organized Canadian Civil Servants.

A dinner was held earlier in the Palm Room of the Hooper store, at which Mr. Phelan thanked the Council for the pleasure and privilege of being asked to attend, and for the personal pleasure it afforded him to come into direct contact with what he termed "a faithful and well-organized" branch of the C.S.F.

Among those attending were Harry Pierce, vice-president of the Allied Labor Council, and H. E. Lang, secretary of the Peterborough District Council.

C.W.L. Plans Work For Coming Bazaar

MARMORA, Oct. 26 — (ENS). — The October meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held in Sacred Heart School Tuesday evening.

Mrs. O'Connor gave an interesting report of the Diocesan Convention held in Perth on October 3 and 4. A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. O'Connor by Mrs. J. Black for her report. The filling of ditty bags was then discussed and also articles for the fancy goods table for the coming bazaar.

The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. R. Macdonald and a report was given by the Red Cross conveners regarding quilts being made. Several quilts had been finished since the last meeting and those are to be sent overseas. It was decided that members would donate small gifts for the bingos played at the meetings.

Rev. Father Farrell congratulated the president on her report and spoke on the spiritual education of children and completed arrangements for work to be done previous to the bazaar.

The president suggested that members start mite boxes, each donating a penny a day and bring same to each meeting. Two readings were given by Mrs. J. Black entitled, "Rosary Time in Ireland" and "The Two Rosaries".

A few games of bingo were enjoyed, after which a lunch was served by the committee in charge.

Sewage Disposal, Lake Pollution Problems Reviewed By Dr. Berry

The inadequacy of Peterborough's disposal of sewage and the contamination of Little Lake, perennial and related municipal promlems hanging over the city's treasury for years, are discussed at length in the report of Dr. A. E. Berry, Director of the Sanitary Engineering Division of the Ontario Department of Health, which was read at the council meeting Monday night, and referred to the Board of Works.

Dr. Berry's review is a frank restatement of conditions which have been long recognized by the council, and increasingly understood by many of the citizens. He tells the council what should be done, a growing responsibility which the present council has been approaching as a postwar undertaking to the point of engaging M. U. Ferguson of Hespeler, experienced Civil Engineer and Bachelor of Science, Monday night as a temporary assistant city engineer to help in the preliminaries of planning and estimating of several phases of the sewerage and sewage problems, and also to aid in the contemplated works which the city has been pondering.

As to methods of disposal of sewage and thereby the completion of the plant across the river at the foot of Park street, Dr. Berry does not make any definite recommendation, but he does say with official assurance that "sludge disposal has now been developed to the point where satisfactory results can be assured."

Outlines Method

The present council and many of its predecessors have been held up, perhaps quite willingly and agreeably, by doubts of the efficiency of several means of sludge disposal which were locally regarded as continuing through an experimental stage. Dr. Berry now says that "satisfactory results can be assured," and he outlines in a general way a method which City Engineer Parsons has mentioned repeatedly in the sense of becoming accepted and adopted municipal practice.

As to the contamination of Little Lake, which he estimates as a highly desirable asset to the city, Dr. Berry mentions the several septic tanks whose effluent flows into the lake, an obnoxious expedient which Alderman Glover only had in mind when he said at a council meeting "we should clean up our own back yard first." The element of priority was directed toward contamination from the plant of Canada Packers Limited, cited in a largely signed petition of complaint from residents in the Crescent-Lock, Perry, Lake and Romaine streets section of the city.

Apart from the more detailed practical engineering recommendations which the council evidently hoped to receive from Dr. Berry, his report was considered comprehensive, clear and urgent, likewise "courageous," and the council passed a vote of thanks to him for the time and thought he had devoted to these Peterborough problems.

The Report

The text of Dr. Berry's report follows:—

"A number of problems have arisen at Peterborough in respect to the sewerage system, and the methods of disposal, and it is highly desirable that steps be taken to deal with this in the post-war period. For this purpose it is desirable now to proceed with the necessary plans and to determine the expenditure that will be required.

Tank Inadequate.

The sewerage system for the main part of the city has been constructed to provide an outlet at a sewage treatment plant adjacent to the Otonabee River and in the vicinity of Park Street, in the township. This activated sludge plant has now been in operation for a number of years and certain changes and additions are essential. All sewage does not flow to this main plant. There are two other outfalls, one from a septic tank installation, discharging into Little Lake in the vicinity of Maria Street. Another septic tank discharges into the same water course and takes the sewage from the Wartime houses at Burnham's Point. The latter was constructed during the war, but was to be regarded as a temporary measure only. The other septic tank has been in operation for a considerable number of years, and is inadequate for the purpose intended.

In addition to these various outfalls for musicipal sewage, Little Lake receives wastes from Canada Packers plant, adjacent to George Street. There was also noted a storm sewer discharging into this Little Lake, adjacent to the park area (McDonald's Point). At this time it carried certain wastes, but it was not certain whether these were of an objectionable nature. They appeared to be industrial in origin, and it would be necessary that a further check be made on this to ensure that this material is not offensive.

The condition of the water in Little Lake calls for action on the part of the city. This is a most attractive water course, but it is now being polluted from different sources. It is highly desirable that steps be taken which will completely eliminate this and will enable the city to fully enjoy the advantages of a lake of this kind. Few places are so fortunately situated as to have a body of water of this kind available, and it would be most unfortunate if pollution continued to be discharged into it. The sewage reaching this lake from the two septic tanks is only partly treated. At the time of this inspection the wastes from the Canada Packers plant was causing a highly objectionable condition at the water's edge and in the vicinity of the creek, at the bridge which crosses George Street. The wind on this particular day was blowing tomato waste and a greaselike substance on to the shore, and creating a most unsatisfactory situation. Under no circumstances should wastes of this kind, or sewer outfalls, be permitted to pollute this fine body of water.

Can Be Corrected.

The correction of this condition in Little Lake is not a complicated one, but it does involve the installation of pumping equipment as well as certain changes in the sewerage system. The objective here must be to collect all the sewage and other wastes now discharging into Little Lake and take them through the main sewerage system to the treatment plant on the Otonabee River. In this way the pollution will be carried below the city and to a plant where, with changes, it can be adequately dealt with.

Insofar as the two septic tank outlets are concerned, these can both serve as collecting tanks for pumping stations. It will be necessary in this change to install a force main and carry the sewage along Burnham's Point to a place where it will cross Little Lake, and can be discharged into one of the main sewers of the city, in the vicinity of George and Rink Streets. The details of the pumping stations here and the force main, as well as the river crossing can be worked out quite readily. They do not appear to involve any unusual difficulty. The outfall at Burnham's Point, for the Wartime Housing installations, was made with this in mind.

A problem arises where the creek crosses George Street. The bridge here is somewhat narrow, and a 24-inch wood stave pipe was constructed above water when this bridge was built. The sewer at this point does not appear to have sufficient capacity, and in order to take care of the flow from Canada Packers and from the remainder of the city which passes this point, it would be desirable to enlarge the sewer on George Street. This can be done by constructing an inverted syphon to the north of George Street and carrying it to connect to the same sewer in the vicinity of Rink Street. By doing this, not only will the capacity be increased, but it will not be necessary to disturb the bridge and road surface. At present the 24-inch pipe crossing the bridge is holding back an accumulation of debris in the creek, and causing an offensive looking condition. When this change is made, it should be quite easy for Canada Packers to carry their wastes into the sewer and have them dealt with at the sewage treatment plant.

Must Use Pump.

It is likely that pumping will be necessary in order to get the wastes from the Canada Packers plant into this sewer. This, however, is not a great problem, but is a practice which is followed in a great many places. There arises in this the question of the degree of treatment which the city should ask the plant to provide before these wastes are accepted into the sewer. Industries are expected to provide a reasonable degree of treatment for highly offensive wastes. Packing wastes come into this category, and similar conditions obtain in other centres. A reasonable requirement here would be the installation of fine screens to remove such of the material which is present in packing house wastes, and also tanks which would enable the grease from the waste to be taken care of. The grease should have some value when recovered, and the screenings will offer a minimum of difficulty in their disposal. It is doubtful if it is desirable to ask for any additional amount of treatment of these wastes than is indicated above. This degree of treatment will prevent choking of the sewer, and it will facilitate the work required to treat the wastes when they reach the sewage disposal works.

The activated sludge-sewage treatment plant which has now been in operation for a considerable number of years does not have facilities for disposal of sludge. The completion of the plant in this respect is therefore essential, in order to properly protect the river and to overcome the complaints which have been prevalent from the townships downstream. The procedure which is followed at the plant now in respect to the sludge is not at all satisfactory, and this condition will obtain until a proper method of disposal of the sludge has been provided.

Sludge disposal has now been developed to a point where satisfactory results can be assured. There are different ways by which this can be brought about, and it is one of determining costs and the most efficient method of dealing with the problem. A odor control will be an essential requirement. A common method of providing sludge disposal facilities is sludge digestion with sludge dewatering. The materials can be used as a fertilizer or can be disposed of at a convenient place.

Digestion takes place in closed tanks and the gas given off is used to heat the digesting sludge and thus to hasten the decomposition. When this leaves the tank it is relatively free from objectionable odors, and can be dewatered by vacuum filtration or by other methods. It also has some fertilizing value, but if a market or a place for disposal on the land is not available it can be dumped at any convenient point without creating an offense.

When this sewage treatment plant is completed, and it is provided with sludge disposal works, as well as any other changes which may be required after this period of service, it should take care of the situation quite effectively, and should eliminate any cause for complaint of unsanitary conditions in the river below Peterborough.

The sewerage situation in Peterborough is of somewhat long standing. There is need that this be taken care of at the first opportunity, and it is desirable now that plans be prepared so that the work may be carried on in the post-war period without delay. It is also suggested in this project that the city avail themselves of knowledge as to what is being done in other centres. Visits both to plants in Ontario and in the United States will be most beneficial in this respect."

V.O.N. Handles 49 New Cases

Forty-nine new cases registered, with 119 cases in all under care, and 460 visits during the month of September, were reported by Miss Mary Ross, superintendent at a meeting of the board of the Victorian Order of Nurses Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Ross again mentioned the small number of mothers and babies coming under V.O.N. care on their return from the hospital, and said that the publicity committee had decided once again to distribute pamphlets outlining the V.O.N. services, in the maternity wards in the hospital. Quoting figures, that out of 51 resident births, only 13 came under V.O.N. care, the superintendent said that she felt that there was no better setting for the teaching of health habits in the home, than through contact with the mother and baby, and young children.

Miss Ross quoted statistics showing the average yearly death toll taken by various diseases, including tuberculosis. She continued by explaining that nutrition surveys revealed that only 40 per cent. of Canadians are adequately nourished, and that 20 per cent. were seriously under-nourished. She felt that education was the solution to the prevention of ill health, so that people would shorten the gap between what they knew about health, and what they put into practice.

The teaching content of V.O.N. visits to mothers and infants was discussed in staff conferences during the month, and three meetings were addressed, the King Edward Home and School, the North-End Group of St. Paul's Ladies' Aid, and the ratepayers of Smith township. Eight cases were referred to Miss A. Jamieson, the new family aid advisor. Miss B. Jackson, who spent September in Peterborough, has left for Fort William, where she is introducing the V.O. nursing service, and a recently opened branch of the V.O.N.. in Kingsville brings the total to 100 V.O.N. branches in Canada.

Lunch Boxes Spare Rush At Restaurant

Lunch boxes for the white collar worker, in addition to factory employees, are becoming quite a fad With restaurants so crowded these days, it isn't unusual to spend half a lunch hour waiting to be served, so that the custom of carrying lunchs proves economical, as well as eliminating the rush and bustle of a retaurant meal.

However, there's always a catch to any new idea, and there's one here too, with the housewife the one who "catches it". Chances are she has other lunches to prepare, for her school-age children, and members of her family who are working in war plants, and even one extra lunch box is an added burden, because it takes more time, and more ration coupons.

The lunch packing problem can be simplified, however, by planning the menus ahead of time, and preparing as much as possible right after dinner the night before. Easily prepared, but nutritious foods should be used, and as few rationed foods as possible.

Sandwiches Popular

The backbone of a lunch box, is, of course, sandwiches. Left-over meat in the ice box can be ground up and used for filling, or jelly, cheese, and non-rationed spreads. For variation, try using soda crackers for the sandwiches, and since they don't require any butter, they save on coupons.

If the family boasts thermos jugs, use them for vitamin-rich soup. Vegetables can be worked into the menu by using them in sandwich spreads or in salads, which can be packed in small covered jars. Raw carrot sticks are an ideal suggestion. Fruit, either whole or cooked, is also excellent for dessert, and furnish some extra needed vitamins. And, a few cookies or a piece of candy, to top off the meal, is a real morale booster.

However, the housewife should plan her breakfast and dinner menus at home so that they will supplement the box lunch, and supply all needed nutrition, according to the Basic Seven rules. Meals planned in advance always simplify the problem, and many homemakers set aside some time at the beginning of each week to plan menus for the coming week.

Tailored Suits Fashion Note In Paris Shops

By MARGARET ECKER.
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

PARIS, Oct. 26 — (CP).—A Paris fashion show is a two-ringed circus. It's just as much fun to watch the people attending as it is the mannequins.

The war certainly hasn't robbed the French women of their feminity and you wonder if they came to the fashion show to look at the new fall clothes or at each other. It's a toss-up which is smartest anyway.

They click in with their ridiculous high clogs and real silk stockings and every single one of them, as they take their places at the fashion show, is sure she looks attractive and is sure the rest of the world thinks so. Maybe that's the secret of the Parisienne's charm.

They drip mink and fox and they are chic. They're wearing black just now, but with a difference — black suits so well tailored they hurt, worn with enormous velvet turbans, enormous hats of colors you never dreamed of wearing with black at home.

Dream Clothes

There as a blue, cuddly house coat covering bright pink lounging pyjamas, with pink and blue bootees. There was a bright red coat flowing full from the shoulders, and lined with black fur. There was an evening gown of bronze net, studdeed with gold sequins worn with a floating scarf that might have been a costume for "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

There was lots of black in the show, beautifully made. Suits and dresses, sometimes with touches of velvet. There were tartan dresses with flowing pleated skirts. There were wool dresses whose bodices seemed to have got their inspirations from the battledress blouse, complete with two deep pleated pockets and bloused back.

CAPTURED BY NAZIS—Here is a photo of Gertrude Legendre, New York society woman, who, according to a German broadcast picked up in London, has been captured by German forces while on the way to the German village of Wallendorf, near Trier, with a staff officer. Miss Legendre went to France as a liaison officer between the Allied Expeditionary Forces club and the U.S. Army. She is described in the German broadcast as the daughter of a well-known carpet manufacturer, John Sanford of Amsterdam, N.Y.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, October 27

AN UNUSUAL congeries of planetary forces should combine to make this a memorable day, with exceptional, thrilling and radical circumstances, which may cause sudden upheavals, swift turns on all plans and objectives, and high achievements in spite of irregularities and unlooked for changes. It is probable that romance, social, domestic or affectional festivities may overshadow all other interests, although enterprise, initiative and industry should do much to put the affairs and fortunes on a firm and enduring basis. Elders and others assist to recognition and rewards for clever, faithful and constructive performance.

A year of splendid opportunity and achievement is indicated for those equipped and stimulated to concentrated effort, hard work, diligence, sound judgment and objectives in which elders and others of stability and power may be interested. There should be versatility, astuteness and initiative devoted to developments. But possibly the highest and most pleasant culminations and returns will be found in social, domestic and romantic festivities. Sudden marriages, even elopements, may occur under such sidereal inspiration.

A child born on this day may have excellent talents and qualities of mind and character to assure it a romantic, secure and noteworthy career, despite reversals and turns of the wheel of fortune.

RELATIONSHIP AFTER DIVORCE

Wife Can Become Hostess to Husband-Star Boarder Where Both Normally Agreeable.

IN HOLLYWOOD, where they have perfected the art of severing the marriage bond painlessly and with no sore feelings left on either side, a film actress has gotten a divorce from her husband but retained him as her agent. She said he was a poor husband, but a good business man.

Fantastic as this proceeding seems, perhaps the amicable divorce is one way of eating your wedding cake and having it too, for no one can deny that the breaking up of thousands of homes is not because of the villany of husbands and wives, but the institution of marriage itself. The husband is a fine, upright man, esteemed by all who know him. The wife is a noble, Christian woman. If they were unmarried, they would be the best of friends, appreciate each other's good points and enjoy each other's society. But married, they clash continually. They get on each other's nerves and fight like cats and dogs.

Sometimes these husbands and wives, who cannot live together, find that they cannot live apart and remarry, but the second venture is seldom any more of a success than the first. The old antagonisms revive. They take up the old quarrels where they left off. It is no easier to stand each other's little peculiarities than it used to be. The matrimonial yoke galls in the same old places. Yet they both want their home and the comfort and security it gave them. Both love their children and want them.

Some Folk Lack Talent For Marriage

So perhaps the solution of the problem of the mismated is not remarriage, but to establish their relationship on a business basis. For there are many men and women who have no talent for marriage and who make poor husbands and wives. yet who are good providers and excellent cooks and housekeepers. Also, there are many men and women who would love their wives and husbands dearly if only they were not tied to them.

So why should not husbands and wives, instead of pulling down their homes above their heads, prop up the tottering edifices by reorganizing them on a strictly commercial basis? Why should not a wife, for instance, instead of turning her husband out of house and home, take him on as a star boarder, with whose comings and going she is not concerned, whose table manners she does not feel free to criticize, and whose diet she does not supervise?

On the contrary, she would treat him after the manner of star boarders who are pampered and catered to, whose opinions are listened to with rapt attention, and with whom the landlady never starts an argument. And on his part, the star boarder would live up to his role by paying generously for the coddling he receives, by never criticizing the cooking, or demanding an account from his landlady about how she spent her money, and keeping his thoughts to himself about her hair-does and new hats.

Maybe this wouldn't solve the divorce problem, but it would soften it, for about all that the average husband and wife ask of marriage is to be treated as well by their mates as if they were strangers.

Increasing Leadership

ALMOST 45 years ago, the first Carnation evaporating plant started work. Just one little plant then, turning out a few hundred cans of Carnation—now there are 65 Carnation evaporating plants and receiving stations located in the finest dairying sections of Canada and the United States, producing millions of cans daily of the milk with the red and white Carnation label. To win leadership . . . to hold and improve it . . . indicates that there has been a steady growth in the quality of Irradiated Carnation Milk—the brand of evaporated milk used by more people throughout the world than any other. Chinese Boost Victory Loan In Broadcast

A thirty-minute program, sponsored by a group of Chinese business men, Hum Hoy, Frank Hum, Shaun Yee, Hum Horning and Henry Young, in aid of the Seventh Victory Loan, was broadcast over CHEX Wednesday evening from the new Salvation Army Canteen on Charlotte street. During the broadcast, an appeal was made for the purchase of bonds, to aid China's forces, and other fighting Allies.

On hand to play the day's favorite tunes for the approximately 200 soldiers, sailors, airmen and C.W.A.C.'s, were the Melody Men, led by Hal MacFarlane, with soloist Bill Collison. Other artists on the program included Mrs. Mel. Shadgett, who sang "My Hero," Victor Coleman, singing "Killarney," and Pte. Russ Titus, an entertainer formerly with the "Army Show," and a singer with Paul Whiteman and Richard Himber, who sang "Melancholy Baby." Harry R. McLay was master of ceremonies, and George Bouck was announcer, both of CHEX commercial department. George Bouck was producer for the show.

Following the air portion of the evening's program, the service boys and girls were treated to another entertaining hour. They were asked to name tunes they thought the Melody Men could not play, and if the band really couldn't play the tune, the questioner received cigarettes, courtesy of Maurice Wesley, a box of salted nuts, donated by Ben Epston, or a theatre pass from Gordon C. Miller, Art Cauley or Sid Goldstone. Services of the orchestra and entertainers were volunteered for the show.

Two half-hour programs remain in this series, and will be heard on consecutive Wednesday evenings.

Last Offspring Of Victoria Dies In Sleep

LONDON, Oct. 26—(CP)—Princess Beatrice, 87, youngest and last-surviving child of Queen Victoria and mother of former Queen Victoria Eugenie of Spain, died today.

She was a great-aunt of the present King. Her family ties reached into many of Europe's royal families, some now deposed. She died at 5:10 a.m. (12:10 a.m. E.D.T.)

Former Queen Victoria Eugenie came from Switzerland by air to be at her mother's side. A son, the Marquis of Carisbrooke, also was in London. Two other children are dead.

Princess Beatrice died at Brantbridge Park, near the Balcombe, Sussex, home of Lord Athlone and Princess Alice. She had been in residence there since 1940.

The official bulletin announcing her death read: "Her Royal Highness died peacefully in her sleep at 5:10 a.m., this morning."

It is expected the King will order a period of court mourning.

Born April 4, 1857, and christened Beatrice Marie Victoria Feodore but known all her life simply as Princess Beatrice, she was governor and captain of the Isle of Wight since the death of her husband, Prince Henry of Battenberg, in 1896.

As governor, she had the title of coroner for the island, the only woman in Britain to hold it. She never held inquiries, however, the duties being discharged by a deputy coroner.

Princess Beatrice spent much of each year in Carisbrooke castle. She was an enthusiastic autograph collector, her albums containing the signatures of most European [illegible] and celebrities of the past 50 years. She aso collected phonograph records of classical music, and was noted for her paintings.

She was married to Prince Henry in 1885 on the Isle of Wight. Prince Henry died of fever aboard a British warship off the African coast taking part in the Ashanti campaign of 1895.

Princess Beatrice was an aunt of the late King George V, the late Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany and Queen Marie of Rumania.

TIME IS TELLING THE WONDERS AND COMFORT OF DR. LOCKE SHOES

FIRST . . . . he was criticized!
SOON . . . . . he was copied!
NOW . . . . he is cited!
ALWAYS . . he'll be cherished!

Here was a Country Doctor who not only knew medicine, but also the secrets of foot comfort and the type of footwear required to give foot health and comfort permanency.

He discovered, through research and from direct observation in treating over a million feet, that many body ills are caused by misfitted shoes or by wearing shoes made on the wrong lasts.

Realizing that no shoe can be greater than the correctness of the last over which it is built, his first aim was to "Build a Last"—one that was scientifically proportioned, natural and conforming, with the result that Dr. Locke's perfected lasts so revolutionized the American shoe industry that today the greatness of his fame rests equally on his "last" and on the shoe itself.

Women today find that both weak and strong feet walk in shoes made over his modern lasts with a moccasin-like comfort such as the American Indian enjoyed on the freedom of mother earth.

In addition, as a crowning glory to his world-famous lasts, Dr. Locke Shoes speak a language of beauty and smart style at every step.

SpongeCakes Save Butter

By MARY MOORE.

The argument for using lard and vegetable shortening for your butter cakes since butter rationing has been tightened is a good one. Some of our readers are making even better cakes now than they did with butter, because they are observing more closely the scientific business of making a cake.

However, I'm having such fun making all types of sponge cakes right now I think sponge cakes take the cake bow, and make excellent one-piece desserts, since they have high egg, hence nutrition, content.

Don't overlook the fact that when you serve such an eggy dessert the protein content of the main course of the meal may be reduced considerably. You can see sponge cakes for dessert with a vegetable plate would make the much-vaunted and "well-balanced meal."

Chocolate Almond Roll.

Six tablespoons sifted cake flour, 6 tablespoons sifted cocoa, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup sifted sugar, 4 egg whites, stiffly beaten, 4 egg yolks, beaten until thick and lemon-colored (beating after beating whites and allowing part of whites to cling to beater to "start' yolks foaming), 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 rule boiled frosting (see below), or 1 cup cream whipped. Sift flour once, measure sift cocoa once, measure, and sift both these together with baking powder and salt three times. Fold sugar gradually into beaten whites, then fold into them the beaten egg yolks and vanilla. Sift in flour and mix in a little at a time. Pour into long pan 15 in. x 10 in.—if you bake it in a shorter pan it will break when you attempt to roll it.

Pan should be greased, lined with paper and again buttered. Bake at 400 degrees Fahr. for 13 minutes. Turn out on damp towel, cut off crisp edges quickly after removing paper, immediately spread with Almond Boiled Frosting.

Bring to boiling point ⅓ cup corn syrup or boil to 240 degrees Fahr. ¾ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon corn syrup, and 1-3 cup water. Pour either of these syrups over 1 stiffly beaten egg white very slowly while beating constantly—flavor with ½ to 1 teaspoon almond flavoring depending on the strength of the essence. Spread on chocolate sponge (above) and immediately roll up. Any frosting that oozes out the end may be either pressed back into the folds of cake or spread on top.

Ladyfingers.

Three eggs separated, 2-3 cup of powdered sugar, ½ cup sifted cake flour, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Mix flour, salt, and 1-3 cup sugar and sift together 3 times. Beat egg whites until stiff and gradually beat in remaining sugar. Fold in vanilla and egg yolks beaten until thick and very light colored. Carefully fold in the dry mix, sprinking about 3 tablespoons at a time over surface. Press through pastry tube (or home-made pastry tube of heavy brown paper) on ungreased paper-lined pans, making strips 4 x ¾ inches or bake in ladyfinger pans. Dust with additional powdered sugar and bake at 350 degrees Fahr. for 10 to 12 minutes. Batter may be dropped on pans if desired, and lemon flavoring may be used in place of vanilla—these would be called Lemon Sponges.

HAWES' Lemon Oil

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I read your column regularly in the Examiner and have gathered many helpful hints and recipes in baking. I really enjoy baking when it turns out satisfactorily.

I am coming early with a problem with which I do hope you can help me. We are planning on holding Christmas this year and as I have 2 small children ages 2½ and eight months besides helping at the barn night and morning with chores, I want to have my work planned and finished well in advance so I can have time to put in the last minute touches.

I expect to feed 22 people for Christmas dinner and supper.

I am planning on having goose. I suppose it would need to be two geese. Now can you tell me how to make the dressing? what seasoning to use? how much? How long can I cook these ahead—or can one not reheat them? I have only one large roast pan, but if you advise it I can borrow another. Also only one oven. Should the gravy be strained after you thicken it? I think applesauce is supposed to be served with goose, and how would you go about it?

Could you send me a good Christmas pudding recipe and tell me what kind of dishes and how to go about it? I have never steamed a pudding in my life or seen one done so help would be appreciated.

Could you give me some nice salads to make for supper. I would like something using jello if I could get it, if not, gelatine.

I would also like a good ice cream recipe for putting in a hand freezer. We have our own maple syrup.

Forgot to mention I would have cold meat for supper — such as a meat loaf—not goose.—Mrs. L. M.

◆ ◆ ◆

ANSWER: My, you are ambitious. You will need 2 10-lb. geese to serve 22 people.

Roast Goose

Dress a 10-lb. gose, wash very well and dry. Stuff (below) and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Tie and sew securely with wings and legs close to body. Put in roasting pan with breast up, and cover with 6 strips thinly sliced fat salt pork. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. (very hot), and cook 20 min. per lb. in all. After first 15 minutes reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. and add 1 cup boiling water, and baste every 15 min. Remove pork strips during last 30 min. Serve with giblet gravy and baked apples or spiced applesauce.

Roast Goose Stuffing

(Quantity for 1 10-lb. goose.) Two tightly packed cups toast crumbs, 1 cup finely chopped celery, 1 small onion, minced, 4 tablespoons fat, ½ teaspoon each sage and salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Toast bread and crumble into small pieces. Fry celery and onion in fat for a few minutes. Add to crumbs together with seasonings. Add a little water and mix well.

Note: If the geese could be frozen or kept at a temperature as low as 38 or 40 deg. Fahr. this stuffing could be made, put in prepared geese, geese could be tied up, and put in their covered roasters and stood away three days ahead of Christmas day. They should not be cooked ahead of time. The giblets and their liquid could be used for the gravy and made 3 days ahead as long as it was frozen or kept very cold. If the gravy is lumpy by all means strain it, then add the giblets. You will need 2 roasters, and unless your oven is huge you will have to ask a neighbour to roast one goose.

The only things you have to know about applesauce for serving with goose is that it should be unsweetened—or if any sugar is added, very little. You may want to strain it to make it extra smooth. It is nice with a little cinnamon and nutmeg added when served with the main course. This could be made 2 days ahead if kept in glass or crockery and covered.

Please see recipes for steamed pudding and salads in this column next week.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Today we are giving you some desert recipes that will save you sugar. As you all know, sugar was the first thing to be rationed in Canada and it is likely to be the last thing unrationed, because we are told sugar supplies from many lands have been curtailed or entirely cut off and sugar is being shipped to our Allies under the lend-lease plan. Still more important is that sugar is needed in the manufacture of explosives and these are needed for victory. The following recipes will help make your portion of sugar go farther.

Victory Chocolate Cake

2 cups sifted cake flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup shortening, 1 cup corn syrup, 3 eggs yolks, well beaten, 1 package semi-sweet chocolate, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup milk, 3 egg whites, beaten. Sift flour, measure. Add baking powder and salt and sift together twice. Cream shortening thoroughly, add half of the corn syrup slowly, beating well. Add ¼ cup of the sifted dry ingredients, stirring in until well blended. Then add well beaten yolks and beat together thoroughly. Stir in melted chocolate and vanilla. Add remaining flour mixture in thirds, alternating with the milk, in halves, beating until smooth after each addition. Beat whites until stiff not dry. Very slowly add remaining corn syrup, to form a stiff meringue. Put this into cake batter. Bake in layer tins, in moderate oven 35 minutes. Cool in pans 10 minutes.

Peach Melba

1 can peach halves, 2 tablespoons corn syrup, ¼ teaspoon almond extract, ¼ teaspoon lemon juice, 1 pint of vanilla ice cream, 4 tablespoons raspberry preserves. Place one cup of peach juice in a sauce pan. Boil down until syrup is reduced to ½ cup. Add corn syrup and peaches. Poach peaches gently in this syrup for 10 minutes. Remove from the heat, add lemon juice and almond extract. Chill thoroughly. At serving time place a peach half in each of 4 sherbet glasses. Fill peach cavity with vanilla ice cream. Top with a second peach half and pour over some of the peach juice. Garnish with raspberry preserves.

Gingerbread Apple Sauce Pudding

5 apples, ¼ cup honey, few grains nutmeg, 1 package ginger bread mix, ¾ cup water.

Peel and core apples, cut into thin slices. Place apples in bottom of deep greased baking dish, add honey and sprinkle lightly with nutmeg. Cover and bake in moderate oven 15 minutes. Meanwhile add water to gingerbread mix according to directions on outside of package. Pour gingerbread mix over apples in dish. Return to the oven and bake uncovered, 35 to 45 minutes longer or until a cake tester comes out clean. Pass light cream sweetened with honey.

Come smiling through the door.
—Ever remembered, mother, daddy, John and Beverley.

BROWN—In loving memory of a dear father, William Thomas Brown, who passed away Oct. 26, 1941.

If all the world was ours to give
We'd give it yes and more,
To touch his loving hand
To see his smiling face
Within our home once more.
—Ever remembered by wife and daughters.

Hockey Mentor's Son Home; Escapes Huns

QUEBEC, Oct. 26 — People who saw Art Ross, rugged manager of the Boston Bruins, Boston's entry in the National Hockey League, saw something a little new in him today.

The usually grim countenance which has been presiding over the practice sessions of the "Beantown" boys, was wreathed in smiles. It was wreathed in smiles, because "Art" was accompanied by a tall Flight-Lieut. of the R.C.A.F., who bore the name of Arthur H. Ross, Jr., an eminent member of Canada's Air Force that had just been reunited with his famous father after he had returned to Canada, following an amazing adventure in occupied France. Flight Lieut. Ross crashed in enemy territory last June and was reported killed. He escaped capture by the enemy by disguising himself as one of the Maquis, and after having eluded German patrols, reached Paris in time to contact the advancing Allied forces in Paris.

The young flier, who was accompanied to Quebec by his charming wife and who is the father of a baby son, took rooms at the Chateau Frontenac where his father is presiding over the destinies of the famous "Boston Bruins," as they complete their training in preparation of the forthcoming opening of the "Bruins" squad against the Montreal Canadiens in Montreal Saturday.

I'm very happy and very proud", said Art Ross Sr, when questioned as to his feelings upon his reunion with his sky-riding son. Earlier in the day, young "Art" had expressed his sentiments in saying that it was "good to see the old man again". He plans to spend a few days at the Chateau and then go with his father to witness opening of the National League Hockey season when Canadiens clash with Bruins.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

Toronto fans got an action preview of their 1944-45 Maple Leafs last night when Bob Davidson's Blues swamped Lorne Carr's Whites before 12,000 fans. A line centred by Ted Kennedy with Nick Metz and Bill Ezinicki on the wings was top scoring combination with four goals. Frank McCool of Calgary, slated for the Leaf goaltending assignment this season, looked good in the Blues' nets.

Winnipeg is assured of first-class hockey this season with plenty of former N.H.L. talent now performing in the City Inter-Services League. The R.C.A.F. squad boasts such defence stars as Cpl. Wally Stanowski Toronto Maple Leafs, PO. Bill Judza, New York Rangers, AC- Jack Stewart, Detroit, and up front has Cpl. Pete Langelle, Toronto, and LAC. Neil Colville and Cpl. Alf Pike of New York. Pte. Alex Shibicky is the standout of former pros with the Army while the Navy will depend almost entirely on amateur players.

Boston Bruins, warming up for their N.H.L. opener with Canadiens at Montreal Saturday, last night whipped a team from H.M.C.S. Montcalm 8-1 at Quebec. Bill Cowley and Pete Leswick each scored two goals for the Rossmen.

Patrick Joseph Murphy, 70, old-time sportsman who was a member of the old Ottawa Capitals lacrosse team when they were recognized as champions of the world, died yesterday after a short illness. He was also a member of the Ottawa College football team that won the Dominion championship at the turn of the century.

Staff Sgt. Joe Louis doesn't want to consider any ring championship bouts until he is back in civilian clothes. "Let's get this war over first," he said when asked at Philadelphia yesterday about a report from New York that Mike Jacobs is planning to match him with Billy Conn next summer if both boxers are out of the service. "I don't think I can discuss such a match now."

Remember When—

Tony Canzoneri decided to "stop kidding" himself five years ago today. The former holder of the world's feather, light and junior welter titles decided one fight—with Brooklyn's Al Davis—would decide his ring future. If he lost he'd retire, if he won he'd continue in the profession where he starred for 20 years. He lost.

Lack Of Arenas Shelves 2 Quebec Teams

Montreal, Oct. 26 — (CP). — The Inter-Provincial Hockey League will open its schedule Nov. 3, it was decided last night at a meeting of officials of the new Senior B. League. Four teams have entered, Cornwall, Ont., Flyers; Valleyfield, Que., Braves; Shawinigan Falls, Que., Cataracts and Lachine, Que., Rapids.

Teams from Longueuil, Que., and Montreal East also applied for franchises but their results were turned down since they had no arenas for home games.

Delpha Sauve of Valleyfield was elected vice-president of the League. Bob Lebel of Montreal is president.

Lex Cook of Cornwall, Maurice Gagnon of Lachine, Theo Racette of Shawinigan Falls and Romuald Theoret of Valleyfield were present at the meeting.

A partial schedule was issued as follows:

Nov. 3, Valleyfield at Cornwall, Nov. 5, Cornwall at Valleyfield; Nov. 10, Shawinigan Falls at Cornwall; Nov. 12, Cornwall at Shawinigan Falls; Lachine at Valleyfield; Nov. 16, Shawinigan Falls at Valleyfield; Nov. 17, Lachine at Cornwall; Nov. 19, Cornwall at Lachine; Valleyfield at Shawinigan Falls.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

THE ODDS ARE TERRIFIC

WHEN YOU double a less-than-game contract which, however, is high enough to become a game contract by virtue of your double, you are laying terrific odds. The size of your own score, in case you beat it a trick or two, is increased only a moderate amount, whereas the size of the declarer's amount is tremendously raised if he makes the contract. At such a time, you should be almost as certain as death and taxes that you will beat the contract, or else you should forget about doubling.

North: ♠ J 8 7 4 2 ♥ 10 6 3 ♦ 5 ♣ Q J 10 9

West: ♠ 10 6 3 ♥ A 9 8 7 2 ♦ K Q J 6 4 ♣ None

East: ♠ A K Q 9 5 ♥ J 4 ♦ 10 9 ♣ K 7 4 3

South: ♠ None ♥ K Q 5 ♦ A 8 7 3 2 ♣ A 8 6 5 2

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	2 ♦
Dbl	Pass	Pass	3 ♣
Pass	Pass	Dbl

If that contract could have been set one trick, the not doubled score would have been 50 points, the doubled score 100, only 50 more. Compare that with what South stood to gain if he made it—a game worth at least 300 points, plus the doubled value of the tricks worth 120 points, plus 50 for making the doubled contract, or 470 all told. Add to that the value of a doubled extra trick if South managed to gain one, and you have an extra amount of 100, or 570 all told.

That is exactly what happened. South made an extra trick and so scored the equivalent of 570 points, a gain of 490 over the 80 which would have been made by the 3-Clubs not doubled if an over-trick resulted. So East had given odds of 490 to 50, or nearly 10 to 1, as it turned out.

South lost only three tricks after the spade 10 was led. One was the over-ruff of a diamond trick, the club K overtaking the 10. One went to the heart A and one to a diamond after the dummy was out of clubs.

Of course East's double would have been a bad one, even if the odds had been an even money bet.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ J 10 8 ♥ A 8 5 ♦ 9 ♣ K Q J 9 8 5

West: ♠ 7 5 ♥ 9 4 3 ♦ J 10 3 2 ♣ A 7 6 3

East: ♠ A Q 9 6 3 2 ♥ J 7 6 ♦ Q 8 6 4 ♣ None

South: ♠ K 4 ♥ K Q 10 2 ♦ A K 7 5 ♣ 10 4 2

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

Why should South, playing at 3-No Trumps, decide to blank his king if West leads the spade 7 and East puts on the queen?

Plastic, Wood Toys Said Plentiful

OTTAWA, Oct. 26—(CP)—Santa Claus received a cheering message from the prices board today: more and better Christmas toys this year.

More of the toys in yuletide stockings will be made of wood and plastic and fewer will be of paperboard, although paperboard has been used to a considerable extent for toys to which it is suited.

Metal toys will not beincluded in Santa's pack until 1945, the prices board said, because it likely will be several months before the toy industry can take advantage of the recent lifting of restrictions on the use of metal, and then only if manpower and materials are available.

The supply of Canadian-made dolls will be adequate to keep little girls happy while there will be plenty of toy soldiers made of plastic.

Chemistry sets will be available and also sets of dolls dishes made of plastic.

There will be some doll carriages and wagons with metal wheels.

Removal of exchange restrictions with the United States will permit importation of toys and games which have not been available in Canada for the last two or three years.

September Rains Enough For Crops

TORONTO, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Moisture in most sections of Ontario during September was sufficient for the growth of fall crops, the Ontario Department of Agriculture siad yesterday in its monthly crop report. Only exceptions were Essex and Kent counties. First frost damage reported in southern Ontario was Sept. 16.

New fall wheat and rye fields appeared in excellent condition, although growth in some quarters was feared too heavy. Most counties reported that the seeded acreage of fall wheat would be almost the same as last year, but acreage in North Simcoe was estimated at 50 per cent below normal. Eastern Ontario showed a slight increase in the more hardy varieties.

Except in the northern area, farmers who have completed threshing reported splendid yields of high quality grain. A scarcity of custom threshers resulted in a portion of weathered grain. At the end of the month, about 25 per cent of the coarse grains remained to be harvested in Bruce Peninsula while corn, white beans, soybeans and buckwheat were the main cereal crops still to be harvested in other sections.

Extreme dry weather was blamed for disappointing crops of corn for ensilage. Leeds County reported a yield of only 75 per cent of normal and lower quality. Renfrew and Stormont 25 per cent and Glengarry about 50 per cent. While the acreage of corn for Husking was increased this year, yields and quality were variable with the Kent County crop estimated at 80 per cent of normal.

R.C.A.F. Chaplain Addresses Lakefield Women's Missionary Society

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 26 — (ENS) — Sqdn. Ldr. Gordon Porter, senior chaplain at Manning Pool, Toronto, outlined some of his experiences as chaplain in the R.C.A.F. during his 3½ years overseas, at the meeting Monday night of the Regent St. United Church W.M.S.

The speaker, a former Lakefield boy, was introduced by Rev. Mr. Kelly, following prayer by Mrs. W. W. Yale, a scripture reading by Mrs. Russel Little and a solo by Mrs. Ray Jackman.

The Chaplain explained his aim was to bring the men and women of the Services into closer understanding with God. Four and a half years ago, he said, he had joined the Chaplaincy and although his tendancy was slightly towards pacificism, and he embarked at Halifax, three and a half years ago. He arrived in Great Britain on Christmas afternoon, 1941.

From the Reception Centre they fanned out to their different training units, as at least three months more of training are necessary to get acclimatized to British flying conditions. This wait, irked Canadian boys who were anxious by this time to get a "crack at Jerry." he said. In the Operational Training Unit, the Chaplain was truly welcome, as it was here that the boys had their first touch of homesickness, which usually lasted for about six weeks. At that time, casualties in these units were numerous. Canadian boys, under proper leadership make intrepid fliers and fighters, but it is sometimes difficult for the British to get the Canadian viewpoint, he declared.

Cheery Message

A Chaplain's duty is to have a last word with the crew of each bomber, as they take off for night flights over Germany. He bicycles from plane to plane, having a prayer with one, a verse of scripture with another, a poem or a joke with another, but never sad or dolorous. The aim always to keep morale high. Long hours of suspense, waiting until the flight is due back again, then breakfast with the boys —those who come back—and the recounting of the night's experiences. Squadron Leader Porter was himself stationed with the Coastal Command boys, who have not only stamina and courage, but who are good finishers as well. They are frequently in the air for fifteen of eighteeen hours at a stretch, flying from Britain to Spain and back, watching for subs. On one such occasion, he told of two friends of his, who discovered such a sub, lying in wait for convoy. They attacked and before sinking, the enemy craft's guns brought down their plane. The crew was later rescued.

It is deeds like this which motivate our generation to work for a lasting peace and a secure way of life, so that the youth of the future may be spared the tragedy of war and can mobilize their energies for creative tasks. Security and peace must be realities, not just words.

Mrs. J. R. Hull sang a solo and Ben Burke, of Toronto, also sang. A vote of thanks was extended by Mrs. W. W. Leonard on behalf of the W.M.S. and seconded by Mrs. Ed. Millage, followed by the serving of refreshments.

Had Dizzy Spells; Backache; Gas Bloat; Praises Syntona

Suffered Year With Weak, Nervous Stomach; Tired and Rundown; Declares Syntona Herb Compound Gave Her Grand Results.

MRS. FLORENCE FLEISCHAUER

"In the past year I suffered so with a weak, nervous, upset stomach that my entire system became rundown," said Mrs. Florence Fleischauer, 128 Garfield Avenue, London, Ontario, in a recent report:

"I could scarcely eat anything without having awful gas formations, bloating and belching up of hot, sour liquids. Spells of heartburn with a feeling like a lump in my throat came over me after almost every meal. I was getting bad dizzy spells with little black spots coming before my eyes. My back was aching all the time and I used to have splitting headaches. This condition had kept up for so long that my nerves were all on edge. I wasn't getting my proper sleep at night and I felt tired and fatigued from the beginning of each day.

"I had tried so many things without getting any better, that when I read about Syntona it took a long time for me to make up my mind to try it. Now I am only sorry I didn't do so long ago. From the very first bottle I noticed my food was digesting better. I became so encouraged that I kept on taking it, and now I can say I haven't felt so good in years. I am eating hearty meals again without gas, sourness or bloating afterwards. The heartburn does not trouble me now and I am free from dizziness, headaches, and backache. My nerves have calmed down, too. As a result I am getting more sound, restful sleep at night and I do not feel tired and fatigued as I used to.

"I have already persuaded several of my friends to try Syntona, and I recommend it highly to everyone suffering as I did."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Party Leader Tilts With Drew

TORONTO, Oct. 26 (CP)—Leslie Morris, provincial leader of the Labor-Progressive party, said in a statement yesterday that "the issue in Ontario is not between the Labor-Progressives and Premier Drew but between the government and the majority of the voters."

Mr. Morris was commenting on a speech by the Premier to the convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. The Premier referred to advertisements in newspapers under the heading "Drew Must Go" and said the government would never go to "the Canadian Communists or their fellow-travellers for advice."

"My party is not filled with such a sense of its own importance that it pretends to advise the government on its actions or takes on itself responsibility for changing the present government," said Morris' statement.

It was "idle for Premier Drew to try to narrow the matter down to communists" when the Windsor city council, the Hamilton city council, the legislative committee of Toronto city council, 100,000 Ontario Trade Unionists and the Canadian Congress of Labor all had urged a special session of the Legislature.

Lt. Larry O'Connor Returns A Casualty

TORONTO, Oct. 26 — (CP) — Lieut. Larry O'Connor, Canadian Olympic games hurdler, arrived here last night, his right arm in a sling as a result of action at Caen. The Chatham lawyer and athlete was one of a group of 32 officers and 98 other ranks just back from overseas.

"My hurdling days are over," the 28 year old officer said. "There will be plenty of good new fellows to take my place."

O'Connor held the Canadian championship for 10 years. He landed in France July 5 with the second division and was a casualty 10 days later.

Have a Coca-Cola = Join in the fun

. . . or adding life and sparkle to Halloween

What's a young folks' party without refreshment? "Coke" is naturally a member in excellent standing with any group of youngsters. And there's no better place to enjoy Coca-Cola than at home, served ice-cold right from the family refrigerator. Have a "Coke" is the invitation that starts a party off right and keeps it going. Coca-Cola adds its own life and sparkle to the natural gaiety of youth. When young people get together, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes, symbolizes the sunny side of life.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

Cribbage Club Honors Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Ford

MILLBROOK, Oct. 26—(ENS).—Mr and Mrs. T. A. Campbell entertained the Cribbage Club at its regular gathering this week, the wives of the members being included among the guests. The special feature of the evening was a presentation to Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Ford, who leave next week to make their home in Peterborough, Mr. Ford having sold out his business. On behalf of the club, H. A. Kerr presented Mrs. Ford with a table lamp in green and cream pottery, and Mr. Ford with a walnut cribbage board. the work of Mr. T. A. Campbell, which was autographed with the names of fellow-members in the cribbage organization. Mrs. Ford has entertained the Cribbage Club, the membership of which is entirely men, on numerous occasions, and Mr. Ford has been a faithful member since its organization about four years ago. The hostess served lunch.

Canadians Make Spectacular Gains British Land On Schelde Estuary

Japan Loses 27 Warships; Vice-Admiral Kinkaid Says More May Have Sunk

Remnants Of Fleet Being Pursued By Carrier Planes

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 27—(AP)—A Japanese naval disaster, threatening momentarily to surpass the enemy's 35-warship loss in 1942 off Guadalcanal, stemmed today from an amazing gamble which succeeded in getting enemy warships perilously close to invasion beaches on Leyte in the Philippines.

The confirmed sinking or damaging of 27 warships, including three carriers and 10 battleships in a trio of naval-air encounters, tell a far from completed story.

Remnants of the once-proud Imperial Fleet which, it now can be disclosed, actually penetrated Leyte Gulf and attacked transports engaged in Gen. MacArthur's landings, still were under relentless air pursuit. MacArthur announced today his land-based Liberators have damaged an enemy light cruiser in the Mindanao Sea.

27 Confirmed

But, without the continuing achievements, the already-accomplished blows promise to lift Japan's losses beyond the 35 warships sunk or damaged of Guadalcanal in November, 1942.

Several enemy destroyers are known to have gone down which are not included in the confirmed 27.

Today, Vice-Admiral Kinkaid, whose outnumbered 7th Fleet turned the tide from threatened disaster into history-making triumph in Leyte Gulf, made clear much more remains to be catalogued officially.

It was Kinkaid who split up his Fleet, took on two enemy warship forces converging on the Leyte invasion scene and trounced both while submarines, warships and carrier planes of U.S. 3rd Flee surprised and dealt mortal blows to enemy flat-tops attempting a sneak punch from Formosa waters.

More To Come

Today Kinkaid told Dean Schedler, Associated Press War Correspondent in the Philippines, that the Japanese risked from 39 to 46 warships in the two battles near Leyte and only 20 retired. That general summary suggested from 19 to 26 enemy ships were bagged although it did not differentiate between sunk and damaged. But the 20 which got away were pursued by planes and, doubtless, as yet undisclosed damage was heaped on them.

MacArthur-Nimitz communiques on the two battles near Leyte, plus a flagship dispatch from Rear Admiral Daniel Barbey, listed 14 enemy warships confirmed as sunk or damaged in those two battles.

Americans Surge Deeper Into Philippine Group

By MURLIN SPENCER
Associated Press War Correspondent

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Leyte, Philippines, Oct. 27 — (AP). — American troops have carved out a solid 40-mile-long invasion front on Leyte Island and have surged deeper inland to free an additional 15 communities, a communique reported today.

The general advance continued, despite increased Japanese resistance west of Palo, in the north-central sector, and a counter-attack which was repulsed on Samar Island. American guns and planes bagged 76 Japanese aircraft during "intermittent harassing raids" on the invasion armada.

The Americans secured control of Leyte's eastern coast, from the northern tip to Dulag, when a juncture was made south of American-held Tanauan, some 10 miles south of Tacloban.

Simultaneously, the southern end of the Leyte Valley trap was being closed tighter by tank-led troops who captured two key towns in a drive that overran several communities off the main highways.

Capture Buri

Buri, previously by-passed because of its strong defences, was captured after severe fighting by forces punching up the valley's north-south highway. They previously took the Buri airfield and advanced several miles along the highway from the captured road junction of Burauen. Their main immediate goal evidently is Dagami, a communications town in the centre of the roadway.

Another unit pushing inland from the coast toward Dagami, captured Tabontabon, a river town 3½ miles west of Cathon Hill, where strong Japanese entrenchments have been encircled.

Among the additional communities freed by the Americans were Anibung, Tigbao, Canmangui, Hidang, Bolongtohan, Kalvasag, Calampanon Malabka, San Gabriel, Kanmonhag, Telgrafo, San Joaquin and Diit.

Japanese Make Important Gain

CHUNGKING, Oct. 27—(AP).—Japanese troops have captured the important communications centre of Ninguyan, 110 miles east of Kweilin, in a southward drive from Kiyang that has carried 60 miles in eight days, the Chinese high command announced today.

A communique said the Japanese made the sweeping thrust from Kiyang to safeguard the left flank of their Kwangsi offensive as Chinese troops jabbed at the enemy right flank. Fighting is now in progress southwest of Ningyuan.

The Japanese have brought up fresh reinforcements in an attempt to break the deadlock around Pingham, 115 miles south of Kweilin, the Chinese said.

Chinese troops gained 9½ miles southward in the move against the Japanese right flank from recently-recaptured Sinning, 90 miles north of Kweilin.

Leaves In Canada Likely Before War With Japan

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Size and nature of Canada's participation in the Pacific war theatre is believed to be under detailed study by the government, but so far a clear official picture of what is in store for the Dominion's armed services has not been made public.

However, as a result of isolated announcements and speculation based on ministerial statements it is understood the government is planning along these lines:—

1. No general concentration on the Pacific until the war in Europe is ended.

2. All services taking part on a re-voluntary basis and no home defence army men going.

3. Most servicemen returning to Canada for leave before continuing to the Pacific theatre.

U.S. to Command

4. Canadian forces co-operating closely with British forces with both coming under general over-all United States command.

5. Canadian forces entering the conflict from across the North Pacific rather than through the Mediterranean and Red Sea.

6. One-third of the navy's sea-going strength of 39,000 men and possibly about 350 or fewer of its 700 ships, including a pair of cruisers, and carriers and fleet of tribal class destroyers.

7. An army division — possibly a reconstituted 1st Division now fighting in Italy. This division might draw re-inforcements, if any were needed, from other divisions.

8. One-third of the R.C.A.F.'s 46 squadrons, made up of bomber, fighter and transport units.

9. Continuation of the supply of mutual aid to Allies with special emphasis on the Pacific.

Lots of Volunteers

The re-voluntary plan is understood to be giving the government little worry. Air Minister Power told a press conference he expected no difficulty in obtaining the force he wants and it is understood his colleagues, Defence Minister Ralston and Navy Minister Macdonald, feel the same way. Maj.-Gen. R. F. L. Keller, wounded commander of the 3rd Division, has said that even men in hospital ships are anxious for recovery so they can get in the war against Japan.

The cabinet is understood to be working out a plan by which men shifted from one war theatre to the other will be given an opportunity of visiting Canada for short leaves. Details of this plan — depending on the amount of transports available and the operating zone for which Canada will be responsible—have not been completed but it will likely be arranged on a staggered scale so Canadian forces in the Pacific would build up to scheduled strength during the leave period.

Churchill Fails To Mend Polish Breach

By ALEX SINGLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today 'A very good working agreement' had been reached with Russia on the problem of Southeastern Europe, but acknowledged his efforts to end the Russian-Polish dispute, prime objective of his mission to Moscow, had not proved successful.

Likening himself to a wandering minstrel of diplomacy, Mr. Churchill said he and President Roosevelt should confer with Marshal Stalin before the year ends. But he declared that "all is solid, sure and sound" among the three Allies.

The Prime Minister summed up the resuts of his conferences with Mr. Stalin as "highly satisfactory" and underscored the necessity for dispersing misunderstandings and forestalling them before they occur.

On Last Lap

In one of the shortest reports he has made after a major conference, Mr. Churchill spoke only about 30 minutes. The House granted his previously-expressed plea that it refrain from using the report as the basis for a general policy debate.

He touched but briefly on the military situation.

Asserting that "we are in the last lap" of the European war, Mr. Churchill declared:

"Let all hope die in German breasts that there will be the slightest division or weakening among the forces that are crowding in upon them and will crush the life out of their resistance."

While he said recognition of the French Provisional Government heralded return of France to "her rightful and historic role on the world stage," Mr. Churchill declared that the future of the world in the next few years depends upon United action by the United States, Russia and Britain.

"Other countries," he said, "will be associated, but the future depends on the union of the three most powerful allies. If that fails all fails; if that succeeds a broad future for all nations may be assured."

He frankly acknowledged a solution had not been reached in the long-stalemated dispute between Russia and Poland.

British Meet Heavy Defences

ROME, Oct. 27.—(AP). —British 8th Army forces advancing up the Po Valley along Highway 9 toward Bologna have come up against heavy German defences two miles east of Forli, Allied Headquarters announced to-day.

British and Canadian troops reached the Ronco river on a broad front and at several points patrols crossed the swollen stream but were withdrawn following sharp counter-attacks with tanks.

South of the Bologna-Rimini highway Indian troops also reached the river and sent patrols across. The river flows northward and empties into a canal south of Ravenna.

Vanguard 8th Army units advanced two miles nearer to Ravenna in the drive up the Adriatic coast and put a bridgehead across the Bevano river on Highway 16 at a point six miles south of the ctiy.

Heavy rain fell over both the 8th and Allied 5th Army fronts and generally impeded progress in all sectors.

American troops on Mount Belmonte threw back a heavy German counter-attack and others captured Il Poggio and Mount Mezzano, west of Vedriano, five miles southwest of the Bologna-Rimini highway town of Castel San Pietro.

Victory Loan Goes Into Slump

OTTAWA, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Canada's Seventh Victory Loan lost more than $7,000,000 of the gain registered in the first three days of selling when sales for yesterday—fourth day of the loan—dropped to $67,650,000, compared with the fourth day total of the sixth loan of $74,965,466.

Loan headquarters today announced cumulative total for the four days stands at $283,688,600 compared to the sixth loan four day total of $271,380,000. This loan's minimum objective is $1,300,000 which is $100,000,000 more than the minimum objective of the last loan.

Daily totals have been: Monday, $68,260,300; Tuesday, $77,269,800; Wednesday, $70,508,450.

Of Thursday's total, $32,941,000 was purchased by individuals to bring the individual sales total for the first four days to $126,340,100.

"This means the average purchases of the individual Canadians in this loan have been about $31,600,000 daily," it was stated at loan headquarters. "In the last loan, when individuals purchased a record amount of approximately $643,000,000, the average daily purchases amounted to $35,700,000. Taking these figures into consideration, the apparent gain which we show in this loan at the present time, is not so significant. The fact is that

Russians Drive Ahead In East Prussia

LONDON, Oct. 27.—(CP).— Fall of the important East Prussian communications centre of Gumbinnen appeared imminent to-day as the Germans announced evacuation of civilians from the path of on-rushing Soviet forces.

A Moscow communique declared last night the Red army had captured Grunweitschen, four miles southeast of Gumbinnen, and Guddinn, seven miles east of the city. Shirgallen and Amalienhof, 10 miles to the east, also were taken.

Unconfirmed reports from Moscow asserted the Russians were believed fighting in the outskirts of Gumbinnen, a city of 15,000 to 20,000. Gumbinnen is 66 miles south-east of the provincial capital of Konigsberg.

An American commentator, speaking over the Moscow radio, reported German civilians already were fleeing Konigsberg in panic.

The Russian communique said the Germans were offering fierce resistance in East Prussia as the Red army battled its way forward along the Kaunas - Konigsberg highway in hand-to-hand fighting in which at least 2,800 more Germans were slain.

Berlin, also reporting large scale battles, maintained the Russians had lost 900 tanks in 10 days and were being held except for "a few dents" on an 85-mile front from Augustow in the south to the Niemen river in the north.

Gain in Finland.

Other Russian forces driving through Northern Finland captured six localities in the Petsamo area, including Potkajarvi, 37 miles south-east of Petsamo, Moscow said. It added that security planes supporting the Norwegian invasion from Finland had sunk more than a dozen small German ships pre-

Establish 7-Mile Beachhead Enemy Defences Crumbling

Entire Allied Line Across Holland On The Offensive

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE FIRST CANADIAN ARMY ON THE SCHELDE, Oct. 27 — (CP Cable). — British troops of the First Canadian Army, assisted by Canadians, in a combined-operations assault across the fog-bound Schelde Estuary, have a 7-square-mile beachhead on South Beveland Island.

The attack took place yesterday morning, but a blackout was imposed on the news until now, for security reasons.

(There still was no confirmation of yesterday's German report of a landing on Walcheren Island, immediately to the west of South Beveland.)

The function of the Canadian troops who assisted the British infantry cannot be specified immediately.

While the British troops develop this beachhead, Canadian infantry have made spectacular advances along the eastern peninsula of South Beveland, and leading elements have reached the big canal which cuts off the peninsula from the main part of the island.

The British landing apparently surprised the enemy and beachheads were quickly won with light casualties to assaulting troops.

Speeds Campaign.

This landing and the Canadian drive along the peninsula have greatly speeded up the whole Canadian Army operation to destroy German forces on the Schelde and open Antwerp as rapidly as possible.

Progress of the Allied campaign on the Western front will be measured from the time Antwerp begins to operate

5 Miles Wide

Already the south bank of the Schelde river is practically cleared and the finishing touches are being put on the Schelde pocket job by Canadian infantry now closing in on Cadzand where there still are some guns which can shoot up the entrance to the Schelde estuary.

Now the emphasis is on clearing South Beveland and Walcheren Islands and the current operation is going very well.

In darkness early yesterday British infantry, with some Canadian troops supporting them, began crossing the Schelde which is from three to five miles wide. They were carried in amphibious vehicles and assault landing craft.

The first wave touched down about 4 a.m. and infantry leaped from the craft to storm over the 200-foot dike which rims the coast of South Beveland.

At some points there was opposition from machine-gunners dug in along the dike-top, but this was rapidly overcome and the beachhead firmly established.

Tilburg Surrounded Hun Counters Fail To Penetrate

LONDON, Oct. 27.—(CP).— The five-day British 2nd Army offensive surged toward Maas (Meuse) to-day in a three-mile advance which undercut the doomed enemy citadel of Tilburg in Holland while British troops of the 1st Canadian Army forged a seven-square-mile beachhead after a daring amphibious landing on the Schelde estuary island of South Beveland.

A field dispatch said all of 'S Hertogenbosch was in British hands by sunset last night. To the southwest, Tilburg was all but surrounded, and an Allied communique reported general progress on the entire line from 'S Hertogenbosch to the sea.

In a desperate attempt to relieve the pressure, the Germans launched a four-pronged counter - attack against the east flank of the Nijmegen-Arnhem salient from the vicinity of the German border town of Venlo, but a field dispatch said the enemy failed to penetrate the British lines.

The Allied communique said 1st Canadian Army troops, after bitter fighting, had advanced to within about two miles of Rosendaal, forcing a general enemy withdrawal along the line between Rosendaal and Tilburg.

Northeast of Tilburg, British armor and infantry crushed through an enemy screen of 88-mm. guns cutting the railroad and highway to 'S Hertogenbosch and spearheading what the communique described as deep penetrations of the German positions.

The communique placed British troops in the eastern and southern outskirts of Tilburg itself, and a field dispatch reporting the capture of Udenhout to the northeast, said patrols had entered the villages of Schoorstraat, northwest of Tilburg, and Molenstraat, southwest of the city.

Continued pressure but no significant progress was reported by the communique along the remainder of the west front. North of Aachen, units of the U.S. 1st Army made minor gains against stubborn opposition.

Prisoners Help Fight Germans

By PAUL MORTON

ROME, Oct. 27—(CP).—Behind the enemy lines in North Italy is being fought one of the strangest campaigns of the war. In the mountains and the plains of this great, so-called enemy-controlled area men of many races, creeds and political opinions are fighting side by side to bring the war to a swift and certain conclusion.

This is the story of the Italian patriots and their strange allies—prisoners of war of all the United Nations who escaped from prison camps during the Italian armistice last September, British and American airmen shot down over enemy territory but never captured because the patriots got to them first, German deserters and runaway conscripts of the Nazi satellites, and highly-trained British officers who have parachuted "inside" to establish liaison with the Allied forces attacking from France and from the south.

Americans Lose Six Warships

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—(AP)—American losses in defeating the Japanese navy in the Battle of the Philippines totalled six warships—the aircraft carrier Princeton, two escort carriers, two destroyers and a destroyer escort.

Naming of the vessels, except the Princeton, which were lost in sinking or damaging at least 27 Japanese warships, were not disclosed in the Navy's brief communique to-day pending notification of the next-of-kin of casualties aboard the ships.

No details, the Navy said, are yet available on circumstances of the loss of the ships, which probably carried a total of about 3,900 men.

A large portion of this total personnel was aboard the light carrier Princeton from which Admiral Nimitz, Pacific Fleet commander, has said more than 1,200 officers and men were rescued.

The lost carrier escort each carried a complement of probably 1,000 men, and each had a squadron of more than 21 planes.

Destroyer carry a normal complement of about 200 men, and destroyer escort about 160.

The six losses raise to 170 the number of warships definitely listed as sunk since the United States entered the war, December 7, 1941.

In addition 38 American vessels are overdue and presumed lost.

Jap Losses In Last 3 Days Exceed Pearl Harbor Toll

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

They say it's an ill wind that blows nobody good, but the only comfort the Japanese can get out of the United States hurricane which they ran into off the Philippine Archipelago is that their disaster was no worse.

With more facts about this historic engagement at hand—though the story is far from complete—we now can say with assurance that the enemy has suffered not only a major defeat but a decisive one. It's decisive in that it guarantees the Allies success in the great and difficult battle of the Philippines. And since these islands are the key to the war in the Pacific we know that this conflict will be greatly shortened.

Japan's navy, which was estimated to total about 200 ships before the current engagement, has been crippled. It's back has been broken by the heavy loss in capital ships.

Bulk of Warships

The Japs lost more than 27 important ships—how many remains to be confirmed. These included 10 battleships which Secretary of the Navy Forrestal estimates as representing two-thirds of all Japan had of these Leviathans.

It may help us to assess the full significance of the catastrophe that has overtaken the Mikado's navy if we recall what happened at Pearl Harbor in 1941. The brigands from the Orient sank or damaged 18 warships—and eight of these were battleships. That pretty well hamstrung the United States in the Pacific for a long time, and vastly contributed to the enemy success in overrunning strategic islands.

Well, that's the misfortune—multiplied—which now has been handed back to the Japanese. But their position is desperate, for they haven't the resources to recover from the blow as did the United States. They no longer are capable of facing the American naval forces for the Pacific fleet has several times the numerical strength of the best that Japan can muster. Not only that, but the admiralty announced the other day that it had started to move into the Orient a huge British fleet capable of giving battle to the entire Japanese navy—and this was before the Japs suffered disaster off the Philippines.

Has Little Chance

What chance has the Japanese fleet in face of all this? I think we may expect it to pull out of the South China Sea and return to the defensive. Probably much of it will be retained in home waters to shield the motherland against the Allied assault which already is boiling up.

This means that Japan—already short of warships to guard her long

Vice President Candidates In Hot Race

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(CP). —A slight, wiry Missourian and a handsome giant from Ohio are slugging it out for the vice-presidency of the United States, but their performance is almost lost in the blaze of publicity surrounding the main contenders in the presidential race.

They are Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri and Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, running mates respectively of President Roosevelt and the Republican candidate, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Mr. Bricker, tall, powerfully built and bearing some resemblance to Premier George Drew of Ontario, is 51. He wanted to be candidate for president but accepted second place on the ticket when it was apparent the Chicago convention was determined to nominate Gov. Dewey.

Mr. Truman, a slender, well-preserved and dynamic veteran of the First Great War, is 60. He gained prominence as chairman of the Senate committee investigating war expenditures and seemed happy in that role until political fortune snatched him as a compromise vice-president candidate when the Democrats clashed over the selection at the Chicago convention last July.

Both are campaigning with gusto throughout the country. Mr. Truman pleads for support of Mr. Roosevelt because of his experience and skill in meeting unprecedented problems of the last 12 years.

Mr. Bricker attacks the administration mainly on the basis of alleged wastefulness of public money and over-crowding of the public service.

"It is certainly not for want of trying," he said, adding: "I am quite sure however that we have got a great deal nearer to it."

But, he said, Britain, Soviet Russia and the United States "are all firmly agreed on the recreation of a strong, free, independent, sovereign Poland, loyal to the Allies and friendly to her great neighbor and liberator, Russia."

The Prime Minister expressed the hope that Poland and Russia would lose no time in resuming their discussions "and bringing them to an effective conclusion."

He said Hitler's remaining hopes rested on two factors:

"That by lengthening the struggle he may wear down our resolution and that division may arise between the Three Great Powers."

Opening a report on his visit to Moscow, he declared he was satisfied the results had been "highly satisfactory."

He said: "The present stage of the war is dour and fighting must be expected on all fronts to increase in scale and intensity."

"We believe we are in the last lap," he asserted, "but this is a race in which the failure to exert the fullest effort to the end may protract that end."

He reported that never were Britain's relations with Russia "more close, intimate and cordial than at the present time" and that never had the two countries been able to discuss such "most delicate and potentially vexatious topics" with such frankness as was reached at Moscow.

Some Differences

"Where we could not agree," said Mr. Churchill — acknowledging for the first time publicly that there were differences still outstanding — "we understood the grounds for each other's disagreement and each other's points of view."

But he maintained that "over an astonishingly wide area" Britain and Russia found themselves "in full agreement."

"Let all hopes die in German breasts that there will be the slightest division or weakening in the forces that are closing in on them and will crush the life out of their resistance," he said.

Mr. Churchill reported Russia and Britain had reached "a very good working agreement" about Greece, Romania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Hungary.

That agreement, he said, was designed with the double objective of concentrating their efforts against "the common foe and providing so far as possible for a peaceful settlement after the war is over."

Shifting to Allied recognition this week of Gen. De Gaulle's Provisional Government of France, Mr. Churchill said it could be regarded "as a symbol of France's emergence from four dark years of terrible and woeful experience."

It could be regarded as "heralding a period in which she will resume her rightful and historic role on the world stage."

He turned then to the problems of Greece, saying that when the country returned to "normal conditions of tranquility..... the Greek people shall bake in perfect freedom their decision as to the form of government under which they desire to live."

In the meantime, Mr. Churchill said, Britain was doing its best to stabilize Greek currency. Foreign Secretary Eden now is in Athens consulting with the Greek Government on that problem, he added.

A direct question as to whether Britain still wanted to defer until victory a decision on Poland's eastern border drew from Mr. Churchill the reply that he hoped an agreement would be reached "between the parties themselves."

"That, he said, "would bring the whole matter to the peace conference in a form most helpful and favorable to all concerned and also would tide us over the difficult and potentially tragic period through which we are passing."

Mr. Churchill spoke for about 20 minutes, in delivering one of the shortest reports he ever made following a major conference.

"Upon the tangled questions of the Balkans where there are Black Sea interests and Mediterranean interests to be considered we were able to reach complete agreement," Mr. Churchill said, "and I do not feel that there is any immediate danger of our combined war effort being weakened by divergencies fo policy or of doctrine in Greece, Romania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and, beyond the Balkans, Hungary.

Reach Agreement.

"We have reached a very good working agreement about all these countries singly and in combination with the object of concentrating all their efforts and concerting them with our efforts against the common foes and of providing so far as possible for a peaceful settlement after the war is over.

"We are in fact acting jointly—Russia and Britain—in our relations with both the Royal Yugoslav government headed by Dr. Subavitch and with Marshal Tito and we have invited them to come together in the common cause as they have already agreed to do at the conference between them both at Naples.

"How much better that there should be a joint Anglo-Russian policy in this disturbed and very complex area than that one side should be backing one set of ideas and the other the opposite. That is a most pernicious state of affairs to grow up in any country because it might so easily spread to misunderstanding between the great powers themselves.

"Our earnest hope and our bounden duty is so to conduct our policy that these small countries do not slip from the great war into internal feuds of extreme bitterness.

"We have invited them to come together and form a united government for the purpose of carrying on the war, and, of course, until the countries themselves can pronounce. All this of course is only a guide for the handling of matters from day to day because it is so much easier to come to an arrangement by conversation than by diplomatic correspondence, however carefully they are phrased or however lengthily they are expressed, or however patiently the discussions are conducted. But these workaday arrangements must be looked upon as temporary expedients to meet an urgency.

"All permanent arrangements await the presence of the United States who have been kept constantly informed of what is going forward. Everything eventually will come to review at some future conference or at an armistice or peace table."

"There were, of course, a good many serious military questions to be discussed. I had with me the Chief of the Imperial General Staff (Field-Marshal Sir Alan Brooke), Gen. (Hastings) Ismay, and other officers acquainted with the conduct of the whole of our military affairs and strategy, and we have also the advantage of the assistance not only of the American Ambassador, but also of the very able United States technical representative Gen. Deeds. All these discussionns were part of the process of carrying out and following up the great decisions taken now nearly a year ago at Teheran, which I think without exaggeration may be said to have altered the face of the World War.

"But naturally I cannot say anything about these discussions or decisions except that I found them very good indeed— the best that could be devised to lift the cruel scourge of war from Europe at the earliest possible moment.

"The most urgent and burning question was of course that of Poland, and here again I speak words of hope reinforced by confidence. To abandon hope in this matter would indeed be to surrender to despair. In this sphere there are two issues—two crucial issues. The first is the question of the eastern frontier of Poland with Russia and the Curzon line, as it is called, and the new territories to be added to Poland in the north and west.

"That is the first issue, and the second is the relation of the Polish government with the Lublin National Liberation Committee. On those two points, apart from many necessary ancillary points—on these two main points—we held a series of conferences with both parties. We held them together, we saw them together, and saw them separately and of course we were in constant discussion with the heads of the Soviet government."

Referring to Poland

In his reference to Poland Mr. Churchill declared:

"Speaking more particularly for His Majesty's government, is our persevering and constant aim that the Polish people, after their sufferings and vicissitudes, shall find in Europe an abiding home and resting place which, though it may not entirely conincide or correspond with the prewar frontier of Poland, will nevertheless be adequate for the needs of the Polish nation and not inferior in character and in quality, taking the picture as a whole, to what they had previously possessed.

"These are critical days and it would be a great pity if time were wasted in indecisions or in protracted negotiations. If the Polish government had taken the advice we tendered them at the beginning of this year, the additional complication produced by the formation of the Polish National Committee of Liberation at Lublin would never have arisen. Anything like a prolonged delay in the settlement can only have the effect of increasing the division between Poles in Poland and also hampering common action which Poles and Russians and the rest of the Allies are taking against Germany.

"Therefore I hope no time will be lost in continuing these discussions and pressing to an effective conclusion."

Cattle Trade Very Dull Prices Steady

TORONTO, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Cattle trade was very dull at generally steady prices and about 2,500 head were unsold at the close of trade, on the Livestock Market here this week. Calves, hogs, sheep and lambs were steady. Cattle trade was very dull from the opening. The supply of cutters, canners and boners on hand in the yards were sufficient for all next week's demand. During the week's trade weighty steers sold from $9.50 to $11.50 with a few top quality at $12. Butcher steers and heifers sold from $7.50 to $10.50. Fed yearlings ranged from $11 to $13.50. Butcher cows sold from $7 to $8.75, with a few up to $9. Bulls were $6 to $8. Stockers sold from $6 to $9 with good stock calves up to $10. A few milkers and springers sold from $100 to $140 each.

Calves were $14 to $15 for choice vealers, with common selling downward to $8. Grassers sold slowly from $5 to $6.

The accumulation of lambs was slowly cleared, with the exception of a few hundred, mostly common lambs. Choice ewe and wether lambs off car sold at $13 cwt. and off truck at $12.50. Bucks were $1 cwt. discount and culls sold from $7 to $8. Sheep sold from $1 to $4 cwt. according to quality.

Hogs sold at $17.25 to $17.35 for Grade B1 and $17.65 to $17.75 for Grade A off trucks at yards and local packing plants. Sows were $13 dressed.

Jap Fleet Has Retired Tokyo Radio Claims

LONDON, Oct. 27 — (CP) — The Japanese fleet has retired after its raid on Allied naval units in Leyette Bay, said a Tokyo dispatch to the German Transocean Agency today, recorded by Reuter News Agency.

The dispatch said the Japanese air force still was conducting operations in the area.

a steady flow of arms and ammunition to be dropped for their use in raids and ambushes and the daily miniature battles peculiar to guerilla warfare.

The B.L.O.S. wear regular army uniform and on the rare occasions when they are captured by the enemy they are entitled to be treated as prisoners of war. The missions have N.C.O.'s, each one highly-skilled in sabotage, wireless-telegraphy and demolitions. They are making a tremendous contribution to this war, avoid publicity like the plague and call themselves with affected scorn, "The Cloak and Dagger Boys."

But this is not their story.

Two months ago I parachuted into North Italy to live and travel with the patriots, to watch them fight. During this time I have been in the mountains and on the plains. I have seen them under all conditions. One evening I might be eating a good dinner with the patriots, dressed in Canadia nuniform and comparatively safe in a comfortable hotel, the next hiding in the hills drenched with rain while German patrols sought us with machine-gun and mortar fire. A lot can happen in two months.

This briefly is what I learned:

1. The Italians are terrific guerilla fighters and are doing their magnificent best to obey Prime Minister Churchill's injunction to "earn their passage home."

2. The Germans and Fascists are scared stiff of the patriots and consider them a mounting obstacle to their escape from final destruction.

3. The people of Italy are wholeheartedly behind the patriots and are prepared to do anything in their power to make every possible reparation for the shabby part the Italians have played in this war. They do a lot.

In Kitsilano, B.C., a lone gunman found three loan salesmen — Red Burleigh, Cam Hartstone and Lorne Tweed — too tough for him to handle. He attempted to hold up the Kitsilano branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce as the three were checking over bond sales and they helped in his capture.

Peterborough in the Lead

A survey of Ontario communities for the first three days showed that most were running ahead of the same period of the last loan. Figures gathered were on the basis of individual purchases only. Totals reported last night were Peterborough, $856,500; Kingston, $745,350; Brantford, $437,000; Owen Sound, $219,350; Galt, $183,500 and Cornwall, $109,350.

Including sales to special names and armed forces, Nova Scotia's provincial total had reached 22.77 per cent of objective.

A grand total of $3,644,050 was reached by C.P.R. employees at the end of three days, with $31,029 employees subscribing. Sub-totals were: Eastern Lines, $1,543,850; Western Lines, $1,177,100; Airlines, $462,100; Montreal Shops, $321,950 and Express, $140,060.

Hepburn Urges Brotherly Love

STURGEON FALLS, Oct. 27.—(CP).—Mitchell F. Hepburn, Liberal member of the Ontario Legislature for Elgin and former Premier of the province, warned a Seventh Victory Loan audience here last night Canada may lose all the great work accomplished by Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, if "radicals and hotheads can have their way and stir up racial prejudice."

"Don't say the same thing which happened in Germany and Europe under Hitler, can't happen here,' Mr. Hepburn said. "It can if we don't preach brotherly love, if we allow Hitlers to rise up in our ranks to stir up racial feuds.

"In our country, the French and English have lived in peace and harmony up to this point, and they can continue to do so."

Families Need Not Sacrifice Last Son

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(AP).—U. S. families which already have lost two or more sons in battle, with only one survivor, no longer face the sacrifice of that last one.

Secretary of War Stimson said yesterday that it now is the policy of the army to return to or retain in the U.S. "the sole surviving son of a family in cases where two or more sons have been lost," unless the surviving boy is engaged in non-hazardous duty overseas. Navy spokesman said the sea services have adopted the same policy.

Obituary

MISS ELEANOR J. JACKSON

BETHANY, Oct. 27—The funeral was held recently for Miss Eleanor Jane Jackson, daughter of the late Richard and Isobel Jones Jackson, who passed away at the home of her niece, Mrs. Ross Carr, in her 73rd year. The service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. Henderson, and held from the home of her brother, Thomas J. Jackson in Bethany. Burial was in St. John's Cemetery, Ida.

The large attendance of friends and the beautiful floral tributes were testimony to her unfailing goodness and kindness.

A faithful member of the United Church, she was born in Minden township, but at an early age, came to Bethany to live. Left to mourn her loss are her only brother, Thomas J. Jackson, and his wife, Ruby, a nephew, Vincent Jackson, and five nieces, Mrs. Ross Carr, Hazel Jackson and Mrs. Carl Smith, all of Bethany and Isobel Jackson and Margaret Jackson of Peterborough.

Pallbearers were Ross Carr, Vincent Jackson, Carl Smith, Milton Fallis, Ralph Rowan and Gordon Fallis, Lloyd Kenndy, Harold Johnston, William Rowan, Charlie Weatherilt and Creighton Carr carried flowers.

Dubs Toronto Problem City

HALIFAX, Oct. 27. — (CP). — Speaking at a service club meeting in Halifax, John W. Fisher, well known commentator, said last night that "the number one problem city of Canada is Toronto and not Montreal or Quebec." Discussing the problem of national unity, with particular reference to Quebec, Mr. Fisher said of Toronto, "That city mentally infuriate the people of Quebec."

Mr. Fisher added that French-Canadians thought highly of Great Britain and of the British way of life.

"It is a fact," he said, "that Quebec will probably be the one factor that will prevent Canada from going wholly American. Despite the fact that the French-Canadians love the British Empire's ideals, they feel a subversive spirit against them coming rom Ontario."

In concluding, Mr. Fisher asked: "How can we in Canada ever think about aiding the cause of world peace, when we cannot stop bickering between provinces?"

Mr. Fisher is a commentator and producer for the CBC.

three cruisers and three destroyers —were sunk. Four battleships, a cruiser and a destroyer were damaged.

Twelve more of the 27 confirmations have come as incompleted reports on 3rd Fleet blows dealt south of Formosa. It is known that two enemy carriers and two cruisers were sunk, a large carrier and two battleships probably sunk, two battleships and three cruisers damaged. Still to be added to the confirmations are several destroyers damaged.

The 27th confirmation was the light cruiser hit by Liberators in the Mindanao Sea, a sector through which one segment of the Japanese fleet naturally would flee after being forced back through Surigao Strait. This was the fleet group which approached Leyte from the southeast and actually penetrated the gulf.

Used 58 Warships

Kinkaid's estimate of perhaps 46 enemy warships sent into action through narrow straits of the Philippines was added to the known 12 sent south of Formosa. That means at least 58 enemy warships were committed by Japan in its great gamble to break up the Philippines invasion, and the figure is higher because there were still other units of the Formosa group, including "a number of destroyers." There are reports this group even comprised the bulk of the Imperial fleet.

American losses acknowledged were in striking contrast with those inflicted on the enemy. A light American carrier the 10,000-ton Princeton, and an escort carrier went down. An undisclosed number of patrol torpedo boats were lost. Several escort carrier and destroyers were damaged.

Japan, of course, painted a different picture in an English-language broadcast, claiming to have sunk two more American carriers and a destroyer, as well as damaged a third carrier and two cruisers. These unconfirmed claims, plus previous ones, added up to 84 American warships sunk or damaged.

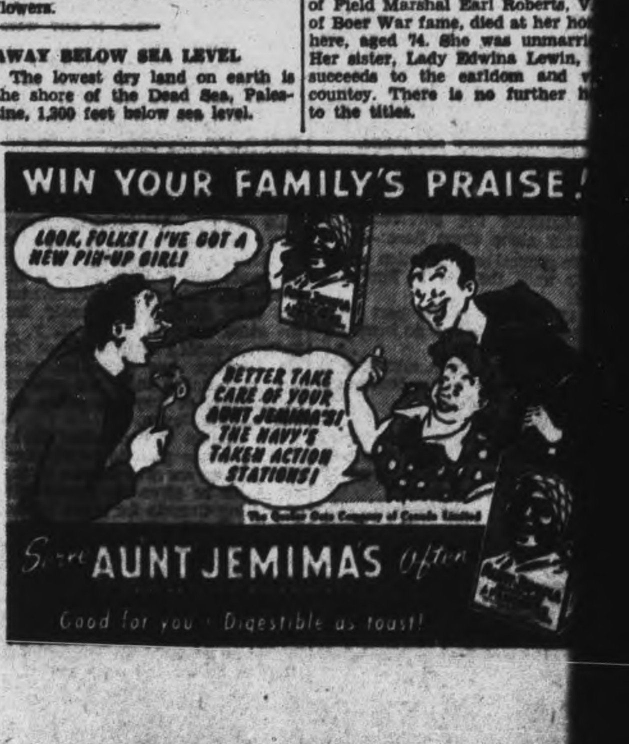
SUCCEEDS TO TITLE

ASCOT, England — (CP). — Countess Roberts, elder daughter of Field Marshal Earl Roberts, V.C. of Boer War fame, died at her home here, aged 74. She was unmarried. Her sister, Lady Edwina Lewin, succeeds to the earldom and viscountcy. There is no further heir to the titles.



Man In Italy Sends $50 For New Centre

"I think that is a wonderful contribution to the Memorial Centre," said J. A. Jebson, chairman, as he showed the Examiner today a cheque for $50 from Lieutenant J. Fred Williams on active service in Italy with the 48th Highlanders.

"Peterborough has been waiting a long time for a good Community Centre and I think it is a step in the right direction," Lieut. Williams wrote to the Fund chairman, including cheque and note in a letter to his sister. He enlisted with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, and previously was employed at the Canadian General Electric works. His mother, Mrs. A. Williams lives at 305 Townsend street.

"A letter like that," said Mr. Jebson, "leaves you just about speechless. What can you say about a chap like that? And what can you say about his interest in Peterborough when he sends from Italy this cheque for $50. I don't know Lieut. Williams, but I certainly wish that I did. It will be a real pleasure to answer his letter."

The letter was dated October 2.

Contrast with this letter and the wish of Lieut. Williams to help in financing the Memorial Centre is the fact that hundreds, probably thousands of Peterborough people within a comparative stone's throw of the Memorial Centre office on the east side of Water street, north of Hunter street, have been content to evade the call that went out to them rather than to Peterborough men in the military services overseas.

And, it is not too late yet. The office is still open, and so is the subscription list. Contributions will still be gratefully received. Possibly the cheque that has come from Italy may be an incentive to home folks to walk around the convenient corner with a contribution that will help ensure the success of the Peterborough Memorial Centre appeal.

BACKS MEMORIAL CENTRE—Lieut. Fred Williams, fighting with the 48th Highlanders in Italy, has sent $50 to be used for building the Memorial Centre. He is enthusiastic about backing the project, and is the son of Mrs. A. Williams, 305 Townsend street.

Sgt. A. Churcher Given Military Funeral

BANCROFT, Oct. 27 (ENS) — The funeral of Sgt. Almer Ebart Churcher of Bancroft wes held Wednesday afternoon from his late residence at 2 p.m. to St. John's Anglican church, where the service was conducted by Rev. W. L. Simmons, rector of this parish, assisted by Flt. Lieut. A. G. MacPherson, Padre of No. 6 R.D, Trenton.

The late Sgt. Churcher was killed in a plane crash at McLeod, Alberta, Thursday, October 19, when he, in company with another airman, failed to pull their machine out of a loop they were completing, the plane crashing to earth despite their combined efforts.

The remains were conducted from McLeod, Alberta, to Belleville to the Belleville Burial Parlors under escort of Ft. Sgt. W. C. Pritchard of the McLeod School, where Sgt. Churcher was an instructor, and thence to Bancroft by motor hearse.

He was in his 20th year and he only lacked two hours training at that particular type of plane to complete his flying mission.

He leaves to mourn his loss his parents, four brothers, Sgt. Lee Churcher of Rockcliffe, Ottawa; Melvin, Gerald and Reginald at home.

The funeral was conducted under full military honors with W.O.1 J. A. Silver, M.B.E., in charge of a detachment of R.C.A.F. personnel from No. 6 R.D. Trenton Air Station as follows: Flt Lieut. A. G. MacPherson, Padre; Cpl. R. A. Myers; LAC. R. W. Stoner, V. L. Knight, W. R. McKinnen, E. Shaker, D. E. Moore, J. Willard, R. F. Jonson, R. D. Webster, H. J. Harrison, F. J. Harrington, W. A. Sage, D. H. Riddolls, D. K. Rivers, G. Shier, J. Poynton, T. Steven, T. Wilson, W. Walton, and E. Hill. Trumpeters LAC. Joe Poudrier and LAC. A. Jenkins sounded Last Post and Reveille at St. John's Anglican cemetery, following interment in the family plot.

Pallbearers were LAC's V. L. Knight, R. D. Webster, D. H. Riddolls, D. K. Rivers, T. Wilson, W. Walton and E. Hill, selected from the R.C.A.F. personnel.

The following members of "A" Company 2nd (R) Bn. Hasting and Prince Edward Regiment of Bancroft acted in the capacity of Police Escort under the supervision of R.S.M. H. L. Tanner, C.S.M. E. C. Ellerbeck, Sgt. A. T. Griggs, Sgt. E. Mather, Cpl. H. R. Kerr, Cpl. R. R. Gowers and Pte. V. Tanner.

Following the service the air force personnel were guests at the Bancroft Community Hall at a luncheon prepared and served by the Bancroft War Workers under the supervision of Mrs. R. J. Stringer.

Coborne Village Retains Lead

COBOURG, Oct. 27 — (ENS). — Colborne Village still leads Northumberland County in the Victory Loan campaign with 67 per cent of its quota subscribed. The county total yesterday was $228,250, or 14.04 per cent of its quota. Totals and percentages by districts are as follows:

Colborne — $50,250, 67 per cent; Campbellford—$35,650, 17.82; Cobourg—$55,900, 13.98; Haldimand Township—$12,600, 13.26; Cramahe Township—$11,100, $13.06; Hastings —$5,850, 13; Seymour Township — $17,200, 12.74; Percy Township — $11,250, 11.25; South Monaghan — $3,200, 10.7; Brighton Township — $6,450, 9.2; Hamilton Township — $9,550, 6.82; Brighton Village — $5,450, 4.9; Murray Township — $3,350, 3.4; and Alnwick Township— $450, 1.8.

The outstanding characteristics of the campaign to date is the number of new subscribers who have never subscribed to a Victory bond before.

755 Robombs Fell In Sussex

A map specked with 755 black dots indicates the exact way in which the flying-bombs blanketed the county of East Sussex in England, according to a map received recently by Mrs. Ernest Holden, Driscoll Terrace, from her sister who lives in that district.

In that particular section of England, the rates of lives lost to each bomb which fell was considerably lower than that in other parts of southern England. Statistics show that one person lost his life for every 25 flying-bombs that exploded in East Sussex.

One of the Nazis' most devastating weapons of war against a civilians population, 755 doodle-bugs dropped in this district and many more fell in the sea around the coast, some of them so close as to damage property on shore.

By looking at the map, the positions where the bombs fell can be seen at a glance. It is hard to conceive the tragedy caused by these bombs, by merely looking at a map flecked with hundreds of black dots, but from it, an idea of the 'blanket' policy can be gained.

To those who are intimate with East Sussex, it will be interesting to learn how each district fared with respect to the bombs. Here are the figures: Boroughs: Bexhill, 16 bombs fell: Hastings and Eastbourne, 14 each; Rye, 6; Lewes, 1; Urban districts: East Grinstead, 5; Seaford, 2; Newhaven and Cuckfield, 1 each; Rural districts: Battle, 374; Hallsham, 159; Uckfield, 146; Cuckfield, 20; and Chailey, 16. No bombs fell in Brighton, Hove, Burgess Hill or Portslade.

The first robot to fall on this district landed in the parish of Cuckfield Rural about a mile northwest of Haywards Heath. Kent also claims one at this time, also.

The casualties in this district of England were 30 killed, 105 seriously injured, and 489 other cases. The Battle Rural district bore the brunt of the flying bomb attack in this county, and the greatest number of bombs, 374, landed there of any district, borough, urban or rural in the southern counties.

The remarkable figure of nearly 40 p.c. of all buildings in the Battle area were damaged by bombs, including 500 farm buildings and 3,848 houses. Five people were killed in this district, 24 seriously injured, and 177 other cases.

The question facing the local authority of first aid repairs to all buildings was an enormous one, but local builders gave wholehearted support and work proceeded quickly.

In all Sussex, a total of 891 flying-bombs dropped.

Carriers, Subs Dominate Battle

LEYTE, Philippines, Oct. 27 (Friday) (AP).—Vice-Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid, recapitulting for correspondents to-day events of the last few historic hours, gave a large measure of credit to American submarines and to carrier aircraft for their part in the route of the Japanese fleet.

United States carrier planes, he said, by sighting the approaching forces, furnished information of the enemy's disposition far enough in advance to be a vital factor in the victory.

Admiral Kinkaid gave this recapitulation of the battle which will go far in determining the future of the Pacific war:

The attacks began Oct. 23, when the enemy sent 14 to 16 ships, including two battleships, cruisers and destroyers, south of Leyte toward Surigao Strait, and another great force of 25 to 30 ships, including four battleships, through Sibuyan Sea toward San Bernardino Strait.

When the battle was completed in Surigao Strait only one cruiser and five destroyers were left to flee westward. One battleship was sunk in the strait and a second battleship, already damaged, was left sinking by torpedo bombers.

The enemy's northern attack force of 25 ships, which slipped through San Bernardino Strait to run down the east coast of Samar, fared no better.

Only 14 of these ships were able to retire later the afternoon of Oct. 25, and three crippled ones — a battleship, a cruiser and a destroyer—were left behind dead in the water.

One of these was sunk by Admiral William F. Halsey's force Thursday night, and the attack continued to-day.

Fraserville Lodge Has Successful Dance

FRASERVILLE, Oct. 27—(ENS)—The members of Fraserville L.O.L. 46 of which Gordon Morrison is master, held a successful dance in the Orange Hall at Fraserville on Wednesday night.

The floor was filled for both round and square dancing. Calling off for the square dancing included Russel Darling and Leigh Hewitt of Fraserville, also Gordon Huggins of South Monaghan.

Friends were present from Millbrook, Peterborough, South Monaghan, Bensfort, Bailieboro, Apsley and Springville.

There will be a similar dance held in three weeks' time, November 15, under the Orange Lodge.

The Orange Lodge also held a special meeting this week at which Mr. Graham was the special speaker. Around 40 attended.

Personals

The Fraserville W.A. is planning for a Hallowe'en masquerade to be held in the Orange Hall on Hallowe'en night.

Sgt. Haig Bothwell, home from Western Canada, visited his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Cunningham of Peterborough this week and is also visiting friends at Thoral.

Car Thieves Are Held

COBOURG, Oct. 27 — (ENS) — Constable E. J. (Dido) Simpson of Brighton is not naturally suspicious but he has the knack of spotting lawbreakers. Yesterday he noticed two men in a car who were strangers to him and something about them aroused his suspicions. Before he had the opportunity to question them, they drove off to the east and he decided to notify Trenton. Later Trenton authorities informed him that they had picked the pair up with the car and that it had been stolen from St. Catharines.

Political Unrest In Ontario

The political situation in Ontario, after a brief period of stability, is now deeply troubled, and it is impossible to foresee what may happen between now and February, when the Legislature is next scheduled to meet. In his last broadcast the Liberal leader, Mr. Harry Nixon, made it clear that his party would bring about the fall of the government whenever it saw fit to do so. The Liberals, who were made to sing small in the last election, have increased greatly in confidence, and have welcomed back into their caucus the redoubtable Mitchell Hepburn, the ablest fighter they have had within recent years.

• • •

What is Mr. Hepburn doing back in the Liberal fold? No precise answer can be given, but it is obvious that his return bodes no good to Premier Drew. A writer in Saturday Night recently hinted that Mr. Hepburn was affronted by the way in which the Premier had treated him during the last session of the Legislature, and wanted to manoeuvre himself into a position from which he could lead an onslaught on the government. How true this is we have no way of knowing, but no one will be in the least surprised if Mr. Hepburn should suddenly pop up as Liberal leader. He lost that position because his attitude toward Mr. Mackenzie King and the Dominion Government was offensive to a majority of his followers in the province; Mr. Hepburn and a group of his ministers exaggerated their importance to the nation's war effort and could only be reduced to normal size by drastic measures. They made the mistake, in fact, that Premier Drew has made: they thought that Ontario was bigger than Canada. But the period of chastening is now over, and Mitch Hepburn is back; many Liberals look upon his return as the signal for a fight.

• • •

When Premier Drew and his government assumed power they were popular in the province and they did a number of skillful and sensible things during their first session. They depended on the Liberals for their continuance in power, and they got the support they needed. But this summer Premier Drew came out strongly against the Dominion plan for family allowances, which the Conservatives at Ottawa had approved; he also complained tactlessly about the exploitation of wealthy Ontario by the less prosperous provinces; he made a violent assault on Quebec because of its failure to measure up to standards of war sacrifice which he set for it, and in this way he brought severe criticism on himself as a disturber of national unity. Both Liberals and C.C.F. in Ontario disapproved strongly of his action, and have accused him of using his position as Premier to further his own interests in the Dominion field. Significantly, many private members of the Conservative ranks share this opinion.

• • •

If the Liberals provoke an election the fat will be in the fire. The Conservatives do not want one because they only got into office by the skin of their teeth last time, and if they lost the contest the fortunes of their Dominion party—already bad enough—would suffer. The C.C.F. do not want an election because they did very well in the last one, and the omens of the past few months have not convinced them that they could do as well another time. The Liberals, who were so miserably defeated in the last election that no worse could befall them, have much to gain and nothing to lose. The war situation has aroused so much strong feeling of one kind and another that an election might show a violent reversal of opinion. The Ontario situation is full of dynamite, and it will be a wonder if it does not explode before February.

An agricultural report says that there are 12,000 goats in Canada, and not 12,000,000 as we are apt to think around Income Tax time.

Noblesse Oblige

It was under the title Noblesse Oblige that the news magazine Time recently printed an account of the members of Britain's House of Peers who had fallen in this war. It was noticeable that they all died in the most dangerous and active branches of their country's service. As the American publication expressed it: "The peers of Britain understand one prerequisite of those who would rule a democratic empire—they know how to die for it". The names of those who have died make an impressive role; here it is, as listed by the Kingston Whig-Standard:

"The list is headed by H.R.H. the Duke of Kent, brother of King George VI; it includes the sixth Duke of Wellington and the Marquess of Hartington, heir of the tenth Duke of Devonshire. On it is found also the name of 'Mad Jack' Howard, Earl of Suffolk and Berkshire, 20th of his line, a man whose career would put those of the most adventurous heroes of fiction in the shade. Lord Lyell died in a bayonet fight, the fifth peer ever to win the V.C.; the third Baron Shuttleworth was the third of his family to die in battle. Viscount Clive, a direct descendant of Clive of India and heir of the Earl of Powis died as a fighter pilot; another airman to meet death was Lord Douglas-Hamilton, son of the 13th Duke of Hamilton. Sir Robert Peel was serving as an ordinary seaman when he went down with his ship. Lord Stuart, youthful heir to the Earldom of Castle Stuart, died recently on the Italian front; his elder brother was killed in North Africa two years ago".

To this list must now be added the name of Major Lord David Davies, who inherited the Barony of Llandinam in North Wales a few months ago, upon the death of his father, who was well known as a philanthropist and supporter of research on tuberculosis. Lord Davies was a young man with a great heritage; his family were famous for their services to the arts, and were also known for their great wealth; he was reputed to be the wealthiest man serving in the British Army. His death in the course of duty provokes reflections which have been well expressed by the Kingston paper:

"The aristocracy of Britain does not lack for critics. Despite a growing tendency among the aristocracy to accept wider responsibilities, there are still those who profess to see in it nothing but an anachronistic feudal survival of little use. But not even the most severe critic can deny the right of Britain's peers to wear the red badge of courage. They have earned that right down through the centuries, and in the present conflict seem likely to break all previous records for serving unto death in the hour of their country's need".

First Tremors In Spain

The news from Spain reports the early tremors of an earthquake which may bring the Franco government down in ruin. News of the border clashes is confusing, and we cannot attach great importance to them yet; they may be the first moves in a Republican fight for power, or they may be mere border brawls between mischievous Spaniards in the French Maquis forces, and Franco's falangists. The fact that the Berlin radio has undertaken to broadcast reports of them, however, hints that they may be causing the Fascists genuine concern.

The position of Franco's government has deteriorated during the past six months. It was in May that Winston Churchill made a surprising speech in which he spoke tolerantly of Franco and some aspects of his policy. It was clear that the Allies thought that they might have to ask favours of the Spanish dictator. But now that is no longer the case: Germany is too busy with war on her own borders to use Spain as a springboard for offensive action; Britain and the U.S. now tell Spain what she may sell to Germany, whereas formerly they had to buy goods from Spain in competition with Germany; Sir Samuel Hoare, the British Ambassador in Madrid, has resigned his post and returned home.

Within Spain Franco is losing much of his power. The Catholics, who supported him because of his vigorous religiosity, are now reported to be sick of his dictatorial ways; groups within Spain who oppose him are looking for means to unseat him without civil war; he stands alone as a European dictator on the Fascist model, for Mussolini is virtually dead, and Hitler knows he cannot survive; Franco did well as the baby dictator but he cannot carry the full burden of dictatorship alone.

He has revived the falange, and has resumed the execution of political prisoners, in his attempts to bolster his prestige and frighten his opponents. But he has not succeeded, and at any time we may expect to hear that Spain is in an uproar again, and that the pupil of Hitler and Mussolini is fighting for his life.

North Wales

(By AUGUSTUS MUIR)

Note: Northern Wales contains some of the loveliest scenery in the British Isles, and is popular with holiday-makers from the industrial cities of England's Midlands. But, as Mr. Muir points out in the following article, it has proudly retained its individuality, while playing its part among the nations of the United Kingdom.

THE land of Wales stands upon England's western border like a great bastion. From the Irish Sea in the north to the Bristol Channel in the south, its scenery is dominated by the mountains which give that ancient Celtic country its essentially romantic character. Although some of the most densely populated parts of the English Midlands lie upon its eastern boundary, it has retained its intrinsically Welsh atmosphere, and it still has over 50,000 people who speak only the old Welsh language. Most of its soil is drenched with legends of old heroes and of beautiful women from the world of dreams. It is a land remote in many ways from the main current of English history and tradition; and few will deny that this very remoteness constitutes one of the chief charms of the country.

North and South Wales are divided by a chain of mountains stretching from the rugged peak of Cader Idris near the sea to the Berwyns in the east. Stand upon a peak of that dividing range and you will see the differences in landscape; the hills of South Wales have rounded outlines compared with those stern peaks to be observed in the north country. The southern valleys are greener than those grey and rocky clefts between the northern hills. Into South Wales there are many gateways from England; but there are only two on the north, one by the coast and the other through the lovely vale of the River Dee. The old English town of Chester, once a Roman station, lies on the coastal entrance into North Wales, and both road and railway take us up to the Irish Sea along a coastline which has become a holiday resort for the great English industrial towns that lie within the orbit of Liverpool, Leeds and Sheffield.

THERE is Rhyl at the mouth of the Clwyd, a stream that flows through a broad and fertile valley that is known as the Garden of North Wales. Further along the coast, Colwyn Bay is a holiday resort noted for its gentle winter climate; and Llandudno has the other advantage of a picturesque situation, with the magnificent cliffs of Great Ormes Head standing high above the sea. The wide river to the west was famous for is pearl fisheries before the days of the Romans, and across it is the old walled town of Conway. These walls, built in the thirteenth century, still exist and are among the finest examples of mediaeval fortifications in Europe. Conway Castle, in its time one of the most formidable in Britain, was built by England's great warrior king, Edward I, when he was endeavouring to preserve the peace in the remote corners of his kingdom. Follow the River Conway into the mountains and you will come to a winding vale of uncommon beauty, with the peaks around Snowdon towering in their splendour on the west.

SNOWDON sits like a patriarch among its own family of great hills. To find a mountain as high in Britain one must go to the Highlands of Scotland. Snowdon has an awe-inspiring grandeur from whatever angle you may view it; and indeed, on a clear day, you may see it from other peaks both in Scotland and in Ireland. In this throng of mountains, known as Snowdonia, we find scenery of many kinds, towering cliffs, deep lakes, desolate passes, splendid valleys. In the olden days, people referred to the highest peak of Snowden as "The Tomb": it was here, they said, that a giant was slain by King Arthur—who was the greatest of the fabulous heroes in old Welsh legend. In more recent times, modern industry has invaded Arthur's mythical kingdom, and the great slate quarries of Snowdonia have been prosperous for many years. In the days of peace, thousands of visitors come to this district in search of recreation and health in the pure mountain air; and its high crags and precipices are a rock-climber's paradise.

Descend from Snowdon to the west, and you are at the Menai Straits, which separate the mainland from the green island of Anglesey. Fourteen miles long, these Straits vary in breadth from a few hundred yards to a couple of miles, and Spring tides rush through them at a tremendous speed. On the northerly entrance is the little town of Bangor, an ancient episcopal see, with a cathedral founded in the sixth century; it is a scholastic centre, with a college that is part of the University of Wales. At the southerly end of the Straits is Caernarvon, an old town which grew up beside another of those great mediaeval castles that we find in so many parts of Wales. But Caernarvon is distinctive because it is one of the best preserved of all these strongholds, and beside those grey walls were enacted some of the most critical scenes of Welsh history.

SPANNING the Menai Straits is a bridge that carries the north coast railway on its way to Holyhead, the nearest seaport to Ireland. Before the days of railways, one journeyed to Holyhead by coach, and the old coach-road crossed the Menai Straits by the famous suspension bridge built more than a century ago by Telford, one of the greatest roadmakers in British history. The route he chose entered Wales by the gateway of the Dee valley; and a few miles from its mouth is the busy town of Wrexham. There are collieries in the vicinity, and the smelting of iron-ore; here, too, are other industries that include the manufacture of bricks and tiles; and it is an important centre for agricultural produce. Wrexham's fifteenth century church is called one of the "Seven Wonders of Wales"; and here is the tomb of Elihu Yale, who founded Yale University in the United States. The ancient lands of the Yale family are to be found about a dozen miles up among the hills, and are still known as Plas-yn-Yale.

In the Dee valley we come to the little town of Llagollen, with hills towering upon either side. Indeed, every mile of that road in the shadow of the Berwyn Hills, and later by the peaks of the Arenigs, has a changing beauty that lingers long in the memory of a traveller.

HERE is some of the loneliest country in Great Britain; and in the folds of these mountains you will find Welsh people whose forebears for many generations have been brought up on the same farms—or who are following the same rural occupations. These people are deeply religious, with a strong imagination and a speech that is rich with vivid metaphor. They are a race of poets who take pride in reciting their verses in public. They are story-tellers and singers; creatures of warm impulses, quick to reveal their emotions to each other — and even to strangers.

In these hills you will find many Welsh farmhouses that still retain their ancient atmosphere, with the kitchen fireplace and dresser decorated with a multitude of bright brass and china ornaments, and salted meat hanging from the rafters. It is a homely scene, and a Welshman's home is to him the centre of the universe; and to his home a guest is always welcome. His good manners are instinctive. He may be quick to anger, but is generous after his anger has cooled. He is, above all, a strong individualist with deep self-respect.

It is here among the hills, rather than at the holiday resorts around the coast, that you will find beating most strongly the true heart of Wales. Here the old legends are still repeated around the firesides, and the old traditions kept alive by people whose roots are deep in the ancient soil.

I'M DOING MY BEST

Foreign Policy Is The Issue

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

WASHINGTON, D.C.: Despite all effort and promises to the contrary, foreign policy has been plunged into the presidential election campaign and President Roosevelt is now trying to make it the supreme issue at the polls. By election-eve the two parties may be agreed generally on foreign policy if Mr. Dewey matches and endorses the President's declaration in favour of giving real power to the American delegate in the League of Nations' Council. But the President clearly has decided to fight the election on the proposition that, whatever the agreement between the two parties now, he alone can be trusted to carry out a truly internationalist policy after the election.

In a matter of hours after the President's foreign policy speech last Saturday, this issue of good faith—for that is what it comes down to—had burst dramatically upon the people with the announcement that Senator Ball, most promising of young Republican politicians, had decided to bolt his party and support Mr. Roosevelt. And according to Senator Ball, Mr. Dewey already has lost the bulk of his independent vote by his failure to make a clear announcement on the cardinal issue in Senate politics, namely, whether the United States' delegate in the League Council shall act on his own in emergencies or whether he shall have to seek congressional approval before voting to use force against aggressors. It is too late now for Mr. Dewey to make good this loss, the Senator thinks, even if he should accept the President's policy of giving the delegate full discretionary powers.

IN the light of this situation, the first major "break" in the campaign, it is possible to outline authoritatively the administration's views on The Dumbarton Oaks charter. Technically the charter is not regarded as very satisfactory and nothing like as good in its machinery as the old League of Nations covenant. With its single veto provision, its actual concentration of power in the Big Three, its small share of representation for the little nations, the charter falls far short of democratic collective security on its face. But the administration believes that in the main this is the best agreement possible to secure from Russia at the moment, and put through the U.S. Senate.

This view is supported by a significant announcement this week in "War and the Working Class", organ of the Russian government, which says that Russia has ample historic reason to fear many foreign nations and therefore cannot accept a majority vote in a League of Nations—in other words, that it must have the power of single veto in the League Council.

However, it can be said definitely that the United States government will look with sympathy upon and give real support to modifications of the present tentative charter in favour of more effective representation for the small nations and for their general assembly. Such modifications which would be highly desired, in Ottawa particularly, are generally expected when all the nations sit down together soon to draft the final charter. It is a shrewd guess that some "trading stock" was put into the original draft with a view to its modification if the little nations asked for it.

THE administration wishes to satisfy the smaller nations but it does not believe that machinery is important. It believes that when the world's armies are disbanded and all nations go home to rebuild their shattered industries and homes they will begin to talk in much more moderate terms. Power politics will be modified. In fact there are only three nations which could attempt aggression after this war and to succeed they woud have to do it immediately and before demobilization.

After that there will be time to reach agreement on a thousand different international problems, if agreement is desired and, if it is not desired, no league machinery could create it. If there is a will to peace the present charter with some modification not only will work but will improve. Certainly the influence of the little powers will appreciate as the big powers disarm and the big powers lean more and more on their small neighbours who, as in the case of the United States and Latin America are essential to their security and prosperity. In short, the Dumbarton Oaks charter is regarded as a seed which properly nurtured will grow into world democracy but, if it is not planted now, the world will return to power politics and probably to anarchy and war.

FINALLY, if the will to peace be more important than the machinery, the test of Dumbarton Oaks so far as the United States is concerned is the use to which the administration intends to put it. This question the administration believes has been answered by the President without equivocation in his announcement concerning the American League delegate. This it is said proves that the President intends to make the League work and will use every means required to make it work including changes in its charter as they are needed and can be made acceptable to other nations.

As against the administration view there is grave objection from various small nations which will become articulate as soon as the election is over. Some of the more extreme nations seem to believe that, whereas Woodrow Wilson would not accept a League with reservations, Franklin Roosevelt is accepting reservations without a League. This extreme view is not widely shared, however, and there is every expectation here that with some changes the charter will be accepted by all or nearly all of the United Nations.

BUT the U.S. government and the other nations will not decide these things alone. A third party has yet to be heard from, the Senate of the United States wherein 33 members out of 96 can reject the whole League or emasculate it. Make no mistake, says Senator Ball, who has risked his whole political future on the election of a president whom he has never supported before. There will be in the Senate, Mr. Ball believes, a concentrated and well-organized campaign to wreck the League as in 1919.

The fight he believes will be hard and no one can foresee the outcome. But since the President has asked a mandate for an all-out League policy and forced the people to vote on it, his election, the Senator feels, would deeply influence the Senate which to reject the League, would then have to vote down the expressed will of the American people. And if a few isolationist senators can be knocked off in this election that also will be a healthy warning which the rest of the Senate cannot ignore.

Leaves Defy Robots

London trees, stripped of foliage by flying-bomb blast, have grown new leaves. An official of the Natural History Museum this afternoon explained to me why this has happened.

The premature removal of this year's foliage at a time when the weather was still mild had enabled the little waiting leaf-buds to grow up earlier than usual. Normally winter weather would have delayed their growth till next spring.

A colleague recalls seeing before the war, a second growth of leaves on chestnut trees in Paris towards the end of August. Dry weather, he says, had caused the first growth to fall off sooner than usual. With the coming of rain fresh foliage appeared.

It has been remarked to me that autumn crocuses have appeared in London this year a month earlier than usual. I am not sure that this is due to bomb blast. I saw some autumn crocuses in the depth of Sussex last week-end.—Leeds Yorkshire Post.

GREAT ALLY

Calculation cannot reckon the mighty contribution cause in three titanic years. It is most of all to their outpouring of blood and munitions and the wrecking of their homes and homeland that, after our own solitary resistance in earlier years, we have owed our present chance of final triumph in the West.

Now, with the biggest part of the last desperate enemy bid thrust eastward against them, they have struck yet another tremendous blow for the Alliance, down towards the Danube gates.

Less than a week has seen the wiping-out of more than 200,000 Germans. It is the essence of our new war-linked and treaty-tied friendship with the Soviet Union that we should know our debt in order to repay it in peaceful ways.—London Observer.

A Bible Message

And when he came to himself, he said, How many hired servants of my father's have bread enough and to spare, and I perish with hunger! I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy son: make me as one of thy hired servants. (Luke 15: 17-19.)

No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon. (Matt. 6: 24.)

Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness? And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what part hath he that believeth with an infidel?....

Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing: and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty. (II Cor. 6: 14, 15, 17, 18.)

A GUN FOR DOVER?
(Letter to the London Times)

Sir:—Now that Calais has been liberated and Dover is freed from her long ordeal of attacks by shells and bombs of every description it would seem fitting that one of the enemy 16 in. guns captured at Calais should be presented to Dover, the gun to be sited in a suitable position as a memorial to the heroism of the people of Dover.

Unconsidered Trifles

A commando on leave had spent a long evening with friends at the village inn. They showed him a quick way home across the fields, forgetting that the local bull was loose.

The bull attacked, not recognizing the commando's beret. The unfortunate animal was gripped by the horns and lugged about the field until it managed to break free and bolt.

"Pity I had those last two drinks," said the soldier. "I ought to have got that chap off is bike."

Wire is one of the things needed by farmers that is scarce in wartime. It can be obtained only by a permit. A Berkshire farmer who became a little impatient when his permit did not arrive composed the following "Field post card," and sent it to the county war committee, with the request that they should strike out what did not apply and return it to him:—

Hockey Season Starts Saturday Night

By ERIC SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The veil of secrecy surrounding this season's calibre of talent in the National Hockey League will be partially lifted Saturday night when four teams, including last year's Stanley Cup champions—Montreal Canadiens—officially open the 1944-45 season.

Coach Dick Irvin will pilot his flying French men, reportedly as good as the cup-winning team a year ago, against Boston Bruins at Montreal, while Toronto Maple Leafs, last year's cup challengers, meet a strengthened New York Rangers' line-up.

Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks, both with plenty of scoring punch last season, enter into the swing of the season Sunday night.

New faces, new names and new styles of play will be ushered in when the two American squads which have just completed pre-season training in Canada—Rangers at Winnipeg and Bruins at Quebec — begin their quest for the world's professional hockey championship.

Little is known of the actual strength of the new line-ups, sprinkled with rookies and minor league veterans, but according to reports all will ice improved teams.

Coach Frank Boucher of Rangers, last year's seasonal cellar-dwellers, so far has been the only one to call his team's place at the end of the 150-game schedule. They will finish in fourth place, he said, behind Toronto. Coach Clarence (Hap) Day of the Leafs hasn't committed himself.

As usual around this time of the year Art Ross is silent on chances of Bruins. Dick Irvin hasn't made any promises either.

At least one thing is certain about Leafs, however, that they will have a new goaltender. He is Frank McCool, Calgary sports writer who was discharged from the army last winter. He was signed after strenuous workouts in the Owen Sound, Ont., training camp where he won the job over Pat Boehmer of Kitchener, and Leo Sargent, of St. Catharines.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 27. — (CP).— War plays strange tricks, and the followers of English rugby in Halifax these days are convinced war is—well, gosh—awful. Halifax, in common with other major centres in the Maritimes, has for years been the stronghold of the English game in Eastern Canada, but Canadians football is gradually getting the upper hand.

Aside from the new appeal of the game, it seems that Canadian pigskin addicts have been putting on the publicity pressure. With hosts of husky football sons of Central Canada stationed with the Navy in Halifax, there is no lack of color for those crowd-attracting press releases.

All of which leads "Gee" Ahern, Halifax deputy mayor and Halifax Herald sports editor, to suggest to the English game promoters that they add a bit of dash and fanfare to their business before they lose out altogether. When 2,000 fans turned out in the rain to watch the Canadian booters in action while only 300 attended an English game, as happened in Halifax the other day, it's a sign of a trend of some sort.

Incidentally, the football boys from H.M.C.S. Stadacona have arranged a home-and-home series with Montreal Navy to start off the season. First game is being played in Halifax to-morrow and the return meeting in Montreal on Armistice Day.

Hamilton Wildcats also wanted a game, reports Harold Atkins in the Montreal Star, but this series interrupted negotiations.

That augurs well for the future of the game down east but leaves the opposition slightly blue. After all English rugby playoffs between Quebec and the Maritimes for the MacTier and McCurdy Cups had to be abandoned years ago, and the way things are now there isn't much hope of any early resumption of the games.

Perhaps it's all for the best though, and will help still tha talk of Maritime secession.

Here and There in Sport

Hector Kilrea, the former "Hurricane Hec" of Ottawa Senators, Toronto Maple Leafs, and Detroit Red Wings, now is in Southern France with the United States Army. A sergeant, he writes in a letter to old team-mate Mud Bruneteau of Detroit that he was "in on the invasion."

Possibility of an early revival of the booming feud between Joey Peralta and Dave Castilloux, lightweight kings of Mexico and Canada respectively, was seen last night when promoter Frank Tunney announced that Peralta had signed to fight in Toronto on November 6. Tunney said he is trying to bring in either Castilloux or Lulu Constantino of New York as Joey's opponent. The score in the Castilloux-Peralta rivalry now stands at 1-1.

Montreal welterweight Johnny Greco kept climbing the fistic ladder with a six-round knockout of Oscar Suggs, Neport negro, in a scheduled 10-round fight at St. Louis last night. Greco floored Suggs for nine-counts in the second and third rounds before gaining his second victory over Suggs.

Wren Ethel Laing of Saskatoon was the star of a game when Canadian Wrens won the service softball championship of Newfoundland recently with a 15-8 victory over an Air Force W.D. team, a naval release said last night. Wren Laing slashed out three triples and two doubles.

Capt. John Lawrence Murdoch, 38, a member of the Argonaut eight at the Henley in England and at the Olympic Games in Amsterdam in 1928, has been killed in action in Holland on October 10, it was learned by his mother here yesterday. He was a member of the Royal Canadian Artillery.

Name Rocco Perri

TORONTO, Oct. 27 (CP)—Donald (Mickey) McDonald yesterday named Rocco Perri, self-styled "king of the bootleggers" who has been missing from his Hamilton home since April last, as the man from whom Sam Mancuso said he was expecting a load of bootleg liquor. McDonald is charged with his younger brother Edwin, Mancuso, Benedetto Zanelli and William Basket with stealing a load of liquor worth $35,000 and kidnapping George Butcher, driver of the truck, last Dec. 13.

Trojans Tangle On Saturday With Beaches

By The Canadian Press.

The nubeaten record of the Toronto Balmy Beach Club is the chief issue at stake in the only Ontario Rugby Football Union game scheduled for Saturday, while in the single Armed Services League game the play-off fortunes of the Camp Borden R.C.A.F. Hurricanes hang in the balance.

Beaches defend their unbeaten record in Toronto where they play the Ottawa Trojans. If they stretch their unbeaten string to five games, they will take over the leadership of the Union from the Hamilton Wildcats. However, if the Trojans come through with a surprise victory, Wildcats and Beaches will remain tied for first place with four wins and one loss each.

Although their play-off chances hinge on its outcome, Hurricanes will only be spectators at the Services League game in Hamilton where Hagersville R.C.A.F. Bombers play the St. Thomas R.C.A.F. Hornets. A win for Hagersville would put them in first place one point ahead of Toronto Navy and remove any mathematical chance the Hurricanes have of winding up in a tie for the second place play-off position.

For three of the teams in action to-morrow—Hagersville, St. Thomas and Ottawa—it is the last appearance of the regular season although Hagersville is more than likely to see action in the play-offs.

Three of the teams with open dates have billed exhibition games. The Navy team goes to London to play the University of Western Ontario in an exhibition affair while Hurricanes meet Hamilton Wildcats in a curtain-raiser to the Hagersville-St. Thomas game.

Wild Ducks On Increase

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 — (AP). — The "duckiest" shooting season in two decades is winging its way toward United States hunters. Some 140,000,000 waterfowl, biggest crop in 20 years, are expected next week from Canada's duck factory.

Ducks Unlimited, the sportsman-supported organization which aids and abets the breeding of ducks, announced to-day that the early flight of teal, pintails, and mallards was already on its way.

But the heavy firing—and the good eating—are still to come in the form of northern mallards, blue bills, and canvas backs, along with the huge geese known to the trade as "honkers."

Last year, it was disclosed, the water fowl flight consisted of 125,000,000. About 16,000,000 fell before the booming shotguns of 1,250,000 marksmen.

This year's estimate of 140,000,000 ducks is 100,000,000 more than that of the 1935-1937 period, when hunting seasons were for 30 days. This year the shooters will bang away for 80 days.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 — (AP).— Word from the West Coast is that the Pacific Coast League really intends to stick to that $16,000 or else ultimatum at the winter baseball meetings......In other words, the coast clubs will insist on having the draft price doubled, even though they have heard from one major league president that his circuit will up the price from $7,500 to $10,000 without an argument....If they don't get what they want, the Coasters have tentatively agreed to refuse to give up their players in the draft and they say they have the financial resources to go alone ....Seems that only 11 Rockingham Park bettors had the "hunch" to follow up that lady-in red story when Redbush and Blood Hound clicked for $2,301.60 daily double on Wednesday.

He knew his place:

When Ensign Hampton Pool, the former Stanford and Chicago Bears star, was drawing his football equipment to play for the Fort Pierce, Fla., Naval Amphibious Training Base, he was handed jersey 14 as the one that came nearest to fitting his 228-pound frame.... Hamp chunked it right back to the equipment man. "No, 14 is Don Hutsons number," he said. "And nobody else should have that — certainly not me."

Ottawa Teams Start Roundup

OTTAWA, Oct. 27.—(CP).— Ottawa and nearby Hull have begun rounding up players for their entries in the Quebec Senior Hockey League, scheduled to open here Nov. 4.

Officials of the Ottawa team have been reticent about who they hope to line up before the season opens, but admit they expect to get Larry Reardon, who tried out with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, and Cliff Maundrell who played for Ottawa teams a few years back.

Frank Dunlap, who nad a trial with the Toronto Leafs of the N.H.L. last year may also join the Commandos, along with his brother Jake Dunlap. Jake formed a line with Emile Dagenais and Armand Lafleur in the Ottawa School League last year and the trio is expected to graduate together into senior ranks.

Hull officials hope Tony Demers, who starred with Canadiens in professional ranks a few years ago, will play for the Volants. Fernand Majeau now on the Canadiens' line-up has agreed to play for Volants if Canadiens should decide not to keep him this season.

Roger Bedard and Marcel Lajoie from the University of Montreal team that played in the Q.S.H.L. last year will be available along with Joffre Seguin, a former Ottawan, and Rosy Joannette of Valleyfield.

Others to join Volants are Roger and Gaston Leger, Edgar Mentzel, Joe Wilmon, Ray Trainor, Gordie Pranschke, Archie Creighton, Alex Wood and Ken Broadhead.

Ion's Mother Says He's Best

TORONTO, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Mickey Ion, former dean of National Hockey League referees, who retired at the close of the 1942-1943 season after 30 years of whistle-blowing, said last night his mother "still thinks I'm the greatest hockey referee in the world."

"Funny thing about it," said Ion, now a foreman in a Seattle, Wash., war plant, "I don't think she ever saw me referee a game." His mother celebrated her 93rd birthday at her home in Brantford yesterday.

Ion, en route home, said that since retiring he hasn't "pulled on a skate."

The former N.H.L. referee started refereeing in the old Pacific Coast League in 1912, gradually working along the hockey trail.

He admitted that hockey "is still in my veins" and "perhaps somebody will invite me back to act as a coach of referees. I'll be ready if the call comes."

Degree Team Visits Havelock Lodge

HAVELOCK, Oct. 27 — (ENS) — The degree team of the Royal Black Preceptory No. 261 of Peterborough visited Havelock Tuesday evening and conferred the Red Cross Degree to eleven candidates from Havelock Royal Black Preceptory No. 946 and also four candidates from Norwood Royal Black Preceptory No. 311. There were three Grand Lodge officers on the degree team namely Sir Robert Ritchie, Sir J. A. Holden and Sir E. P. Reid.

After the degrees were conferred addresses were delivered by members of the degree team and an invitation was extended to and accepted by the local lodge to attend Past Masters night in Peterborough on November 2. At the close of the lodge, luncheon was served in the basement of the Orange Hall by the members of Lady McGill Lodge, L.O.B.A., No. 471.

John C. Buchanan is preceptor and E. J. Stevenson is deputy preceptor of the local Royal Black Preceptory.

Naval Action Fought In Night

ABOARD ADMIRAL DANIEL BARBEY'S FLAGSHIP, Leyte Gulf, Philippines, Oct. 26 (Delayed) — (AP).—Two battleships, one cruiser and three destroyers were sunk by United States surface ships and aircraft when a Japanese force of eight warships tried to reach Leyte Gulf from the south through the Sulu Sea and the Surigao Strait.

Only a cruiser and a destroyer escaped and both were damaged heavily.

The battle was joined in darkness at 4 a.m. and this morning U.S. battleships, cruisers, destroyers and P.T. boats were engaged.

One Japanese battleship went down in the night action. When day came destroyers went in to finish off the crippled enemy warships which were still afloat.

It is believed that most of the Japanese vessels in this formation had come from Singapore.

Hepburn Raps Racial Issues

NORTH BAY, Ont., Oct. 27 (CP— The only thing that stands in the way of Canada's greatness at the commencement of the Seventh Victory Loan is "the raising of this racial feud issue," Mitchell F. Hepburn, Liberal member of the Ontario Legislature for Elgin and former premier of the province, said here last night. He was addressing a Victory Loan rally.

"The racial issue in Canada is not going to be settled by hotheads in Ontario or Quebec," he said, "but by the reasonable people who make up the mass of this country.

"If we want this country to be great, it little behooves any man to denounce any particular race at this time. The only other thing we need is national unity."

New Landings To Speed Fall Of Antwerp

By The Canadian Press

Berlin Thursday reported landings on Walcheren and South Beveland, the two islands north of the Scheldt river estuary which block the sea approaches to Antwerp, and although the enemy merely identified the forces as "Allied" it appeared certain Canadians are involved.

The Walcheren landing report was carried by Berlin radio but the German communique mentioned only the South Beveland landing. The communique said also that strong Canadian attacks against the land link with South Beveland "were stopped after a small penetration." The Canadians hold the causeway joining South Beveland to the mainland.

Capture of Walcheren, which lies immediately to the west and is joined to South Beveland by a bridge carrying the railway to Vlissingen (Flushing), posses for Canadians the toughest assignment since they stormed ashore on Normandy on D-Day—a job harder than Caen and the Leopold canal.

Have Huge Guns.

German guns of the largest calibre are emplaced among Walcheren's shore and although the guns were silenced by aircraft one or two of them got going again. The Germans, moreover, are believed to have about 11,000 men on the island.

Low-lying parts of Walcheren have been flooded by breaches torn in the sea defences around tre island by R.A.F. aircraft and the Canadians once more will face the necessity of dogged infantry fighting in water-logged country, which Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent, compared to a sponge.

The Canadians are playing for high stakes—the port of Antwerp. From the Normandy beachhead to Holland, the coast-hopping Canadians have been driving the Germans from port to port.

The Canadians well realized the importance of speed because once Antwerp is open two miles of excellent docks, which the Germans were unble to destroy, will be available to receive convoys from Britain and even direct from Canada and the United States. This would solve the tremendous problem of supplying Allied forces attacking into Germany.

Flier's Casual Talk Veils Narrow Escape

The following news item from Vancouver, B.C., refers to a grandson of the late R. E. Wood, K.C., for years Crown Attorney in Peterborough. Dr. Edward Wood, Ottawa, is an uncle of the R.C.A.F. officer in this story. He and Magistrate Herbert S. Wood are brothers:

"Narrowly escaping severe injury to his Halifax bomber and crew, PO. F. A. "Flip" Wood, son of Magistrate H. S. Wood, on his return from a bombing attack over the Ruhr Valley, was interviewed by the British Broadcasting Co. for his impressions of daylight attacks.

"The young navigator shrugged off any suggestion that his tour of operations might have encompassed numerous hair-raising incidents, but admitted that several flak fragments punched holes in their aircraft and that one piece of shrapnel narrowly missed hitting the English flight engineer.

"Formerly employed with Frederick Field & Co., chartered accountants of Vancouver, he was widely known for his interest in boys' clubs founded by the Kiwanis Club several years ago.

"FO. Wood enlisted here in June, 1942, and went overseas a year later."

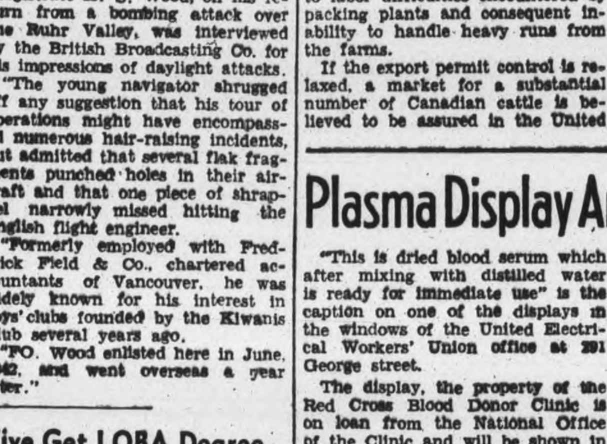
MARMORA, Oct. 27—(ENS)—At the regular meeting of Harmony L.O.B.A. 600 held in the Orange Hall, Marmora, Wednesday evening, with the Worshipful Mistress, Mrs. John Morrison in the chair, five members were elevated to the Scarlet Degree. The Grand Mistress of the L.O.B.A. of Ontario East, Mrs. Anna Greer of Smith Falls who was present, gave an address on "Unity."



ARMIES GAIN IN ANTWERP DRIVE — The drive on Antwerp grow daily in importance as winter creeps along the German westwall. Use of Antwerp as a vital new supply base would have some 500 miles in transportation distance and provide a hub from which to swing out across Holland and north of the Siegfried Line. Recent developments included (A) the breaking of the Nazi defence ring around Breskens and (B) an eastward push which included the capture of Esschen and new pressure on Bergen. Canadian troops captured Breskens after a house-to-house battle, and have now penetrated into the nearby isthmus of South Beveland.

Howe Estimates Million Jobs Must Be Found

TORONTO, Oct. 27—(CP)—A job and a fair income for all those able and willing to work is the objective of the reconstruction department he now heads, Munitions Minister Howe said in a speech prepared for delivery today to the Trades and Labor Congress.

He intended to ask Labor to take an active part in the new department's work although the best form or organization had not been decided. Regional committees might represent the best solution and if so they could be established shortly, to be ready to offer advice to the department on local conditions and employment prospects.

Statistics indicated 1,000,000 more jobs would be required than were available at the outbreak of war, and Mr. Howe said he did not think it impossible that these jobs would be available.

New factories and industrial plants had been built in the war period valuing more than $1,300,000,000 and machine tools valuing $140,000,000 had been manufactured or brought into Canada.

"That new capacity and those new tools must be kept in use to provide new jobs," said Mr. Howe.

Miners Needed.

Manpower had been withdrawn from gold mines, but now miners were anxious to open up on a scale bigger than ever. Important discoveries had been made and the Alaska Highway opened up a new territory for prospecting. Mining would furnish its share of new jobs and work in the forests probably could absorb all who wished it.

The Government could not compete with private industry in marketing goods through the ordinary trade channels, either at home or abroad. It must be the objective to dispose of Government-owned war plants, which cost some $900,000,000 to private industry, except "for such plants as can be advantageously operated by the Government to fill a nation-wide want, such as the synthetic rubber plant at Sarnia, Ont."

The Government would dispose of war plants in the manner best calculated to provide new employment. Most of the war plants could be converted to peacetime uses.

"The war has demonstrated that Canada is dependent on outside sources for too many components of our finished products," said Mr. Howe.

Industry Expands

"We in munition and supply have been for some time making an effort to bring into Canada types of production that will round out our industrial pattern. In this we are meeting with considerable success. Shortly after the end of the war in Europe I think that we can look forward to having many products manufactured here in Canada that are now being imported.

All types of Canadian industry spoke in terms of expansion, rather than curtailment, and there should be no lack of markets for a considerable time after the war. To make up five years of deferred maintenance in transportation systems, power plants and even in homes would give much employment. The prospects for overseas markets were never more favorable.

Private industry should have the first opportunity to provide employment, but planning of public projects would not be overlooked and plans would be ready when needed.

Mr. Howe said the end of the war in Europe probably will mean a cutback in war production of not more than 50 per cent. With the limited number of transport ships available it would be many months before all those overseas could be brought back to Canada.

With careful planning, abrupt stoppages of war work, resulting in temporary large scale unemployment and major dislocation could be avoided.

Resume Cattle Shipping To U.S.?

OTTAWA, Oct. 27 — (CP) — Official consideration now is being given an early resumption of Canadian beef cattle exports to the United States, halted since 1942, it was learned today.

Under agreement with the United States, Canada can ship nearly 200,000 beef cattle annually under a special quota system. The shipments were halted two years ago when a beef shortage developed in the Dominion and exports of beef cattle could be made only through a permit system.

Authorities said that new outlets for cattle had become necessary due to the inability of packing plants to handle all the cattle marketed by farmers. Some months ago it was believed that whatever quantities of beef were marketed could be handled because of the British readiness to take at least 100,000,000 pounds in the years 1944 and 1945.

But a complication has arisen due to labor difficulties encountered by packing plants and consequent inability to handle heavy runs from the farms.

If the export permit control is relaxed, a market for a substantial number of Canadian cattle is believed to be assured in the United States, although the total number which may be shipped under the annual quota may not be required by American buyers.

Export restrictions on sheep and lambs already have been relaxed and the movement of such stock across the border has been resumed.

"Unless more cattle can be handled by the packing plants, a most serious situation is shaping up," said one official.

"Cattle are backing up on the farms now, and if they have to be held there for even a short period it is evident that the farmers will have to attempt to market them at a time when the hog marketings are at their highest point. This means that the pressure on the Packing Plants will be greater than ever.

"Heavy losses will be sustained by farmers if they have to keep their livestock much longer, and the opening of the United States market is one way of relieving the situation."

Even with continued shipments to the United Kingdom and the export of live cattle to the United States, authorities said it was evident that domestic needs for beef could be fully supplied and a return of rationing would not be necessary.

Plasma Display Arouses Interest

"This is dried blood serum which after mixing with distilled water is ready for immediate use" is the caption on one of the displays in the windows of the United Electrical Workers' Union office at 291 George street.

The display, the property of the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic is on loan from the National Office of the Clinic and will be shown in Peterborough for a period of two weeks. It consists of a complete unit, just as it is shipped overseas, and ready for immediate usage in administering to the wounded.

The equipment, which is well crated to prevent breakage consists of seven bottles of plasma, seven bottles of distilled water and needles and tubing which are sterile and ready to be used along with mixed blood serum. Other displays show the serum being administered to the wounded and are actual army photographs taken in Italy. A scroll of honor is also shown which is suitable for club or factory purposes with spaces for the names of donor and gold stars to depict how many blood donations have been made by each individual.

Arouses Interest.

The display is attracting considerable interest from citizens who have seen it during the past two days and is of particular interest to those citizens who have been donating their blood to the worthy cause of saving the lives of our wounded, as it demonstrates how their blood is processed and then put into use.

At the Blood Donors' Clinic today Mrs. R. D. Taylor, technician, replying to an Examiner query said: "The display is a reminder that the need for serum keeps increasing, but we are not getting the number of blood donors we would like. It is an appeal to the public to join the ranks of Peterborough people giving their blood for the saving of the lives of our men overseas."

Three Soldiers Are Awarded V.C.'s

LONDON, Oct. 27 — CP-Reuter) —Three Army officers have each been awarded the Victoria Cross for superb heroism on three battlefronts — Normandy, Burma, and Italy — the London Gazette announced on Thursday night.

Capt. David Jamieson, the Royal Norfolk Regiment, of King's Lynn, Norfolk, was largely responsible for the holding of a vital bridgehead over the River Orne in Normandy in August, and for beating off seven fierce Nazi counter-attacks with great loss to the enemy, it was said.

Lieut. (Acting Capt.) Michael Allmand, of the 6th Gurkha Rifles, Indian Armored Corps, of London, receives the V.C. posthumously. On three separate days, he made single-handed charges on Japanese gun nests in Burma. He killed three Japanese with his own kukri (knife), but at the third gun nest was mortally wounded.

Lieut. Ross Norton, M.M., of the South African Army, attached to the Hampshire Regiment, wiped out machine-gun posts in Italy, and assured the successful breach of the Gothic Line defences at one point.

These awards bring to 106 the total of men, including six Canadians, given the Empire's highest gallantry award since the war began.

Army Convoy To Visit City

A convoy of mechanized Army equipment will arrive in Peterborough Monday evening, and will be displayed in the drill hall at the Training Centre from 8 to 10 p.m.

Tuesday between 3 and 5 p.m. the display will be on the market square, and 8 p.m. the war machines will be paraded through the city, accompanied by the band of the 48th Highlanders from Camp Borden.

The convoy from Toronto will be comprised of a tank, tank transporter, a huge truck which carries tanks to and from the fighting fronts; a 25-pounder gun, a type of armament that has been extensively used in this war and remembered as having helped halt the Huns at El Alamein; also a Bofors anti-aircraft gun; one six-pounder anti-tank gun, and other pieces of mobile equipment.

$1,031,350 Bonds Bought In Four Days

The first four days of the Seventh Victory Loan carried Peterborough city and county—passed the $1,031,350 mark for 22.4 per cent of the objective of $4,600,000.

On the daily percentage basis, metronomic count of the progress of the campaign that would bring subscriptions exactly to the 100 per cent level on the last day of the drive, the Peterborough margin of excess has retreated to a mere fraction, one-fifth of 1 per cent as compared with 3.2 per cent at the end of the third day.

Armed Forces, chiefly at the Training Camp, are leading the divisions with 69.9 per cent of their objective; payroll savings section, the industrial groups, are second at 56.4 per cent, in four days of canvassing.

The city general canvass is 21.1 per cent, slightly under the required amount for the fourth day. The rural canvass is 13.3 per cent, and special names just hasn't hit its stride with only 3.6 per cent. It may be that Ross Dobbin's group are not worrying about their assignment, but they are down in the list for $1,400,000 with only $50,000 so far subscribed. Obviously they have a long hill to climb.

Ahead Of Spring

Here are several bright spots in the results up to Thursday night:

The comparative grand total-city and county—at this stage of the Sixth Victory Loan was $691,500. compare that figure with $1,031,50 and you have the answer to the question "How are we doing?"

The comparative percentages are 22.4 per cent, Thursday evening, of $4,600,000; and six months ago, the Spring drive, 15.4 per cent, of $691,500 at the end of the fourth day.

Just to repeat it and emphasize it—Peterborough city and county in four days has subscribed $1,031,350. Some of the Bonds were sold before the campaign opened, but that was an outburst of canvassing and investing zeal.

Another cheerful bit of campaign news is the city general canvass total for four days—$352,700 as compared with $265,550 for four days of the Sixth Loan. The city's percentage is still slightly under par, but the gap was slightly reduced Wednesday, and canvassers and public within the city area are stoutly holding up their part of the load, —and at that it hardly rates in the category of burdens, putting money in the bank to your own credit isn't something to frown at or sweat about.

Rural Leaders

The select company of the over-the-toppers, headed by the Armed Forces and Payroll Savings, also includes two rural constituencies, the northern townships, (Harvey, Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos) out in front of the rural sections with 30.4 per cent; and Havelock trailing slightly with 29.6 per cent.

Skimming over the rural percentages:—Belmont-Methuen third with 16.2 and then in order—North Monaghan 17.2; Asphodel 15.3; Dummer 14.3; Douro 11.7; Smith 9.8; Otonabee 8.4; Norwood 7.8; Lakefield 7.2; Ennismore 6.7

The total rural general canvass is $83,050 which is 13.3 per cent of the present objective of $625,000 as compared with $67,200 at the end of the fourth day of the Sixth Loan, 11.2 per cent of its objective of $600,000.

Offers Home For Wife Court Case Adjourned

After the accused had made an offer to his wife to open a home for her in Toronto, a month's adjournment was ordered in Police Court this morning in a case in which Harold Sholer was charged with failing to support his wife and two children.

Sholer was arrested in Toronto earlier in the week and brought down to Peterborough for trial

Giving evidence to-day Mrs. Sholer stated that she had received no money from her husband since September 2. Sholer had been charged with non-support earlier in the summer and there had been an arrangement at that time by which he was to pay his wife $10 a week. That arrangement, she said, had not been kept.

Sholer said that he was now making $50 a week in Toronto and that he could get an apartment there. He wanted his wife and his children to live there with him.

There was an adjournment to allow husband and wife to confer, and when the case was resumed, Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C., announced that the wife was willing to give her husband another chance.

"She is apparently convinced, which I am not, that his offer is genuine." said the Crown Attorney.

The case was adjourned ofr one month to see how the arrangement works out.

Obituary

HAMLET WOOD.

After only a brief illness beginning Wednesday, Hamlet Wood, 411 Edison avenue, died this morning at his residence, in his 75th year. He has lived in Peterborough since 1907.

Born in Halifax, Yorkshire, England, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wood, he came to Peterborough directly from Britain. Before retiring in 1935, Mr. Wood was an employee of the Canadian National Railways. A member of St. George's Anglican church, he was a member of the old 57th Regimental Band, with which he was connected for 30 years. He enlisted in the 93rd Battalion as a bandsman in the last war.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Julia Ann Wood, a daughter Mrs. William Hughes, of Sudbury, a son, Wilfrid Wood, of Peterborough, and two sisters, Mrs. E. Butterworth and Miss Florence Wood both of whom are living in England.

The funeral will be Friday at two o'clock from the Nisbett Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street. Rev. E. C. Moore, of St. George's Anglican church, will conduct the service and burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Wants Free Press

MANCHESTER, England, Oct. 27—(CP)—Sir Warren Fisher, former head of the British Civil Service, said yesterday that one of the safeguards of liberty was freedom of the press.

"There is an increasing tendency on the part of governments through their widespread press officer and propaganda organizations to attempt to bring influence to bear on our newspapers," he said in a speech. "It is vital for the newspapers and the public to keep watch on this insidious movement."

Aid Milk Fund On Hallowe'en

Every boy and girl in Peterborough, and every citizen of Peterborough will have the opportunity this year of making Hallowe'en a fun-festival with an important war purpose, through the Kinsmen's Club national "Shell-out-for-Milk-for-Britain" plan. Children will be able to enjoy the traditional amusements of Hallowe'en, while they send healthful milk to the children of Britain, who have withstood the horrors of war at first-hand, for more than five years.

This is how it will work! Special tickets selling at one cent each have already been printed and distributed to school children, in strips of one hundred tickets. Residents are buying these tickets, to give to children who come out Hallowe'en night, calling the familiar "shell-out" cry. This year, war emergencies still create a shortage of candies, nuts, and other good things usually given children October 31. However, each 10 tickets collected by the children will send one quart of milk overseas to children of the British Isles. Hallowe'en fun will still be the highlight, but the spirit of helping others who need help will over-rule the peace-time "treats or tricks" capers.

Peterborough's children are looking forward to selling as many of these tickets as possible, because they realize the necessity of milk to children in much-bombed Britain. Now, it's up to the citizens to buy as many as possible!

During the 1943 Hallowe'en shell out, over $97,000 was raised by thousands of Canadian children for Milk for Britain. Since then, the Germans have introduced the flying-bomb weapon, and the need in 1943 has been increased many times in 1944.

Two million quarts of milk is a lot of milk. British children need that amount, and more . . . . right now! In evacuee homes, hospitals, war nurseries, and havens for waifs and strays, milk is vitally needed in growing quantities. Through the Kinsmen's Club project, Canadian children can send this milk. Hallowe'en night this year all over the Dominion, the cry of "Gimme" has been switched to "Help me to help others" and although the same "Shell-out" call will be heard, the meaning will be "Shell-out for the children of Britain!"

This Hallowe'en, shell-out for the bombed-out! Every Peterborough man, woman and child can send milk on its way across an ocean, by buying as many of the "shell-out" tickets as possible, and giving them to the children who call Hallowe'en night.

City Saved In Grants $8,000 In Four Years

Since the Army in the autumn of 1940 moved into Morrow Park, premises of the Peterborough Agricultural Exhibition, the city's treasury has been relieved of payments of approximately $8,000 in grants for the continuance of the big show.

In 1939 the city contributed $2,000 to the funds of the Exhibition; in 1940 the amount was $4,000 and in 1941 the city paid an insurance account of $706.87. For four years, 1941 to 1944 inclusive, the Exhibition has been almost forgotten in the discard to which the war relegated some enterprises of this kind, including the Toronto Exhibition. For four years from 1941 the city has escaped Fair grants of presumably $2,000 a year, totalling $8,000.

Against that amount should be set the $706 insurance item which would have been a charge against the Exhibition revenue for 1941.

At the same time the county council has saved a total of $2,000 which would have been paid to the Exhibition according to the council's practice of granting the Peterborough fair $500 a year.

Forego Prizes To Aid Christmas Fund

All kinds of gifts as between individuals or groups of people, entail at least two worthwhile features of human value, these being represented by first of all a thought for others, which then naturally lead to a sacrifice of some sort to either give pleasure, or to help relieve their need if any should be found to exist. exist.

In speaking of sports, there is much sportsmanship displayed when people have gone through a whole season doing their utmost for sports sake to be winners at whatever type of game they may be playing, and then having climbed to the top of the tree, they look around and find that hte money that would be in the ordinary way have been spent for their prizes, could do much good for people in distress. They then vote that same money to be used for that purpose, rather than for themselves.

This is a commendable type of sacrifice, and it may be applied in full force to a group known as the Peterborough Carpet Ball League, whose annual meeting was held recently, and such action taken, for in the words of the letter accompanying their donation, they felt that the need for help in the British Isles was far greater than that prevailing at the present moment among themselves.

Through this forethought for others, the club secretary George E. Groombridge has forwarded a cheque for $20 to the fund which is acknowledged in today's receipts, and it should be recorded that the winning teams of this group headed by D. Leether as president, were the Peterborough Fire Department No. 8 headed by A. Mason as skip, and All Saints No. 5 headed by C. W. Wiggins in the same capacity.

In sports competitions of any kind where the honor of winning is combined with the awarded of prizes, the former must naturally take precedence, but when the latter is relinquished in order that others in dire trouble may be benefitted, the personal loss sustained in reality adds to the value of the honor thus gained.

At Saturday's Market

A newly formed group of C.G.I.T. at Mark Street United Church supervised by Mrs. Easson wished to do something outside of their regular group work, and so they decided to hold a sale of potted plants to give the special donations for Christmas a helping hand. This will be held this Saturday morning at the farmers market, and would seem a propitious time for such an event to be held, as householders in general turn their thoughts to such for house decoration purposes.

MADE PETTY OFFICER—Floyd O. Parcels, son of Mrs. O. Parcels, Havelock, has passed his examination for Petty Officer and has now been posted to HMCS Haida.

Havelock Boy Passes Petty Officer Exams

HAVELOCK, Oct. 28 — (ENS) — Mrs. O. Parcels of Havelock has received word from her son, Petty Officer Floyd O. Parcels, that he has been successful in passing his examinations for petty officer and has recently been assigned to H.M.C.S. Haida. Previous to this he served eighteen months on H.M.C.S. Assiniboine.

He enlisted in July 1942. His only brother, Sgt. Reginald Parcels, is serving with the 2nd Anti Tank Regiment in Belgium.

Cpl. R. M. Cooke Has Head Wound

Fighting in Belgium, with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, Cpl. Richard M. Cooke, 257 Romaine street, has been severely wounded in the head, October 17, according to word reaching his mother, Mrs. R. J. Cooke. The young soldier's father, Sgt. Richard J. Cooke, overseas four years, is attached to a transport as a cook.

Twenty-two years of age, Cpl. Cooke formerly worked at the Campbellford Cloth Company, before enlisting with the Midland regiment in 1940. He later transferred to the Highlanders.

A brother, OS. Bob Cooke, R.C.N.V.R., is now stationed at St. Hyacinthe, Quebec, and was formerly employed at CHEX.

RETURNS TO POST—A veteran of many convoy trips through U-boat infested waters, AB. Leslie Hewett has returned to his post after spending a month's furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hewett, 223 Prince street. A former employee of the De Laval, he has been in the navy about two years. A brother, Sgt. Howard Hewett, was recently discharged from the armed forces after serving more than four years.

Bravery Wins D.F.C. Awards

Two gallant airmen from the Peterborough district have been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, in recognition of heroic, efficient, and loyal service to Canada, while serving in the Royal Canadian Air Force overseas, according to an official announcement today.

They are Flying Officer Dr R. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Campbell, Foxboro, and Flying Officer A. Menaul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Menaul, 36 Victoria avenue North, Lindsay.

Of F. O. Campbell the citation said, "This officer has completed numerous sorties and has invariably displayed a high degree of courage and devotion to duty. On one occasion, in August 1944, enroute to the target, engine trouble developed.

Nevertheless, he went on to reach the target, whilst over the sea on the homeward flight, the propeller of the defective engine flew off, it fouled a second engine rendering it useless. The aircraft could no longer be flown, but F. O. Campbell brought it down safely on to the sea. He displayed a resolution characteristic of that which he has shown throughout his tour of duty.

Citations always make exciting reading, and another "wing and a prayer" story of devotion to duty is outlined in Flying Officer Menaul's official citation. It reads, "As pilot this officer has completed a very large number of sorties, and has displayed great skill, courage, and co-operation. In September 1944, he participated in an attack on an enemy shipping convoy off Kristiansand. During the attack, the starboard propeller and the pilot's windscreen were damaged by anti-aircraft fire. Despite this, the attack was pressed home. In the action, F. O. Menaul had been hit, a fact unrealized until the return home was made.

After bringing his aircraft safely down, F. O. Menaul collapsed. He had displayed great courage and fortitude.

Man Given 10 Days On Charge Of Begging

James O'Regan, Toronto, who had pleaded guilty a few days ago to a charge of begging, was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K. C., in police court this morning to ten days in the county jail.

O'Regan asked for leniency. "I am on my way to Toronto," he said "and if you let me go I will be working in a few days. The hospitals are in need of men."

"It doesn't look as if you had been doing much work around hospitals for much of the time in the past," said Magistrate Langley, glancing down the prisoner's record O'Regan admitted that he had been convicted some times under the name of McMillan and also had used the Alias McDonald. "A lot of people changed their names during the depression said the accused. I thought it might be the smart thing to do."

Bruce Bolton, arrested early this morning in a car on King street, pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy and was remanded until next Tuesday for sentence. Bail was fixed at $300.

Such Is Life

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 27—(AP).—Pte. Edwin Lee, stationed at Gunter field here, jumped 500 times in a parachute without even slight injury before more domestic danger finally caught up with him. A few nights ago he leaped from the top bunk of a double-decker bed, breaking several small bones and bursting a blood vessel in his right foot.

Raybestos Has Objective; But Continues

From Raybestos comes a little story of canvassing enthusiasm. At the end of their four days of the Victory Loan drive the shop leaders counted up subscriptions amounting to 125 per cent of the Raybestos objective with 93 per cent of the employees investing.

Several of the canvassers felt convinced that they could "do better than that," and although their campaign was due for the wind up they ask that it be extended until Monday night for a final twist of persuasion.

In other words they don't quit easily at the Perry street factory.

Sealright, Too

Around at the neighboring plant of Canadian Sealright, the shop canvassers are nearly ready to put a period to their subscriptions, but they are not quite satisfied that the last Victory Bond has been sold.

The figures for Sealright employees this morning were 131 per cent of the plant objective and 94 per cent of the staff buying Bonds.

Utilities $11,050

Les Dyer of Peterborough Utilities reported their campaign just about all through with $11,050 subscribed by the employees, as compared with $9,400 objective.

The staff of J. J. Turner & Sons are approaching the end of their drive with 126 per cent and 93 per cent of the employees subscribing.

Moore Brothers Hurt In Battle

Within 24 hours, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Moore, 43 Frank street, who have four sons serving overseas, have received word that two of their boys have become casualties, one in Italy and one it Belgium.

Pte. Ted Moore, who is a veteran of the Princess Pats in Italy, is seriously wounded from bomb fragments in the left leg, which he received October 22. News of his injuries arrived Thursday. Prior to enlisting in 1942, he was an employee of the Johnson Motors, and went overseas in 1943. Pte. Moore has served in Sicily and Italy.

His brother, Pte. Roy Moore, who enlisted with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, has been wounded in Belgium. He was attending a business college and was to graduate soon, but he chose to enlist. The nature of his injuries as not listed in the telegram, which arrived this morning.

Two other brothers are also overseas. They are Cfn. Aiden Moore, with the R.C.E.M.E. in France, and Warrant Officer Jack Moore with the R.C.A.F. in England.

Two Men Convicted On Drunk Charges

Two visitors to Peterborough, Michael Nolan, Virginia, Ont., and Arthur Cockburn, Sutton, Ont., pleaded not guilty when charged in police court to-day with having been drunk early this morning.

However, on the evidence of Officers John Morrow, W. A. Clarke and Reg. McMillan who swore that both men were intoxicated, they were convicted and each fined $10 and $3.50 costs.

Constable Morrow said he saw the two men on Charlotte street early this morning and that they were drunk when arrested. Constable Clarke corroborated that evidence and Constable McMillan testified that he had seen the pair earlier in the night and because of their condition had instructed them to pull themselves together and get back to their hotel.

Neither of the accused called or gave any evidence and a conviction was registered in each charge.

During the hearing Magistrate Langley discovered that the pair hailed from the district where his boyhood days were spent. "I learned to swim in the creek on your grandfather's farm," he told Nolan when the latter had told him where he lived.

Roy Wright, 32, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to having been drunk on the market square last night and also admitted two previous convictions for the same offence during the year. He was sentenced to three months' imprisonment in the county jail.

Robert John Weaver, 22, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of having been drunk on Lock st., was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

Expert's Opinion

DORCHESTER, N.B., Oct. 27 — (CP)—A firearms identification expert of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police testified yesterday at the murder trial of Arthur Alexander Leger of Moncton, that a rifle allegedly taken from the accused the night his wife was shot to death was the one that discharged three cartridges found at the scene of the shooting.

9th Scout Troop Raises $110.97 For Milk Fund

The 9th Troop Park Hill Boy Scouts has contributed $110.97 to the Milk for Britain Fund. This is one of the largest donations to go to this fund from a group of boys and is half the proceeds of the fair recently held.

Just about two years ago the 9th Park Hill Boy Scout Troop was formed. It was organised as the result of the desire of certain men that the boys in the newly occupied wartime housing area should be given leadership, training and encouraged to devote their leisure time to something worthwhile. The group now the largest in the city has under the expert guidance of Reg Perks and several other volunteers had two most successful years.

At the recent jamboree the boys won the majority of the events. During the past summer they organized baseball and played a very successful series of games with Lakefield High School boys. They are now planning a series of rugby matches. They will form a hockey team this winter and have $120. worth of ball equipment. Seven senior boys of the group are now giving splendid leadership and much is expected from this group of boys in the future.

The Fair which was held on Friday, September 15, consisted of a bingo game, two fruit games, two games for canned goods, one for bacon and eggs, one for breakfast cereals. There was also a game where towels were the prizes. In this every boy had to donate a towel and they ranged in value from 69 cents to $2.50. In all this Ken Smyllie of the Kinsmen Club was of great assistance to the boys. Other Kinsmen helped at the fair.

When proceeds were counted the boys gave half to Milk for Britain Fund, $100 went to the Park Hill Road Junior Council and $10.86 into the boys hut fund. This hut fund goes to furnishing a hut which the boys have erected and use for group meetings, pep talks for teams, collection of salvage and the numerous other activities of the group.

The following Saturday the boys dipped down into their pockets and granted $15 to the Memorial Centre and gave a promise of $10 to be paid by May 1.

The committee in charge of the fair was Leslie (Tarzan) McDougall, chairman; Arthur Sanders, secretary; Stanley Lambert, Keith Gordon, Emmerson McDougall and Ralph Goodfellow committee members.

The $110.97 will supply 1,109 quarts of milk to the children of Britain. The donation of Mrs. William Shannon a regular contributor appears in to-day's list.

Mrs. E. W. Rowland Addresses W.C.T.U. Meeting

Mrs. H. Alton, 448 Mark street, was hostess Thursday afternoon, when the local W.C.T.U. women attended their October meeting.

The program opened with a short devotional service, when Mrs. Scott Wildman read the scripture lesson from Psalm 23. Prayer for temperance cause was offered by Mrs. H T. Rehill. Reporting for the Local Council of Women, Mrs. James Brown told of recent outstanding speakers at their meetings. Mrs. Luffman and Miss Estella Cuffe, who brought special messages.

Highlights of the provincial convention, held recently at Woodstock, were presented by Mrs. J. H. Rowe and Mrs. E. Wand, who told of many interesting reports givn All urged a more intensive study of peace and international relations. Mrs. John Wickson, Toronto, the W.C.T.U. national president, was present and addressed the convention.

Drug Fight.

The theme for the clip sheet exercise was "The fight against drug addiction," led by Miss Might, assisted by several members. It was pointed out that the drug habit or the alcohol habit, spells slavery for the individual, while revenue from the sale spells government bondage to the traffic providing this revenue. The W.C.T.U. is the only women's organization actively working through its paid field secretaries to avoid the bondage to the drink habit."

As special speaker, Mrs. E. W. Rowland chose for her subject "Social Reform" and declared that the "family" is the basic social institution. Man needs work to provide the necessities of life. He depends upon his job for home security and social standing. Only 15 out of every 100 work for self alone. She divided all workers into four classes, the low paid worker, the mechanic and skilled workers, the office worker, and professional workers and bankers. Social reform includes a move toward shorter hours for labor and agrees with the church on Sunday as a day of rest, she said. A temperance reading was given by little Eleanor Logan, "The Butler's Mistake."

Women's Responsibilities Growing, Senator Warns

The challenge and responsibility of becoming better citizens not only of Canada. but of the British Empire and the world, and an appeal to women to waken to the part they can play in the post-war world and to make use of their talents and abilities along that line, was presented by Senator Iva Fallis, addressing a meeting of the Active Army Auxiliary. Senator Fallis was speaking on the topic "Planning a Better Tomorrow for Canada, and the World as a Whole".

"In our desire to achieve proper guidance and results in post-war planning, coupled with the determination of each one to do his or her part to bring it about, it is natural to wonder where to start", the speaker began. Her advice was to sit down, and do some quiet thinking before acting. She explained that the first questions which would present themselves would be: How can I make my individual contribution? What kind of Canada do I want? and What changes can I expect in Canada and the world?

"The answer to all these questions is simply to set about being better citizens," she explained, and continued by discussing individual responsibilities as World, Empire and Canadian citizens.

Speaking of world citizenship, Senator Fallis said that definite changes in methods of transportation had brought countries closer together, and that "we must endeavor to understand people of all other countries, to bring about better conditions in Canada, as well as the world. She went on to explain that young people must be educated to agree to cooperate on a better understanding of world peace. "We must realize," she continued, "that to bring about better world conditions, as well as better conditions in Canada, if peace is to be enduring and goodwill a mutual understanding, that we must endeavor to make ourselves and especially our children more keenly interested in world conditions."

Closer Ties

On the subject of Empire citizenship, the speaker again stressed the importance of educating the youth of Canada, and that it should be the desire of every Canadian to teach his children the full cre due Great Britain as she withsto the first stages alone in the Fir

Antique Silver Feature Of Thrift Sale

Antiques in silver, cut glass, and china, to thrill the heart of many an ardent collector, as well as various miscellaneous pieces in china and glass, and polished wood, are among the items offered at the annual Thrift Sale, sponsored by the Junior Welfare League, which opens today and continues through Saturday and Monday and Tuesday. The sale is being held at 446 George street, and cheerful and willing workers, members of the League, are on hand, eager to serve.

Among the prize items for sale are two silver antique pieces, a graceful silver flower basket, 75 years old, and an old fashioned butter dish, complete with little tray and space for the ice, to keep the shape of the butter, about 50 years old. Another little antique which has been getting a good deal of attention in its place in the smart window display, is a genuine hand-made silver candle snuffer, sitting on a matching tray. Other articles in the display included cups and saucers, a huge antique platter, a pretty flower bowl and a graceful Chinese figurine.

Arranged along a long table on one side of the store is a dazzling display of various pieces in silver, China, glass, and polished wood and other miscellaneous pieces, from cigarette boxes to packs of cards. Another table boasts a selection all the way from large busts of Shakespeare, and an unidentified Indian, to attractively decorated bottles of mint sauce, and containers of cleanser, brightly covered with oilcloth. Novel dolls' beds, made out of wooden baskets, daintily covered in light materials can also be seen, as well as a large selection of costume jewelry, brilliant clips, and compacts.

Silver Cups

Do you want to spend the long winter evenings letting your imagination run wild as you spin tales of your prowess in your favorite sport? The Junior Welfare League has just the thing to clinch your story, and give it a ring of authenticity. Just stop in at their sale and buy one of the small silver cups without inscription that they have on display, and proudly pass it around to your more incredulous friends. Brighten up the house with a new plant, a picture, or a bowl of bright, wax fruit.

A large selection of various pieces of wearing apparel from children's clothes to women's dress shoes and hats can be seen, and other articles, including tablecloths and bedspreads. One cutwork tablecloth in particular, is unusually dainty and attractive.

Since the League endeavors to have a well-balanced selection each day, new articles will be added as the sale continues. The entire proceeds from this sale, are used for the League's welfare work.

Band Studies Bible Children

The Nettie McKenzie mission band of Knox Church met in the junior room with twenty-two members and three leaders present. Shirley Killingbeck, vice-president, presided, assisted by Mrs. D. Shewen at the piano and Marilyn Todd read the minutes of the last meeting.

'Children of the Bible" was the theme of the worship service, and the call to worship was given by Marilyn Barry and Linda Thompson. Marilyn Todd read the scripture and Lloyd Gaskin and Tommy Oesch took up the offering, which was dedicated with the new offertory hymn, "A Test of Citizenship". Chapter three of "Tommy Two Wheels" was read by Miss Inez Barrer, the superintendent. The Thankoffering envelopes were given out after, which a light lunch was served.

100 Friends Help Couple Following Fire

Mrs. H. McLarnon entertained at a shower and tea at her home King George street, Wednesday afternoon and evening, for Mr. and Mrs. William Davidson, Wilson avenue, whose home was destroyed by fire last week. Many useful gifts were brought by the over 100 guests who came to offer Mrs. Davidson their sympathy, and bring her a gift to help her begin again.

The decorations were carried out in a Hallowe'en motif, and tea was served from a table centred with a basket of snapdragons and stalks, flanked by tall tapers in crystal holders. Friends of the hostess who assisted were Mesdames E. Dummitt, T. Martin, J. Kelly, G. Morrison, F. Martin, H. Henwood, W. Warren, J. DeWitt and L. Ritchie.

Little Helpers Make Donations

An excellent attendance of members and parents marked the annual gathering of the Little Helpers of the Women's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church. During the early part of the meeting, Mrs. T. F. Doughty conducted the ceremony, when the children brought their mite boxes, and emptied them into the treasury. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Rye, Jr., for the Little Helpers; by Mrs. J. Morley, for the parents, and Mrs. G. Dobbin, for the church and its work.

Rev. W. A. Filer, rector of All Saints', spoke to the parents on their responsibility toward the baptism of their children, and the promises they make, and offered the closing benediction. The children enjoyed games, under the direction of Misses Joy Edgar and Doreen Vass, and refreshments, after the meeting was adjourned. Mrs. Annie Williams, social convener for the W.A., was in charge of the refreshments served to the Little Helpers and their parents. Mrs. G. H. Cutmore was soloist, singing "The Gift" accompanied by Mrs. Percy Hooper.

University Women Hold Fall Tea

"Employment of women during the transition and post-war period is one of the vital problems in which University women in Canada are taking an active part", Dr. Ursilla Macdonnell, president of the Canadian Federation of University Women, informed a large gathering of the local University Women's Club, at the annual fall tea at the home of Miss Vera Hiland, Homewood avenue, Thursday afternoon.

In speaking of the work the Federation has done during the past year, Dr. Macdonnell said that information has been compiled concerning the openings which will be available for women, and plans have been made to distribute this information among the factories.

Dr. Macdonnell also stated that the Federation is interested in distributing books among young children in outlying districts where many have never seen one.

"There is only one public library in the Province of Manitoba outside of Winnipeg," said Dr. Macdonnell.

The guests were received by Mrs. E. G. Hiland, Miss Vera Hiland. and Mrs. C. A. Sollitt, president of the Club. Miss Isabel Weddell and Mrs. John Nornabell were livingroom hostesses and Miss Leonora Park and Miss Margaret White, past president, poured tea. Arrangements for the tea were in charge of Miss Katherine Macdougall, assisted by Mrs. A. Ward Smith. Tea was served by Miss Mildred Bailey, Miss Earla MacVannel and Mrs. E. J. Thompson.

39 Step Club Formed By D-Day Veterans

BY FRANK LOWE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 27—(CP)—They call it "the 39-step club."

"They" are the Canadian soldiers who were hit on the beaches of France on the morning of D-Day. The 39 steps are the ones they took before they were knocked out of the fight——"26 in the water and 13 on the beach," it was explained.

Charter members of this unique club are well scattered now. Some are walking around London trying out their newly - recovered legs, others still linger in army hospitals, many have returned to fight again on the continent and a few are back in Canada.

But no matter where they are they will spread the story of "the 39-step club" and the way it was formed in a big Canadian army hospital in Britain.

With a nod to superstition, most of them fellows cracked that they had been hit when they took the 13th step on the beaches. And then, with just a touch of bitterness, they would say they had been hit so soon they walked twice as far in the water as they had on the shore——which came to 26 steps.

Someone did a little fast arithmetic, recalling a book written by John Buchan (the Late Lord Tweedsmuir, Former Governor-General of Canada) called the 39 steps," and came up with the name "The 39-Step Club."

Membership papers for the club are the gold wound stripes worn on the sleeves of their tunics and the order to join is that the soldier never got off the beaches before he was hit.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP

The following recipe for plum pudding you will find excellent if you follow it carefully. Try it this Christmas.

Plum Pudding

½ pound seedless raisins, 2 ounces citron cut fine, ½ cup chopped almonds, 2 cups of apples, chopped fine, 1 cup any kind of fruit-juice, grated rind of one lemon, 1½ cups stale bread crumbs, 1 cup suet, chopped fine, ½ cup sugar, 1 cup molasses, 3 eggs, ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon allspice, ½ teaspoon cloves, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt. Soak raisins, citron, almonds, and apples in the fruit juice overnight. Add remaining ingredients, and mix thoroughly. Turn into buttered mold. Pre-heat oven. Set mold in pan containing two or three inches of water and bake at 300 degrees for three hours. Serve with sauce flavored with nutmeg.

Fruit Cake

1 pound flour, 1 pound butter, 1 pound citron, 1¼ pounds dark brown sugar, 6 pounds raisins, ½ pound lemon peel, ½ pound orange peel, 2 pounds currants, 2 tablespoons cinnamon, 2 tablespoons mace, 2 tablespoons nutmeg, 1 tablespoon ginger, 1 tablespoon allspice, 1 dessert spoon cloves, 1 cup molasses, 1 pint brandy. 12 eggs.

Bake slowly until a straw will come out clean. This cake will keep indefinitely.

Mahogany Cake

½ cup milk, ½ cup cocoa, ½ cup butter or crisco, 1½ cups white sugar, 3 eggs, 2 cups flour, ¾ teaspoons baking soda, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2-3 cup sweet milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cook the half cup of milk with cocoa until thick and smooth and set aside to cool. Cream butter and sugar together and add beaten egg yolks. Sift together flour, baking soda and baking powder. Add alternately with the milk to first mixture. Add chocolate mixture and vanilla extra. Mix well, and fold-in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bake in top well greased nine-inch layer cake tins in a moderate oven.

Shrewd Businessman

BOSTON, Oct. 27 (AP) — The late William Cardinal O'Connell expanded the $2,406,000 bequest left to him in 1923 by A. Paul Keith, Boston theatre magnate, by more than $760,000 in 16 years, according to a formal statement filed yesterday in Probate Court. Keith bequeathed the money to the Cardinal in memory of his mother. The bequest stipulated that the Cardinal could use the proceeds "for the benefit of such charitable purposes as he may deem best."

Reporters' View

LEWISTON, Me., Oct. 27 (AP) — John A. Moroso, Associated Press Yar Correspondent, says that the war in Europe may continue into next Spring and beyond. Addressing the Maine Teachers' Association last night, he said: "The Germans are tough and well-equipped. Many of them have been brought up in the Nazi tradition. They won't quit. They fight until you kill them. This fanaticism will be the greatest problem facing the United Nations after the war."

Trip To Europe By Air To Cost Little

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, Oct. 27 — (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines will be open for civilian business on the trans-Atlantic route as soon as the overall international pattern for post-war civil aviation is settled and it receives a franchise to operate there, O. T. Larson, vice-president of the company, said at a press conference today.

Discussing T.C.A. operations with a group of Canadian, British and American reporters covering the commonwealth air conversations here, Mr. Larson said T.C.A. plans for the Atlantic and any other international route are based on the idea of taking care of the traffic which offers.

These plans are not necessarily tied up to the Canadian draft proposals for an international air transport authority. No alterations will be required to fit conditions which may arise under different types of international arrangements.

Secret Session

Visiting correspondents who had been unable throughout the week to secure information on the progress of the secret sessions of the air conversations, questioned Mr. Larson at length on T.C.A.'s set-up, present operations and future plans but were unable to draw him into talking of trans-Pacific operations.

These, it was indicated, are subjects being threshed out within the conference of officials and experts who are to report recommendations to the eight Commonwealth governments represented.

"I think we can do as well or a little better than our competitors," said Mr. Larson when asked as to whether T.C.A. could operate over the Atlantic at as low a fare as United States lines.

A fare of $100 for a round-trip to Europe is not practical now, he thought, but might be in three or four years after the end of the war. He looked for a slow evolution and improvement in operations and considered fares ranging from $148 to $193 for the round trip, as announced by some United States lines would be economic on the basis of present equipment and potential traffic.

600 People Attend Guild Chicken Supper

MARMORA, Oct. 27—(ENS)—All previous records were broken with the large attendance of more than six hundred at the chicken supper held by St. Paul's Ladies' Guild in the town hall Thursday evening, an event revived after a lull of a few years.

The record number of donated chickens barely served the large throng. In addition to the supper there was a white elephant table and also a fish pond, the latter being staffed by four girls of Mrs. W. D. Lavender's Sunday School class. Concluding the venture was a dance.

Would Amend Act

TORONTO, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Delegates to the convention here of the Canadian Independent Telephone Association yesterday passed a resolution asking that the highway traffic act be amended to limit the height of vehicles and weight of loads and so lessen damage to overhead telephone wires and avoid disruption of rural communication systems.

None The Worse

VILLE MARIE, Que., Oct. 27 (CP) —After searching for three days and three nights, Eugene Plante yesterday found his four-year-old son asleep in the bush of his farm near here, apparently none the worse for his experience. The boy had strayed into the bush and become lost.

Huge Output

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—American factories have turned out 240,000 airplanes and 70,000 tanks since the beginning of the war, production program, Chairman J. A. Krug of the war production board announced at a news conference yesterday.

PRINCESS BEATRICE DIES—Aged Princess Beatrice, last living daughter of Queen Victoria, great-aunt of the King, is dead. She is pictured here after she had just laid a wreath on the Cenotaph in London during an Ypres League anniversary.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

MAN'S FIRST DUTY TO WIFE
Philanderer Must Give Up Other Woman Who Threatens to Wreck Home.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a married man with a very fine wife and two small children, but I am mixed up with a woman who has one child and who says she divorced her husband on account of me. I didn't mean for her to go so far as to divorce her husband for me, as I had no intention of leaving my wife and children for her, but since she has done it, it puts me on a hot spot, as she pursues me all the time and even calls up my own home to talk to me.

This woman now demands that I should choose between her and my wife. Do you think that it would be better for me to divorce my wife and marry her, or tell her that I am through with her?

WORRIED MAN.

Stolen Kisses Cool Off

ANSWER — One of the curious things about men with wandering feet is that they never seem to have any premonition that philandering isn't going to be the fun they expected it to be, and that it is never a price free entertainment. Perhaps at first, the stolen kisses have a more romantic flavor than the bacon and eggs breakfast ones to which they are accustomed, and they certainly get a kick out of believing that they are still devils among the ladies. But pretty soon the novelty of this wears off and they want to go back to the wife and the kids and where they won't have to live up to the role of the Great Lover.

Alas, however, they have talked too much. They have made too many impassioned vows of devotion and held out too many vague suggestions of divorce, and they find they have tied a knot with their tongues they can't untie with their teeth. And there they are. And they have two women around their necks instead of one, and they are sunk.

Which seems to be your case. But as to deciding between the two ladies, your duty is to your wife and children. Stick to them. Your wife has a priority on you. The other woman knew that you were married. She went into the affair with the intention of breaking up your home and taking another woman's husband from her, so when she is left in the lurch she gets no more than she deserves.

DEAR MISS DIX—We have been married for 30 years and would have been happy except that my wife's unfounded jealousy of everybody and everything has kept us in a perpetual fight. I have been a good and faithful husband. I have given my wife everything I possibly could, even when I sometimes had to borrow the money to gratify her desires. I have been as domestic as the housecat. But nothing ever allays her suspicions that I am leading a double life and having affairs with every woman I meet.

Her jealousy interferes with my business. It is absolutely necessary that I have a secretary, but it is impossible for me to get one of whom she is not jealous. She is rude and insulting to them and continually nags at me to fire the one that I have. All of which is very embarrassing.

This has worn on me until I have gotten to the breaking point. I can't understand how decent people can suspect everybody of some unmoral or indecent conduct without any cause. If there is anything that can be done in a case like this, please advise.

J. B. S.

No Cure for Jealous Wife

ANSWER—There is no cure for jealousy. The only thing you can do with a jealous wife is either to summon up enough courage to endure her, or else to leave her. There is nothing that you could do that would convince her that you are a decent and honorable man, and you are foolish to try to appease her by hiring a secretary about whom she would not be green-eyed.

Like you, I wonder why jealous people never believe that there is any decency, or truth, or honor in others. Perhaps they judge their husbands and wives by themselves. Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.

Gaining In Burma

KANDY, Ceylon, Oct. 27 —(CP)—Indian 5th Division troops advancing southeastward in Burma from captured Tiddim have attacked an enemy concentration on Sialem, a peak north of the Fort White Road, and sharp fighting is in progress, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters announced today.

The Japanese remain in position astride the road 11 miles from Tiddim, the communique said. Only patrol activity was reported elsewhere.

Hit 6 Agencies

PARIS, Oct. 27 (AP)—The government announced yesterday suspension of six French News Agencies, leaving the government-financed Agence Francaise de Presse as the only organization distributing news to the French press.

E. Graham Wins Speaking Honors

HAVELOCK, Oct. 27 — (ENS) — Elaine Graham, of Grade 8, Havelock Public School, speaking on the subject "Famous Peace Monuments of United States and Canada," won the first prize, $4, in the annual Oratorical contest for Grades 7 and 8 of Belmont schools, held on Tuesday, sponsored by the local branch of the Women's Institute.

The second prize of $3 was won by Helen Anderson, Grade 8, her subject being "Sawdust a Treasure," the third award of $2 going to Joan Quinn, Grade 8, speaking on the subject "Sister Kenney and Infantile Paralysis."

There were only seven entries this year, six of them from the village and one entry from the Rush Point school. The other entrants were awarded 75 cents in War Savings Stamps and were as follows: Shirley Goheen, Grade 8, subjest, "Florence Nightingale"; Margaret Hubble, Grade 8, subject, "The Future of the Robot Bomb"; Eleanor Forsythe, Grade 7, subject "The Flight Nurse" and Roberta Brooks, Grade 8 of Rush Point School, subject "Britain Becomes England."

Judges

The judges were: Miss G. McCorvie, and Miss J. McDermott of the High Scool teaching staff and Mrs. G. Newton, teacher at S.S. No. 8, Belmont. High School Principal A C. Reid acted as chairman. Donations toward the prizes were made by the local Home and School Association and the Board of Education.

The contestants were judged on the following basis: 20 points each being allotted for material, posture, voice, language and presentation. The first, second and third prize winners will compete in the County Oratorical Contest in Peterborough on Friday night.

The committee responsible for making arrangements for the local contest were: Mrs. R. Jones and Mrs. C. Taylor, representing the Women's Institute and Mrs. W. Woodbeck representing the Home and School Association.

Responsibilities

Great War and in the resent conflict, so that they too might glorify in the Emire.

Discussing Canadian citizenship, the speaker said that the foundation for good citizenship must be laid in the schools and the homes, since patriotism cannot be cultivated by force. Defining good citizenship as loyalty to one's country, the institutions of one's country, and to the head of the country, the King, she urged parents to lay the foundation by discussing current events at meals, when the family was together, and by expressing unbiased opinions on political and government affairs and undertakings.

Turning to the responsibility of women, Senator Fallis said that they had shown themselves capable of discharging new and important responsibilities, and the question of whether women were going to take their places in National and International councils of post-war peace rested with them.

In discussing the question of what will become of the girls in industry after the war, she urged that servicemen be taken care of first, but that applicants, whether male or female, be judged on their ability, and where the need of the support is greatest. She said that post-war Canada had a great responsibility, morally and financially, toward these girls, and urged women, as they came in contact with them, to impress on them the fact that they had done a wonderful job, and must continue through peace, since employers will want to keep them if they are doing their job well now.

In conclusion, Senator Fallis said that one of the greatest tragedies of war was the fact that the country lost so many young men, a large number of whom would have become leaders. She urged that it was the responsibility of women to prepare themselves to fill the vacancies, and said she would like to see more young women of ability and talent taking a keener interest in the government of Canada, and the young people of Canada recognizing their talents and abilities, and learning not to discriminate between the sexes, training themselves to be leaders in the professional and political life of the country.

Need For Study

In introducing Senator Fallis, Mrs. J. A. Dewart, said that the women of Peterborough were justly proud to have one of their own in the Senate, and one who had obtained such a high place in the legislative and political life of Canada. She said that it helped women to realize the need for them to make a study of international affairs, so that they could support intelligently measures for the permanent welfare and peace, and that they looked to Senator Fallis as one of their greatest leaders. Moving the vote of thanks, Mrs. B. D. Hall said that she hoped the members would bring the theme into their conversation with others.

Mrs. James Turnbull reported that 10 names of next of kin of prisoners of war had been received, and the Auxiliary had sent a donation to be included in the prisoners' Christmas boxes. Receipts from the recent paper salvage drive were $84.45. Mrs. J. Duncan said that she had the names of six wounded to send cigarettes and airgraphs, and that eight acknowledgements had been received.

The president announced that members of the Auxiliary has assisted in addressing the city council's Christmas cards, which were now ready to be mailed, and Mrs. B. D. Hall, for the visiting committee, reported 14 calls on families of recent casualties. Members decided that the packing of Christmas boxes for members of the active army in Canada would take place Thursday, December 7, beginning at one o'clock in St. John's parish hall. The next meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon, November eighth, at three o'cock in the Armouries.

Mrs. James Morley, soloist, sang "Smilin' Through," and "When the Lights Go On Again," accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. Morley. After the meeting had been adjourned, the refreshments committee, convened by Mrs. James Morley, served tea.

THE STARS SAY . . . .
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, October 28.

A difficult and trying day, in which a concentrated focusing of all the facilities and forces, which luckily are well stimulated for astute, shrewd and clever attack, on stubborn, erratic and unsuspected situations, is needed.

Only well-organized strategies, sagacious plans and a keen insight into underlying dangers, may turn threats of utter defeat into a notable success over all sorts of trials and adversities. Calm, clever and determined action, possibly inspired by intuition or other subtle insight, may save the day. But refrain from worry and rash moves which might aggravate complications. Conserve funds, strength, and be not depressed by overwhelming odds, as favorable change is at hand.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by a year in which the fortunate outcome depends upon the sagacity, shrewd judgment, well laid plans and cleverly developed ideas, which may be born of intuition or inner urges. Patience, tact, poise and deep study of difficulties, together with conserving resources, funds, physical strength, and refraining from rash and erratic tactics, may eventually culminate in surprising progress.

A child born on this day may possess much versatility and ability, which it will need to conquer difficulties and trials, but it should be grounded in tact.

HATES BLONDES AND BEER

BRIERLEY HILL, England (CP). — Walter Launcelot Larham, 65, retiring after 39 years publican of the Dog and Partridge, has never tasted beer, never smoked since an early attempt at the age of 15, and hates "blondes" who sit on pub counters sipping gin and smoking.

NEW SUPER U.S. BATTLESHIP—Here is the first full view of the U.S.S. Missouri to be released by the Navy, showing the new 45,000-ton super-modern battleship in full war camouflage design. This mighty new unit to the U.S. Navy was launched at the Brooklyn navy yard, Jan. 29, 1944. She is 880 feet long and has a main battery of nine 16-inch guns.

Tells Of Work Among Chinese

HAVELOCK, Oct. 27 — (ENS). — Miss Agnes Dickson of Fenelon Falls, a former Presbyterian missionary to China, who has also served in Chinese work in Toronto and Montreal, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Knox W.M.S., held in the auditorium of the church Wednesday evening to which an invitation to attend was extended to the auxiliaries of the United Church and St. John's Anglican Church.

Miss Dickson was introduced by Mrs. J. Davey, with whom she is visiting at the manse at Hastings. She spoke on the subject, "The Result of Christian Work in China". She told of the advancement made by our ally in the educational, medical and religious fields and how this work is being carried on to a great extent many miles inland.

Meet Aggression

Commencing with the first Japanese attack on China in July 1937 she related how the Chinese, never a military nation, who considered the soldier as belonging to the lowest of all classes, and lacking everything needed for modern warfare, had met the aggression of a great military power and had doggedly resisted for over seven years, with the hope of final victory still inspiring them to further sacrifices. She placed the responsibility for much of their suffering at the door of the English speaking people because they had supplied Japan with all sorts of things to be converted into war material to fight ourselves. She said more American steel than we will ever know has gone back into Canadian and American bodies.

In speaking on the opium traffic she said that prior to the war, the Chinese government was doing everything possible to abolish this evil and now the Japanese were making it easy to procure the drug, as one means of making China a servile nation.

Heavy Bombing

In closing she related an incident that transpired in the city of Canton. An evening service was being conducted by a young student who was admonishing his hearers to really know the God in whom they trusted. "He has not promised that we shall not be bombed" he said, "but He has promised to be with us all through and that is sufficient." The first Japanese bombs came as the benediction was being pronounced and the organist composedly played, "Some Day We'll Understand".

Mrs. L. Colquhoun, president of the Knox W.M.S. presided, Mrs. G. W. Chiles, president of the United W.M.S. read the scripture lesson, Mrs. D. J. Holdcroft sang, "My Task", accompanied at the organ by Mrs J. W. Wilkinson and Mrs. A. S. Thompson led in prayer.

Mrs. Joseph Holdcroft voiced the appreciation of St. John's auxiliary. She said it was a great privilege as well as a pleasure to listen to Miss Dickson's address, and he knew it would be an inpiration to go on with new hope and effort in the work of spreading the gospel. Mrs. R. Bonney, an ardent mission worker in the United Church, also voiced her appreciation. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. M. Kinnaird.

Short Program

Following the service a social time was spent in the school room of the church when refreshments were served by the Knox auxiliary. During this time two vocal duets were sung by Misses Dora Ketchen and Ruth Wilkinson entitled, "Till the Light Shine Through" and "All Life's Way", accompanied by Mrs. W. M. Platt at the piano.

Pacific Battle Box Score

By The Associated Press

More complete reports are expected from United States Fleet Headquarters at Pearl Harbor but here are confirmed losses suffered by the Japanese Imperial Navy in the three-pronged naval and air battle in Philippine waters this week as compiled from official communiques and eye-witness accounts:

	Sunk	Probably Sunk	Damaged	Total
Carriers	2	1	0	3
Battleships	2	2	6	10
Cruisers	5	0	5	10
Destroyers	3	0	1x	4
Totals	12	3	12	27

(x-Several damaged enemy destroyers could not be included because of failure of communiques to specify the exact number.)

American losses reported included one light cruiser, and one escort carrier, together with several PT-boats damaged. Several escort carriers and destroyers were damaged.

AVOID TOO RAPID PLAY

EVERY ONCE in a while a quick-minded player, who is proud of his reputation for speedy thinking, comes to grief because he overdoes it. One danger of straining to be faster than the other fellow is the tendency it causes toward acting before thinking, especially in situations which seem to be controllable by habit. Such a habit is that of winning a trick with a once-guarded king whenever you get a chance to do it.

South was one of those chaps with a hair-trigger brain which acts almost the moment his turn comes. He did this in the bidding when he saw he had a stopper of East's spades, good stuff in the two red suits, and three cards in his partner's clubs. The only reason he didn't bid 3-No Trumps at once was that it flashed through his cerebellum that North might have four hearts; if so he would bid them and South would take it to a heart game. But North went on to the game in No Trumps.

West led the 7 of his partner's spades, the 10 being played promptly by South from the dummy and East sagely using his Q instead of the A. South avidly scored with his K and led toward dummy's clubs. West came in with the A and led back his spade 5, so that East ran five tricks in the suit, setting South two tricks.

Simple thinking should have shown South the advisability of playing low on the first trick, blanking his spade K, letting East win with the Q. Now see what would happen. If East continued the suit South could win the second or third round, having the J in dummy. Then he could have led a club, hoping West had the A. That proving the case, he could have walked home with either 10 or 11 tricks, depending on whether East used his spade A on the second trick.

Dewey Charges $1,000 Gifts Sell Privileges

CHICAGO, Oct. 27—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey, returning to the scene of his nomination, charged last night that "for $1,000 laid on the line to finance the fourth term drive" President Roosevelt's administration "boldly offers for sale 'special privilege,' including the special privilege of assisting 'in the formulation of administration policies.'"

In a major campaign speech preceding President Roosevelt's appearance here Saturday for an address in Soldier Field, the Republican presidential nominee asserted that working together for a fourth term the nation would find "the bosses of the corrupt big city machines, Sydney Hillman's political action committee and Earl Browder and his Communist party."

The New York governor quoted from a letter dated last Oct. 16, which he said was written from a letterhead of the national Democratic campaign headquarters, Little Rock, Ark., and signed by H. L. McAlister and Sam J. Watkins, state finance directors, inviting the recipient to join the "One Thousand Club."

White House Conference

Gov. Dewey quoted the letter as saying the idea for such a club had originated "at a recent conference at the White House between the President, Robert E. Hannegan, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and Edwin W. Pauley, treasurer of the committee. He said the letter continued that at this meeting the President had said:

"I think it would be a good idea to have a list of 1,000 persons banded together from all over the United States to act as a liaison to see that facts relating to the public interest are presented factually to the President and members of Congress."

Gov. Dewey then read what he said was the following quotation from the letter:

"Members of this organization undoubtedly will be granted special privilege and prestige by party leaders. These members will be called into conference from time to time to discuss matters of national importance and to assist in the formulation of administration policies."

"To be eligible for membership in the One Thousand Club will require a contribution of $1,000 to the national Democratic campaign fund."

C.C.F. Executive Blocks Candidate

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27 — (CP) — Nomination of H. W. Herridge, member of the British Columbia Legislature for Rossland-Trail, as C.C.F. candidate in West Kootenay Federal constituency has been disallowed by the C.C.F. provincial executive, Provincial President A. T. Alsbury announced last night.

Party policy laid down by the provincial executive in 1943 allowed a member of the Provincial Legislature to resign in order to accept Federal nomination only under "exceptional circumstances," Mr. Alsbury said.

Obligations of a C.C.F. Legislative member to his constituents for his complete term of office were stressed by President Alsbury who stated that "this relationship between member and the electors will not be lightly set aside by the C.C.F. no matter what other political parties may do."

Voice Urged Man To Murder

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 — (AP) — Lewis Wolfe testified at his first degree murder trial yesterday that the night before his wife, Paula Mona, 26, was slain they sat in their Brooklyn hotel room reading the Bible.

Wolfe, former Montrealer, accused of fatally budgeoning the one-time Viennese actress with a shoe, said they read the 23rd Psalm, which he described as "our beloved song."

When we reached the line "...the valley of the shadow of death..." Wolfe testified, "I thought: 'That is where we are—we are dying'."

Earlier, the 37-year-old Wolfe said under cross-examination by Assistant District Attorney Charles N. Cohen that:

"It was not I, the man you see sitting here, who hit her with a shoe. It was the man who heard the voice of God saying: 'Hit her again, again, again'."

The defendant said he recalled seeing his refugee wife lying on the hotel room floor the night of Dec 30, her head covered with a pillow.

Cohen asked: "Who struck her?"

Wolfe replied: "It wasn't I. I can only tell how I fell. I, sitting here did not strike her, but I remember the voice telling me to strike her.

"My body was used as an instrumentality. I don't know of ever hitting my wife. It was as a result of the voice that she was struck. I had no mind."

In previous testimony Wolfe said his wife admitted to him she had been unfaithful on a ship en route to America from Palestine. The prosecution charges that as a result he slew her with a metal-tipped shoe.

New By-law Affects Municipal Workers

MONTREAL, Oct. 27—(CP)—A proposed city by-law creating a municipal civil service commission here will be brought before the City Council at its November 2 meeting, it was announced today.

The proposed by-law was adopted yesterday by the city executive committee and its principles were immediately forwarded to the labor unions to which civic employees are affiliated.

It was said that in no case will wage scales be changed without a request from the executive and that, moreover, the commission will not deprive the employees of the right to negotiate for further labor agreement contracts, nor to submit for arbitration any problem they desire. Any existing collective labor agreements with civic employees will remain in force.

Americans Overrun Samar 14,000 Jap Casualties Filipino Guerillas Active

Japanese Losses Believed Half Entire Sea Strength

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 28 — (AP). — American planes and surface craft today hunted down Japanese warships limping from disaster in the Philippines, where the Imperial fleet lost probably 40 ships and had its maximum strength cut at least in half.

Bombers maintained an aerial dragnet from south China to the Sulu Sea searching for survivors. Secrecy shadowed the activities of Allied fleet units.

The loss of six American warships in the three vital naval engagements was announced yesterday. They included the light carrier Princeton, most of the personnel of which were saved, two escort carriers, two destroyers and one destroyer escort, all unidentified.

Reports from the battle scene emphasized the skill and daring of Allied commanders and men who fought off superior forces to secure the Philippine invasion and possibly to shorten the Pacific conflict.

Rear Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, chief of staff of the United States Pacific fleet, reported "it appears 40 Japanese ships were sunk or crippled," although the score of the naval engagements is not complete.

Official figures, based on earlier incomplete reports, list a minimum of 27 Japanese warcraft sunk or damaged, including two carriers and two battleships sunk.

(Tokyo's latest claims of American losses were 108 warships and transports sunk or damaged, including eight carriers sunk and and seven carriers and a battleship damaged. It acknowledged Japanese losses of six craft sunk—a carrier, a battleship, two cruisers and two destroyers—and a carrier and one battleship damaged.)

A Severe Blow

Admiral Sherman added: "It will be a long time before the Japanese fleet again is fit for sea."

Here are other reports by top officials, speaking in observation of Navy Day by the United States:

Admiral Ernest J. King, at New York—the Japanese fleet has been reduced "to not more than one half of its maximum strength."

Navy Secretary Forrestal, at Chicago—The Philippine battles "laid up, at least temporarily, two-thirds of the Jap's battleships. It chewed up a sizeable portion of their carriers, and it subtracted further from an inadequate number of cruisers and destroyers."

Admiral Nimitz, at Honolulu—"Although the full extent of his (the enemy's) losses are not yet completely known, it is safe to say they are so great as to render his fleet incapable of challenging any sizeable portion of ours for some time to come." The "supreme test" with the Japanese "will come in the year ahead."

2nd Island Capital Taken Over U.S. Pincers Closing

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press War Correspondent

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Oct. 28—(AP).—Powerful invasion armies, released as Japan's shattered fleet fled the Philippines, rapidly engulfed Samar Island today, within 275 miles of Manita, aided by Filipino guerillas.

On Leyte, where land-based fighter planes began operating from captured airfields, great segments of the island fell to the onrushing Americans.

By the hour, Japanese dead and wounded were added to the more than 14,000 casualties already inflicted. Most of the dead were men of the 16th Division which perpetrated the tortures on Bataan.

Virtually all Samar's more than 1,200 square miles, which extend to within 15 miles of prized Luzon, were under American and Filipino domination and the capital city, Catbalogan, was captured.

It was the second island capital invested in the Philippines, the other being Leyte's Tacloban, now provisional capital for the Philippines government.

Twelve more towns and villages were liberated on Leyte. At least 55 now are freed.

Some of the enemy are bottled up in Leyte valley with U.S. forces moving on them from north and south. They had two choices: flee into the hills—or stand and die.

Crashing through the 16th's backbone of resistance west of Palo, spearheads rushed six miles southward into the Calley. They drove through Santa Fe and Pastrana. Other elements struck north of captured Burauen to within two miles of Dagami, supply and troop concentraaion centre.

10 Miles to Go.

The gap between the converging Americans is less than 10 miles. When it is closed, the plight of all Japanese between there and the east coast is hopeless.

Gen. MacArthur's communique to-day reporting capture of Barugo also disclosed that other units have pushed along Leyte's east coast 14 miles south of Dulag to enter Abuyog. From Barugo to Abuyog 70 miles of Leyte coast now under control of the invaders.

Control of Samar Island plus the seizure of Barugo on Leyte would mean command of a 100-mile coas-

Reds Dominate Ruthenia Take Chief City

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press War Correspondent

MOSCOW, Oct. 28 — (AP). — Russian mountain troops were driving across the threshold of Slovakia to-day after virtually completing the conquest of Hungarian-annexed Ruthenia with the capture of Umgvar, its chief city and former capital.

Seizure of Umgvar gave Gen. Ivan Petrov's 4th Ukrainian Army a southern terminus for a supply route through the Carpathian Mountains by way of the Uzok Pass for an accelerated effort to reach isolated Czecheslovak Patriot resistance forces at Banska Bystrica, 140 mile swest, now linked with the Allies only by plane. These forces are estimated at 25,000.

Twenty-five miles north of Umgvar other units of Petrov's Army penetrated six miles into Slovakia, capturing the town of Starina, in the Ciroka Valley nine miles northwest of Ulic, taken along with 48 other localities.

Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's battle of attrition against the furiously fighting Germans in East Prussia forced the enemy out of three more village fortresses in the Ebenrode area yesterday, one of them 21 miles north-west of Isterburg and 17 miles east of the main Insterburg-Tilsit railroad.

Reds Launch New Offensive

LONDON, Oct. 28 (CP) — Col. Ernst Von Hammer, German military commentator, said today the Russians had opened a new and carefully prepared offensive southeast of Leipaja (Libau) and east of Auce in Southern Latvia.

The Russian force opened several breaches, some of which were beaten back by strong German counterattacks, the commentator said in a broadcast dispatch.

The attacks, designed to clear western Latvia and open another Baltic port for the Russians, were reported preceded by a long artillery barrage and repeated air raids.

MOSCOW, Oct. 28—(AP).—The Supreme Soviet conferred the first titles of "Mother Heroine" today on 14 mothers who have 10 or more children. Leading the group was Ann Alexakhina, eight of whose 12 children are in the Red Army.

2 Sharp Attacks Rip Berlin

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(CP).— Two sharp air attacks hit Berlin last night a short time after Propaganda Minister Goebbels completed a "battle-to-death" plea to the German nation.

A force of swift Mosquito bombers dumped thir load in the German capital almost as soon as Goebbels left the air. An hour later a second group struck. The operation put Berlin under attack for the sixth night this month.

The Nazi propaganda and home defence minister declared Germany had no choice but to fight to the finish and threatened a new Luftwaffe would take the war to her enemies.

Other objectives in western Germany were bombed—also without loss.

After another break because of unfavorable weather, the air offensive was resumed to-day. The German radio reported bomber formations over western Germany before noon.

Sales Slacken Noticeably In Victory Loan

OTTAWA, Oct. 28.—(CP).—Canadians yesterday subscribed to the $1,300,000,000 Seventh Victory Loan a total of $75,724,700—approximately $1,300,000 below the total for the same day in the Sixth Loan, Loan Headquarters announced to-day.

Total for the first five days of the three-week campaign now stands at $359,413,300 and the Loan which at one stage was $20,000,000 ahead of the last Loan is now only $11,000,000,000 up.

Both the fourth and fifth days of canvassing in this loan showed a drop from the fourth and fifth days of the Sixth Loan.

Individual Canadians purchased $33,719,150 of yesterday's total, bring in thier cumulative total to date to $160,059,250, an average of about $32,000,000 daily. In the Sixth Loan, the individual purchasers averaged $35,700,000 daily for a total of $643,000,000.

"The Loan returns appear to be levelling off," a Loan official said to-day. "The campaign opened with a rush and reports came in earlier, recording it was in advance of any previous Loan and four figures showed a $20,000,000 increase in the first three days. Some of that early momentum now seems to have been lost, with the fourth and fifth days of selling showing a decrease from

Nazis Withdraw Everywhere Try To Escape Allied Trap

40,000 Germans Must Be Moved Or Face Disaster

By ROSS MUNDO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, Oct. 28 (CP-Cable) — Onslaught of 1st Canadian Army and the British 2nd Army formations against 40,000 Germans still in Southwest Holland is driving the enemy forces back to the Lower Rhine and the German defence line has fallen to pieces.

Germans of the 15th Army are withdrawing everywhere and likely they are falling back to the long bridge over the Lower Rhine at Moerdike or to ferries over the Rhine at Willemstad 10 miles to the west.

Around the Schelde Canadian Army forces are making good progress. Feature of overnight developments was the crossing of the broad canal on South Beveland by Western Canada infantry.

After advancing along the Eastern Peninsula of South Beveland, the Canadians were halted by the canal, and an attempt to cross by the one bridge which had not yet been blown up the enemy failed.

But the westerners crossed the waterway in assault boats and during the night won a bridgehead.

New Beachhead

In South Beveland a beachhead had been established by British infantry of the 1st Canadian Army, supported by Ontario machine-gunners and Canadian Engineers. There was little change in this sector although the landing forces' position was firm.

South of the Schelde in the last rapidly collapsing German pocket, Western infantry was just over a mile from Cadzand, moving along the north coast, while other Canadians were closing in from the southeast.

Six hundred prisoners were taken in the pocket yesterday at a cost of 14 Canadian casualties, since the operation to clean out the pocket opened with Canadian crossings of the Leopold canal Oct. 6, 5,992 prisoners have been taken by the Canadians.

Heavy fog which had shrouded the Schelde and Southwest Holland for days lifted this morning and in a cloudless sky planes supporting the Canadians took to the air.

This break in the weather is just what the Canadian Army needed to hammer the last remnant of the German 54th Division into submission in the Schelde pocket and destroy the 78th Division on South Beveland.

There was no possible chance for troops from either of these divisions to escape, but on the mainland of southwest Holland elements of eight German divisions are pulling back as rapidly as they can toward the Lower Rhine.

They may be giving up all of western Holland right through to the Zuider Zee, which would give the Allies the cities of Rotterdam and Amsterdam and the Netherlands capital of The Hague.

A Hungry Beaver

PRINCETON, Ida., Oct. 28—(AP).—Maybe a beaver has the same retentive memory as an elephant. Last year the State Fish and Game Commission moved out a family of beavers which was dining on George D. Guernsey's apple trees near their pond. Guernsey sent an S.O.S. to the commission this week. One old flattail had returned, he said, and devoured strawberry plants, cut five lilac bushes, felled a mountain ash, a Russian olive, a Siberian elm and a small plum tree.

All-Red Route By Air Planned For After War

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, Oct. 28.— (CP).— Locked in the portfolios of the men who attended the commonwealth air conversations here are charts delineating the routes which would go to make up a complete system of air communications throughout the British commonwealth and empire. The conference was concluded last night.

As the groups of experts and officials for eight countries who met here this week prepare to move on to the international air conference at Chicago, they have already agreed on recommendations, which, if adopted by thir different governments, will assure an all-red route for post-war civil flying but a route which will probably be operated in sections by different countries.

Points Agreed Upon.

A statement issued at the end of the meeting listed the following as points agreed on for submission to the governments of the United Kingdom, Canada, South Africa, India, Southern Rhodesia, Newfoundland, Australia and New Zealand:

1. It is important to "join with other nations of the world in the immediate creation of an effective international air authority through the medium of a permanent international air convention deisgned in the interests of peace, security and air development.

2. Establishment of air services on routes connecting different parts of the commonwealth and empire

Major Developments Change Picture Antwerp Almost Free

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 28 (AP) — The German lines in Western Holland have collapsed under the slashing multiple thrusts of British-Canadian armor and infantry, and the battered enemy forces reeled back today in a scramble to get across the Maas and escape destruction.

As success followed success, Allied headquarters announced that free use of the port of Antwerp, prize of the campaign now is blocked only by the isolated and doomed coastal guns of the enemy at flushing on Walcheren Island.

The swift-moving Canadian-British drive brought these major developments:

1. Bergen Op Zoom, stoutly-defended western anchor of the enemy line, was abandoned suddenly by its garrison, and entered without a fight last night by Canadian armor and infantry.

2. Canadian infantry on the Beveland Peninsula crossed the canal to the main part of the island, and fought their way to within seven miles of the reinforced units which have expanded their bridgehead on the southeast coast of Beveland.

3. British troops of the 1st Canadian Army were within 2,000 yards of Roosendaal, and the German radio admitted they had penetrated defences south of the city. To the East, the Breda-Tilburg road was cut, and Breda itself was a target for converging columns of Polish and Canadian troops.

4. Tilburg was in the hands of British 2nd Army troops, who got a tumultuous welcome from the Dutch population although holdout remnants of the German garrison still clung to the western fringes of the city.

5. North of Tilburg, an armor and infantry slash carried through Loon Op Zand and headed for Oosterhout on the escape route from Breda to the Geertruidenberg bridge over the Maas.

Allies Must Await Supplies Before Assault On Germany

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

For those who are anxious because the all-out Allied offensive hasn't yet started in Western Europe, despite the fact that winter already is prowling about the fighting lines, let it be said that there's no cause to worry, for the drive is on its way.

The reason Gen. Eisenhower hasn't already struck is mainly due, as I see it, to the necessity of bringing up vast supplies under fierce handicaps. We probably even are justified in saying that the Allies might be across the Rhine right now, headed for Unter Den Linden, if they had possessed the wherewithal when they first came up against the West Wall in mid-September. That's not anybody's fault but is one of those ironic quirks of war over which nobody has control.

Ahead of Schedule

The Allies outdistanced their supplies in the amazing hare-and-hound chase across broad France, and were ahead of schedule when the hare went to ground in his own safety-zone.

Allied striking-power was temporarily short-circuited by coming up against the German frontier defences. While the chase continued over open ground, magnificent air and road transport kept the armies sufficiently supplied. But the Siegfried line is another proposition. It demands heavy equipment and mountains of material. That means not only air and road transport but railways—and don't forget that it calls for ports, because the Allied armies are dependent on seaborne supplies.

Actually the Allied transport system has performed one of the wonders of military history. Lt.-Gen. Somervell, commander of the Army Service Forces, discloses that during the first 109 days of the invasion the Allies landed 2,500,000 troops, 500,000 vehicles, and 17,000,000 ship tons of munitions, vehicles and supplies.

A Tremendous Task

Those 109 days a bit more than covered the period of the Allied charge to the German frontier. However, you'll note that Gen. Somervell says the troops and supplies were "landed" in the 109 days. This doesn't account for the titanic task of moving them—and subsequent cargoes—across France by air, by highways which the Nazis had damaged, and by railroads that still are far from normal.

Ever since the invading troops fought their way out of Normandy, endless lines of supplies have been following them faithfully. But the Allies have had to meet the huge daily needs of their armies, as well as pile up a reserve for the drive to the Rhine.

Allies Capture Piscopi Island

ROME, Oct. 28 — (AP). — Allied troops landed from the British cruiser Sirius and occupied the island of Piscopi, northwest of Rhodes, the night of Oct. 26, Allied headquarters announced today.

Piscopi (Tilos) is a small mountainous island of the Sporades, subdivision of the Grecian Archipelago off the west coast of Asia Minor. It is less than 25 miles from Rhodes.

The communique said also that the Island of Melos (Kilo), one of the Cyclades group, was bombarded by four British warships, Thursday.

There was no report of resistance to the landing at Piscopi.

Historic Melos, the southwesternmost island of the Cyclades, is 70 miles east of the Peloponnesus and approximately the same distance north of Crete.

Yesterday an Allied air force announcement said that the Germans "have practically no prospect of saving" forces totalling some 23,000 men in Crete, Rhodes and the remaining Nazi-held Aegean islands because they lack aircraft and their air evacuation lines are under constant Allied observation.

Winter Offensive Likely Canadians Hold Key Task

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 28—(CP Cable).— The end of the war on the western front may not be so far distant as seems from a glance at the Allied battle lines on a map, although a winter campaign appears inevitable.

And the Canadians beating their slow, arduous way through the inhospitable Schelde estuary country to open the port of Antwerp are the key to the fighting in the months to come.

With Antwerp opened to Allied shipping soon it is quite conceivable Allied armies could be close to the Rhine by Christmas. That done, they could be within sight of final victory before spring, because from the left of the Rhine Allied artillery would be within easy range of almost all the important Ruhr industrial centres.

But there can be no move towards the Rhine without, as Prime Minister Churchill warned Friday, hard fighting on an increasing scale. The vigor of the German resistance to the Canadian and British armies in Holland make this plain.

German army morale may be poor—as some prisoners of war claim when they give the Germans three more months to lose the war. But Canadian rifle companies fighting on the Leopold Canal in the Schelde pocket and on South Beveland Island north of the estuary found this alleged defection in Field Marshal von Rundstedt's forces had not spread to their sector.

All the Channel ports except Dunkerque are in Allied hands. But they were not completely at Allied disposal nor in full working order at the critical time when the Allied armies began to encounter stiffening resistance early in September and when rapid reinforcement and additional supplies were needed to maintain the offensive momentum.

Bad Weather Slows British

ROME, Oct. 28 — (AP). — Gales and floods brought operations on the entire Italian front to a virtual standstill today and the Germans were capitalizing on the let-up in fighting to reinforce their defences south and southeast of Bologna.

Allied headquarters said adverse weather also restricted Mediterranean Allied air force operations.

In one attack fighter-bombers hit an important bridge in an unnamed location in northern Italy. Three Allied planes were missing from the mission.

The battle line between the British 8th Army and the Germans in the Adriatic sector was drawn up along the main German defences a the Ronco River, two miles east of Forli.

Troops of the Allied 5th Army were bogged down eight miles south of Bologna.

British forces in the central sector, however were able to move up Highway 67 and occupy Rocca San Casciano and Indian troops in the area occupied several hills without meeting any opposition.

American troops south of Bologna in some forward areas were being supplied by ferries as flood waters cut them off from main supply depots.

23,000 Canadians Married While Serving Overseas

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 28—(CP Cable)— The Canadian government has gone into the civilian transportation business in a big way with a "Canadian Wives' Bureau" functioning here to arrange for the passage to Canada of British girls married to Canadian soldiers, sailors and airmen.

There have been more than 23,000 such marriages since the war began and nowadays British-Canadian weddings are at the rate of 400 to 500 weekly. Since 1942 Canada has paid the costs of moving these war brides and their children to the Dominion and more than 2,000 wives already have crossed.

The Wives' Bureau is under the direction fo Lt.-Col. D. A. Clarke who formerly lived in the Maritimes and Alberta. The civilian repatriation section which handles the actual movements is controlled by Maj. Victor Gill, 34-year-old former Toronto Steamship Company executive.

Figures made public last night show 2,298 British wives and 1,328 children of Canadian servicemen so far have been sent to Canada. Some 21,500 wives and 8,300 children remain in Britain. There are several thousand wives on the waiting list for transport and a priority system has been arranged.

Canadian service marriages to date are listed as follows: Navy 477; Army 19.101; Air Force 2,800; fire-fighters 15.

Zombie Army To Police Axis Nations?

No Immediate Change In Ottawa's Police Of Overseas Service

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 — (CP). — Cabinet ministers yesterday continued their lengthy review of war and associated problems with every indication that the policy of military service overseas being on a voluntary basis will not be changed.

Ministers have met daily since Tuesday, when a session was held with all 21 members in attendance. The government executive body heard a report from Defence Minister Ralton, just back from the war fronts, discussed Canadian army policy and then turned to examination of a wide variety of problems, ranging from the labor situation to food production.

The basis of overseas service was believed by capital sources to be at the forefront of discussions. Criticism of the home defence army of some 75,000 men developed during the 1944 parliamentary session.

Authorities said a number of arguments against a change in government policy were considered.

High officers, including Maj.-Gen. R. F. L. Keller, former commander of the 3rd Division, for instance, have been quoted as saying that invasion casualties were smaller than had been considered likely.

Col. Ralston early this year said that reinforcement pools were up to requirements on the basis of anticipated casualties. This would indicate that the need for reinforcements is not so urgent that the government feels the need of passing an order-in-council, as it has power to do, requiring men called for compulsory service to serve overseas.

Cost of Maintenance

The threat of attack on Canada by the Japanese, an important factor in retaining compulsory service troops on duty within the Dominion, had diminished. If the home defence men are not to be sent overseas and their need for defence of Canada has now been reduced, further criticism of the cost of their maintenance in uniform is probable, political observers said.

Some government supporters are understood to favor a system under which home defence men would be allowed to return to essential occupations, such as farming, after they have completed their training. They would remain liable to call in the case of emergency.

Considerable speculation has developed on Parliament Hill on the future of the Home Defence Army.

The Ottawa Citizen said in a newspaper story yesterday that the suggestion the Home Defence men might be used as Canadian occupation troops in Germany and Japan after the war was described by authoritative sources as "a novel idea with much to commend it."

The paper added that the sources said such a step 'would not embarrass the government politically . . . . further it would solve the problem of what to do with the zombie army to keep them off the labor market in the first post-war rush for peacetime jobs among volunteer veterans."

The Ottawa Journal said "rumors continued of the cabinet being split on Defence Minister Ralston's rumored demand that the 'zombies' immediately be placed on an active service basis and sent overseas as reinforcements. . . . there is the suggestion that Prime Minister King may call the House into session and demand a confidence vote on the decision to send the 'zombies' overseas."

30-Tank Attack.

But on the eastern sector of the Allied slient into Holland, the Germans struck hard at American armor in the Venlo sector, and took the town of Meijel north of the Roermond-Weert railway. A British staff officer said the enemy threw 30 tanks int. this fight.

The German Schelde pocket now has been squeezed to a 15-mile bogland triangle, and the great Allied-held Belgian port of Antwerp — a major prize because it is the closest supply funnel to the Rhine and Ruhr winter battleground — was cleared of the Germans at Vlissingen (Flushing) on flooded Walcheren Island.

A recent front report said only one enemy battery still was in operation there.

Allied successes in the Schelde estuary area do not mean that a flood of shipping can start to Antwerp at once, even after the Vlissingen guns are silenced. There remains the tough job of sweeping and clearing the long waterway approach to the port.

To the south, troops of the U.S. 1st Army were subjected to light artillery fire in the Aachen area and along the Belgian frontier east of St. Vith.

The communique reported slight gains in the vicinity of Rambervillers, including the capture of the village of Housseras.

German attempts to infiltrate Allied positions in the Vosges mountains were beaten back, the communique said, and "limited progress" was achieved by our troops between Bruyeres and Le Tholy.

Driving ahead in the Netherlands advance, British units were reported to have cut the Tilburg-Breda road and moved close to Breda, last strongpoint that might shield a general enemy withdrawal from south-western Holland across the Maas River, Waal Rhine and their various branches.

Name Cruiser After Some Province

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 28—A bit of competition is likely to blow up over which province shall have the honor of giving its name to a Canadian cruiser. The first Canadian vessel of this type, taken over from the British, is called Uganda but it is understood others, will bear the names of provinces.

As the immediate program calls for one more cruiser, the suggestion has been that she might be named Nova Scotia, the province which has seen more of the Royal Canadian Navy and its men than any other. Navy Ministre Macdonald is a Nova Scotian, which should not hurt this cause.

Aircraft carriers manned by Canadians may bear the names of birds familiar throughout the Dominion. The Tribal class R.C.N. destroyers have the names of Indian tribes and the older destroyers are called after rivers. Corvettes are named after cities and towns.

Carpetball Sets Nov. 4 As Deadline

At the annual meeting of the City Carpetball League this week it was decided that no entries would be accepted for this season's play unless in the hands of the secretary on or before November 4.

Last season entries were accepted after the closing date and the delay upset the schedule for the balance of the season.

Only five entries were made at the annual meeting but two or three more were suggested.

The prize money from last season was turned over to the British War Victims' Fund on a motion from the delegates representing the winning clubs.

The election of officers saw the return of Dave Leether as president; C. Wiggins, first vice-president; J. H. Cridland, second-vice; George E. Groombridge was re-elected secretary and George Gimblett, Jr. was named as assistant secretary, a move that is expected to eliminate delay in recording and announcing results in the absence of the secretary.

The feeling was expressed that every effort should be made to carry on and keep the league going, ready for the boys in the services when they come home.

So far the following teams have entered: Two from the British Empire Service League, and one each from the Fire Hall. L.O.L. and East City Wardens.

A demand by the mob at the doorway of the Ministry that the Major be turned over for summary justice was denied by the Chief of Police but the officials promised an immediate investigation.

Peterboro Men Hunt In Quebec

A full complement of deer, and many choice ducks and partridges are the results of the two-week hunt in the Quebec wildlands by the regular party of five, headed by J. K. Hughes, that has been making the expedition regularly for the past seven years. The party, including, Fred L. Roy, Peter Fessenden, Col. J. Dewart, and L. B. Webb, returned to Peterborough recently, with one deer each.

High in the Laurentian hills, gorgeous autumn foliage and crisp, clear weather was the background for the hunt, and went a long way in making the hunt a success. The men stationed themselves at Wadgewood Camp, near Deacon Lake, located north of the Ottawa River and about one hundred miles from Pembroke.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Bright and beautiful are the winter wools. It's wonderful what a lot of difference color makes. It changes the whole appeal of a dress and does wonders for the one who is wearing it. Try one in the new bright wools and see for yourself. See how a lovely singing shade of blue can make you look years younger, how a brilliant red can dramatize you; how one of those bon-bon greens can make you look prettier; how a warm copper or rust can cast a charming, warm glow over your face. That's the fascination of these bright, beautiful wools.

A very smart wool dress is shown in brilliant red, for the smart young junior. The new U-neckline, makes this coat dress very alluring, with its trimming of dressmaker bows and gold buttons that fasten it from the neck line to the bottom of the skirt. Another smart two-piece suit is in rust, with a brown velveteen collar, edged with braid. With this suit a sequin beret is worn. The beret is made of coils of felt and the piece coming down on the hair at the back is made of brown sequins.

The new fur hats are definitely different and undeniably glamorous. They express new ideas transcending anything seen in past seasons. They range in style from the little bandeau with roses nestled in a fold of mink to the turban enveloping the entire head in fur. Then there are the berets, pill-boxes of all sizes, and the towering shakos, something of the Russian style.

A word about hairdressing. Let your hair catch the sparkle and color of fall and winter clothes by wearing bejeweled combs and colorful snoods. For evening wear have a hairdo showing bangs, with an espanol comb tucked in at the back of them, like a Spanish lady.

All styles are much more dressy than they have been recently, and much more feminine, to go with the new style hats and dresses.

Montreal Dancehalls Put Out Of Bonnds

MONTREAL, Oct. 28—(CP)—Several cafes and dance halls in central Montreal today were placed out of bounds to members of armed forces in an effort to curb what military authorities said was an "epidemic" of venereal diseases in the district.

Maj.-Gen. E. J. Similar orders were ordered by naval services and Royal Canadian Air Force groups in the district.

6 Weeks' Leave Wanted Between Wars

By DOUGLAS AMARON

LONDON, Oct. 28 — (CP). — Home leave of at least six weeks, favorable pay and rehabilitation adjustments and the right to remuster are major considerations Canadian soldiers on the Western front and in Italy hope to find in the Dominion Government's army plans for the Pacific war.

Servicemen are anxious, too, for assurance that Canada's home defense soldiers will be called upon to serve overseas when the European campaign ends and the full weight of Allied arms is brought against Japan.

These are the views of soldiers who were canvassed in France, Belgium and Holland by Ross Munro and in Italy by Douglas How, both veteran Canadian Press war correspondents.

Without some special considerations, such as those mentioned, Munro believes only about 10 per cent of the Canadians on the Western front will volunteer for Pacific service. How places the figure in Italy at less than 25 per cent.

Equalized Pay Rates

Munro says his estimate could be jumped to 15 or 20 per cent if the men were given good home leave and placed on rates of pay equal to those of the United States Army. How feels his figure for Italy could be stepped up to 75 per cent if similar concessions were made. How adds that many soldiers believe if the men are entirely demobilized and a remuster called a month later 90 per cent will report back.

Soldiers overseas have not yet received any details about the Government's plans for the Pacific war. Defense Minister Ralston told the troops in Italy who questioned him about this that a Government announcement will be made when decisions taken at the Quebec conference are disclosed.

The part Canadians now overseas will play is believed here dependent upon several factors, prominent among them the shipping situation and Canada's share in policing Germany after the European war ends.

Canada has five divisions overseas, so some demobilization at the end of European hostilities can be expected. The extent to which this can be carried out, however, depends upon whether the Dominion is called upon to provide a garrison force in Europe and, if so, how large.

Munro reported from the Western front that "many Canadians here say they do not want to go to the Pacific if troops who have remained at home throughout the war are not drawn upon for the same assignment."

"They feel strongly that home defense forces should make some real contribution to another overseas campaign," Munro added.

How said the soldiers in Italy "all want to know why the onus is continually theirs while Canadians of the home army are not helping in the fighting."

The American ration or some new Canadian ration more like the American than the British "compo" was an "inducement" to Pacific service, Munro found. He said pay and food "are just about the two most important things to any soldier."

The majority of married men with whom Munro talked turned down cold the idea of Pacific service, but he said "there are thousands of young men without marital ties, and who have had no chance to become entrenched in civil life, who would like to stay in the army."

Many officers, too, who have done well in the army would sooner stay in it with their good ranks than go back to what they feel would be routine civilian jobs.

Munro reported further: "The big question mark in the minds of Canadians here when they talk of the Pacific business is this: Will we get a chance to re-volunteer or will we merely be regrouped and shipped out?"

How noted that many of the soldiers in Italy have been away from Canada for a long time and said they are afraid they will be strangers in their own homes when they get back; they want the opportunity to put things straight with their families before setting out for the Pacific.

"If arbitrarily packed off to the Pacific without a chance to express themselves they will feel deeply wounded." How reported.

"Although the letter of their agreement with the Army permits them being sent anywhere they feel that when they enlisted Europe was the only theatre and a Pacific war was not popularly considered likely.

"They believe as conditions altered so should the liabilities of service. They feel that once the European war is over they will have fulfilled the spirit of their undertaking and that a new undertaking is called for."

Two Mission Bands Present Enjoyable Cinderella Show

A glimpse into fairyland, where fifty godmothers appear to make everyone's wishes come true, was given in St. Andrew's Sunday school Friday evening by members of the St. Andrew's and Trinity United Church Mission Bands, when they gave a clever performance of an operetta based on the fairy tale of Cinderella.

In the opening scene, in a woodland, a group of cute fairies gathered about their godmother, as she told them about poor Cinderella, who wanted to go to the ball, and outlined her plan for helping her. The plan, however, needed the assistance of cupid, who agreed to help, and sang a song about the romantic potentialities he had in his bag of magic love powder and his bow and darts.

Misses Maralyn Munro and Roma Williamson, as the wicked step-sisters, stole the show in the second scene, with their song about their respective beauty, their tart remarks about each other's double charms, and a ridiculous dance. After they had departed in fine fettle to the ball, each prepared to snare the prince, the fairy godmother appeared, and as in the fairy tale, magically changed Cinderella's rags to a beautiful gown of yellow, and gave her golden slippers, with the warning to leave before the clock struck twelve.

The hall, with its glittering backdrop and dancing group of gaily dressed lords and ladies, was the highlight of the operetta, since it introduced the prince, sung by Miss Helen Parkinson. Her lovely voice, rich, vibrant and clear, was ideal for the part of the dashing and handsome prince, and her stage actions were natural and unaffected, giving polish to the entire scene.

Also outstanding in this scene was the witty song sung by the chorus, as the men argued with the women as to whether Cinderella had captured the prince's heart, while the audience knew all the time, since Cupid, with silver bow, darts, and a bag of magic powder, had danced around the prince and Cinderella while they talked, making sure the former got a good dose of the magic potion, and a dart or two for good measure.

Happy Ending.

At the stroke of twelve, Cinderella, true to the story, dashes away, leaving the desolate prince with just her golden slipper and as a clue to her identity. In the traditional manner, however, he finds his true love, and they live happily ever after.

Miss Gwenneth Mitchell, as the godmother, had a sweet clear voice and good diction, and her songs were well presented. Miss Joan Henry was a charming Cinderella, and her duet with the prince at the ball was a feature of the evening. Barbara Huffman as the step-mother played her part well, as did the lords and ladies. While the older members of the cast gave more polished performances, and their chorus was stronger and clearer, the children did a good job too, their utter naturalness nearly stealing the show.

Colorful Scenery

Gay costumes and changes of scenery, served to heighten greatly the fairy atmosphere. Mrs. H. A. Mitchell directed the operetta, which will be presented again this evening at 7:30 o'clock, and R. L. Hale was in charge of make-up George Richmond supervised the scenery, and was assisted by several other men in arranging the changing the sets. Costumes were made by Mrs. H. Munro, Mrs. C. Spearin, and Mrs. M. White. Mrs. H. V. Dobson was pianist. Mrs. H. Tremaine welcomed the large audience which filled the Sunday school hall, and thanked everyone who had assisted with the preparation and presentation of the operetta. During the first and second scenes, Miss Mary Jane Wharry played two violin selections, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Dobson.

Soldier Is Held On Theft Charge

Arrested early this morning after police had received reports that a man had been seen on the roof of the Grand Hotel, Pte. Michael Kale, stationed at Camp Borden, was charged in police court this morning with stealing a suitcase and a quantity of clothing and other articles, the property of J. J. L. Hayes, a guest at the Queen's Hotel.

The police had received a call about a man on the roof of the Grand and Constables Ernest Beatty investigated. After watching for some time he found that the man was the occupant of a room in the hotel who had made his way to the roof. Acting Sergt. W. A. Clarke secured a search warrant and Kale's roof was searched and quantity of clothing and other articles found. The soldier was placed under arrest.

Later Hayes reported to the police that some one had entered his car, parked at the rear of the Queen's Hotel, and stolen his suit-case.

The charge of theft against Kale followed. At this morning's session he was remanded until next Friday without plea or election.

Fire Victims Helped By Business Firms

With furniture and property damaged or destroyed by the $8,000 Wilson avenue blaze of a week ago, four families who bore the brunt of damage have received gifts from many people and business firms, exemplifying a spirit of co-operation and good will.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scott, Mr. and Mrs. William Davidson, Mrs. Francis Wall and Mr. and Mrs. H. Paquette are the families whose homes were either destroyed or badly damaged by the fierce blaze that attracted hundreds of spectators and kept firemen at the scene for hours. Mrs. Paquette's home was literally turned upside down by people fearing her place would become ablaze, and who wished to save as much of her furniture as possible.

Among those making contributions, are Johnston's Furniture Store, Comstock's Furniture Store Dickson's Drygoods Store, Belleghem's Furniture Store, Cherney Bros., Robert W. A. Fair; Frank's Furniture Store, Woolworth's Store, Florence Furniture Store, and Hugh Davis delivered all of the articles for the fire victims.

For all of these gifts, and for everything done to help them in their emergency, these Peterborough people are deeply grateul.

Church Council Holds Yearly Meeting

MARMORA, Oct. 28 (ENS)—The annual convention of the Stirling, Rawdon and Marmora township Religious Education Council was held in St. Mark's Anglican church, Bonarlaw, Friday afternoon and evening.

Sessions were presided over by the president, W. W. Cottrell, assistant superintendent of St. Paul's Sunday School, Marmora. At the afternoon session the worship period was taken by Rev. and Mrs. T. F. Townsend. In the unavoidable absence of J. F. Baker, superintendent of St. Mark's Sunday School, a welcome was extended the delegates by Mrs. Arthur Brown, a valued teacher of that school. Included in the business session was the treasurer's and statistical reports given by Rev. J. R. Holden. Next came the roll call and appointment of resolution and nomination committees. An interesting address on "Lay Workers at Work" was given by Rev. E. M. Cadigan, who stressed the fact that the command of Christ "Go ye into all the world" was not to be applied to foreign missions only but to the home life of Christians also. Rev. David Gray then introduced the Ontario Religious Education Council's representative, Rev. Russell Harris, B.A., of Toronto, who touched upon some of the home problems in which the Church can help. These included the teaching of children how to pray, the answering of children's questions, helping a child in the presence of death, finding helpful bedtime stories, the providing of family fun and stimulating family worship.

Demonstration

Mrs. Sharpe, a teacher of Hoard's Sunday School, with the aid of two adult delegates, gave an excellent demonstration of how a teacher should visit a home. A few departmental reports having been given, several problems were discussed under the leadership of the O.R.E.C. representative. The closing prayer of the session was taken by Rev. David Gray.

A supper was served in the basement by the teachers of St. Mark's Sunday School and the evening session opened with a worship period conducted by Rev. J. M. Brownlie. This was succeeded by an inspiring talk on the theme of the convention given by Mrs. Burton Morton. The report of the nominating committee for the executive was accepted, making the election of officers as follows: Honorary presidents, J. F. Baker and W. J. Johnston; president, W. J. Cottrell; vice-president, George Williams; secretary-treasurer, Rev. J. R. Holden; executive members, Lorne Johnston, J. L. Good, Mesdames Burton Morton, George Williams, Jason Baker and Harper Rollins.

The Resolutions committee's report containing thanks of the delegates for hospitality of the church, Sunday School and Rector of St. Mark's was adopted. J. F. Baker then gave a demonstration of worship in the Sunday School and conduct of the open session, and later with Rev. J. M. Brownlie sang "I Heard The Voice of Jesus Say." The address of the O.R.E.C. representative dealt with "The Home as an Agency for Christian Education." At its conclusion the officers were installed by Rev. C. C. Brazell. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. T. F. Townsend.

Hardships Easier To Bear If Faith In God Strong

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Oct. 29 is Psalm 4:5-8; Luke 4:4; John 6:35; Romans 12:1, 2; 13:12-14, the Golden Text being Col. 3:1, "Seek the things that are above.")

EVEN SMALL children may learn that to be obedient, to restrain their tempers, to "be good," will make them happy. And to be naughty will make them miserable.

As the child [illegible] to manhood or womanhood, [illegible]ey have not learned this les[illegible] [illegible]oung, they will be very unhappy, because it is the law of life. King David, the psalmist, knew it well. When he obeyed the Lord and did that which was His will, he was happy, peaceful, about to rest. After an unhappy day he wrote Psalm 4:

"Offer the sacrifices of righteousness, and put your trust in the Lord.

"There be many that say, Who will shew us any good? Lord, lift Thou up the light of Thy contenance upon us.

"Thou hast put gladness in my heart, more than in the time that their corn and wine increased.

"I will both lay me down in peace, and sleep: for Thou, Lord, only makest me dwell in safety."

Faith Brings Peace

"I will lay me down in peace to sleep." I shall forget my worries, my unhappiness, and trust in God. And I will "sleep in peace." Could there be any more comforting words to dwell on in these troubled times? Troubles may come—grievous ones—but if we have faith and do what is right, we still can "sleep in peace" we know that whatever comes to us may be borne because we have a strength that is not of ourselves that will sustain us.

We have had the next quotation in our lesson on a recent date. Jesus was taken by the Spirit to the wilderness where he fasted and prayed for 40 days. There Satan came to tempt Him, suggesting that He, the Son of God, need not hunger for He could turn the very stones into bread. Jesus answered, "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God."

Physical hunger is hard to bear, but we can stand it if we have to if we feel God is with us. There are many higher things in life than the satisfaction of bodily hunger and thirst. Many people forget this. They want money, luxuries, the very best of food, but the most valuable things of life are not bought with money; and one may even lack the love of other human beings, but be contented if he have that peace David speaks of.

"I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service.

"Be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."

Dedicating Our Bodies to God

What a transformation there would be if every one of us presented our bodies as living sacrifices to God. If every act of our bodies, the words spoken by our tongues, our every act, physical and mental—for our brains are also part of our bodies—were done with the thought in mind, "Is it acceptable to God?" It could be done and normal human lives be lived—and so much happier lives than most of us know now.

The ancient Hebrews sacrified animals to God. The animals died, but living sacrifices are what our God wants of us.

Finally, St. Paul sums up the lesson for us today in his 13th letter to the Romans:

"The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light.

"Let us walk honestly, as in the day: not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying.

"But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof."

This writer would suggest that the teacher tell little stories which would make the lesson clear to the smaller children of a class to make it less difficult for them to grasp. Our Golden Text today is, "Seek the things that are above."

Highest Service Prepared For In Humblest Surroundings

By REV. E. R. JAMES

Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary. And they were offended at him. St. Mark 6; 3

One of the most brilliant minds of the ninteenth century, Bishop Westcott, reminds us that the highest service may be prepared for in the humblest surroundings. In silence, in secret, in obscure duties and hard toil the Son of God grew and waxed strong.

Perhaps in the second year of Christ's ministry He returns to His native village of Nazareth. The picture is true to life. On the Sabbath Day He is invited to speak in the synagogue, as a layman to layman. They listen with amazement and marvel at His knowledge and exclaim: "Is not this the carpenter"? Truly He is a builder, as the Greek word implies. He is but the Son of Mary, whom everyone knows. They deny He is come from God and is indeed the incarnate Son of God. "The Word was made flesh and dwelt among us and His own received Him not.

The primary reason for the wide circulation of Dr. Sheldon's book of over 40 years ago: "What would Jesus do"? is that the writer brings to the front the Manhood of Our Lord—a forgotten truth of that generation which had over emphasized His Diety.

Another Misunderstanding

In this very chapter we read: "King Herod said that John the Baptist was risen from the dead and therefor mighty works do shew forth themselves in Him". v. 12. Herod had respected John highly, because he was half a Jew himself and forced him to give this reason. Herod recognizes that the New Teacher, like John, was a stern Man, who teachings were full of judgment. This aspect of Our Lord's character needs emphasis today. For many years the people have heard of "The gentle Jesus, meek and mild" and hardly realises that He is to be the Judge also. He is the loving Christ and Saviour. Hearken to His appeal: 'Come into Me all ye that weary and heavy laden and I will given rest unto your souls". Yet the same Christ teaches that He will say in the day of judgment: "Depart from Me, ye workers of inequity" The Father hath given Him authority to execute judgment also because He is the Son of Man.

The Common People Misunderstand Him

St. Mark 6;45. "Straightway He constrained His disciples to get into a ship and go over to the other side". We obtain a little light on the word "constrained" from St. John's account. "Then these men when they saw the miracle which Jesus did said: Of a truth this is that prophet which should come into the world. When Jesus therefor perceived that they would come and take Him by force and make Him a King, He departed again into the mountain alone".

The people had been fed by the creative power of the Christ, Archbishop Temple, of Canterbury, remarks: "If the Lord Himself was indeed God incarnate, the story presents no difficulty. If He is less than God incarnate then we cannot believe the story."

The people were looking for an earthly king, who would sit on David's throne and drive the Romans into the sea. Let us not forget that the inscription upon the Cross is: "The King of the Jews". Christ is indeed King not only of the Jews but of every man who acknowledges Him to be the Son of God in marvellous sense of the word.

His name is called the word of God. The King of Kings and Lord of Lords.

Rev. H. G. Watts Speaker

MARMORA, Oct. 28 (ENS) —The Anglican parish of Marmora receives a visit next week from Rev. H. G. Watts on deputation work from the M.S.C.C. This clergyman has had several years experience in the Orient upon which he will touch in his address, as well as to show a full-length film in color of the Alaskan Highway. He will be heard at St. Mark's, Bonarlaw on Wednesday evening, and in St. Paul's parish hall, Marmora, the following evening.

Name W.A. Committee To Nominate Officers

MARMORA, Oct. 28.—(ENS). —The October meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Association was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. J. Pack. The president, Miss Margaret Brown, took charge of the opening and business periods. Mrs. H. R. Haacke and H. A. Burwash were appointed a committee to have a baptismal font installed in the church as a gift from the society.

Mrs. C. Wallbridge gave a report of the convention held at Ivanhoe and Mrs. J. A. Richardson offered her home for the November meeting. A nominating committee made up of Mesdames E. M. Cadigan, H. W. Sabine and J. Sproul was named to draw up a slate of officers for the next meeting.

Mrs. H. W. Sabine had charge of the worship service, while Mrs. J. Sproul took the study period. The following members took different readings from "West of the Date Line": Mesdames W. Pack, C. Wallbridge, H. R. Haacke, T. Sweet and E. M. Cadigan. After the meeting the hostess served lunch.

The Christian Motive for Living

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Psalm 4:5-8; Luke 4:4; John 6:35; Romans 12:1, 2; 13:12-14

By Alfred J. Buescher

"I will lay me down in peace, and sleep: for Thou, Lord, only makest me dwell in safety."

Jesus answered Satan who was tempting Him: "It is written, That man shall not live by bread lone."

Jesus said to the multitude, "I am the bread of life; he that cometh to Me shall never hunger."

I beseech you, brethren, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice unto God. GOLDEN TEXT—Col. 3:1.

A Canadian National Theatre

During a recent visit to Canada to help with the Victory Loan campaign Mr. Alexander Knox said that Canada should have a national theatre; Mr. Knox was born at Strathroy, Ontario, and he knows Canada; as he has established himself as a first-rate actor in London, New York and Hollywood, we may assume that he is thoroughly acquainted with the theatre. Therefore his words deserve our careful consideration. So far they have not received it. A few newspapers have commented politely but coldly on his opinion, and the Windsor Star, franker than the rest, says "Try and get it!"

• • •

Very little is needed at present to establish a national theatre in Canada save leadership. There is plenty of talent in the country; we have given actors to the British and American stages of the quality of Matheson Lang, Walter Huston, Raymond Massey, Margaret Anglin and Alexander Knox, to name a few; we have no playwrights, but the existence of a theatre would bring them out. But at present our best actors go to other countries to work, and many others of considerable talent content themselves with occasional amateur appearances. We have the makings of a national theatre in Canada, and an able leader, or band of leaders, could build it up into something of which the nation might be proud.

• • •

But when people talk about "a national theatre" we find that they usually mean a state-aided organization with officials and equipment and theatre buildings in the large Canadian centres. That is putting the cart before the horse. What Canada needs first of all is a great number of enthusiastic, hard-working amateur groups from which companies of really good actors could be recruited. If we have even one company of first-rate actors, we have a theatre: but if our actors are mediocrities not all the buildings and lighting installations in the world will give us a theatre. We must begin at the beginning, and base our national theatre soundly on achievement, and not merely on spending money. This is particularly important, because our legislators, who are usually indifferent toward the arts when they are not actively hostile toward them, would not give us a cent to start a national theatre, but they might give us a yearly grant to aid a theatre which already existed.

• • •

These amateur groups would have to be better than any that have so far grown up in Canada. Fifteen people who band together to assault the public with Charley's Aunt are not actors; they are messers, and they will never aid in the evolution of a Canadian theatre. The model for a Canadian theatre should be the Russian theatre which is the most vital theatre in the world at present. The Russian theatre recruits its actors from amateur groups, trains them, and puts them to work in theatres which are guaranteed by the state, but which pay their own way because they are immensely popular. These amateur groups are found in factories and offices, as well as in universities. If the Canadian trade union movement really wants to do something for the working class in Canada, it might use some of its money to encourage and subsidize industrial amateur theatrical groups.

• • •

The development of a national theatre in Canada would only be possible if a sufficient number of people could be found who would work very hard at it. Canadians have never worked hard at any artistic project, which is the reason why we have produced so little that is worth while in the artistic field. But there must always be a beginning, and under the right leadership great progress could be made in ten years. Hard work, artistic discipline and grim determination turned the Moscow Art Theatre from an amateur group into the most influential theatre in the world in twenty years; the miracle could be repeated in Canada if a Stanislavski, a Dantchenko, a Podgorny, a Bulgakov or a Chekov could be found. To begin with, not money but tireless artistic workers would be wanted; not committees but solitary zealots. Then, when something of real artistic value had been evolved, it would not be too difficult to get the government to encourage and aid it. But a Canadian National Theatre must be built on a firm foundation, and the foundation is hard work allied with talent. Canada is capable of both.

The Feast Of Crispian

We do our best to draw attention to interesting anniversaries in these columns, but last Wednesday we forgot to comment on the fact that it was the Feast of the Saints Crispin and Crispinian, and the anniversary of the English victory at Agincourt in 1415. What, you may ask, have these matters to do with life in Canada in 1944? The association, we admit, is a subtle one, but it is the subtle associations which give variety and spice to life. Crispin and Agincourt are not so remote as you might imagine from a matter which concerns us all at present, and which we call by the pompous name of Rehabilitation.

Crispin and Crispinian were brothers of a noble Roman family, who adopted the Christian faith and fled to Soissons, where they supported themselves as shoemakers; they were martyred for their faith, and in time they became the patron saints of shoemakers, and until well into the last century it was impossible to get a shoemaker or a cobbler to work in England on October 25, because it was his special and traditional holiday.

It was upon this day that the battle of Agincourt was fought and in Shakespeare's magnificent Henry V the King makes special reference to it:

This day is call'd the feast of Crispian:
He that outlives this day and comes safe home,
Will stand a-tiptoe when this day is named,
And rouse him at the name of Crispian.
He that shall live this day and see old age,
Will yearly on the vigil feast his neighbours,
And say, 'Tomorrow is Saint Crispian':
Then will he strip his sleeve and show his scars
And say 'these wounds I had on Crispin's day'.
Old men forget; yet all shall be forgot,
But he'll remember with advantages
What feats he did that day: then shall our names,
Familiar in his mouth as household words,
Harry the king, Bedford and Exeter,
Warwick and Talbot, Salisbury and Gloucester,
Be in their flowing cups freshly remember'd.
This story shall the good man teach his son;
And Crispin Crispian shall ne'er go by,
From this day to the ending of the world,
But we in it shall be remembered;
We few, we happy few, we band of brothers;
For he today that sheds his blood with me
Shall be my brother; be he ne'er so vile
This day shall gentle his condition:
And gentlemen in England now a-bed
Shall think themselves accursed they were not here,
And hold their manhoods cheap whiles any speaks
That fought with us upon Saint Crispin's day.

How much of this spirit is abroad in Europe today? Who can deny that these words sum up everything which may be said about the present and the future spirit of the men of our country who are fighting abroad? When the plans which we are making now for Rehabilitation are put into action let us remember that gifts and opportunities are not all that the men who return from the fighting will need. We must recognize and cherish in them the spirit which they share with those others who fought at Agincourt in 1415, on the Feast of Crispin and Crispinian.

Hallowe'en Handout

Next Tuesday night, following an old custom, the children in your neighbourhood will come to your door, more or less disguised, and will ask you for Hallowe'en cheer. Whether they know it or not, they are carrying on an observance which has been known for over a thousand years: pretending to be goblins and evil spirits, they blackmail you with a threat of the mischief they may do. And you, entering into the spirit of the thing, will give them a few apples and sweets.

But this year we suggest that you have something else on hand for them. The local Kinsmen's Club sponsors a Milk For Britain Fund which has done splendid work. You can buy tickets from schoolchildren, or from local stores, which help this Fund, and you can give these to the children who call on Hallowe'en; they, in turn, will hand them over to their school. Since the Fund was first organized in Peterborough 157,614 quarts of milk have been contributed to the children of Britain from this district, representing the sum of $15,761.49 which has been collected. This is a proud record, and the good work must be kept up.

The custom of the Hallowe'en handout died out in Britain at least a century ago, but we have kept it up here. Now the children of Canada are turning the old observance to account, and are collecting for the children of Great Britain, who need milk to preserve their health during a difficult period. This is your chance to help an excellent cause, and we hope that you will not neglect it.

Diary Of A Fire-Fighter

SUNDAY: The ten o'clock newscast tells me that Churchill and Stalin took time from their deliberations to attend a performance of 'Giselle' by the ballet company of the Bolshoi Theatre. No one would think of accusing either of these men of effeminacy or dilettantism; they have both been in blood to their knees, literally and metaphorically, yet they turn to the ballet for relaxation.... There is a moral here for our Canadian statesmen who never relax, and who never betray any interest in the arts. If Joe and Winnie can find time for the ballet, they could do so too.... But in Canada the tradition of rugged and bone-headed opposition to the arts is of long standing and it will not easily be destroyed. Canadians, like Lady Bracknell, do not believe in anything which interferes with natural ignorance. Perhaps if we gave more encouragement to the arts in Canada fewer of our citizens would go gibbering and capering into our insane asylums.

MONDAY: Heard about the engagement of two people known to me. Immediately the old question sprang into my mind, "What can they see in each other?" Pondered on this and decided that it was a stupid question. After all, I suppose everybody is loveable to some degree, if you approach them in the right way. Very often when I am introduced to women I think, "What is she really like behind the disguise which she wears?" And very often I discover that she is pleasant enough, and probably would expand and glow if she received enough affection.... This habit of mind is not unlike that of the wicked villains of French novels, who were frequently described as "stripping women with their eyes"; when I was younger I used to try to do that, but as my eyesight grew worse I had to depend more and more on guesswork, and finally gave it up altogether. Nowadays I never even take off a woman's overcoat with my eyes. I am far more interested in the detection of wigs and false teeth than in conjectural revelations of a beauty which rarely exists.

TUESDAY: Passed an hour today reading a pamphlet called "The Common Sense of War and Peace: World Revolution or War Unending," written by H. G. Wells. It was sent to me for review in 1940; for some reason I did not look at it until today. It makes odd reading in 1944. Wells was certain that the Bogey Man would get us if we did not take his advice right away; but we paid no attention to his advice and we have managed to survive somehow.... One of the occupational hazards of a professional thinker is that he gets delusions of infallibility. Wells seem to churn himself into a condition of whimpering misery over the stupidity of the world, and offers to help it; but what does the world do? It pays no attention to him. The world might be better off if it listened to its thinkers more often than it does, but one thing is quite certain—no man has a scheme which, if followed will save us all and which if neglected, will damn us all. Wells, Shaw, Bertrand Russell, C. E. M. Joad, Laski and all the rest of them scream at us to do what they want, and they look a little silly.... But what am I doing? Damning the intellectuals and giving aid and comfort to the booboisie? Better a few egotists with brains then a rabble of egotists with none.

◇ ◇ ◇

WEDNESDAY: My annual duel with my furnace has begun. Perhaps 'duel' is not the right word, for it suggests a contest of lightning-like thrust and parry, and my fight with the furnace is much more like medieval jousting—a slow but hideously powerful and destructive combat. At present my aim is to keep fire low enough to warm my house without dehydrating me and all my possessions; this I do by throttling the furnace, keeping all air from it, and treating it with ostentatious contempt, as though I did not care whether it went out or not. It retorts by belching its hot breath all through the house, cracking the surface of the furniture, and making the floors groan and pop in the night. There is a tank in my furnace into which I pour water every day, and the superstition is that this water mingles with the hot air and produces a balmy climate all through my house. But in actual fact gremlins drink this water, and the mice in my cellar commit the Happy Despatch in it, and the air from the furnace is like the parching simoom of the East Indies. Frankly, I hate furnaces, and would far rather have a big Quebec heater, upon which I could spit when I was disgusted with it. Spit on a furnace, and it doesn't even hiss.

◇ ◇ ◇

THURSDAY: Whenever I win a bout with my furnace, it always retorts by producing a particularly large and dirty supply of ash. In twenty years, I suppose, furnaces like the one which I now harbour in my cellar will be antiques, and we shall look back laughingly at the era of the bi-weekly ash collection. But at present it is a stern reality. The ashes have to be shaken out of the entrails of the furnace, sifted by hand, and then conveyed in tubs and buckets to the street. After I have done this I look as though I had been working in a flour mill and smell as though I had travelled from Montreal to Toronto in a smoking car It is enough to put me in a bad temper for a whole evening.... Someday I am going to have a house heated by the rays of the sun in the most modern manner. Or perhaps I shall employ a furnace man, and while he struggles and fights with the furnace I shall sit upstairs, dressed like Mr. Capitalistic Interests in a C.C.F. cartoon, laughing and drinking cherry bounce, and shouting 'More heat, more heat!' in a tyrannous voice. I have always thought that I should like to be a tyrant, but it costs money.

◇ ◇ ◇

FRIDAY: The morning paper contains yet another repetition of the claim that the Bible is the best-selling book in the world, and that 'Pilgrim's Progress' comes next. I see this assertion in some form or other about once a month, but I have never seen any figures to prove it, and I suspect that it is merely something which a number of devout people would like to believe. Of course many Bibles are sold; I have seven Bibles myself, three of which I bought, and four which I was given. But for 'Pilgrim's Progress'—does anybody ever finish it? As a child my gorge rose at the lugubriousness of Pilgrim, and I had a wicked hankering for Vanity Fair; after I grew up I tried to read it again, and failed. Bunyan was a notable stylist, but his mind was the mind of a sanctimonious tinker.... Had a letter today from a reader who complains that this Diary is 'insufferably egotistical.' Yes, isn't it? Did you ever try writing an impersonal and objective diary? Worse still, did you ever try reading one? If you don't like me, don't read me; I have survived the scorn of better men than you.

◇ ◇ ◇

SATURDAY: Another letter today, this time from someone who says 'Your diary is better fun than peeking in windows"; seemingly my public includes a Peeping Thos. At one time I used to take a walk every night between nine and ten; my doctor had told me to get exercise; my invariable course led me through a section which contained a great many Tourist Rests. Perhaps it was the broadening influence of travel, but the tourists never pulled down their blinds. For a few weeks I averted my eyes, as any gentleman would, but later I ceased to do so, and gained an exhaustive knowledge of the anatomy of tired tourists. It is now my opinion that touring attracts only those people who have less than ordinary physical charm.... This afternoon I tried to rake my lawn clear of leaves, but felt like Hercules cleaning the Augean stables, and soon gave it up. It would be easier to climb the trees in September and pick the leaves than to try to scrape them up from the ground, and I think that I shall do so next year. "What are you doing in that tree, Mr. Marchbanks?" the neighbours will cry, their suspicions aroused. "I am harvesting my leaves," I shall reply, with pardonable superiority. After that of course, everyone will take it up.

PISTOL PACKING MAMA —By Thomas

Col. Ralston Returns

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

THE return to Ottawa yesterday of Defence Minister J. L. Ralston was greeted with mingled feelings of relief and expectancy by the people of Canada. They were relieved by his safe return from a comprehensive tour of active service areas, and they naturally await with great interest his report on that tour. Particularly is this so with regard to the serious charges made by Major Conn Smythe of Toronto and dilated upon by Premier George Drew of Ontario. Col. Ralston quite properly refused to comment immediately on this controversial subject, but will submit his full report in Ottawa.

Information gained on the tour completed by Col. Ralston will enable him to speak with full knowledge and authority about Canadian forces overseas. His inspection was not confined to any group or to one front; he has been in contact with all branches of the Canadian Army on the Continent and in England. He has consulted with the G.O.C. and with other general and subordinate officers, not to mention conversations with other ranks. His report, besides giving a complete picture of the lives and achievements of Canadian fighting men overseas, should end one way or another the unpleasant controversy touched off by the Drew-Smythe charges.

We sincerely hope that if Col. Ralston has found those charges in any way substantiated by the facts relating to reinforcements, he will give the people full details of the substantiation. If green reinforcements have been sent in, no matter how small their number, the Canadian people have a right to know about it. And they also have the right to a thorough explanation of why such an incident occurred. If, on the other hand, the charges cannot be supported by information gained during Col. Ralston's inspection, it is even more imperative that the people be informed.

As we have pointed out before, the question of green reinforcements has been ballooned from "some" to "most" since the original charge was made. Great anxiety has been aroused by the expanded charge, and Col. Ralston's report will either allay or justify that anxiety. There will be widespread hope that its presentation is not delayed.

Socialism Is Becoming Unpopular

(By R. J. DEACHMAN)

IT will be recalled that some time ago The Fabian Society of England published a document called "A Study of the Relations of Government to Industry". The Fabians are the oldest socialist organization in England and a majority of British left wing politicians have been members of it in its long history.

The preface of this report was written by Mr. Herbert Morrison. Mr. Morrison has always been a stalwart advocate of the nationalization of industry, but he is not now so keen about it. His experience as a Minister of the Crown has convinced him that nationalization is not the Royal Road to a happier life for the people of the United Kingdom.

Some of the strongest and most powerful unions of the Old Country are now coming out very definitely against nationalization, for their own particular groups. In fact, one union is now urging that the postal and telegraph services should be taken from the Postmaster-General and his Department and given to a controlling body constituted on lines now adopted by certain English public utility organizations.

MR. MORRISON no longer considers the nationalization of leading industries as a practical problem. All this remember, after Mr. Coldwell has just returned from a trip across the water and has been telling the people of Canada of the strong breezes blowing in favour of the socialist point of view in England, the British Commonwealth and throughout the world.

Then the new idea, the move against collectivism, seems to have filtered into New Zealand, the spiritual home of the C.C.F. Perhaps I ought to refer to it as the recent spiritual home, for the Socialist Party in Canada has great capacity for transferring its spiritual residence from one particular dwelling place to another as the scene shifts, and the devotees of the new order begin to realize how fruitful of evil it is likely to be.

There is in New Zealand a labour paper called the Standard. When the news reached New Zealand of the changing attitude of the British Labour Party, Mr. Peter Fraser, Premier of New Zealand, was asked to comment. Said he: "State ownership, in itself, would not solve the problems of industry, and the transfer from a private employer to the state, as an employer, certainly would not solve the problem of the democratic control of industry". "That statement is a platitude", said Mr. Fraser. A platitude, as closely as I can define it, is a commonplace remark delivered with grave solemnity. Mr. Fraser made it before the National Joint Council of Labour, which he addressed recently in London. He seems now to realize that, in his subconscious mind, he knew it long ago.

Mr. Fraser has argued in favour of nationalization of industry for years. Something has happened to change the trend of public thought, on these questions, especially in the United Kingdom. Slowly there is growing in the minds of the people the direct relationship between what we term a controlled economy and what is, in Germany, the Nazi creed, or, under its more aristocratic title, "National Socialism".

THERE has recently been published in England an amazing book: "The Road to Serfdom". It was written by Friedrich A. Hayek, an Austrian born economist, now a British citizen, and at present a Professor of Economic Science at the London School of Economics. I quote from page 2 of this admirable volume:

"It is not to the Germany of Hitler, the Germany of the present war, that England and the United States bear yet any resemblance. But students of the currents of ideas can hardly fail to see that there is more than a superficial similarity between the trend of thought in Germany during and after the last war and the present current of ideas in the democracies. There exists now in these countries certainly the same determination that the organization of the nation which has been achieved for purposes of defence shall be retained for the purposes of creation. There is the same contempt for nineteenth-century liberalism, the same spurious "realism" and even cynicism, the same fatalistic acceptance of inevitable trends." And at least nine out of every ten of the lessons which our most vociferous reformers are so anxious we should learn from this war are precisely the lessons which the Germans did learn from the last war and which have done much to produce the Nazi system."

Does it seem strange that with the realization of the danger, the world should begin to turn from the dogmas of Carl Marx to a more liberal conception of thought and action. We were told that there was no connection between socialism and national socialism. Hitler does not agree with that contention. In 1941 he made this statement: "Basically, national socialism and Marxism are the same. The control of the production of wealth is the control of human life itself" Wrote Helaire Belloc. The control and local authorities of Germany in 1928 controlled 53 per cent of the whole economic life of the nation—we see now where this program has lead the German people.

The storm signals have been out for years. Only recently have we begun to read them. It may be that we had already started down the same road towards that entrancing dream called a controlled economy, without understanding that it meant the end of democracy, the end of freedom. Perhaps the first shot fired at the Polish border was the beginning of a new trend. The historian of the future may recognize it as the turning point where humanity changed goals and started moving forward to regain the freedom it had already lost.

A Bible Message

And he arose, and came to his father. But when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kissed him. And the son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy son.

But the father said to his servants, Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him; and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet: and bring hither the fatted calf, and kill it: and let us eat, and be merry: for this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found. (Luke 15: 20-24.)

In those days, and in that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shall come, they and the children of Judah together, going and weeping: they shall go, and seek the Lord their God. They shall ask the way to Zion with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let us join ourselves to the Lord in a perpetual covenant that shall not be forgotten.... And I will bring Israel again to his habitation, and he shall feed on Carmel and Bashan, and his soul shall be satisfied upon mount Ephraim and Gilead.

In those days, and in that time, saith the Lord, the iniquity of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none; and the sins of Judah, and they shall not be found: for I will pardon them whom I reserve. (Jer. 50: 4, 5, 19, 20.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Until he was thrust into the forefront as official spokesman for the Ford Motor Company at Congressional hearings, the late Edsel Ford held the reputation of being proof against interviewers. His longest statement for the Press consisted of these two words: "See father."

Once, some years ago, however, Edsel was induced to break down. The occasion was the celebration at Dearborn, Michigan, of the completion of the fifteen millionth Model T Ford. Besieged by reporters to say something, and urged on by his father and the latter's associates, Edsel finally agreed: "All right, I'll make a statement."

This is what he said: "Fifteen million is a lot of anything."

Letter To The Editor

BAD MANNERS ON BUSES

Sir,—I agree with the editor of this paper [in] his editorial of some two weeks ago, about t[he] working man not giving his seat to a woman [on] the bus. But I do think the school childr[en] should give up their seats to older persons. [I] got on the bus the other morning at twen[ty] minutes to nine; there was one vacant seat and [I] went to sit down and the young kid said, "Excu[se] me but would you leave that seat for my chu[m] she is getting on at the next stop?" Now w[ho] ever heard of a reserve seat on the cit[y] public buses? But then maybe like the fun[ny] picture in the Toronto Telegram I was bo[rn] "Thirty Years Too Soon". Ninety-nine per ce[nt] of the boys and girls going to the city's hi[gh] schools are first class, but the other one [per] cent. could stand a little lecture from ei[ther] their parents or teachers. Then again the ch[il]dren are not all to blame. I got on the bus o[ne] night at fifteen minutes to five on McDon[nel] St. and a lot of women had been down to shopping and they were sitting one in each [seat] on the outside and their parcels taking up [the] other seat. I'm sure they only put in one [fare] ticket, but they looked at us and gave a li[ttle] grunt and I suppose said to themselves, "[Let] them stand until we get off". Then too I th[ink] some of the women with small children [who] don't have to pay could have them sit on th[eir] knee and not take up a seat and let some wo[men] stand.

Now in conclusion a lot of women think t[hey] are considered old if a person offers them a s[eat] and it is very embarrassing for a man to off[er] ... Next time a working man gets up and gives his seat, take it and act your age.

FAIR PLAY TO AL[L]

PACKAGE TROUBLE

Pte. Emile Duval of Three Rivers, Que., (TOP) points to a table of grief—improperly packed parcels which won't get to some boys in action. It's a different story in bottom picture where the parcels are intact and soldiers are happy. Here, Sgt. Keith Hogan and Tpr. Elmer McIntosh, both of Toronto, are shown delivering well-wrapped parcels to their unit near the front line in France. Note the smiles as Tpr. Kenneth Smith of Owen Sound, is loaded up with parcels from home. (Canadian Army Photos)

Damaged Parcels Cause Trouble

If you think there's fun in opening some one else's parcel and finding rotten eggs garnished with talcum powder you're no pal of Pte. Emile Duval of Three Rivers, Que. Pte. Duval is with the First Canadian Army Base Post Office, somewhere in France.

Emile's job is to open all parcels not properly packed, besides those that are damaged in transit. Each day in his little cubby hole wherever the Post Office camps, Emile is busy repacking parcels. He, too, agrees that the roundabout way to the heart of a Canadian soldier is through his stomach, but Emile is no believer in prejudicing the success of the attack by mailing fresh eggs wrapped carelessly together in a small wax paper carton.

In damaged parcels are jam tins with glass jars, and ketchup bottles with long necks. Jars of Pickles and other fragile soldier comforts are sent across a continent and an ocean with the sole protection of a rubber band and a shoe box.

Mail first arrives on the shores of France at the First Canadian Army Post Office which serves, among other things, as a "bulk breaking" point. NCO's from the Post Office see to it that the mail is carefully handled by soldiers and civilians alike.

From the Base Post Office parcels and mail for the boys is sent on to Division and Corps Field Post Offices where sorting is done for the brigades and other formations. Some of the mail is picked up on the fly at a rendezvous. The man in the front line receives his mail through a postal orderly—an army postman who may make his rounds by motorcycle or jeep.

When sending your next parcel remember the handling that it must inevitably go througl. and give your boy—and Emile Duval—a break and not the pickle jar. It's always a good idea, anyway, not to mix foodstuffs which, if they do break out of their packages, will spoil each other. Soap, for example, if shipped in the form of soap flakes, makes a poor seasoner for biscuits.

Labor Re-elects Percy Bengough

By JACK WILLIAMS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 28—(CP)—Percy R Bengough of Ottawa was today unanimously re-elected president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Pat Sullivan, Ottawa received unanimous endorsation as secretary-treasurer and two of the five vice-presidents—J. W. Buckley, Toronto, and Bert Showler, Vancouver—were returned without opposition. The other vice-presidents elected were James Whitebone, Saint John, N.B.; Arthur D'Aoust, Montreal; and C. E. Berg, Edmonton.

The offices were contested by J. J. McLean, Halifax; Paul Fournier, Montreal; and Gordon Cushing, Calgary.

The convention instructed its new executive to continue organization and expansion and to urge all international unions chartered by the American Federation of Labor to take similar action. Where international unions cannot organize federal unions will be formed.

A resolution asking immediate chartering of a national union of Packinghouse Workers was referred to the executive for immediate consideration.

Affiliated unions were asked to set aside one cent a month for each member during the next year to provide a fund for organization.

The annual financial statement of the Congress, submitted by Secretary-Treasurer Pat Sullivan, showed receipts totalling $133,092 with a surplus of $3,092 for the year ended July 31, 1944.

OUR

RESPONSIBILITY

Your dollars and mine must buy the tools of war. More and more are needed to put an end to the horror and the bloodshed. Let's not lose sight of our responsibility to the lads who are giving so much for us. Our dollars will make it easier for them to reach the goal our leaders have set—"unconditional surrender" of our vicious enemies. They're not letting us down! How can we fail them? Let's buy all the Victory Bonds we can—AND THEN ONE MORE!

Rain Bogs Down Italian Front

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS ON THE ADRIATIC, Oct. 28—(CP Cable). — Rain has virtually bogged down the Italian front, causing already high rivers to overflow their banks and inundate roads

Canadian forces striking for Forli remained at the Ronco River east of the town but to the north-east, Western Ontario infantry (perhaps the Perth Regiment of Stratford) and a Toronto armored reconnaissance regiment (perhaps the Governor-General's Horse Guards) advanced 3,000 yards in the Adriatic coastal sector without resistance.

These Canadians swam the Savio and Gevano Rivers and established a narrow bridgehead over the Bevano which flows into the Adriatic about six miles north-west of captured Cervia.

Engineers are paying close attention to bridges, especially across the Savio, here operations did not permit construction of the usual Bailey bridges and the only bridge are pontoons.

Troops at the Ronco front have established themselves in farm buildings and took turns patrolling along the river bank.

Opinion here is that the enemy is trying to withdraw and resistance or counter-attacks are designed more for protecting the withdrawal and extraction of his troops from south of Highway Nine—the Rimini-Bologna road—rather than as part of a delaying action.

Change Is Requested In Federal Labor Code

TORONTO, Oct. 28 —(CP) — The 60th annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, nearing an end, will today elect officers. It is expected the convention business will be concluded late tomorrow.

Yesterday the convention went on record asking the Dominion Government to make immediate changes in the Federal Labor code so that in a vote to determine bargaining representatives a union will be required to obtain only a majority of those actually voting. The convention was told that in two recent decisions the National War Labor Board had held that a union must obtain a majority of those eligible to vote.

Increased activity in organizing was urged during a discussion of officers reports following the report of a committee headed by A. R. Johnston of Toronto.

France Ousts Spanish Rebels

By JOSEPH DYNAN

PARIS, Oct. 28 — (AP) — The De Gaulle government is clearing the way for establishment of diplomatic relations with Spain by restricting Spanish Republican activities along the border, it was disclosed today.

Spanish Republicans who seized 10 Spanish consulates in southern France, largely through the compliance of the French forces of the interior, are being ousted and the consulates are being held by French officials or eventual return to Franco government consuls.

The French representative in Madrid is now in control of the old Vichy embassy, refitting the building for eventual occupation.

Spanish Republicans in France, estimated at 40,000, will be placed under the League of Nations 'political refugee" statute and accorded sanctuary similar to that for White Russians and German Jews.

The French government meanwhile has established a frontier zone of about 10 miles deep which will be forbidden to Spanish Republican forces who in recent days are reported to have invaded Spain and clashed with Spanish troops.

This zone has now been cleared of Spanish members of the F.F.I., according to foreign office officials.

Bird Was Safe

SHELTON, Neb., Oct. 28—(AP).—George N. Mortimer was busy in his machine shop when he heard a fluttering sound and looked up to see a pheasant fly in to pay him a visit. Mortimer, a collector of guns, hurriedly eyed his 200 weapons and was about to select one when he remembered—as the bird flew away—none of his guns were loaded.

SPORTS - Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

As a last minute reminder to local football fans it is mentioned that there is an interscholastic double-header at Riverside Park this afternoon and that by the time this edition reaches them there will still be an opportunity to see the more important game on the twin card, the battle between Port Hope and P.C.V.S. Seconds in the junior Lakeshore group. This struggle will have a most important bearing on the race for group honors for the unbeaten Port Hopers will be out of reach if they add the P.C.V.S. scalps to their string this afternoon. The visiting team according to all reports is strong in all departments. The Port Hope school was first going to enter the senior series but finally decided to drop back to the junior section and they have been riding over all opposition. The Petes were whitewashed in Port Hope a week ago but most of the damage was done in the first half and because of their success in holding the winners under control in the last two periods the Peterborough youngsters feel that they can give the Lakeshore twelve a merry tussle for the honors here today. Toronto Lawrence Park seniors and P.C.V.S. seniors were billed to play the opening game on today's double bill, the Toronto students substituting for Lindsay Collegiate who had to default owing to injuries among their first string players.

A lot of folk, living safely at home under comfortable conditions and earning good money have been put to shame by the action of Lieut. Fred Williams, Peterborough boy who is fighting in Italy with the 48th Highlanders in sending home a $50 donation to the Memorial Health Centre fund. Lieut. Williams, in the midst of the grim fighting along the Adriatic Coast, could take time out to think of the Peterborough of the future and send along a most generous donation to help turn the dream into a reality. He did not quibble about where the centre was to be located or the size of the arena but, catching the breadth and scope of the comprehensive scheme and realizing what its fulfillment would mean to his home city, he gladly made his contribution toward the success of the plan. Reading of the generous action of this gallant young Peterborough officer, many local people who, up to now, have contributed nothing toward this comprehensive community effort, should have red faces. Lieut. Williams has an example that should result in a flood of belated contributions to the fund. When Canada's fighting men give out of their perilously-earned money to make their home city a better place in which to live the rest of the community will have a hard time finding an alibi for not contributing.

Another Season Starts

Another National Hockey League season gets under way tonight when the champion Montreal Canadiens will be hosts to the Boston Bruins at Montreal and the Toronto Maple Leafs and the New York Rangers battle in Toronto. Tomorrow night the other two teams in the loop, Jack Adams' Detroit Red Wings and the Chicago Black Hawks will tangle. Making due allowances for the blurb-making press agents the N.H.L. should have an interesting season. The quality of hockey must necessarily fall well-below pre-war standards for the teams have had to fill in gaps with untried rookies and veterans from the minors but so far as a business proposition is concerned the clubs can look forward with confidence. There is a lot of loose money around the circuit and the new crop of fans is not very discriminating. They have plenty of what it takes and they want to spend it so that sell-outs will probably be the order of the day, in spite of the fact that much of the hockey will be of average quality—and some of it will probably be worse than that.

* * * * * *

As to the outcome of the long campaign, one fan's guess is as good as another's but right now this column would say that so far as the first three spots are concerned the Canadiens have a royal chance of finishing first, the Detroit Red Wings should grab off second and the Toronto Leafs look good enough to take the third spot. After that the picking is not so easy. Frank Boucher, the only pilot so far to venture upon a prediction has named his own club, the Rangers, to finish fourth. They were last a year ago and they then had Bryan Hextall, one of the best right-wingers in the game. At present Hextall is in a jam with the selective service authorities and may be lost to Rangers. It is difficult therefore to see how Boucher expects his team to finish two notches higher up the ladder. So far as this column is concerned our best guess for the fourth slot is the Boston Bruins. It was the loss of Bill Cowley that hurt the Rossmen last season but the great play-making centre star will be back with the Bruins this year and they cannot be taken too lightly. Canadiens with most of last year's team back. Detroit with a well-seasoned club of competent veterans and Leafs with considerable scoring punch look like the three best bets. Always of course depending upon how the Leaf goal-tending stands up.

Sensational Rolling

Clubs in the City Five Pin League are still trying to figure out what caused the Ramblers to get so sizzling hot in their league game Thursday night when they were doing things to the pins that made all and sundry gasp. In the first place Bob Dyer went mad with a cross of 992, setting a new high for a three-game total. What is perhaps even more remarkable than his total was the fact that the Rambler player beat the 300 mark in each game, a record for consistency. He started off with 311 in his first game, came back with 340 in the second and wound up with a third game, effort of 341, leaving him with a total that was only eight pins short of the 1,000 mark. And Dyer was not the only Rambler to turn on the heat. His Teammate Jimmy Herron came through with a sensational 427 single, only 23 pins off a perfect score, and wound up with a cross of 815. The Ramblers paced by these four-star efforts gave the other teams something to shoot at when they uncorked a high team single of 1316 and wound up with a team total of 3826, a mark that is likely to be undisturbed for some time. At that the two Empress teams both beat the 3500 mark Thursday night. It was a night of high scores for in addition to Dyer and Herron three other bowlers vaulted into the 800 class, Joe Denault rolling 894, Ross Hopkins 834 and Frank Maloney 830.

One of the major developments in the Canadian sport scene is the part played in all kinds of games in this country by the sons of newer Canadians who came to the Dominion from Europe and have made their homes here. More and more are the lineups in many sections of the country dominated by names that are not Anglo-Saxon. We do not notice the trend in Peterborough because our population has continued to remain predominately British and the infusion of foreign names has not begun to make itself felt. But in Port Arthur for instance the junior team has begun practicing and among the youngsters mentioned as being on hand for the workouts appear the following names that sound more like the first string Notre Dame football team than they do a Canadian hockey squad: Onuliak, Kovak, Burikew, Saplywy, Fedoriw, Hamulka, Reguly, Hetola, Mochonsky, Baccari, Walushka, Wainio and Swerlyk. We have no prejudice against these new additions to Canadian sport but after looking at that list we heaved a sigh of relief at the thought that we don't have to wrestle with names like that in covering local sport events. And that sigh is perhaps echoed by the mechanical department and the proof-reading section.

HAILED AS GREAT FOOTBALLER—All the fancy adjectives in the book are being dusted off by sports writers this football season as they sing the praises of a 17-year-old freshman who is being touted as one of "the greatest" football players ever to hit the college campus. The object of all the flowery accolades is Earl (Jug) Girard, above, sensational freshman halfback of the University of Wisconsin team. He's a one-man team, according to the information, in that he does everything and does it well.

The New York State Athletic Commission yesterday suspended indefinitely Tami Mauriello, Bronx heavyweight, for failure to go through with a 10-round bout against Lee Oma, Detroit, November 3 at Madison Square Garden. The suspension followed a physical examination of Mauriello by three Commision-appointed physicians, who reported they found nothing wrong with the fighter. Mauriello gave illness as his reason for declining to fight.

Right winger Paul Mundrick, second high scorer in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A group last winter with St. Catharines, has signed a Buffalo Bisons contract, Eddie Shore, general manager of the American Hockey League club, said last night.

Referee Talks

Manager Lester Patrick and Coach Frank Boucher of New York Rangers and Coach Clarence (Hap) Day of Toronto Maple Leafs, members of the National Hockey League Rules Committee met at Toronto last night with the 1944-45 refereeing staff. No announcement was made on the outcome of the conference.

Technical K. O.

Phil Terranova, former N.B.A. featherweight champion from New York City, won by technical knockout in 14 seconds of the third round of his scheduled 10-round bout with Georgia Knox of Newark at Worcester, Mass., last night. Knox, floored three times for nine counts in the first two rounds, was dropped by a left hook to the head in the third round when Referee John Drew called a halt.

Lieut. Lynn Patrick, former high-scoring wingman with New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, arrived at Toronto yesterday for a brief visit with his father Lester Patrick, manager of the New Yorkers. Lynn, a member of the United States Army, said his younger brother Murray (Muzz), also a lieutenant, is en roote overseas for the third time with the U.S. Army. Muzz has served in France and Italy with the American Forces.

Prevention and treatment of injuries resulting from athletics was one of the main topics discussed last night at the opening at London of a two-day conference of the Western Ontario Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

President Henry Parr 3rd of the Maryland Jockey Club announced yesterday that the first four days of the combined Maryland race meeting to be held at Pimlico would be devoted to war relief. Pimlico, Laurel, Bowie and Havre de Grace are the tracks jointly sponsoring the 22-day meeting which opens next Wednesday.

Phil Watson, member of last year's National Hockey League champions, Montreal Canadiens, and property of New York Rangers, conferred at Toronto last night with Manager Lester Patrick of the Rangers. Patrick said Watson "is concerned over his status. He is the property of Rangers, but at the moment he is not regarded as eligible to play in the N.H.L. this winter. Further than that, Watson came in of his own volition to discuss the case. I have nothing to say in the matter."

Paul (Daffy) Dean, younger half of the celebrated baseball brother combination of the '30's, donned a United States Army uniform this week. The former St. Louis Cardinal hurler is 31 and father of three children.

The Allan Cup championship Quebec Aces last night handed the Boston Bruins of the N.H.L. a solid 7-3 thumping at Quebec. A 3-0 first period lead for the Bruins was quickly erased by a five-goal Ace blast in the second. Aces had the services of Paul Bibeault of Montreal Canadiens in goal.

1945 May Revive Golf Championships

TORONTO, Oct. 28. — If a majority of the executive members of the Royal Canadian Golf Association are in favor, all Dominion golf championships will be held next summer, B. L. Anderson, secretary of the R.C.G.A., said here Friday. Commenting on a report from Winnipeg that the R.C.G.A. was contemplating such a move.

Two years ago the R.C.G.A. cancelled all national tournaments.

"The R.C.G.A. is seriously considering restoring the Canadian amateur, open, and Willingdon Cup matches. On the advice of Dr. W. A. Matthews of Edmonton, president of the Association, I sent on letters to all executive members last month asking their opinion," Anderson said.

He said that all the answers he has received to date have been in favor of resumption of the tournaments.

"If we are going to have national tournaments next summer, now is the time to think about them," he stated.

Inter-County May Quit O.B.A.

GALT, Oct. 28 — (CP). — The annual meeting of the Inter-County Baseball Association will be held here in November 22, it was announced last night.

Highlight of discussions will be the recommendation submitted recently by the Inter-County executive that the association withdraw from the Ontario Baseball Association because of a ruling by the O.B.A. that London and Windsor replay their semi-final series which London had won in two straight games.

The order was the result of Windsor's protest on London using Hank Biasatti, Canadian Army corporal, because he had played Sunday baseball in Detroit during the summer.

It was rumored here that a movement is under way to organize a Western Ontario Baseball Association.

St. Louis Team Whips Barons

By The Canadian Press

A record crowd of 13,384 paying customers last night witnessed the home-ice debut of St. Louis Flyers in the American Hockey League and the Flyers didn't disappoint their fans: they came through with a 6-3 victory over Cleveland Barons. The previous attendance record in the A.H.L. was 12,225 when Indianapolis visited Cleveland March 4, 1942.

The Flyers were down 2-1 at the end of the first period, Les Cunningham and Agar scoring for Cleveland against George Blake's goal for St. Louis. Kendall and O. Smith netted early in the second to send the Flyers ahead and mid-way through the frame Gasparini knotted the count at 3-3.

From then on the game was St. Louis'. First Doran scored and N. Smith added another tally before the second period closed. Kendall claimed his second goal of the night in the third period.

Horsemen Given Nomination Blanks

TORONTO, Oct. 28 — The Ontario Jockey Club is releasing nomination blanks to horsemen for the 1945 running of the King's Plate, as well as blanks for the 1946 renewal.

Enclosed with the blanks is a letter from Palmer Wright which is self explanatory. It is as follows: "Enclosed with this letter are two stake blanks, one for the King's Plate of 1945 (2-year-olds now) and one for the King's Plate of 1946 (yearlings now).

"You will notice that these stakes both close on November 14 next, and that the only condition governing entries are that they must be foaled in Canada, the property of a British subject resident in Canada, and that they must not have started in a race for three-year-olds prior to the Ontario Jockey Club spring meeting of their three-year-old year.

"Complete details as to payments etc., are given in the conditions.

"The 1945 running of the King's Plate value is estimated at $14,000, the 1946 renewal at $16,000.

"Next year's King's Plate will be run on Saturday, May 26."

Armored Corps Takes Majority Bouts At Borden

CAMP BORDEN, Oct 28. — The second North Zone boxing show of the fall and winter season was held here on Friday night in the Knights of Columbus auditorium, with seven classy bouts that satisfied the large attendance of Friday night fans. Armored Corps representatives took the majority of the verdicts, although some were very close.

The feature was the return match between Tpr. Hearn and Pte. E. N. Paul. Hearn had won a dubious decision in first encounter, and the bout last night was a natural. However, Hearn again managed to get the nod, due to his aggressiveness.

Summary:

1—Tpr. K. Collins, 147 lbs., Winnipeg, representing T. and S. Wing, decisioned Tpr. A. E. Davis, 145 lbs., Medicine Hat, Alta., representing T. and S. Wing.

2—Pte. W. S. Onge, Niagara Falls, representing A-10, defeated Tpr. S. J. Truba, 135 lbs., Montreal, representing No. 3 C.A.C.

3—Tpr. P. R. Scott, 147 lbs., of Trinidad, West Indies, representing No. 3, won over Tpr. E. P. McNamara, 150 lbs., Melford, Sask., representing No. 3, C.A.C.

4—Tpr. A. J. Shaylor, 138 lbs., of Winnipeg, representing No. 3 C.A.C., lost to Tpr. W. E. Danbois, 140 lbs., Sturgeon Falls, representing T. and S. Wing.

5—Gnr. H. A. Machmar, 125 lbs., Vancouver, representing No. 3 C.A.C., defeated Pte. J. M. Noonan 125 lbs., Collingwood, representing A-11.

6—Tpr. D. A. Hern, 135 lbs., of Windsor, Ont., representing C.A.C. T.S.R., decisioned Pte. E. N. Paul, 135 lbs., Chesterfield, Ont., representing A-11.

EVINRUDE

A Vital Factor in Amphibious Warfare

- It's only logical that the Outboard Motor, the most efficient and adaptable means of water transportation in peacetime, should be a vital factor in wartime marine operations . . . and Evinrude, the outstanding peacetime outboard motor, is the obvious choice for wartime efficiency. These rugged Evinrudes are packed with power and endurance. Light in weight for the power they supply, they are easily detachable and completely manoeuvrable. The uses the army and navy find for these motors are innumerable for they perform vital service in ferrying troops, driving rubber landing barges and powering assault boats as well as lightering freighters, building pontoon bridges and transporting equipment.

In order to enable you to obtain the most efficient service from your own outboard motor during these difficult war years, Evinrude offers you a FREE, fifty-two page conservation booklet, "Know Your Outboard Motor." Address your request to our plant in Peterboro or to your dealer.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 28 — (CP). — The main thing wrong with box lacrosse is that there just isn't any future in it, says Carl (Vancouver News-Herald) Robertson. There isn't any prospect of advancement for youthful lacrosse players, no hope of making the big leagues as hockey and baseball provide. In fact, about all boxla offers is "broken teeth, cuts and bruises and a chance to travel either East or West every other year if you are lucky enough to be on a winning team."

The officials do not pay much attention to getting the game the right kind of publicity, either, continues the West Coast writer. During the recent Mann Cup finals with its attending squabble, Canadian Lacrosse Association officials tried to keep the dispute hushed up, says Robertson. But that backfired beneficially since none of the writers pulled their punches and as a result the largest crowd of the series flocked to see the fourth game at Maple Leaf Gardens.

Sporting justice:

Hugh John Macdonald, new Justice for the Alberta Supreme Court Trial Division, was quite an athlete in his younger days. He was good at baseball, was captain of the University of Alberta track team in 1921-1922, played hockey against the Jerwas, Joe and Frank, and dabbled in other sports. He is credited with being a past master of the "Stop-'em-with-your-chest" school of third base play of the Pepper Martin variety, among other things.

Dots and dashes:

The St. Louis Sporting News reported that Connie Mack plans to make Toronto Maple Leafs the leading farm club for his Philadelphia Athletics. "With B league players moving right into Class A ball, it looks as though Toronto will be the first "baseball baby farm in history," cracks Harry Eisen of the London Free Press.....Joe Kirkwood, Jr., young golf pro who played in the Maple Leaf moneybags tournament at Toronto this year, has been signed by a Hollywood studio for histrionics after the war when he leaves the R.C.A.F...... Lester Patrick really must be getting old. He was quoted in an interview with a Winnipeg girl reporter thusly: "I used to like brunettes, blondes and redheads, but now—well, let it go at that."

Ray Robinson Scores Second Victory

CHICAGO, Oct. 28 — (AP). — Ray (Sugar) Robinson, the angular New York fistic sharpshooter whose 15 months in the army halted his bid for the welterweight title, today mantained his ranking as leading contender for the crown as he notched his second victory since he resumed civilian fighting.

The No. 1 man for Freddy Cochrane's welter title proved to himself and to 10,622 fans at the Chicago Stadium last night that military life was no deterrent to his fistic ambitions as he battered Sgt. Lou Woods of Detroit for a ninth-round technical knockout. Gross gate was $41.246.

Robinson, weighing 147½ to 153½ for the soldier from Fort Sheridan, was the aggressor throughout and piled up a wide margin of points. Woods' defensive work, at times, apparently bothered the Harlem negro, but the soldier was unable to land many effective punches and escaped a knockout only by hanging on. The bout, scheduled for 10 rounds, was halted by referee Tommy Thomas 50 seconds before the end of the ninth. Woods, recipient of many stinging blows, never was knocked down.

Although Robinson was a 5-1 favorite, Woods entered the fight with a record of 32 victories in 34 professional bouts. But his showing was anything but impressive. Robinson knocking him with left hooks and right crosses continually.

The victory was Robinson's 48th in 49 professional bouts, and his 31st knockout as a pro.

Four Majors Make Season's Debut

By ERIC SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Four teams hit the trail tonight that leads to the National Hockey League championship and the Stanley Cup when they make their debut in the 1944-45 campaign at Montreal and Toronto.

Manager Lester Patrick and his New York Rangers, which last season played to all-time record crowds in Madison Square Gardens while winning only six games out of a 50-game schedule, meet Toronto Maple Leafs in Toronto while the defending champions, Montreal Canadiens, take on Art Ross' Boston Bruins at Montreal.

Rangers, says Coach Frank Boucher, are a much improved squad over the 1943-44 entry and will finish at least in fourth place at the close of this season's play. He hasn't predicted the outcome of tonight's encounter, but it is recalled that the two teams also met in a season opener last year, which the Leafs won 5-2. Later the Blueshirts scored two wins over Toronto.

Better Squad

Coach Clarence (Hap) Day of the Leafs hasn't been saying much about his team's chances but admits that the squad is better than last year's which finished third in the regular league schedule.

Day has, for the second successive year, a new goaltender to face the opposition. He is Frank McCool of Calgary, who recently was discharged from the Canadian Army. Last season, Day started with Benny Grant of Owen Sound, Ont., between the posts, but finished the schedule with Paul Bibeault. Paul is the property of Canadiens and is being retained by the Quebec club as a spare goalie.

Quality of the Boston squad or its scoring power is a mystery. Ross has been silent, as in previous years, about pre-season training, but it is known he is having difficulty making a decision on his choice of a goalie. It is reported that either Maurice Courteau, who was with Boston Olympics of the Eastern United States Amateur League last year, or Harvey Bennett, goalie with Oshawa Generals, last year's Canadian junior champions, will be between the pipes tonight.

As for Montreal Canadiens, Coach Dick Irvin says merely he has not only the best team "on paper" but also will have the best team on the ice. Bill Durnan, one of the leading rookies in the N.H.L. last year, will guard the nets for the Flying Frenchmen.

On Sunday night Toronto moves over to Chicago to help the Black Hawks, fourth a year ago, inaugurate their home season, while Red Wings entertain Bruins at etroit.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—(AP)— It was 20 years ago this fall that the Boston Bruins introduced real professional hockey—as distinguished from the kind that was called "amateur"—to the United States . . . . and look what has happened since then . . . the third decade of National League Hockey in the U.S. starts tonight with only two Canadian clubs left in the pro picture and there even has been a suggestion that the new league president should be an American and that headquarters should be moved south of the border because "the future of the game lies there."

Sportspourri

Today's Indiana-Iowa game is being dedicated to four former Hoosier gridders who gave their lives in the war—Sgt. Harold Ursh, Ensign Harold "Red" Zimmer, Lieut. Nelson Beasley and Lieut. Sidney McGurk . . . . although the N.B.A. "Row" on a Juan Zurita-Willie Pep fight, George Parnassus, Zurita's manager is ready to sign for one in December. Parnassus says there's an obligation to go through with it because the fight was made once and put off when Zurita accidentally shot himself . . . The Giants are "definitely interested" in getting Louie Novikoff from the Cubs . . . . . apparently they don't want Dodger fans to get all the laughs.

R.C.A.F. Officer Shows Films In Aid Of Loan

HAVELOCK, Oct. 28 — (ENS) — Moving pictures to aid the opening of the 7th Victory Loan Campaign in this district were sponsored by the 149th Squadron Havelock Air Cadets in the town hall Wednesday evening. Flight Sgt. J. Roberts, R.C.A.F., of Toronto, was in charge of the projector and film equipment.

During the intermission, E. J. Leeson and H. T. Mathison, canvassers for the loan, presented Reeve E. W. Seeney with the symbol flag of the 7th Victory Loan, and in accepting same to be flown from the flagstaff at the town hall, Mr. Seeney stated that he was pledging the whole-hearted support of this district to put the loan over the top, and in doing so to let our boys and girls overseas, know that we at home on the home front are behind them one hundred per cent. He expressed the hope that the citizens of Havelock would rally to the cause beyond all expectations. T. P. Lancaster was chairman.

Picture Program

The second half of the program was interrupted owing to trouble in the projector but R. C. Ward of the National Film Board of Ottawa, who was returning to Peterborough from Trenton, where he had been showing Victory Loan pictures and was instructed by the Peterborough office to call at Havelock, arrived and used his equipment to completed the program.

The pictures shown were: "Armada enroute to France on D-Day", "Our Canada", and "The Air Arm of the American and Japanese navies in action." The 149th Squadron, in uniform acted as ushers and were under their commanding officer, Principal A. C. Reid of Havelock High School.

The Victory Loan objective for the village of Havelock is $45,000 and at closing on Wednesday night $11,500 had been subscribed.

Frequency Modulation Station Approved

MONTREAL, Oct. 28 — (CP) — The City Executive Committee has approved "in principle" the building by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation of a frequency modulation station on the slope of Mount Royal, it was said to-day.

The necessary Notarial Act is being completed, it was added, for the site which will be about 15,000 square feet and will not interfere with other activities on the Mountain.

Fears Third War

TORONTO, Oct. 28 (CP) — Dr. Sidney Smith, principal of University College and president-elect of the University of Toronto, said in an address yesterday a third world war may come unless an international educational program is established "embodying greater recognition of the dignity and importance of the individual."

Can Be Controlled

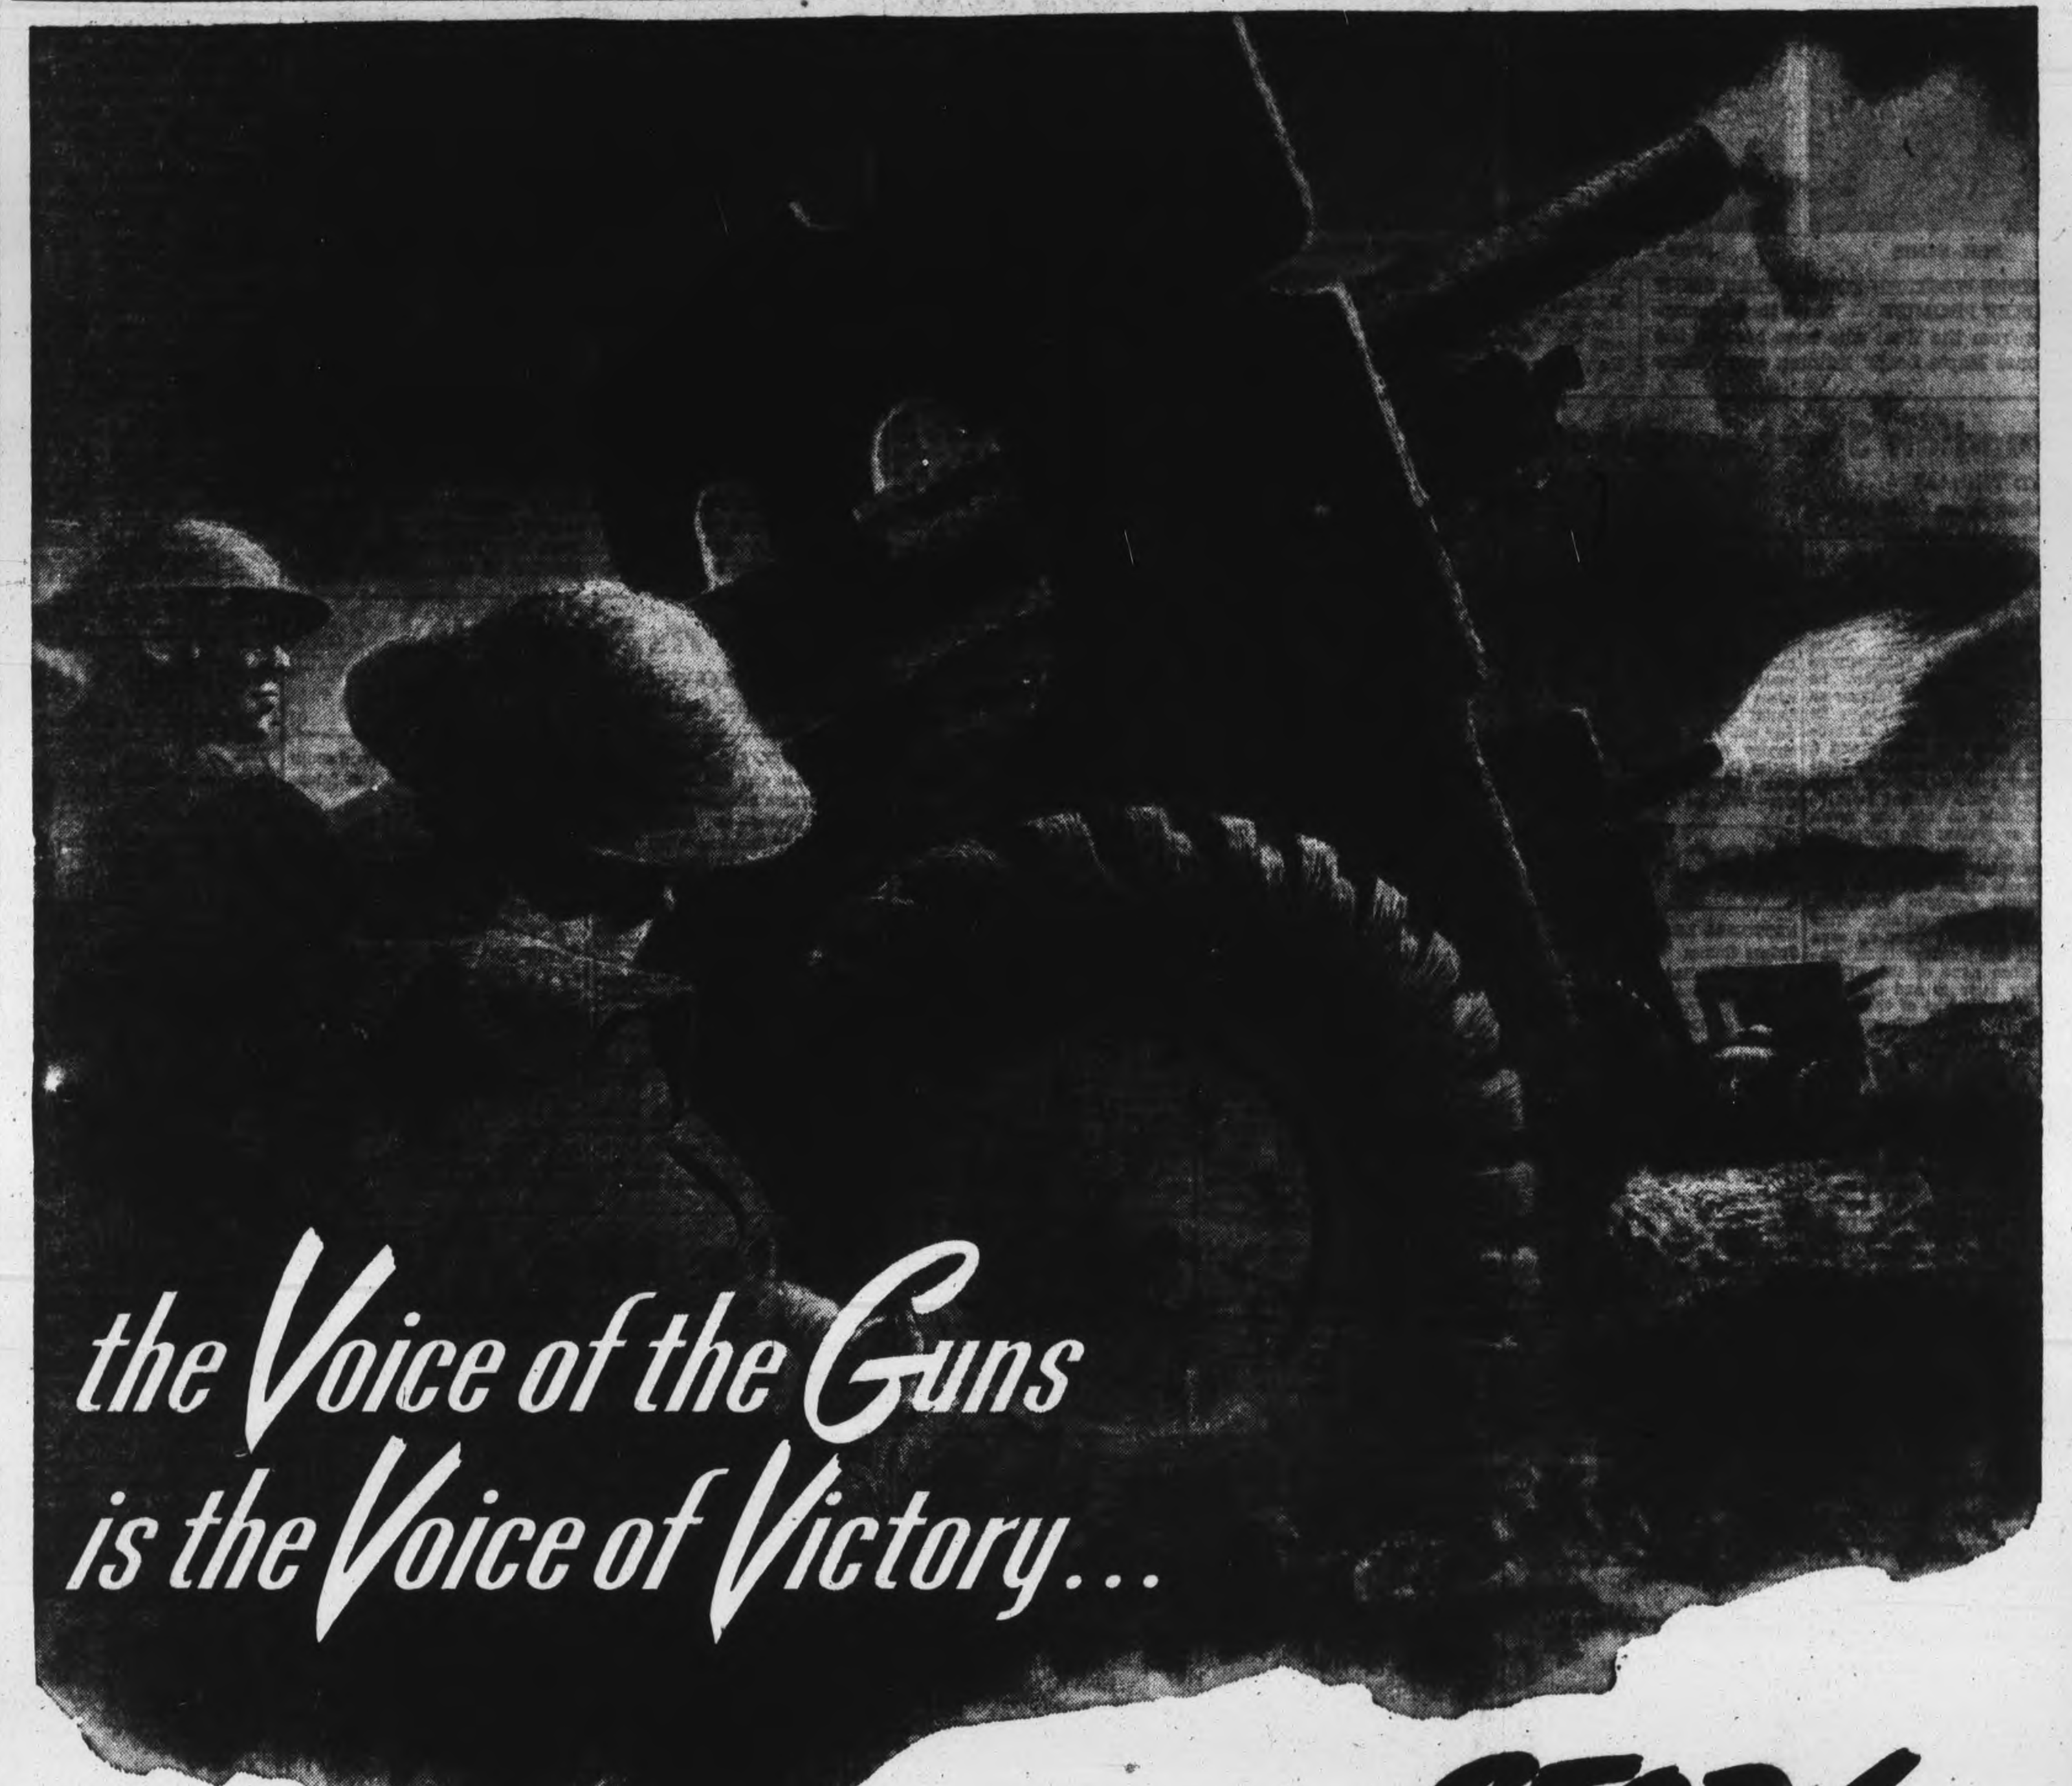
NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 28 (CP)—With proper treatment, especially early diagnosis, arthritis could be relegated to a minor role within 20 years, Dr. Wallace Pearson of Kirksville, Mo., said yesterday in an address before a joint meeting here of the Canadian and Ontario Osteopathic Associations.

WHITE BUT BLACK

There are actually white blackberries.

Professor Dies

TORONTO, Oct. 28 (CP) — Professor George Sidney Brett, head of the Department of Philosophy and Dean of the school of graduate studies at the University of Toronto, died yesterday. He was born in Briton Perry, South Wales.



THEY MUST NOT STOP!

"Canada at War," says in part: "Naval bombardment from Allied warships hurling 2000 tons of explosives in 20 minutes." 100 tons per minute! This is just one single instance out of thousands, taken as an example of the stupendous ammunition depletion on every fighting front.

The .45 Tommy Gun, the fighting soldier's "mopping up" stand-by, has a speed of fire of 120 rounds per minute, the same as the celebrated Bren Gun. It is handled by one man. Tommy Guns have proved most potent weapons in this war and are numbered in hundreds of thousands — from the Plains of Normandy to the jungles of Burma.

The Browning .303, the fighting airman's favorite weapon, has the unbelievable speed of fire of 1150 rounds per minute! When the number of fighting planes constantly in action is considered, apart from other operational planes using this gun, the enormous expenditure of ammunition can well be understood.

THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS OF GUNS, large and small need millions of rounds of ammunition every day, every hour, every minute on every fighting front. The Guns are hungry in their demand. Ammunition is swallowed up on a scale never before imagined.

And the supply must never fail.

We on the home front are in honor bound to meet this challenge and keep feeding the guns on land, at sea, and in the air. Even an hour's let-up in our combined effort at home may mean a delay in the ultimate Victory of which we are assured. We must not let our boys down.

So let us not flag nor falter for a minute. Let us prove our will to win by a sustained all-out effort and help speed up Victory, by investing in Victory Bonds as never before.

Main Street Topics

LONG SESSION.

The Court of Revision spent four session on Friday night, adjourn-hours in their session on Friday night, adjourning at 11:30 p.m.

INTERESTED

It's interesting what a suggestion of mystery can do in the way of publicity. Tuesday evening in Peterborough, few people cared particularly whether they saw an amphiblous jeep or not. When the jeep failed to appear, and the vehicle was dubbed, "the missing jeep", the topics along Main street hurriedly changed to that subject. People are still asking the date when it will be here, but they don't call it the "jeep", to them, it is "The Missing Jeep".

THREE OF THEM.

Three minor fires within 24 hours have done their share to keep firemen at the local department busy. After six o'clock Friday evening, the city dump on Rogers street featured a small blaze for one alarm, and around 11.30 o'clock Friday evening a chimney fire on Holloway Drive was extinguished by the firemen. This morning, close to 10 o'clock, firemen played a return engagement at the dump when another minor blaze attracted their attention. No damage was caused in either case.

AN OTONABEE ACCIDENT

Cars owned by Henry McKay, Indian River and H. R. Reid, Keene, were damaged Friday evening when they collided at an Otonabee intersection. McKay's car was turned over in the crash but no one was injured. Provincial Constable Price Morris investigated the accident.

SARNIA INVITATION.

Mayor Hamilton had a telephone cal from Sarnia on Friday night, requesting that J. A. Jebson go there and tell them the story of Peterborough's Memorial Centre campaign. Mr. Jebson has already fulfilled one invitation to Kingston. The city is getting widespread publicity from the initial success of its memorial enterprise.

SOMEBODY'S HAPPY

He wore the R.C.A.F. blue, presumably a flyer. Her dress was a lighter shade of blue, as if it had been spun of the same magic material as a May Day sky. They had been assigned the centre table in the main dining room at the Empress Friday night. You might have fancied that they were unaware of the groups around them, an exceedingly attractive young couple, rapt in their happiness that has been paid for by the sacrifice of the thousands of boys in the same Blue, the sadness of their relatives and friends, who had hoped for them such spotlights as the handsome young couple were quietly holding in the hotel scene.

Raise $535,150 For Loan At CGE-Genelco

Total subscriptions this morning by the employees of C.G.E.-Genelco had mounted to $535,150, standing out in bold figures against the $450,000 objective on the big score board across the Park Street lawn.

"We are down once more to scraping the bottom of the barrel," said Tom Glover, works accountant, "and we expect some more thousands to come in by Monday when we shall change the board for probably the last time.

The outstanding development in this canvass at C.G.E.-Genelco has been the increase in the average subscription from around $110-$120 in previous loans to more than $140 at present.

The week's campaign ended Friday with $516,700 as the total of the canvassers' reports, but it carried over substantially this morning exceeding everybody's estimates.

If the plant hit $525,000 the canvassing committee was going to be very happy about the result, and also proud of it, but the volume of applications for Bonds has been sweeping aside even the rosiest expectations of the optimist members of the committee.

The total announce today is the second largest response to the war financing by the employees of the big works.

"In the Fifth Loan our people subscribed $586,000," Mr. Glover said. "That was our peak in the series of loans, but we had quite a lot more employees than we have today."

The payroll peak was probably more than 5,000 as compared with 4,000 today, although those are not official figures from the plant.

Lakefield Soldier Fined For Driving

Pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving, Tpr. Kenneth Reid, a Lakefield member of the Canadian Armored Corps, stationed at Camp Borden, was fined $10, and $4 costs, by Magistrate E. A. Gee in Police Court this morning.

Chief Garnet Samis, Lakefield, said that the accident happened on Strickland Street in Lakefield. Reid, he said, was driving east and his car ran along the shoulder of the road for 120 feet, travelled 75 feet in the ditch, and then collided with a culvert. Reid had suffered head injuries and his three-year-old boy was also hurt.

"The door of the car was only partially closed," said Reid, "and I guess I was paying more attention to it and to my little boy than I was to my driving."

INVEST IN VICTORY

By ALENE HOLT
Victory Loan Headquarters

"O England, our island, of low land and high,
Of meadow and valley, of hill and dale,
Her sons shall not falter, when foemen assault her,
The heart of an Englishman shall never fail."

Harry Illingworth is probably one of the best known people in Peterborough. What person in this city hasn't been approached and "hypnotized" by his persuasive salesmanship on behalf of the Salvation Army. Mr. Illingworth came to Peterborough from Leeds, Yorkshire, England in 1920. He has been an active worker in the Salvation Army for more than forty years and still sets an example for many a younger man.

A canvasser, J. A. Troke, called on him and told him all about Victory Bonds. The latter is only on a small pension and felt he could not buy a bond. However, on returning to his home, Mr. Troke received a 'phone call from his friend who said "Mr. Troke, I have managed to save $50, and that is all the money I have in the world, but I would like to invest it in a Victory Bond." That's the story.

"Watch It"

The usual rumours are starting. It just seems that so soon as a Victory Loan is under way, rumours are rampant. "Will I be able to sell my Bond?"—"Is there any chance the Government will prevent people from selling their Victory Bonds?"—"I heard—that I won't be able to sell my Victory Bond easily," and so on. Rumours such as the above are sheer nonsense and any of our canvassers will be only too pleased to give you full details concerning all bonds.

You definitely will be able to sell your Bonds in the future just as you could in the past. The purchase of Victory Bonds is absolutely the best investment for your funds there is, because they are safe, they return an excellent rate of interest without any risk on the part of the leader, and the opportunity for such gilt-edged investment does not come to the ordinary person except at such times as now when Canada is seeking $1,300,000,000 of the people's money in the Seventh Victory Loan drive.

Children Help.

Gordon Parks is 14 years of age, in second form at the Collegiate. He works for his father, Lou Parks, the photographer, in his studio after school and on Saturdays, and unusual, is not interested in the movies. He had, N. Schaus reports, $30 saved all ready to pay a deposit on a $50 Victory Bond, and he is opening a bank account and will deposit $7 or more each month to pay up the balance and be ready to buy another Bond when the Eighth Loan drive rolls around.

There is Douglas Bird, of 34 Benson avenue. He is 15 years of age, attends Collegiate, and he bought a $100 Bond. He has been working during the summer months as a bread salesman and the purchase of this Bond was his first investment in Victory.

Miss Sheila Smith, 150 Benson avenue, 13 years of age, has had a little penny bank and has been depositing her earnings from helping in the community store on Saturdays and after school. The savings piled up and this youngster was able to buy a $50 Victory Bond to help the cause.

Albert Arnott, Monaghan Road, has been saving his money which was earned by working after school and on Saturdays and when the canvasser called had a $50 bills in his possession. Being a young lad and more or less just starting out on his financial world, he was rather reluctant to part with it, but wanting to do his bit to help in the war effort he decided that he would exchange his paper money for a $50 investment in Canada's Seventh Victory Loan.

"Carry On"

From youth we have the transition to old age, and I am confident that Miss Jane Jackson of Chamberlain street, 94 years old, would not resent this expression, because she has come through again with another sale for her Victory Loan canvasser. She is one of the "ever faithfuls" on C. A. Gallagher's list.

Nagging Wives Are Men's Number 1 Peeve

If Peterborough men could obtain divorces every time a peeve against the wife makes an appearance, women who constantly "nag" would soon find themselves minus a husband, according to a survey made recently, to find out just what men don't like about women....and vice-versa.

It's a fact! Out of ten men questioned, nine declared emphatically that "nagging" is the "Number One Curse" to which they are subjected. They said they could overlook other faults in a woman, if only she does not "nag." To make the survey as even as possible, two of the men questioned had been married over twenty years, two under twenty years, two were confirmed bachelors, and the remaining four were men married only a few years.

After nagging, men seem to hate inconsistency in a woman more than anything else. And, men married the longest confessed, the longer the period of marriage, greater the inconsistency! "They're either too talkative one minute, and morose the next, or in the pink of health today, or suffering from a million imaginary ailments the next," one man said. Another man said that no matter how many compliments he paid his wife, she would turn around and snap, "When did you pay me a compliment?" However, he admitted he overlooks that fault ....because she doesn't nag!

Men married under five years felt it their duty to reveal that women start off most of the minor quarrels in the household! Usually starting from any number of minor causes, usually petty jealousy, the men said the women feel hurt even more if they aren't pampered into making peace, and showered with presents in the bargain.

On Verge Bankruptcy

Inability to live within the family budget is one reason a bachelor questioned refuses to align himself with any woman. "I've known women who go on a buying spree every time they quarrel," he said, "and anyway, most of the married men I know are always on the verge of bankruptcy." Women who make themselves social paragons irks another of the bachelors. "When half the time they probably detest the company they invite anyway," he complained.

When the questionnaire was presented to the women, the ten of them stood back, rolled up their collective sleeves, and let the men have a barrage of reasons why "they wish they were single again."

"Conceit,...that's it in one word," said five of the women. They said men like to be called 'handsome,' have all their jokes laughed at... no matter how corny they may be, and have their wives going about with that "Gee I'm lucky to have you" look in their eyes.

The women questioned were in category, the same status as the men, some married, some not. Jealously seems to irk the women more than men, and they said they hate to be questioned by men on where they've been and what they've been doing, when hubby comes home at night. Also, they detest those subtle hints about "slim Miss Jones in the office" men give, when they wish to be thought of as "lady-killers."

Strangely enough, women said that men start most of the quarrels in the house, emanating from meals, decisions on how to spend the evening, and clothes. "Talk about us being inconsistent," one said, when told the men's attitude. "They'll eat one thing tonight, and have convulsions the next time you serve it. Worst of all, if they don't like a certain food prepared, they'll eat it with a painful look of martryrdom, and then two weeks later, in a quarrel, remember it and complain about it then."

RETURNS TO POST—A veteran of the invasion of France, when he served aboard a frigate, AB. Charles O. Murduff, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Murduff, 211 Prince street, has returned to his post after a 28-day leave spent at his home. He has been in the Navy more than two years.

Christmas Fund Now Needs To Raise $7,000

In working for a good cause, a big objective usually with members of the Anglo-Saxon race, has the effect of causing them to square their shoulders and apply themselves with more vigor to the task. Experience during the past few years has shown that they have accomplished what a few years ago would have been considered impossible.

Less than four years ago, if anyone had mooted the idea that this city and district could raise over $82,000 in funds to alleviate distress of war sufferers in the British Isles by voluntary donations, there would have been many an incredible lifting of the eyebrows at such a suggestion. But to-day that is an established fact.

Now the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund is embarked on what is hoped will be its climax to all previous efforts by raising the sum of £2,000, or $8,960, to send to the Lord Mayor of London for the purpose of providing cheer for Christmas to the largely increased number of children who will be unable to spend this season among their own folk. For this purpose, some $1,952.51 is now on hand in the bank, leaving an approximate sum of $7,000 still required to make the objective possible.

Regent Box Again Assists.

All three houses of movie entertainment in this city have one of the fund's penny boxes close by their ticket offices, and from all three comes word of how a large amount of the support they have received actually comes from those who have the least to give. In a regular manner the young children deposit the odd change they receive when purchasing their tickets.

This displays a fine spirit among these youngsters, for it shows that although they keenly anticipate their own pleasure, they still are mindful of the needs of their less fortunate brothers and sisters in Britain; and boys and girls who grow up with this spirit should surely make fine citizens.

To-day another assist has come from this source in the long chain a recent collection by the secretary of the fund at the Regent Theatre yielding another $11.75, of which $7.10 was all in coppers, showing that this box contained close to 800 different coins of the realm.

Victory Workers Repeat.

Among the many groups of women who are giving voluntarily of their time and effort on behalf of many things promoting a successful prosecution of the war, the Victory Workers headed by Mrs. B. L. Fowler as president, have for a group of this size rendered a valuable service. Many times their assistance to this fund has been noted in this column, which is really only a portion of the good they have been able to do from their work and associations with one another.

Only a short while ago a gift of $30 was credited to them in this column, and now a further one of $100 specifically marked for the purpose of giving Christmas cheer to the children in Britain appears to-day, being one of a number of similar gifts voted at their recent meeting to a number of different war assists.

Hon. Dana Porter Outlined Rehabilitation

To assist men in helping themselves on their return from the war to peaceful pursuits in their homeland is one of the guiding principles of the Ontario Department of Planning and Rehabilitation as set forth by its Minister, the Honorable Dana Porter of Toronto, at a dinner gathering of Peterborough city and county councils and a few interested guests at the Empress Hotel Friday night.

For the Minister's first visit to Peterborough the city council played the role of host with special invitation to its county friends, and Mr. Porter improved that opportunity of speaking to the combined company of municipal heads by suggesting a region or county committee, linking common interests of the two major municipalities with promise of direction from the Department.

Of primary and immediate importance to such a joint planning committee for the city and county was the development of the tourist business, Mr. Porter said. "In this district you have a vast stretch of country that probably requires some program of reforestation, the development of game reserves and of fish resources, and particularly your tourist resource. In view of these interests they have aspects in common both to the county and city it seems to me that some sort of regional committee could be of very great importance.

Tourist Wealth

In our peak year tourists from the United States left more than $100,000,000 of American money in this province. That is as much gold as produced in one year, and we believe that it will increase after the war, in so far as we are ready to cope with it, and if we are not ready we may lose out. From that figure we should regard our lakes and rivers as our greatest source of wealth. Unlike the mines, they cannot be mined out, and even unlike agriculture there is loss corresponding to soil erosion."

Hon. Mr. Porter divided his address into two subjects, town planning as a means to better social conditions, orderly community life and accumulated public works projects which as a backlog of employment would serve to take up the slack in any times of industrial slackening; and the other subject, the Department's preparations for rehabilitation of the men coming home again to the peace they have earned.

Mayor Hamilton was chairman of the meeting, and guests other than those of the municipal councils included Mrs. J. K. Hughes; Mrs. J. A. Spurway, county clerk and treasurer; Gordon K. Fraser, M.P.; Harold R. Scott, M.P.P.; D. G. H. Melton of Rehabilitation Committee; Judge S. Smoke; J. A. Jebson; Dr. R. A. Kelly; D. A. Maciver, county engineer; Fred Marshall; C. E. LaBranche; City Engineer Parsons; W. R. L. Blackwell; Ronald J. McGrath; A. C. Northover, and A. J. Girdwood of the Town Planning Commission.

The Minister was introduced by Mr. Scott, after Mayor Hamilton's introductory welcome which included the members of the county council and other guests.

Vocational School

Only to some extent does the tourist industry fit into the rehabilitation plans of his Department, Hon. Mr. Porter said. Broadly, the Department hoped to devise means to assist in the development of the resources of Ontario to the end that many of the returning men may be able to settle down into occupations for themselves.

With the co-operation of the Dominion Government and the Ontario Department of Education a vocational school has been established in the old Toronto Normal School. At present it comprises nine building trades, five branches of the printing trade, watch making, barber shop and cooking school, now ready and in working order.

A property in Hamilton may become available for a similar enterprise, and possibly accommodation may be provided at some other points of discharge. The Toronto school is able to handle 1,200 men at a time, or a total of 3,600 in three shifts daily.

One of the courses is directed toward the tourist industry, with instructions in cooking, accounting, sanitation, keeping of stores, food, public relations and so on, "because we believe the tourist business after the war will call for trained men. Some of the existing tourist establishments have indicated already that they would be glad if men are prepared to take jobs in their plants and obtaining further experience. Without such training the chances of disaster would be great; but with skill and knowledge acquired in the vocational school we believe a large number of men would be in a position to open many tourist places, and that generally in this industry, with countless places yet to be developed for the tourist trade a desirable living could be provided for many types of men."

To Advise Men

The Department will have a counselling service providing information as to where men may go and for what work they are able and best fitted to do. Rehabilitation committees have been formed in a great many communities, municipally sponsored or otherwise, and composed of leading citizens deeply interested in the welfare of the homecoming men. In some respects they have lacked direction and they have not been clear as to what their ser-

Gnr. Fred Lewis On Missing List

Serving overseas with an artillery unit more than three years, Gnr. Fred R. Lewis, whose family formerly lived in Lindsay, now of Peterborough, has been officially reported missing in action France, September 12, according to information reaching his sister, Miss Joyce Lewis, 359 Dobbin street.

The report that he is 'missing" was received here Friday, and owing to the lapse of time since he was reported missing, his sisters are hopeful he will turn up a prisoner-of-war in the near future. He left collegiate where he was taking an academic course, to enlist in March, 1941, and went overseas in July of the same year. The last letter from him was dated in the latter part of August, and told how he escaped uninjured when a truck in which he was driving was hit by German guns, and destroyed. At that time, according to his letter, the main trouble was dodging German snipers.

This year, on D-Day, the 22-year-old soldier celebrated his 22nd birthday by storming ashore on the coast of France during the early hours of dawn. "It's not like a birthday at home", he wrote later, "but is sure a lot noisier."

Gnr. Lewis' sister, Joyce, who works at the Kresge store, was the winner of the recent popularity contest.

Quaker Oats Employee Wounded In Holland

A former employee of the Quaker Oats Company, Tpr. W. Scott Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Miller, R.R. 1, Keene, has been reported wounded in action in Holland while serving with the Sherbrooke Fusiliers, has parents have been informed. His right leg was injured, and now is in a cast.

The young soldier received his wound at 10 o'clock in the morning, and furious fighting prevented stretcher-bearers from reaching his side until 5.30 o'clock in the afternoon. However, once that had been effected, action was swift, and by 8.30 that night he was in a hospital in Belgium, ready for the operation one hour and a half later. His parents believe he is still in a hospital in Belgium. Tpr. Miller went overseas in December, 1943.

Cpl. G. Roper Talks To Friday Night Club

"Education" was the topic of an interesting address by Cpl. G. Roper, Ph.D., before a large gathering of the Friday Night Club at its weekly meeting Friday evening in the Y.M.C.A. building. Cpl. Roper is the son of G. A. Roper, general secretary of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A.

Eight new members were accepted into the club by application. They are Ted Bell, Ernest Darling, Douglas Head, John Hinton, Jim Monaghan, Jim Rush, Jack Taylor and Harold Wilson. A number of visitors were introduced to the members by Art Northcott.

Past President Norm Allen introduced the speaker and he was given the club's thanks by Alf Hardwick. The draw prize this week was won by Al Hooper. A program of music and a sing-song were presented by Jim Shields and Dave Graham. President Jack Sackville presided.

Jebson Dodges Bouquet Lauds Helpers

To a "grand lot of citizens, a great mayor and council and a group of lads on our committee that you couldn't beat anywhere," J. A. Jebson gave the credit for the success of the Memorial Centre Fund in a little speech following his introduction to Hon. Dana Porter at the Empress Hotel last night.

Everybody but Joe Jebson shared the acknowledgment of the chairman of the committee as Mayor Hamilton introduced him to the Minister as a man who got things done in the manner recommended by Mr. Porter. As a matter of fact the chairmanship was peddled around town for a couple of months before somebody, probably Mayor Hamilton, talked Mr. Jebson into taking it.

The men and girls who contributed to the Fund topped the Jebson list if any honorable mention was to be passed around, especially in the presence of the Minister of Planning and Rehabilitation. Workers in the factories, the shops and offices, with the final amazing punch of cheques from fellows in France and Italy.

And that reminded Mr. Jebson of those folks here at home who had let the Memorial Fund down, and were still letting it down although its office is still open and receiving contributions. Those people represented the element of disappointment and the difference between a satisfactory and an overplus of success.

Girls At Sealright Subscribe Generously

Nineteen girls of the staff of Canadian Sealright Company subscribed $2,300 of the Seventh Victory Loan in the plant response of 132 p.c. of their objective with 94 p.c. of the employees investing.

Sealright was given $3,850 as their objective and they are probably winding up their subscription list with a total of $5,100.

Sam Whitehouse, plant manager, thinks that the girls did a fine job, averaging considerably more than a $100 Bond. And he also gratefully mentions the canvassers for the energetic manner of their co-operation wtih the National Finance committee.

$2,325 Reduction Given In Assessments

Court of Revision granted Friday night $2,325 reduction in assessment on properties for 1945 taxes. Applications alolwed on land amounted to $1,125 and on buildings $1,200. Changes on buildings included $150 cut recommended by the Assessment Department, and there were several other revisions which were also approved by the department. The court struck off $500 from the value of the Givens mill following fire damage.

T. C. Ephgrave presided with Fred Morrow and Fred Finnie constituting the court. It was adjourned until next Saturday afternoon, with eleven more property owners to be heard.

Loan Supporters Do Good Job In First Week

Peterborough subscriptions to the Seventh Victory Loan rolled along with excess momentum Friday, halting for the night at $1,407,450 or 30.6 per cent. of the objective of $4,500,000. And the required percentage at the fifth day was 27.77.

The campaign reaches the one-third mark on the long course tonight, as the first week ends. The required percentage is obviously 33 1-3, apace with one-third of the campaign behind the nation.

The components of the total for five days were:

City canvass	$425,600
County canvass	134,000
Payroll savings	507,600
Armed forces	40,250
Special names	300,000
Total	$1,407,450

As a quick comparison, the totals for the first five days of the Sixth Loan were: $803,750 or 17.9 per cent. subscribed of the objective of $4,500,000.

The percentage comparison of the two loans for five days is 30.6 per cent. Friday night as against 17.9 per cent for five days last Spring. If you wonder how the loan is going, there is your answer. But, Peterborough has an objective of $4,600,000 as compared with $4,500,000 in the Spring Loan.

Rural Canvass

In the county results the northern quartette of townships, Harvey, Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos were out in front with 37.4 per cent. of their objective, comfortable past the one-third post of the route. Havelock was second with 33.2 per cent.; Dummer third with 28.1 per cent.; Otonabee fourth with 26.5 per cent and North Monaghan fifth with 21.8 per cent; Belmont-Methuen was sixth at 20.6 per cent and the others were less than the 20 per cent performances.

Here's a little parenthetic incident related by Erie Pearson, Deputy-reeve of Smith township, contrasting the house to house calling in the city with the catch-as-catch-can canvassing in the townships. One-third of a mile across one field, the farm owner was driving a tractor. He bought a $500 bond and signed the application on the hood of the machine. Down the road a stretch, Mr. Pearson trudged back to a turnip patch for another $500 bond. He did not mention either name, nor that of theowner of another farm who greeted him as the Victory Loan canvasser and without any gesture of ceremony produced the cash for the bonds she was taking. This owner was a woman, and she kept her cash, bonds and other valuables in a substantial safe, several feet square. Apparently she hadn't a dollar in the bank. Her money was right under the family roof, such a rare variation of the general practice of letting the banks provide the physical security that Mr. Pearson mentioned it as one of his memories of the day. He wasn't passing any opinion about that method, and ready cash was immediately concertainly not when some of that verted into Victory Bonds.

Conroy—Carroll

A wedding of interest took place recently in Cranbrook, B.C., when Herbert James Conroy, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Conroy of Cranbrook, formerly of Peterborough, took as his bride Kathleen Betty Carrol, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Carroll, of Cranbrook Rev. A. L. MacIntyre officiated, in St. Mary's church, which was decorated with autumn flowers. Mrs. L. Selwyn was at the organ accompanying Miss Teresa Pascuzzo, who sang "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in floor-length white brocaded satin with a silk net veil, caught to her head with a wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of red roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Jean Carroll, in pink sheer, and carrying a bouquet of carnations. Art Godderis was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother received in a gown of lavender printed jersey, with matching accessories. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore purple crepe with matching accessories.

For a wedding trip to Radium, Banff and the coast, the bride chose a brown suit, complemented with matching accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Conroy will make their home in Cranbrook, where the groom is employed with the C.P.R. The bride is a graduate from the St. Eugene School of Nursing in Cranbrook, and the groom is a graduate of the Provincial Normal school, but is now employed with the Canadian Pacific Railway. His grandmother, Mrs. Pat Conroy, is a well-known resident in Otonabee.

Shier-Edwards Vows Pledged At Trinity Church

Trinity United Church, was the setting for a pretty wedding of interest today, when Leona Angelia Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwards, of Indian River, became the bride of Harvey Roscoe Shier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Shier of Sunderland. Rev. William McDonald officiated, with Miss M. Clarry playing the wedding music and accompanying Miss Margaret Emerson, who sang "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a gown of white silk jersey, on long torso lines, with full gathered skirt falling into a slight train. The fitted bodice was fashioned with Sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her veil of tulle was caught to her head with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried Bettertime roses. She also wore the gift of the groom, a strand of pearls, and a gold locket bracelet, which her mother had worn at her wedding.

Mrs. Russell Edwards, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Eva Battle, attended her as matron of honor and bridesmaid. Miss Battle was gowned in floor-length blue taffeta on long torso lines, with a full gathed skirt. The bodice, made with Sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves, was finished at the back with small self-covered buttons. She wore a Dutch halo of pink and blue net and carried a bouquet of deep pink and light pink roses. Mrs. Edwards, as matron of honor, was frocked in pink sheer, with full gathered skirt shirred at the waist, and long full sleeves. She wore a shoulder-length veil of matching pink net and carried a bouquet of deep pink and light roses.

Ross Shier, brother of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were Herbert Edwards, brother of the bride, and James Shadgett.

For the reception held following the ceremony, the bride's home was decorated with pink and white streamers and white bells. Receiving the guests was the bride's mothed. in a two-piece dress of turquoise crepe, with black hat and accessories, and a corsage of Bettertime roses. Also receiving was the groom's mother, in a two-piece dress of mauve crepe, with matching hat, black accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses.

The table was centred with the bride's three tier wedding cake, made by her mother, and was also set with white candles. Mrs. R. Brown and Mrs. H. A. Bonney poured tea. Those serving were Misses Elva Elliott, Edna Elliott, Jean Clyde, friends of the bride, and Misses Betty Edwards and Phyllis Edwards, nieces of the bride.

For a wedding trip to the Muskoka district, the bride donned a gold crepe dress on long torso lines, with full skirt, a brown tweed coat and brown accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Shier will make their home at 537 Harvey street, Peterborough.

Helen Barnum Wed In Belleville

A wedding of interest took place today in Albert College, Belleville, when Helen Mae Barnum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Barnum, of Campbellford, became the bride of James S. Loynes, a doctor in the R.C.A.M.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Loynes, of Toronto. Rev. Bert Howard, principal of Albert College, officiated at the ceremony, for which the chapel was decorated with 'mums and ferns. Mrs. Albert Case, of Toronto, sister of the bride, played the wedding music, and accompanied Mrs. Donald Barnum when she sang "My World" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white in rayon sheer, with deep yokeline of net with tucking to match the tucking in the bouffant skirt. Her finger-tip veil of illusion net was caught to a coronet of net and seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of Briarcliff roses and 'mums.

Miss Margaret Richmond of Hamilton, was her only attendant, in floor-length sky blue crepe, with basque waist, sweetheart neckline, and full skirt. She wore a hat of blue and purple ostrich plumes, and carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and 'mums.

Dr. James Sinkins was best man, and the ushers were Roy Barnum and Dr. C. A. Bright.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Ackerman Hall, Albert College, where the bride's mother recieved the guests, wearing a gown of romance blue, with black hat and black accessories, and a corsage of Delight roses and 'mums. The groom's mother, also receiving, was gowned in black, with matching hat and accessories, and a corsage of Pernet roses and 'mums.

For a wedding trip to Limberlost Lodge, the bride chose a brown cool dress, olive green coat, brown hat and matching accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses. On their return, Dr. and Mrs. Loynes will live at 155 Sanford street, east, Hamilton.

ACTUALLY A CARRY-ALL—You'll find that there is less surface size, but as much or more carrying room in the newest, style-setting handbags... gesture of welcome to our new, larger hats on the theory that two huge accessories tend to submerge the woman beneath. To retain packing space for the dozens of bits and pieces most women find essential for any foray farther afield than walking the dog, one designer at least has dreamed up the chunky, bulky bag which carries all, disdains great, flat surfaces. Heavy and handsome settings such as tortoise shell (simulated), lucite, etcetera, accent the new style bulkiness of the bags.

Evening Guild Holds Annual Fair

Warmth and friendliness marked the annual fall fair sponsored by the Evening Guild of St. George's Anglican Church, in the basement of the church on Friday afternoon. Long tables, set with goods for sale, including a country store, novelties and home cooking, as well as linen and cotton goods, were ranged along either side. Small tables were set up also where a delicious plate lunch was served instead of the usual afternoon tea.

Receiving at the door was Mrs. E. W. Cooper, Mrs. H. Bradley was in charge of the country store, and Mrs. H. Siddall and Mrs. C. Crouter supervised the home cooking table. Mrs. A. Green presided over the novelties and home-made candy, while Mrs. W Thompson and Mrs. W. Addyman were kept busy with the fancy goods on their table, and Mrs. J. Heath looked after the ever-popular fish pond. Tea room convener was Mrs. W. Bannon, assisted by Mrs. W. White, Mrs. S. Smith, Mrs. R. Pilling, and Mrs. A. Cacavella.

In the evening, a euchre party was enjoyed, with prizes going to the following: Women's first, Mrs. A. Pooley, second Mrs. G. Boothroyd, and consolation Mrs. Walter Farr; gent's first Mr. H. Bradley, second Mrs. C. Crouter, and consolation Mrs. J. McWilliams.

Col. R. Hicks-Lyne Addresses Annual Meeting

All Saints' Parish Hall was filled Thursday evening for the annual congregational gathering, in charge of the church women's year.

The platform was decorated with ferns and flowers and Mrs. J. Adams, the president, presided and welcomed the large audience. The meeting opened with prayer and the Bible lesson read by Mr. T. W. Boddy.

The members representing the months then came forward with the money collected and the treasurer reported that the sum of $202.36 had been received for the month of October. Mrs. R. N. Jones reporting for the Navy League, said that thirty-one articles had been knitted for the month. In her report for the visiting committee, Mrs. T. Jay said that 14 calls had been made and 12 cards sent to sick and bereaved members.

The rector, W. A. Filer, then took over as chairman. After a few words of welcome, he called on Miss Agnes Moore and Miss Margaret Hooper, who sang three delightful numbers. Members of the choir, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. W. H. Logan, sang several selections. Mr. Filer then introduced the speaker, Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, who has just recently returned from overseas. Col. Hicks-Lyne spoke on the subject, "London As It Is To-day."

He spoke of the robot bombs, describing the destruction of the original robot bomb base and the killing of many of the scientists who had invented the bomb. This delayed the launching of the robot bomb for six months, which brought it to seven days after D-Day, he explained. Col. Hicks-Lyne described their effect on the people of London and the extent of the damage one bomb could do. He lauded the people for their courage and devotion to duty after so many years of suffering.

Tea was served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. W. Jay and her group.

St. Mary's Convent Holds Annual At Home

With His Excellency Bishop J. R MacDonald and Rev. J. T. Finn presiding, the teachers and pupils of grade eight St. Mary's Convent were "At Home" to their parents and friends Friday afternoon.

On duty at the door were the following Girl Guides: Jean Russell, Marcella Fontaine, Mary Jane Fitzgerald, June Blodgett.

Upon entering the classroom attention immediately was centered upon the display of art of various kinds, and patriotic banners testifying to the war interest of the children, were well executed and prominently displayed. A varied program, including singing, choral reading, recitation, literary work, poetic composition, art analysis, physical exercises and a first aid demonstration, were presented. The domestic studies were evidenced by the display of lovely well-done needlework.

Keenly interesting to the visitors was the class treasurer's report as follows:—$102 sent to Holy Childhood Association and ransomed 16 Pagan babies; $42 for relief of Chinese children; 166 articles for Navy Ditty Bags; 530 articles for Peterborough Corvette; $52.95 Milk to Britain Fund; $2.64 tag day for Canadian Legion; 34 articles of needlework for Red Cross; $27.10 Red Cross Community Fund; $16 Junior Red Cross, Toronto; $15 British War Victims' Fund; 5,000 lbs. paper for salvage drive; 1,030 War Savings Stamps; 10 War Saving Certificates.

Worthy of special praise were the following poems composed and read by two of the pupils:

AUTUMN (By Edith Torrio)

I wandered through a forest wide,
A sight no poet could describe,
Its leaves of red and golden brown,
Whirling gently to the ground.
The squirrels were scampering to and fro,
Gathering nuts before the snow.
The birds were busy making plans,
Soon to fly to distant lands.
The autumn dusk was falling fast.
As I retraced my steps at last,
Towards home and friends and fireside,
Who welcomed me at eventide.

AUTUMN LEAVES
(By Sheila Condon)

Leaves now are twirling,
Around in the breeze,
Fluttering and dancing
As they fall from the trees.
Red, green and yellow,
They twirl to the ground.
While falling in city, country or town.
There they'll remain,
Till the cold winds blow,
When soon they'll be covered
By the soft winter snow.

Grade eight graduation certificates were presented by His Excellency Bishop MacDonald to the following:—Betty Schiarizza, Barbara Johnston, Mary Cauley, Doreen Dugan, Lois Nolan, Rose Marie Creally, Gladys Murphy, Gertrude Ryan, Jean Terrio, Teresa Stewart, Isabel Hunt, Betty O'Halloran, Jeannette Downer, Jean Collins, Gertrude Cadeau, Joan Wade, Denise Mahood, Isabel Hynes, Madeline O'Connor, Teresa O'Donnell, Uldine Lazure, Teresa Pearson, Yola Basciano.

A special prize of $10, donated by Mr. J. Lynch, through the Separate School Board, was presented to Betty Schiarizza, and Barbara Johnston received a prize of $5, donated by the Catholic Women's League, through the Separate School Board.

His Excellency Bishop John R. MacDonald, addressing Reverend Sister, ladies and pupils, spoke of his great enjoyment of the program. He congratulated the teacher and pupils upon the variety of their program and their exceptionally fine singing. Also their keen appreciation and interest in art as evidenced by their varied art display, and picture analysis.

The class treasurer's report His Excellency spoke of as very gratifying and deserving of merit and showed a fine patriotic spirit. In congratulating the graduates His Excellency stressed the fact that each pupil should strive to attain at least a full academic high school education, as it would better fit them to choose a position later on, also it would help greatly to make them better home-makers and better mothers.

His Excellency was pleased to see such a good attendance of mothers and friends, and expressed a wish that the pupils and teacher might have a more appropriate place to hold future rograms.

Rev. Father J. T. Finn offered to the Rev. Teacher and pupils his congratulations and expressed his enjoyment of the program. Commending the pupils upon the amount of work accomplished, Father Finn told them to keep up the good work all year, their successful early start would without doubt mean success for them at the end of the year.

Chapter Masons Honor Veterans On Anniversary

Corinthian Chapter No. 36 Royal Arch Masons on the occasion of the 75th anniversary on Friday was visited by Most Excellent the Grand First Principal of Grand Chapter of Canada John MacDonald Burden of Toronto. Along with Companion Burden was Most Excellent Companion Edwin C. Smith the Grand Scribe E of Grand Chapter.

The anniversary proceedings opened in the Masonic Temple when the Grand First Principal was received and welcomed by Excellent Companion S. Y. Walsh the First Principal of Corinthian Chapter. Here before a capacity filled Chapter room the Grand First Principal presented a fifty-year membership jewel to Companion E. J. Cookson of Toronto who joined Corinthian Chapter on December 29, 1873 when the Masonic Temple was in the Dunsford block Water Street across from the present police station. Ex. Companion George. W. Haley received a twenty-five-year Past First Principal's jewel and Rt. Ex. Companion C. H. Sollitt, V. Ex. Companion John Dishart and Ex. Companion F. G. Mann a past First Principal's jewel.

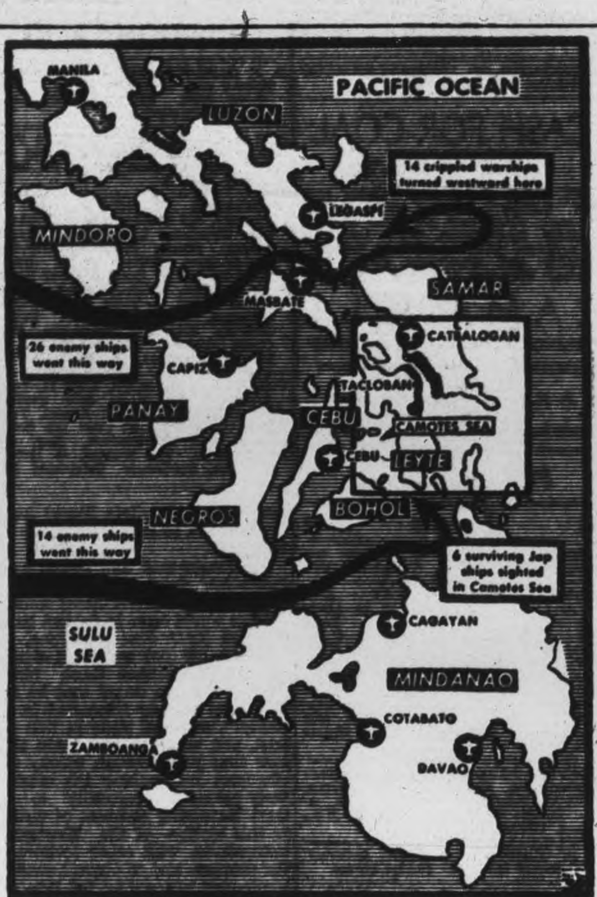
Following the Chapter meeting close to 200 Royal Arch Masons attended a banquet at the Kawartha Club when visitors were present from Lindsay, Campbellford and Cobourg Chapters. The dinner was presided over by Ex. Comp. Walsh, and music was provided by Comp. Stan Richardson's brass quartet.

Fraternal Greetings

Greeting from Scottish Rite Masonry were brought by V. Ex. Comp. E. Bruce Fowler; from Sovereign Great Priory of Canada by the Supreme Grand Master Ross L. Dobbin and from Grand Lodge by Ex. Companion W. D. Campbell. Here Companion E. J. Cookson thanked the members for the presentation of the fifty-year jewel.

Rt. Ex. Companion Ephraim A. Hircock of Cobourg, Grand Superintendent of Ontario District brought the greeting from the chapters in the district and Companion J. A. Bradshaw proposed the toast to Grand Chapter, in which he paid tribute to the members of Grand Chapter who in the past had built well.

In response the Grand First Principal in an address full of sincerity of purpose, power to stimulate and a whole-hearted desire to further the betterment of mankind urged Royal Arch Masons to continue to teach men how to live and while they owe a debt to the past they must never forget that they have a great obligation to the future so that posterity will say of the Royal Arch Masons today, that they acquitted themselves nobly. The whole purpose of Masonry is a challenge today and it is a challenge which must be excepted by every man of the craft, he declared. Rt. Ex. Companion William MacDonald thanked the speaker and also presented him with a gift and a history of Peterborough written by the late F. H. Dobbin, Rt. Ex. Companion R. S. Cotton presented a similar history to the Grand Scribe E.



WHERE JAPS SUFFERED NAVAL DEFEAT—While crippled remnants of the decisively beaten Jap navy were being pursued, as shown on the above map, Gen. MacArthur's land forces were increasing their holdings on Leyte and Samar (indicated in square). Latest reports show that of 27 enemy warships in the Jap fleet that moved eastward between Samar and Luzon islands (Upper Arrow), 14 have been seen limping westward. Of 14 enemy ships in the southern attack, six fled toward the Camotes Sea.

North Monaghan Pupil Winner In Public Speaking Contest

Clear enunciation, and an interesting subject cleverly-presented, joined hands to win the first prize cup for twelve-year-old Margaret Chretien, No. 3 North Monaghan school pupil, at the Peterborough County School Children's Public Speaking Contest, held Friday evening before a large audience of parents, in the assembly hall of the Peterborough Normal School. The event is sponsored by the Women's Institute of the County, which also organizes through its branches, local oratorical competitions in various districts.

Another No. 3 North Monoghan pupil, twelve-year-old Marilyn Bowles, was awarded the cup for second prize, and Mary Milburn, of No. 3 Smith School, was awarded the third prize honors.

A group of almost 40 Normal School students, under the direction of E. H. McKone, principal, and Miss Effie Munro, librarian, acted as judges, and when the last of the twelve addresses had been heard, took more than 30 minutes to reach the decisions. The judges reported their task to be unusually difficult. In their decisions, the voice, material, style, language and delivery were all taken into consideration, and score sheets indicating the number of points for each division, were tabulated.

Margaret Chretien, a grade seven pupil, received the first cup for her talk dealing with the advancement of transportation by water, from the now-ridiculous devices of earliest civilization, to the luxurious ocean queens of today. Practising an art of salesmanship difficult to acquire, she held the audience by jumping into an interogative opening, and kept its attention until the final provocative comment.

The cup Margaret will hold for one year was donated by A. Elliott, former Peterborough M.P.P.

Tells of Nurse

Another address beginning with an attention-grabbing question, was that of Miss Bowles, a grade eight student. Florence Nightingale's epic life story was the theme, and a varied use of vocabulary, clear speech and dramatic subject-matter left their marks in the judges' minds, earning her the second prize cup, donated by G. S. White, M.P., North Hastings and East Peterborough.

Canada's famed animal, the beaver, came in for a brand-new treatment by Mary Milburn, in a talk outlining the habits, food, family life, and peculiarities of this "busiest" animal. Miss Milburn also used a moral to her talk, and she concluded by intimating the earth would be a better place in which to live, if all men practised the beaver's traits, of being busy, wise, honest, and peaceful.

The cups were presented to the winners by Mrs. F. E. Birdsall, of Birdsall, president of the Women's Institute of the county. While no definite plans have been made for future contests for the Peterborough champions, it is expected the three winners will participate in the Inter-County contests usually held in Brighton sometime in November. After that, the winners will probably speak in Toronto contests.

Good Opportunity

Leo Copp, County School Inspector, was the chairman for the evening, and R. F. Downey, and B. Smitheram spoke briefly. Mr. Downey thanked the Women's Institute for keeping the contests alive from year to year, providing a wonderful opportunity for boys and girls. He told the children not to be disappointed because they did not win, but to renew their efforts to correct whatever was wrong with their speech, and be determined that next year, the honor would come their way. Mr. Smitheram outlined to the youngsters some of the advantages of being an able public speaker. He told them it is comparatively simple to make a good address when alone, but with an audience watching every move, the difficulties increase greatly.

Mrs. Birdsall thanked everyone who in any way helped make the contests such a success, and assured the audience that with the large number of people attending the meeting, the oratoricals will certainly be held again next year, under the sponsorship of the Women's Institute.

Mr. McKone extended a hearty welcome to the guests to the Normal School, and also offered the children about to make speeches some information as to the best place to stand on the stage, to achieve the right effect with their voices.

Girls in Lead

One of the interesting notations officials made was that out of twelve contestants, only two were boys. They were Max Weiss, of No. 8, Harvey school, who gave an interesting account of how Hitler's robots were delayed while in the manufacturing process, by a British bombing raid on a secret factory, and how this had an effect upon the course of the war since then, and Billy Murphy, of No. 2, Smith, who spoke on, "The Life Story of Robert Louis Stevenson."

Other addresses heard were: "Famous Peace Monuments in Canada and the United States", by Elaine Graham, who recently won first prize in a W.I. oratorical in Havelock Public School, "An Exciting Adventure I Have Had", by Gladys Chamberlain, Norwood, third-prize winner in Norwood; "China and Her People", by Elda Wilson, of No. 1 North Monoghan; "Sister Kenny vs. Infantile Paralysis", by Joan Quinn, winner of third prize in Havelock; "Chemists Hit The Sawdust Jackpot", by Gweneth Milburn, No. 3 Smith; "A Little Flag", by Doris Hannon, first prize winner in Norwood; and "My Trip to Camp", by Betty Baker, Norwood second prize winner.

Miss Gloria Lowney, Normal school student, announced the names of the winning speakers on behalf of the judges. Miss Lowney advised the children on several technical points of speech than can be improved, and added that the addresses all were of an excellent calibre. Judging, she said, was extremely difficult.

The children's talks were scored as follows: Material, 15; Style, 15; Language, 10; Delivery, 30; Voice, 30.

HOMES HAVE FIGHTING WORDS

Mention of Money, Children's Care, In-laws, Cooking Often Start Bruising Quarrels

What is the fighting word in your house?

In practically every family circle there is some subject which is taboo and which cannot even be mentioned without precipitating a scrap, and from which the participants emerge battered and bruised and suffering from wounds to their affections and self-esteem from which they often never recover.

What is the fighting word in your house? Is it: "John, will you leave me some money? I'm going shopping. And here's the bill for having little Johnny's adenoids taken out. And Mary has just simply got to have some new shoes." Since Providence did not see fit to arrange for people to grow their own fine feathers, or send down manna from Heaven for their sustenance, it is obvious to even the meanest intellect that it takes money to support a family, you would think that in time married men would get hardened to the daily holdup.

However, such is seldom the case. The financial problem is just as good for a row in the home as it is in Congress, and there are thousands of wives who practically take their lives in their hands every time they buy a new dress or a hat that costs over $5. It is husbands accusing wives of being spendthrifts and wives calling their husbands tightwads that paves the way to the divorce court.

Parents Disagree On Children

Is it: "Did mean old Papa slap Mother's precious darling just because she broke his horrid, smelly old pipe?" Why parents can never agree on when their children should be punished, or whether they should be made to go to school or not, or taught decent manners, is one of the mysteries of the world. But the reason there are so many brats is because Father and Mother are so busy fighting over how to rear their youngsters they let them get away with murder.

It is: "Mother says so-and-so, and Father thinks that you should do this and that." The in-laws are dynamite that can be guaranteed to blow up even the most peaceful family circle. They can always be dragged into any quarrel to make it hot and peppy. And only those who are looking for trouble and are trying to start something should ever quote Mother's or Father's opinion even of the weather.

Is it: "My heaven! Do you call this coffee? Why can't you learn to cook like Mother does?" No husband can say this to his wife and expect her to take it lying down. Yet thousands of reckless men dare the fury of their outraged wives by hurling this deadly insult at them across the breakfast table every morning of their lives. And it never improves the coffee.

Is it: "Well, I could have married a millionaire and lived in a swanky apartment and had servants to wait on me. Men were crazy about me when I was a girl." That is a call to battle that no husband can resist until he gets so worn down he just murmurs "oh yeah" and let it go at that.

These are only a few of the fighting words that are as good for a domestic scrimmage as a nickel is for a ginger cake. What's yours? (The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Long Shots Place In Newton Handicap

ASCOT, England, Oct. 28—(CP)—Two long shots came in one-two in the Newtown Handicap to-day.

Liquid Amber, the winner, paid off $25.70 for 40 cents bet on the totalizer, odds of more than 63 to 1. Three lengths behind came Fairlandis, which was quoted at 25 to 1 and paid about 6 to 1 to place.

MEET THE FLYING BAZOOKAS—This is a muzzle end view of three bazooka guns mounted on the wing struts of a Piper Club artillery liaison plane somewhere in France. Three launchers are attached to each wing of the plane. U.S. Army 9th Air Force Service command armament specialists initiated and developed the idea of converting a few of the light craft into rocket firing planes.

More Income Needed By Farmers

KEMPTVILLE, Ont., Oct. 28 — (CP)—Prosperity can come to agriculture only when agriculture gets its share of the National Income, John Bracken, leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, said last night in an address before the cheesemakers of Oxford township.

Mr. Bracken spoke of the difficulties of agriculture, of fluctuating returns and said it could be remedied by giving agriculture its proper share of the National Income.

"This can be done by prices announced before hand each year," said Mr. Bracken. "Through this price fixing, once it is in effect, the farmers of Canada can get 20 per cent more of the national income than they get now."

He said: "If enough people stand behind me, the position of agriculture in Canada will be corrected."

Mr. Bracken sketched the problems of agriculture. The matter of production had been solved; productivity had enormously increased in his lifetime. The problem now was one of markets and distribution, but one difficulty was the fluctuations in price. These fluctuations have left agriculture "among the poorest of industries."

"Canadians on the farms have never received a square deal," he said. "I know of no special dispensation of providence that makes the farmer have a lower standard of life than anybody else."

Editor Warns Women Must Organize

HAMILTON, Oct. 28 — (CP). — Mrs. Elizabeth Hammond of Montreal, women's editor of the Family Herald and Weekly Star, said yesterday the greatest drawback to the progress of women in politics was due to women themselves. She was addressing the Women's Institute area convention here.

"Do you think if all the women in Canada, working together, said, "There will be no more commercialized prostitution in this country," there would be any?" she said. "Do you think that if women as a whole united that they could force the Government to close the beverage rooms to women in a hurry?

"It is the same with all the issues which touch women's lives intimately, and affect the welfare of the home and family.....In order to influence public opinion, there must be organized action."

A resolution urging that women's beverage rooms be closed was passed and will be forwarded to the Federation of Women's Institutes.

SOUTH AFRICAN PENICILLIN

JOHANNESBURG — (CP). — Dr. A. Janovics, chemist in charge of Rand laboratories producing penicillin, says it's hoped in the near future to produce as much of the drug as South Africa requires.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McFadden, Lakefield, wish to announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Theresa Katheleen, to AB. R. J. Loucks, R.C.N.V.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Loucks, 457 Murray St., Peterborough. The wedding to take place in St. Paul's Church, Lakefield, Nov. 4, 1944.

The engagement is announced of Irene Theresa, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lonergan, to Albert H. Pegg, son of Mrs. Pegg and the late Mr. W. J. Pegg of Toronto. The marriage will take place on Thursday, November sixteenth in Blessed Sacrament Church, Toronto.

IN MEMORIAM

CULLEN—In loving memory of Mrs. Helena Cullen, who passed away three years ago, October 28th, 1944.

Somewhere back of the sunset,
Where loveliness never dies,
She lives in the land of glory,
With the blue and the gold of the skies.
We who have known and loved her,
Whose passing has brought us tears,
Will cherish her memory always,
To brighten the drifting years.
—Fondly remembered by her family.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the attending doctor, the sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, Rev. Filer, Mr. Mathews and members of C.P.C., Mr. Dainton and members of the A.O.F. and all relatives and friends who were so kind during our recent sad bereavement. Winnifred Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. D. Allen.

Hon. Dana Porter

vices should be, "but we hope to give them our help and co-ordination."

As an illustration of what can be done even by a small community, Mr. Porter mentioned the town of Dryden near the Manitoba boundary. Its committee has arranged to meet its own men returning from overseas, to welcome them, learn their immediate condition and hopes, offer them work that is available or help to obtain other work which might be more suitable to them. This has been a municipal undertaking that has already demonstrated its effectiveness. "The best thing we can do is to help them by giving direction and aiding in smoothing out the way for their returned men."

In the project of rehabilitation the provincial government has its limitations and also its powers. "Within those powers we shall plan and encourage other organizations to plan that our men may be enabled to take root with their families settling in businesses in which they can carry on without help."

Planning Projects

In his outline of town planning, which he described as just common sense in municipal outlook, Mr. Porter said that a commission like that in Peterborough could, among other things, project local public works on a certain priority of eventual undertaking, and proceed with them in that accepted order. If communities generally throughout the province adopted broad plans of that kind, but reserved them from competition with the building industries in their busy years, a great pool of available work and employment could be stored up against the time when it would probably be needed in the ups and downs of the construction industry within the next 10 years or more. Such available work in one community would not loom large against employment requirements, but if towns and cities throughout the province adopted the same policy, and "we got a backlog of such projects up our sleeve for the employment of men when it becomes actually needed it would all go a long way in preventing any large scale unemployment and large scale relief that we experienced not so long ago."

Technical advice, enquiry and reports should be basic in town planning, Mr. Porter said, and planning committees should have some reasonable authority, although the last word rested with the elected municipal governments.

Depression's Effect

D. G. H. Melton, chairman of Peterborough's rehabilitation committee, said the awareness of men in municipal and government office and of the people as a whole regarding reconstruction and planning was a development of the knowledge of two things. One of them was the terrible state of unemployment that had been so prevalent in the period prior to the war, and the tremendous problem that will be confronted after the war in finding employment for every man, and especially those returning from overseas. The other influence arousing people to awareness of the need of planning was the feeling that industry including the manufacturing plants, logging, lumbering and agriculture would be unable to find employment for all the people who require employment, "and I am not speaking as a pessimist. I believe in looking the facts squarely in the face. To give the returned men employment more fully than before the war, I believe that governments, federal, provincial and municipal, will have to provide more services, spend more money than in the past."

Mr. Melton said he subscribed to Mr. Porter's reference to the tourist industry and possibilities in this district. It was a veritable gold mine which we did not develop but which was created for us.

Hoping For Grants

In moving a vote of thanks to Hon. Mr. Porter, Alderman Dutton remarked that Peterborough was not giving up hope of receiving financial aid from both federal and provincial governments in the post-war work which the city and county were planning.

Fred Marshall mentioned the subject of a provincial park and Crown game reserve in the northern section of Peterborough county, but Mayor Hamilton said that as the hour was getting late it was hardly a subject to be submitted to the Minister.

Mr. Fraser said that according to indications from both the federal and provincial governments municipalities would have to depend largely upon their own enterprise, because he did not see much sign of financial help from those higher sources. He also stated that he had long been actively interested in the tourist assets and trade in this district, and was more convinced than ever that Peterborough county and city were not making the most of their splendid opportunity to attract increasing numbers of visitors in this section of the Kawarthas. Competition with other sections of the province and of Canada made it increasingly necessary for this district to make a stronger bid than ever for the tourist business that will pour back into Ontario after the barriers of wartime have been removed.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, October 29.

Sunday's horoscope is a rather complicated one, with conflicts and contradiction calling for very astute manipulation in order to sidestep dangerous and difficult situations and involvements. While superficially the accent seems to be on pleasant social, domestic and affectional relations there is a deep undercurrent of treachery, duplicity and intrigue. Be discreet and alert.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of contradictions and complexities, with undercover doings and intrigues luring into sinister and curious entanglements best averted or handled with decisive and determined action. Enterprise and initiative are to be concentrated on progress, but from all angles keep alert, discreet, and shun extremes, sudden changes and malevolence.

A child born on this day should have many talents and forceful qualities of character and intellect, but may become involved in subterfuge or illicit affiliations. With caution it may be safe, successful and also lucky.

For Monday, October 30.

Monday's astrological chart shows a state of mind equipped to meet small trials and erratic situations, with sound judgment and constructive efforts although there may be a tendency to rush into strange or unorthodox decisions. Social, domestic or affectional affiliations may become also involved, but with the admonition "look before you leap" all may end well and bring happiness.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year in which small difficulties or annoyances may best be met by a shrewd analysis of situations, with wise criticism, reserved judgment and practical balancing of peculiar situations, rather than by tempestuous, impulsive or emotional conclusions. Judgment and mentality are well stimulated for such happy and wise settlements.

A child born on this day may have proclivities to erratic, irregular, turbulent or emotional conduct, but its balanced judgment and studious mentality should assist it to solve most perplexing problems.

Attendance At Red Cross Clinic Showing Slight Improvement

Attendance at the Blood Donors Clinic has shown a slight pick-up during the past week, and officials are hopeful that this will continue to increase until the plasma supply has been brought up to its former level. The attendance Monday was 62; Wednesday, 94 and Thursday night, 64. It is still being stressed that before a donor can give blood, he must remember to eat the proper foods and this means an avoidance of fats. When fats are taken during the day, before giving blood, it makes the donation useless.

Denies Rumor

LONDON, Oct. 29.—(CP-Reuter). —George Hall, Under-secretary for Foreign Affairs, yesterday denied in the House of Commons rumors that the British government was supporting a movement to separate Sicily from the rest of Italy. Mr. Hall said he was aware that the movement existed and was alleged to have Allied support.

132,000 Laborers

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(CP).—War damage repairs are being made in London by 132,000 laborers, 40 per cent. of Britain's total building industry personnel, the House of Commons was informed yesterday. During the battle of Britain in 1940-41 only 40,000 laborers were employed in this work in London.

Controls Lifted

OTTAWA, Oct. 28.—(CP).— The restrictive orders of the machine tools control have been rescinded, the Munitions Department announced last night.

Killed By Shot

NAPANEE, Oct. 28 (CP)—Chauncey Oliver, 27, Richmond township farmer awaiting hearing on a charge of extortion, was found yesterday shot through the head, with a .22-calibre rifle beside him. Coroner T. M. Galbraith of Napanee said death had been instantaneous.

A New Idea

CAMBRIDGE, England, Oct. 28.—(CP-Reuter). — A solution of the Palestine problem by incorporating that territory, scene of Jewish and Arab disputes, within the empire was urged last night by Samuel Landman, former secretary of the International Zionist Organization.

REDOUBLES PAY PLENTY

WHEN YOU get away with a successful redouble of your high contract, it pays you handsome dividends. Picking spots for that depends more on the location of your cards sometimes than on the total power of them, if the opponent who doubled you is considered a sound player. Your double, in other words, is based on your knowing that certain cards are in a place where the doubler would not expect to find them.

	North

North's redouble was based on a combination of factors. First of all, North's holding of two aces, plus sundry and various other assets, made him pretty sure when he heard South's opening bid that his partner was very well heeled in such things as kings, plus no doubt at least one ace. He felt certain at the outset that the side could not possibly lack more than one of the top-card tricks.

Notice that South's second bid was not a mere 2-No Trumps, which would have been required to overcall North's 2-Diamonds, but an entire level up following East's 3-Clubs. That required something more than a minimum hand. Another factor — North reckoned the No Trump call indicated South could take at least the second trick in East's club suit.

Another factor was that the double was in the West, and North sat over it with two aces, the diamond one having a complete tenace over a possible king and the spade one having a tenace if South possessed either the K or Q, as seemed sure from his No Trump bid before hearing about North's spades.

North figured correctly. The club A won the first trick, but that was all. North was able to ruff out one club, get three spade tricks by finessing, and then ruff his fourth spade.

Stock Yards Taken Over To Aid Farmers

FLESHERTON, Ont., Oct. 28 — (CP).—The Ontario government took over the Union Stockyards in Toronto so their operation "will be a definite part of the livestock breeding and improvement policies which are needed to place the whole livestock industry on a better basis," Agriculture Minister Kennedy said to-day in an address to the Grey county Federation of Agriculture.

Duties of the Board in charge of the yards would include the promotion of livestock improvement in every possible way as well as the regulation of the movement of livestock.

"The Board will undertake a study of diseases of animals and their prevention and also will deal with present and past practices which have resulted in considerable damage and bruising to cattle, to the detriment of the farmers' returns from their animals. It is our hope that a long-term policy will be developed from these operations for the benefit of all the farmers of the province."

The Board in charge would be chosen by the farmers, not by the government. The present six-man government—made up of four farmers, a representative of the commission men and a representative of the Industrial and Development Meat Council — was temporary When arbitration proceedings as to the price to be paid for the yards were completed, the farmers would be consulted on the appointment of a permanent board.

It was hoped that one duty the permanent board would undertake was the regulation of shipping:

"There is room for a great deal of improvement in the methods and practices of shipping livestock by truck. Take, for instance, the shipping of hogs. We all realize that to hold the British market for hogs we must have a larger percentage of 'A' hogs and a definite forward step in that direction can be made by improved trucking and shipping methods which will cut down bruising of the hogs to a minimum.

"So it is our hope that the stockyards board will undertake the regulation of livestock trucking, so that all truckers of livestock will be licensed and placed under the jurisdiction of the board. That will give the board control over all matters relating to the transportation of livestock, which is a very important factor in marketing."

ENGINEERS PLAY VITAL PART IN CANADIAN ADVANCES—Bodies of water in the Lowland countries are ideal defence positions for the Hunt but the Royal Canadian Engineers have broken the back of that barrier with hastily constructed pontoon bridges. Urges Opening Doors Of Palestine To Refugees

Opening of the doors of Palestine to countless Jewish refugees in Europe, on large enough a scale to take care of their need, is an issue in which the influence of Canada, as a member of the British Commonwealth and signatory to the British mandate on Palestine, is directly involved, Herbert A. Mowat, Executive Secretary of the Canadian Palestine Committee told a large gathering of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club Friday afternoon. Many members of the B'nai B'rith Lodge were present, as guests of the Kiwanians.

A well-known writer, radio broadcaster, and authority on the Jewish refugee problems, Mr. Mowat said that while Canada, under the gigantic task of re-establishing some 800,000 young men soon to be demobilized from the armed forces, is not offering at the moment the privilege of large scale immigration to the Dominion to these homeless people, it is appropriate that something constructive be done.

He said "the problem of the settlement and security of the uprooted populations of Europe has become a most urgent one, on the grounds of humanity and good sense. The Jews of continental Europe have a special priority rating for compassionate consideration. They have suffered for a longer period than any other racial or national group from the hatred and the fury of the Nazis and Fascists."

"Recent revelations from the massacre factories near Lublin, in Poland, show that the systematic exterminations of Jews have been carried on in factories erected for purpose, and that hundreds of thousands of Jews have been transported there to be killed. The bulk of the Jews of the middle and western Europe are now concentrated in Hungary, and number barely half a million."

Directed Effort

These persecuted, dispossessed and disinherited people, Mr. Mowat said, desperately need a place to go, and it is most fortunate that the framework of a national home for them in Palestine has been erected, to receive them, by the sacrifices and devotion of their compatriots throughout the world. He pointed out that world Jewry over twenty-five years ago was given the opportunity to embrace the project of developing a national home and Jewish commonwealth in Palestine, and over half a million Jewish people have migrated to Palestine for refuge, and for a new start in life.

"The institutes of agriculture and the Hebrew university of Jerusalem have directed the efforts of the Jewish colonists in the most efficient way.

During the centuries of Turkish oppression the country had become so wasted that the soil had to be reclaimed to its ancient fertility, artificial distribution of water and the draining of the malarial swamps proceeded with, and the methods of "subsistance agriculture" practised by the Arabs....producing a return barely adequate to keep body and soul together....had to be overhauled and in many instances scrapped to place farming on a paying basis.",

As one instance of substituting new methods for old, Mr. Mowat explained that the Arab-owned cow in Palestine produces 800 quarts of milk yearly. The Zionist agriculture institutes faced the problem of producing an improved breed by the use of the Lebanese cow, a sturdier breed than the Palestinian type. To do this, they crossed the Lebanese breed with Jersey cows from England, and Holstein cows from Holland, with the result that on Jewish agricultural settlements, this new cow is producing now an average of 3,500 quarts each year.

A Great Advance

Also, he said, this new type of cow can be sustained during the six months of the dry season by the fodder produced on half an acre of irrigated land. It has been found, for example, that with modern methods of irrigation, 40 to 50 tons of beets can be produced on an acre of Palestinian soil.

"From these great advances in the art of living", Mr. Mowat continued, "the Arabs have received great benefit. For them, in the seasonal employment of an expanding citrus fruit industry, and in other agricultural and industrial developments sponsored by the Jewish authorities, so much employment has been provided at high wages that they have flocked into the country, and, when they have remained, they have been the partners of a steadily increasing standard of living. Social and medical services and better wages have made theirs a better lot than in any of the Arab-controlled countries of the middle east."

Mr. Mowat told the Kiwanians that because the Jews have made the Palestine homeland experiment succeed so mightily in the last quarter-century, it is only fair that they should be able to make large scale immigration of their Jewish brethren into this country, and have the help of a Jewish home at a time when refuge for the homeless is so desperately needed.

He said, "The Chamberlain "White Paper" of 1939 sets 1944 as the year of virtual stoppage of Jewish entry to Palestine, because it makes such entry for the future, contingent on the consent of the native Arab population. This condition of the "white paper", which should be suspended, makes the spirit and the letter of the Balfour Declaration null and void. Winston Churchill, after calling this immigration clause a "breach and violation of a pledge", termed it the abandonment of the Balfour Declaration."

"In the emergency that today faces the Jewish refugees of Europe, it is exceedingly urgent that their homeland be opened to immigration on a scale of generosity sufficiently great to take care of their need. World Jewry has proven its power to make the national home succeed. The removal of measures detrimental to the full use of what they have so zealously built under the British mandate of the League of Nations, must surely rank as a social and moral obligation."

Mr. Mowat's address was marked with a vigorous style, and a thorough knowledge of his subject. John Troke, on behalf of the Peterborough Kiwanis, thanked Mr. Mowat for his talk, and said that the Kiwanis Club of Peterborough will support the Committee's work in every way possible.

Mr. Mowat, who is a contributing writer with the Magazine Digest, Empire Digest, Saturday Night Magazine and other publications, is completing a book on the military career of General Archibald Wavell, and expects to have it published soon.

B'nai B'rith members were welcomed to the Kiwanis Club by Charlie Saunders, and after the meeting, officials of B'nai B'rith said they are looking forward to having the Kiwanis as their guests, in the near future.

The draw for the war savings certificates, conducted by Bob Everitt, was won by Tom Rodger and, none other than Mr. Everitt himself. This work he has carried on has been accomplishing two things; firstly, aiding the sale of war savings certificates; secondly, each week, proceeds of the draw are turned over to the Peterborough British War Victims' Fund.

Co-ops To Get Support In Saskatchewan

REGINA, Oct. 28 — (CP) — Premier T. C. Douglas of the Saskatchewan C.C.F. government announced in the legislature last night the co-operation and co-operative development department will have power to give "financial backing" to the co-operative movement.

The bill setting up the department received unanimous approval on third reading — five Liberals and 36 C.C.F. members supporting it.

A. T. Procter (L-Moosomin) and G. H. Danielson (L-Arm River) asserted the department could be used for anything, including the spreading of C.C.F. propaganda.

Premier Douglas said, "I think the power given is not likely to be abused." He said he did not think the opposition was serious and the C.C.F. had never asked for any support. "Its membership paid it own way."

The bill authorized the government to:

1. "Encourage and assist in the organization of co-operative enterprises among persons or groups who desire to provide themselves with or to market commodities or service on a non-profit co-operative self-help basis.

2. "Establish a research service for inquiry into operation of co-operative enterprises."

Among businesses that might become co-operative enterprises are agricultural, marketing, industrial, manufactuing, wholesale, credit, investment, business finance, retailing, community and other services.

A bill designed to put teeth into the local government board (special powers) act was given second reading after a debate on the constitutionality of the act that would enable the board to adjust municipal debt without permission of the bondholders.

Grade A Large Eggs Climb 4 Cents

TORONTO, Oct. 28. — Due to the lightness of receipts, coupled with a good demand, spot and wholesale prices registered a subcurrent week in Toronto egg markets. A scarcity of Grade A large was evident, bringing quotes up 4 cents more per dozen. Grade A pullets showed the largest increase, up 9 cents, with spot prices listed at 44 to 45 cents. The market continued very firm yesterday, with the top grades reaching the ceiling level.

A better inquiry was shown in butter markets as receipts continued light, with offerings moving easily. Demand for the undergrades while not too heavy, was still draggy in spots. Western butter remained steady at 35 cents.

CANADA'S VETERANS
Their Post-War Opportunities

Home Ownership—In Town or Suburb

HOW CANADA'S VETERANS BENEFIT

A home of their own is the dream of most Canadians—and the dream, particularly of those, far from home, fighting on the sea, on land, or in the air. To some, a home means a place, away from the city, where there is good earth for raising vegetables, where there is room for a few chickens, some flowers, perhaps some fruit trees and where the children can grow up in a country atmosphere. To others a home means, first of all, city advantages, schools nearby for the children, and a short run in the morning to office or work. No matter which is the ambition of the ex-service man or ex-service woman, Canada's rehabilitation program can assist them in it.

UNDER THE VETERANS' LAND ACT

This Act, planned to give a new meaning to land settlement, suits the veterans who want land with their home. It provides generous assistance in financing homes for city and other workers on small acreages, outside the high taxation area.

The maximum financing which can be arranged is $4,800 for land and buildings, and, at the time he makes application the veteran must be prepared to pay down ten per cent of the cost of land and buildings in cash. The property is then sold to him for this down payment, plus two-thirds of the cost of land and buildings, which can be financed over a long term, with interest at 3½ per cent. In addition there is a grant for necessary equipment to a maximum of $1,200, although it is believed that this ordinarily will not exceed $500 or $600 in the case of small holdings.

What it means is that the service man or woman is given a grant of 23⅓ per cent of the cost of their land and buildings, plus the grant for equipment, after they have fulfilled their agreement for a ten year period.

Properties valued at more than $4,800 may be financed, but the veteran must be prepared to pay any excess in cash, at the time of making application. In the case of maximum financing, the total grant will be $2,320.

THOSE WHO ARE ELIGIBLE

Any ex-service man or woman, with overseas service, or all who have served for twelve months in Canada, are eligible to make application, providing they have been honorably discharged and have a reasonable expectation of living up to their agreement. Grants and benefits received under other provisions of the program, with the exception of the re-establishment credit, explained in advertisement No. 2, do not affect assistance under the Veterans' Land Act.

THROUGH THE RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT

One of the purposes for which the re-establishment credit—made up of $7.50 for each 30 days service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each 30 days overseas—may be used is for the purchase of a home in town or city. When it is used in this way, the ex-service man or woman must be prepared to put up a dollar for every two used from the re-establishment credit.

There is wide opportunity for home owning, and home building under the new National Housing Act, which provides long term loans, at low interest rates for this purpose. Complete details of this Act may be obtained by writing to the Director of Housing, care of the Department of Finance, Ottawa.

AT ANY TIME IN TEN YEARS

So that the veteran may have every opportunity to become securely established in civilian life, before making plans to build a home, provision is made that the re-establishment credit may be applied for at any time within ten years of dischage.

Veterans' Welfare Officers are stationed in key centres throughout Canada. They advise and assist Ex-Service personnel and should be consulted on all re-establishment problems. Veterans considering taking advantage of the Veterans' Land Act should see the Regional Supervisor in the district where they intend to settle before making any commitments.

Your nearest Veteran's Welfare Officer is located at 172 Spadina Ave., Toronto
